

THE COLLECTED WORKS OF MAHATMA GANDHI

LXVI

(August 1, 1937 – March 31, 1938)

MORNING WALK AT JUHU BEACH, BOMBAY

THE COLLECTED WORKS OF MAHATMA GANDHI

LXVI

(August 1, 1937 - March 31, 1938)

THE PUBLICATIONS DIVISION
MINISTRY OF INFORMATION AND BROADCASTING GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

October 1976 (Asvina 1898)

© Navajivan Trust, Ahmedabad, 1976

081
IND/MIB/MB
V.66

COPYRIGHT

By Kind Permission of Navajivan Trust, Ahmedabad

PUBLISHED BY THE DIRECTOR, THE PUBLICATIONS DIVISION
NEW DELHI-110 001
AND PRINTED IN INDIA BY SHANTILAL HARJIVAN SHAH
NAVAJIVAN TRUST, AHMEDABAD-380 014

PREFACE

During the period August 1, 1937, to March 31, 1938, covered in this volume, Gandhiji was in poor health. He suffered from high blood-pressure and needed "prolonged mental rest", which he hoped to have during his projected visit to the Frontier Province in November (p. 208), but he had a breakdown in Calcutta in the last week of October and had to remain there up to November 17. From December 6, 1937, to January 7, 1938, Gandhiji rested on the Juhu beach in Bombay. Writing to Amrit Kaur on January 9, he reported: "The B. P. goes down to the ideal figure but jumps up on the slightest pretext. I dare not talk or even listen to any serious conversation" (p. 331). His health improved in Segaon and he was able to attend the annual session of the Congress in February, but when, during the meeting of the Gandhi Seva Sangh at Delang in Orissa in the last week of March, he learnt that Kasturba and two other Ashram inmates had visited the famous Puri temple which was not open to Harijans, he was so upset that the blood-pressure shot up once again to an alarming level (pp. 452-3).

Gandhiji attributed his blood-pressure to his failure to live up to the teaching of the Gita. "My non-attachment," he explained to Ramdas Gandhi, "is less than what is meant by the Gita; I am full of feeling. I am always pained by anybody's suffering." One must learn to remain non-attached without ceasing to be affected by others' sufferings, and Gandhiji had not, he confessed, "mastered that art" (p. 322). To a question by Rajagopalachari why he should "put so much passion in all your talk", Gandhiji gave the same reply: "Because I have yet to learn the lesson of the Gita to be passionless" (p. 329). Though his love, as he told Verrier Elwin, could stand many trials (p. 64), it also made him suffer, as when an Ashram inmate who had become as a daughter to Gandhiji temporarily lost self-control and left "in a huff"; his reaction to her behaviour made him doubt the reality of his ahimsa (pp. 115 and 116). Replying to Dadabhai Naoroji's granddaughter who had been a valued co-worker for many years, Gandhiji wrote: "You may forget me, disown me, I simply cannot forget you, what shall I do?" (p. 210). He cried out with the same love to his devoted secretaries Mahadev Desai and Pyarelal when, under pressure of momentary feelings, the latter left him (p. 307) and the former threatened to do so. " . . . I will tolerate thousands of mistakes," Gandhiji wrote to Mahadev Desai, "but I can never part with you. Even death at the hands of a bhakta is preferable to salvation at the hands of those who have no love for one" (p. 455).

Despite the illness and mental tension, Gandhiji continued to guide the Congress and the country. Office-acceptance under the Government of India Act of 1935 was an experiment in co-operation with the British. As Gandhiji explained to a visitor: "Many feel that any form of co-operation is a mistake. Others disagree, feeling that perhaps our objectives can best be achieved by giving ground now and then" (p. 128). Though the Act of 1935 was intended "to perpetuate British rule", Gandhiji felt that it was "at the same time a bold experiment of wooing the masses to the British side, and, failing that, a resignation to their will to reject British domination." The Congress could defeat the British intention by implementing, through both official and popular action, the constructive programme which it had adopted since 1920. It was a programme of "organized national non-violence" and Gandhiji believed that successful implementation of this programme would make the Congress irresistible and it would be "able to have its way all along the line" (pp. 104-5).

This programme of a moral and social revolution through democratic means required patient education of the public and Gandhiji set about the task through his articles in Harijan. Ministerships, Gandhiji stressed, were not prizes but "avenues to service" and had "to be held lightly, not tightly" (p. 16). Gandhiji expected the Congress to rule "not through the police backed by the military but through its moral authority based upon the greatest goodwill of the people" won through "the service of the people whom it seeks to represent in every one of its actions" (p. 62). And he expected the same public spirit from the critics of the Ministers. While he asserted that "it is not only a right, but a duty for any Congressman to openly criticize acts of Congress officials . . .", he also insisted that the "criticism has got to be courteous and well-informed" (pp. 155-6). "Healthy, well-informed, balanced criticism is the ozone of public life," Gandhiji said (p. 292). Gandhiji's advice to the Ministers not to rule through the police did not mean however that they should tolerate violence. "Civil liberty is not criminal liberty," Gandhiji stated emphatically. The warning was necessary because it seemed "to be assumed by some persons that" in the Congress provinces at least "individuals can say and do what they like." "Non-violence in politics," he said,

"is a new weapon in the process of evolution. Its vast possibilities are yet unexplored." Gandhiji wanted that the Congress Ministers should undertake such exploration, but if need be they should not hesitate to take police action against violent activities though only after consulting the Provincial Congress Committee or the Congress Working Committee (pp. 268-9).

In the programme of reform and reconstruction through legislation, Gandhiji gave the highest importance to education and prohibition. The two were linked as the excise revenue from liquor was then used to meet the expenditure on education. Gandhiji thought it "shameful and humiliating" that "unless we got the drink revenue, our children would be starved of their education." But the solution to this "educational puzzle", as Gandhiji called it, came to him "like a flash". It lay in freeing the children "from the incubus of learning their subjects in a foreign tongue" and in teaching them "to use their hands and feet profitably". The first reform would enable the children to go through the whole course up to the matriculation standard in seven years instead of eleven and the second would make education self-supporting by training the pupils in a productive craft (pp. 59, 118 and 192-3).

The child at the age of 14, Gandhiji argued, after finishing a seven years' course should be discharged as an earning unit. The scheme might not be completely self-supporting for the first few years, but Gandhiji believed that the total income and expenditure for all the seven years could be balanced at the end (pp. 137 and 151). Not only was self-supporting education an economic necessity for India's villages, but it could also be "the spearhead of a silent social revolution", providing "a healthy and moral basis of relationship between the city and the village" and placing "the destiny of the masses, as it were, in their own hands" (pp. 169-70). The divorce of education from manual training had taught the people to regard manual work as something inferior. The new education would correct this by promoting "inventive skill" and giving the craftsmen an independent status (pp. 138-9).

Apart from such practical considerations, however, Gandhiji's new education was based on his conception of the all-round development of the child through the exercise of his physical faculties. The whole training, he claimed, would be "natural, responsive, and therefore the quickest and the cheapest in the land" (pp. 80-1). The craft-training would not be mere mechanical work, but would be used "for drawing out the minds of boys and girls in all departments of knowledge" (p. 193), for training the pupil's "mind, his body, his handwriting, his artistic sense, and so on" (p. 138).

Gandhiji explained that what he had written about education was his personal contribution to the discussion on the subject and not the official policy of the Congress. He added, however, that he felt "most strongly about the vast injury that the existing system of education has done to the youth of the country and to the languages and general culture of India" (p. 80). His new system was intended to make the pupils the "true representatives of our culture, our civilization, of the true genius of our nation" (p. 266).

Gandhiji hailed the resolution of the Congress Working Committee calling for total prohibition in the Congress provinces within three years as "The Greatest Act" and appealed for "the sympathy and support not only of all the parties in India including the Europeans but the best mind of the whole world" in what he believed to be "perhaps the greatest moral movement of the century" (p. 82). Gandhiji, however, admitted that total prohibition could not be brought about by mere State effort. Legislation was only the first, though indispensable, step. It would have to be accompanied by an educative campaign in which Gandhiji appealed for the co-operation of teachers, doctors and others. To the standard argument that prohibition by legislation was impracticable because there was bound to be illicit distillation and secret drinking, Gandhiji replied: "Thieving will abide till doomsday. Must it therefore be licensed?" So long as the State, he argued, "not only permits but provides facilities for the addict to satisfy his craving, the reformer has little chance of success" (pp. 161-2).

Gandhiji's constructive approach to politics had to contend against the "turbulent wind" (p. 213) of agitations which had begun to blow right from the start of provincial autonomy. A virulent controversy had broken out in Bombay over the election of the Leader of the Congress legislature party and though Gandhiji offered to examine the charges levelled by K. F. Nariman against Vallabhbhai Patel and assured the former that "if I feel convinced that you have been unjustly dealt with by the Sardar, I shall unhesitatingly say so and do everything humanly possible to undo the mischief" (p. 1), the campaign continued unabated and caused Gandhiji "deep distress" (p. 39). After the allegation was inquired into by Gandhiji and Advocate D. N. Bahadurji, and Patel was exonerated, Nariman issued, on Gandhiji's advice, a public statement accepting the verdict and expressing his regret and Gandhiji hoped that the public and the Press of Bombay would "forget the past bitter and unseemly controversy that had robbed the public activity in Bombay of its usual zest" (p. 248).

But Nariman recanted the statement (p. 274) and the reconciliation for which Gandhiji laboured for four months could not be brought about.

After the Congress Ministries started functioning, they also, particularly the Madras Ministry led by C. Rajagopalachari, came under powerful attack from a section of Congressmen. Commenting in Harijan on the A. I. C. C. meeting criticizing the ministries, Gandhiji said, "the resolution . . . and still more the speeches, were wide of the mark." The critics, he added, had "departed from truth and non-violence." Another resolution on alleged repression in the Mysore State, Gandhiji characterized as much more "offensive" (pp. 292-3). Differences over such issues led to a crisis in the Congress Working Committee and Gandhiji advised Vallabhbhai Patel and the other members of the Committee to resign, leaving Jawaharlal Nehru, who was the President, free to select a new Committee of his own choice. The discussions were so exhausting that Gandhiji felt he could "barely keep" himself "alive" and got an attack of unusually high blood-pressure the same day (pp. 285-6 and 287). There were other symptoms, too, of violence in the air. There was trouble in a settlement of so-called "criminal" tribes near Sholapur and labour unrest in Ahmedabad and Kanpur. Gandhiji called these "Storm Signals" and wondered whether they were signs of weakness of Congress control resulting from lack of faith in "truth and non-violence, in sustained work and discipline" and "in the efficacy of the fourfold constructive programme", and he warned Congressmen that if they lacked "that political faith in the means, office-acceptance may prove to be a trap" (pp. 300-2).

While the Congress was struggling with the problems of discipline within its ranks, there appeared on the horizon another and a more menacing "storm signal". Presiding over the annual session of the Muslim League at Lucknow, M. A. Jinnah made a speech on October 15 which appeared to Gandhiji to be "a declaration of war". Replying to Gandhiji's letter "written . . . out of an anguished heart" (p. 257), Jinnah said his speech was "purely in self-defence" (p. 470), but his later pronouncements confirmed Gandhiji's first impression. "In your speeches I miss the old nationalist," Gandhiji wrote to him, and asked him "on bended knees to be what I had thought you were" (p. 350). This appeal to his heart provoked Jinnah to reply back: "Evidently, you are not acquainted with what is going on in the Congress Press—the amount of vilification, misrepresentation and falsehood that is daily spread about me . . ." (pp. 479-80). This growing spirit of violence and distrust resulted in an outbreak of communal riots in Allahabad in March and the Government had to call out the military to quell them. Gandhiji felt ashamed that Congress Ministers should have had to do so and told co-workers, "I feel as if the Congress had lost and the British had won" (p. 410). Writing in Harijan under the caption "Our Failure", he asked Congressmen to face the "naked truth" that the Congress had "not yet become fit to substitute the British authority." It had not yet developed non-violence of the strong and the powerful and had not therefore made good the claim that it represented the whole of India. The Congress, Gandhiji advised, "should be able to put forth a non-violent army of volunteers numbering not a few thousands but lacs" who would, in times of peace, "be constantly engaged in constructive activities that make riots impossible" and would be "ready to cope with any emergency", risking their lives "to still the frenzy of mobs" (pp. 405-7). He poured out his heart again on the subject at the Gandhi Seva Sangh meetings in the last week of March and urged co-workers to consider how to preserve communal peace through non-violence.

Another problem which now weighed on Gandhiji's mind was that of political prisoners or detenus held for acts of violence. Gandhiji strove to generate an atmosphere of trust which would facilitate the release of all the prisoners and therefore appealed to the Andamans prisoners who had gone on hunger-strike from July 24 to give up the strike and give him an assurance that they no longer believed in terrorist methods. He also appealed to the public to hold no demonstrations when the prisoners were released (pp. 75, 101-2 and 304). On the assurance being given by the prisoners (p. 90), Gandhiji made their cause his own and during his visit to the prisoners in Alipur Jail gave them his word that he wanted to see them discharged before he died (p. 281). After long negotiations with the Bengal Government which in his then weak state of health were quite taxing, Gandhiji was able to persuade the Ministers to make a public announcement of progressive release of all the prisoners (pp. 303-5 and 472-3). Displaying a similar spirit of conciliation when a political crisis developed in Bihar and the U. P. over the release of prisoners as recommended by the Ministers and the latter resigned, Gandhiji brought about a peaceful solution after all the parties "had ample time for considering the situation" (pp. 384-5).

Gandhiji's love embraced the lower creation, too. Writing in Harijan in support of antivivisection societies in the West, he argued that alleviation of human suffering could never be "an end in itself justifying adoption of inhumanities involved in vivisection." The human family must not sacrifice tenderness, for "tenderness for others and other life," Gandhiji held, "itself promotes alleviation in that it makes pain bearable" (p. 140).

"I don't know where my ship is drifting," Gandhiji wrote to a correspondent after his illness in Calcutta. "The Captain is God. . . . I am not worrying. It is bound to disappear some day. If so, why keep count of the days?" (p. 298).

To a question how it was possible to be tolerant of people's faults even when they were quite evident, Gandhiji replied: "I see countless faults in me every day and yet there is no limit to my tolerance of myself. . . . That is why I learnt to be tolerant of others in spite of seeing their faults" (p. 179). This was "tolerance" springing from natural self-love developed through filial affection and the extension of the family attitude of mutual devotion to an ever-widening circle. And in a similar vein he wrote to Amrit Kaur: "We must tolerate our neighbours' mannerisms, if we would love them as we would have them to love us. Who is there without his or her mannerisms, then let him or her throw the first stone. Are you? Do you know any? I know none including my poor or big self" (p. 174).

NOTE TO THE READER

In reproducing English material, every endeavour has been made to adhere strictly to the original. Obvious typographical errors have been corrected and words abbreviated in the text generally spelt out. Variant spellings of names have, however, been retained as in the original.

Matter in square brackets has been supplied by the Editors. Quoted passages, where these are in English, have been set up in small type and printed with an indent. Indirect reports of speeches and interviews, as also passages which are not by Gandhiji have been set up in small type. In reports of speeches and interviews slight changes and omissions, where necessary, have been made in passages not attributed to Gandhiji.

While translating from Gujarati and Hindi, efforts have been made to achieve fidelity and also readability in English. Where English translations are available, they have been used with such changes as were necessary to bring them into conformity with the original.

The date of an item has been indicated at the top right-hand corner; if the original is undated, the inferred date is supplied within square brackets, the reasons being given where necessary. The date given at the end of an item alongside the source is that of publication. The writings are placed under the date of publication, except where they carry a date-line or where the date of writing has special significance and is ascertainable.

References to Volume I of this series are to the January 1969 edition.

In the source-line, the symbol S.N. stands for documents available in the Sabarmati Sangrahalaya, Ahmedabad; G.N. refers to documents, M.M.U to the reels of the Mobile Microfilm Unit and S.G. to the photostats of the Sevagram collection available in the Gandhi Smarak Nidhi and Sangrahalaya, New Delhi; C.W. denotes documents secured by the Collected Works of Mahatma Gandhi.

The Appendices provide background material relevant to the text. A list of sources and a chronology for the period covered by the volume are also provided at the end.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

For material in this volume, we are indebted to the Sabar-mati Ashram Preservation and Memorial Trust and Sangrahalaya, the Navajivan Trust and the Gujarat Vidyapith Granthalaya, Ahmedabad; the Gandhi Smarak Nidhi and Sangrahalaya, National Archives of India, the Nehru Memorial Museum and Library, New Delhi; Government of Karnataka; Smt. Amrit Kaur; Shri Narandas Gandhi; Smt. Mirabehn, Gaaden, Austria; Shri Munnalal G. Shah, Sevagram; Shri Kantilal H. Gandhi, Bombay; Shri Pyarelal, New Delhi; Shri G. D. Birla, Calcutta; Shri Mulshankar Nautamlal; Shri Mangaldas Pakwasa; Smt. Premabehn Kantak, Saswad; Shri Satish D. Kalelkar, New Delhi; Shri A. K. Sen, Calcutta; Shri Mahesh Pattani, Bhavnagar; Shri Narayan J. Sampat, Ahmedabad; Smt. Tehmina Khambhatta, Bombay; Smt. Lilavati Asar, Bombay; Dr. Rajendra Prasad; Shri Anand T. Hingorani, Allahabad; Shri Narayan M. Desai, Banaras; Smt. Vijayabehn M. Pancholi, Amla; Dr. William H. Tandy, Gloucestershire; Smt. Sharda G. Chokhawala, Ahmedabad; Smt. Madeleine Rolland; Smt. Gomatibehn K. Mashruwala, Bardoli; Shri Shivabhai G. Patel, Bocharan; the publishers of the books: Acharya Kripalanina Lekho; Bapuki Chhayamen Mere Jivanke Solah Varsh; Bapuna Patro-6: G. S. Gangabehnne; Bapuna Patro-4: Manibehn Patelne; Bapuna Patro-2: Sardar Vallabhbhai; (A) Bunch of Old Letters; (The) Life of Mahatma Gandhi; Mahatma: Life of Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, Vol. IV; Motanan Man; Panchven Putrako Bapuke Ashiroad; Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, Part II; (The) Sayings of Muhammad; and the following newspapers and journals: The Amrita Bazar Patrika, The Bombay Chronicle, Gandhi Seva Sanghke Chaturtha Varshik Adhiveshan (Delang, Orissa) ka Vivaran, Harijan, Harijanbandhu, Harijan Sevak, The Hindu, The Hindustan Times, The Hitavada and The Statesman.

For research and reference facilities, we owe thanks to the All-India Congress Committee Library, the Indian Council of World Affairs Library, the Research and Reference Division of the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting, and Shri Pyarelal, New Delhi; and for assistance in photo-printing documents, to the Photo Division of the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting, New Delhi.

CONTENTS

PREFACE	v
NOTE TO THE READER	xiii
ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	xiv
1 TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR (1-8-1937)	1
2 LETTER TO K. F. NARIMAN (1-8-1937)	1
3 LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL (1-8-1937)	3
4 LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (1-8-1937)	3
5 LETTER TO C. RAJAGOPALACHARI (2-8-1937)	4
6 LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (2-8-1937)	5
7 LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (2-8-1937)	5
8 LETTER TO NARAHARI D. PARIKH (2-8-1937)	6
9 LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM (2-8-1937)	6
10 FOREWORD TO "THE QUESTION OF LANGUAGES" (3-8-1937)	7
11 LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU (3-8-1937)	7
12 LETTER TO ATULANAND CHAKRABARTY (3-8-1937)	9
13 LETTER TO GANGABEHN VAIDYA (3-8-1937)	9
14 LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI (3-8-1937)	10
15 LETTER TO MIRABEHN (4-8-1937)	12
16 LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU (4-8-1937)	12
17 LETTER TO C. RAJAGOPALACHARI (6-8-1937)	13
18 LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM (6-8-1937)	14
19 ITS DEEPER MEANING (7-8-1937)	14
20 NOT A PRIZE (7-8-1937)	16
21 A.I.V.I.A. BULLETIN (7-8-1937)	17
22 TEMPLE-ENTRY (7-8-1937)	18
23 TELEGRAM TO AMTUSSALAAM (7-8-1937)	19
24 LETTER TO J. C. KUMARAPPA (7-8-1937)	19
25 LETTER TO KANCHAN M. SHAH (7-8-1937)	20
26 LETTER TO JAMUBHAI DANI (Before 8-8-1937)	20
27 WORKERS OF KATHIAWAR (8-8-1937)	21
28 LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU (8-8-1937)	24
29 LETTER TO K. F. NARIMAN (8-8-1937)	25
30 LETTER TO J. C. KUMARAPPA (8-8-1937)	26
31 LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI (8-8-1937)	26
32 LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (8-8-1937)	27
33 LETTER TO MIRABEHN (9-8-1937)	27
34 LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (9-8-1937)	28
35 LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (9-8-1937)	28
36 LETTER TO JAYANTI N. PAREKH (9-8-1937)	29

37	LETTER TO CHHAGANLAL JOSHI (10-8-1937)	29
38	LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI (10-8-1937)	30
39	LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI (10-8-1937)	32
40	LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL (10-8-1937)	33
41	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (About 10-8-1937)	34
42	TELEGRAM TO AMTUSSALAAM (11-8-1937)	35
43	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (11-8-1937)	35
44	LETTER TO G. V. MAVALANKAR (11-8-1937)	35
45	DISCUSSION WITH D. K. MEHTA AND P. B. GOLE (11/12-8-1937)	36
46	STATEMENT ON INTERVIEW WITH THE VICEROY (12-8-1937)	36
47	LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI (12-8-1937)	37
48	LETTER TO BHAGWANJI A. MEHTA (12-8-1937)	38
49	LETTER TO R. S. NIMBKAR (Before 13-8-1937)	38
50	STATEMENT TO THE PRESS (13-8-1937)	39
51	LETTER TO VITHALDAS V. JERAJANI (13-8-1937)	40
52	LETTER TO DR. FRITZ MICHAELIS (13-8-1937)	41
53	LETTER TO E. K. PALIA (13-8-1937)	42
54	LETTER TO M. MARGUERITE WIY (13-8-1937)	42
55	LETTER TO MARIA SEVENICH (13-8-1937)	43
56	LETTER TO J. C. KUMARAPPA (13-8-1937)	43
57	LETTER TO GOKULDAS (13-8-1937)	44
58	LETTER TO SARLA (13-8-1937)	44
59	LETTER TO MANIBEHN PATEL (13-8-1937)	45
60	NOTES (14-8-1937)	45
61	AGAINST AHIMSA AND TRUTH? (14-8-1937)	46
62	LETTER TO NARAHARI D. PARIKH (14-8-1937)	48
63	RENTIA BARAS (15-8-1937)	48
64	MY NOTES (15-8-1937)	50
65	LETTER TO MANIBEHN PATEL (15-8-1937)	50
66	LETTER TO M. VISVESVARAYYA (After 15-8-1937)	51
67	LETTER TO VICEROY (16-8-1937)	51
68	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (16-8-1937)	52
69	LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM (16-8-1937)	52
70	TELEGRAM TO RABINDRANATH TAGORE (On or after 16-8-1937)	53
71	LETTER TO SARASWATI (17-8-1937)	53
72	LETTER TO G. D. BIRLA (18-8-1937)	54
73	LETTER TO C. RAJAGOPALACHARI (19-8-1937)	55
74	LETTER TO BHARATAN KUMARAPPA (19-8-1937)	55
75	LETTER TO LAKSHMI GANDHI (19-8-1937)	56
76	STATEMENT TO THE PRESS (20-8-1937)	56
77	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (20-8-1937)	58

78	LETTER TO HARIHAR SHARMA (20-8-1937)	58
79	DISCUSSION ON PROHIBITION (Before 21-8-1937)	59
80	HINDI-URDU (21-8-1937)	60
81	NOTES (21-8-1937)	61
82	THE IMPLICATIONS (21-8-1937)	61
83	LETTER TO VERRIER ELWIN (21-8-1937)	63
84	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (21-8-1937)	64
85	LETTER TO JAYANTI N. PAREKH (22-8-1937)	64
86	LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL (22-8-1937)	65
87	LETTER TO MULSHANKER NAUTAMLAL (23-8-1937)	65
88	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (23-8-1937)	66
89	MESSAGE TO TRAVANCORE WOMEN'S CONFERENCE, QUILON (Before 24-8-1937)	67
90	LETTER TO G. A. NATESAN (24-8-1937)	67
91	LETTER TO G. CUNNINGHAM (24-8-1937)	68
92	LETTER TO MANGALDAS PAKVASA (24-8-1937)	69
93	LETTER TO PREMABEHN KANTAK (25-8-1937)	69
94	LETTER TO G. D. BIRLA (25-8-1937)	71
95	LETTER TO C. RAJAGOPALACHARI (26-8-1937)	72
96	LETTER TO EDITH HUNTER (26-8-1937)	72
97	LETTER TO CHANDAN PAREKH (26-8-1937)	73
98	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (26-8-1937)	74
99	TELEGRAM TO VICEROY (27-8-1937)	74
100	LETTER TO R. GANGADHARAN (27-8-1937)	75
101	LETTER TO ZAKIR HUSAIN (27-8-1937)	76
102	LETTER TO M. SUBRAHMANYA RAJU (27-8-1937)	76
103	LETTER TO RAGHAVDAS (27-8-1937)	77
104	LETTER TO RAMDAS GULATI (27-8-1937)	77
105	DISCUSSION ON PROHIBITION (Before 28-8-1937)	78
106	NOTES (28-8-1937)	79
107	THE GREATEST ACT (28-8-1937)	81
108	"SUFFICIENTLY ACQUAINTED" (28-8-1937)	84
109	LETTER TO J. C. KUMARAPPA (28-8-1937)	85
110	LETTER TO ATULANAND CHAKRABARTY (28-8-1937)	86
111	LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR (28-8-1937)	87
112	UNDER SHADOW OF LYNCH LAW (29-8-1937)	87
113	A SUPERSTITION (29-8-1937)	88
114	LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI (29-8-1937)	89
115	LETTER TO JETHALAL G. SAMPAT (29-8-1937)	89
116	TELEGRAM TO ANDAMANS PRISONERS (30-8-1937)	90
117	STATEMENT TO THE PRESS (31-8-1937)	90
118	LETTER TO PRABHASHANKAR PATTANI (31-8-1937)	91
119	TELEGRAM TO PRABHASHANKAR PATTANI (31-8-1937)	91

[xviii]

120	LETTER TO J. C. KUMARAPPA (1-9-1937)	92
121	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (1-9-1937)	92
122	LETTER TO P. G. MATHEW (1-9-1937)	93
123	LETTER TO S. AMBUJAMMAL (1-9-1937)	94
124	LETTER TO JETHALAL G. SAMPAT (1-9-1937)	95
125	A SILENT CO-WORKER GONE (1-9-1937)	95
126	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (3-9-1937)	98
127	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (3-9-1937)	98
128	TELEGRAM TO 'HOME SECRETARY, GOVERNMENT OF INDIA (3-9-1937)	99
129	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (3-9-1937)	100
130	LETTER TO BEHRAMJI KHAMBHATTA (3-9-1937)	101
131	NOTES (4-9-1937)	101
132	MY MEANING OF OFFICE-ACCEPTANCE (4-9-1937)	103
133	THE NATIONAL TRICOLOUR (4-9-1937)	106
134	LETTER TO SARASWATI (4-9-1937)	107
135	LETTER TO H. L. SHARMA (4-9-1937)	107
136	MY NOTES (5-9-1937)	108
137	LETTER TO GLADYS OWEN (5-9-1937)	108
138	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (6-9-1937)	109
139	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (7-9-1937)	109
140	TELEGRAM TO DESHBANDHU GUPTA (Before 8-9-1937)	110
141	A TELEGRAM (8-9-1937)	110
142	TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR (8-9-1937)	110
143	LETTER TO VICEROY (8-9-1937)	111
144	LETTER TO G. CUNNINGHAM (8-9-1937)	111
145	LETTER TO M. V. SRINIVASAN (8-9-1937)	112
146	LETTER TO D. B. BARVE (8-9-1937)	113
147	LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR (8-9-1937)	113
148	LETTER TO J. P. BHANSALI (8-9-1937)	114
149	NOTE TO AMRIT KAUR (8-9-1937)	114
150	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (8-9-1937)	114
151	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (8-9-1937)	116
152	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (After 8-9-1937)	117
153	DISCUSSION WITH EDUCATIONISTS (Before 11-9-1937)	117
154	ARE CHRISTIANS AGAINST PROHIBITION? (11-9-1937)	118
155	NOTES (11-9-1937)	120
156	SELF-SUPPORTING EDUCATION (11-9-1937)	123
157	A TELEGRAM (11-9-1937)	125
158	LETTER TO ATULANAND CHAKRABARTY (11-9-1937)	125
159	LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI (12-9-1937)	126
160	LETTER TO PRABHAVATI (12-9-1937)	127
161	INTERVIEW TO WILLIAM B. BENTON (Before 13-9-1937)	127

162	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (13-9-1937)	129
163	TELEGRAM TO SURENDRANATH MOITRA (Before 14-9-1937)	130
164	TELEGRAM TO NILRATAN SARKAR (14-9-1937)	130
165	LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI (14-9-1937)	130
166	STATEMENT TO THE PRESS (15-9-1937)	131
167	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (15-9-1937)	131
168	LETTER TO MANHARRAM MEHTA (15-9-1937)	132
169	LETTER TO CHANDRASHANKAR (15-9-1937)	133
170	LETTER TO NARASINHBHAI (15-9-1937)	133
171	LETTER TO DR. DHANJI SHAW (15-9-1937)	134
172	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (15-9-1937)	135
173	TELEGRAM TO NILRATAN SARKAR (On or before 17-9-1937)	135
174	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (17-9-1937)	136
175	LETTER TO JAMNALAL BAJAJ (17-9-1937)	136
176	DISCUSSION WITH AN EDUCATIONIST (Before 18-9-1937)	137
177	FOR MONKEYS (18-9-1937)	139
178	THE SOCIAL SIDE OF PROHIBITION (18-9-1937)	140
179	FOR MINISTERS OF EDUCATION (18-9-1937)	140
180	SELF-SUPPORTING SCHOOLS (18-9-1937)	142
181	INHUMANITY IN DELHI (18-9-1937)	144
182	LETTER TO NIRMALA GANDHI (18-9-1937)	145
183	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (18-9-1937)	146
184	THE USE AND ABUSE OF TODDY (19-9-1937)	147
185	TO NATIONAL TEACHERS (19-9-1937)	150
186	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (19-9-1937)	152
187	LETTER TO NIRMALA GANDHI (19-9-1937)	152
188	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (20-9-1937)	153
189	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (20-9-1937)	154
190	LETTER TO E. M. S. NAMBOODIRIPAD (21-9-1937)	155
191	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (21-9-1937)	156
192	LETTER TO RABINDRANATH TAGORE (23-9-1937)	156
193	MESSAGE TO KARNATAKA UNIFICATION LEAGUE, BELGAUM (Before 24-9-1937)	157
194	LETTER TO S. AMBUJAMMAL (24-9-1937)	157
195	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (24-9-1937)	158
196	LETTER TO NARAHARI D. PARIKH (24-9-1937)	158
197	LETTER TO PRABHASHANKAR PATTANI (24-9-1937)	159
198	HAVOC IN ORISSA (25-9-1937)	160
199	NOT IMPRACTICABLE (25-9-1937)	161
200	FOUR QUESTIONS (25-9-1937)	163
201	NOTES (25-9-1937)	164
202	LETTER TO SARASWATI (25-9-1937)	166
203	PRIMARY EDUCATION IN BOMBAY (26-9-1937)	166

204	MY NOTES (26-9-1937)	170
205	LETTER TO V. V. ATITKAR (26-9-1937)	171
206	LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL (26-9-1937)	172
207	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (27-9-1937)	174
208	LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI (27-9-1937)	175
209	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (27-9-1937)	175
210	LETTER TO G. V. GURJALE (28-9-1937)	176
211	LETTER TO MANU SUBEDAR (28-9-1937)	177
212	A LETTER (28-9-1937)	177
213	LETTER TO LAKSHMIDAS (29-9-1937)	178
214	LETTER TO YUSUF MEHERALLY (29-9-1937)	178
215	LETTER TO SHANKARLAL (29-9-1937)	179
216	LETTER TO BHAGWANDAS (29-9-1937)	180
217	LETTER TO GOPINATH (29-9-1937)	180
218	LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI (29-9-1937)	181
219	LETTER TO SYED BASHIR AHMED (Before 30-9-1937)	181
220	LETTER TO SYED BASHIR AHMED (Before 30-9-1937)	182
221	LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU (1-10-1937)	183
222	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (1-10-1937)	183
223	LETTER TO PRABHAVATI (1-10-1937)	184
224	LETTER TO NARAHARI D. PARIKH (1-10-1937)	185
225	LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI (After 1-10-1937)	186
226	A LETTER (2-10-1937)	187
227	LEST WE FORGET (2-10-1937)	188
228	STUDENTS AND STRIKES (2-10-1937)	189
229	DOING, NOT IDLE THINKING (2-10-1937)	191
230	QUESTIONS BEFORE EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE (2-10-1937)	193
231	NOTES (2-10-1937)	196
232	LETTER TO AVANTIKABAI GOKHALE AND GAURIBAI KHADILKAR (About 2-10-1937)	197
233	ILLITERATES v. LITERATES (3-10-1937)	197
234	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (3-10-1937)	199
235	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (3-10-1937)	199
236	LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM (3-10-1937)	199
237	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (4-10-1937)	200
238	LETTER TO PYARELAL (4-10-1937)	201
239	TELEGRAM TO RAJENDRA PRASAD (5-10-1937)	201
240	LETTER TO MUNNALAL G. SHAH (5-10-1937)	201
241	LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI (5-10-1937)	202
242	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (6-10-1937)	203
243	LETTER TO VIDYA A. HINGORANI (6-10-1937)	203
244	LETTER TO ANAND T. HINGORANI (6-10-1937)	204
245	STATEMENT TO THE PRESS (6-10-1937)	204

246	LETTER TO MADHAVDAS AND KRISHNA KAPADIA (7-10-1937)	205
247	LETTER TO CHANDAN PAREKH (7-10-1937)	205
248	LETTER TO NARAHARI D. PARIKH (7-10-1937)	206
249	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (7-10-1937)	207
250	LETTER TO S. AMBUJAMMAL (8-10-1937)	208
251	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (8-10-1937)	209
252	LETTER TO KHURSHEDBEHN NAOROJI (8-10-1937)	209
253	LETTER TO PRABHAVATI (8-10-1937)	210
254	LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR (8-10-1937)	211
255	LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI (8-10-1937)	211
256	LETTER TO H. L. SHARMA (8-10-1937)	212
257	LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL (Before 9-10-1937)	212
258	GIVE MINISTERS A CHANCE (9-10-1937)	213
259	CONDITIONS OF SUCCESS (9-10-1937)	214
260	TO APPLICANTS FOR PRIMARY EDUCATION TEACHER- SHIPS (9-10-1937)	215
261	LETTER TO G. V. GURJALE (9-10-1937)	216
262	LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL (9-10-1937)	216
263	NOTE TO NARAHARI D. PARIKH (Before 10-10-1937)	217
264	TWO ENDORSEMENTS OF EDUCATION THROUGH WORK (10-10-1937)	217
265	MY NOTES (10-10-1937)	218
266	LETTER TO SHRIMAN NARAYAN AGRAWAL (10-10-1937)	219
267	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (10-10-1937)	220
268	LETTER TO C. F. ANDREWS (10-10-1937)	220
269	LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM (10-10-1937)	221
270	LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL (10-10-1937)	221
271	TELEGRAM TO AMTUSSALAAM (11-10-1937)	222
272	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (11-10-1937)	222
273	LETTER TO SITA GANDHI (11-10-1937)	224
274	LETTER TO MANILAL AND SUSHILA GANDHI (11-10-1937)	224
275	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (11-10-1937)	225
276	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (11-10-1937)	225
277	LETTER TO PRABHAVATI (11-10-1937)	226
278	LETTER TO JAMNALAL BAJAJ (12-10-1937)	226
279	LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU (12-10-1937)	227
280	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (12-10-1937)	228
281	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (13-10-1937)	229
282	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (13-10-1937)	230
283	LETTER TO JANAKIDEVI BAJAJ (13-10-1937)	230
284	LETTER TO PRABHASHANKAR PATTANI (13-10-1937)	230
285	LETTER TO DR. M. JAISOORYA NAIDU (14-10-1937)	231

286	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (14-10-1937)	232
287	NOTE ON NARIMAN-SARDAR CASE (14-10-1937)	233
288	LETTER TO M. VISVESVARAYYA (15-10-1937)	234
289	LETTER TO DR. N. B. KHARE (15-10-1937)	235
290	LETTER TO JAGANNATH DAS (15-10-1937)	235
291	LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI (15-10-1937)	236
292	LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR (15-10-1937)	236
293	LETTER TO SARAT CHANDRA BOSE (Before 16-10-1937)	237
294	NOTES (16-10-1937)	237
295	SOME CRITICISM ANSWERED (16-10-1937)	238
296	PROHIBITION AND EDUCATION (16-10-1937)	241
297	IN SUPPORT (16-10-1937)	243
298	LETTER TO MARGARETE SPIEGEL (16-10-1937)	245
299	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (16-10-1937)	246
300	A LETTER (16-10-1937)	246
301	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (16-10-1937)	246
302	STATEMENT TO THE PRESS (16-10-1937)	247
303	SELF-SUPPORTING EDUCATION (17-10-1937)	248
304	PASSING AWAY OF A WONDERFUL HARIJAN WORKER (17-10-1937)	250
305	LETTER TO KIRBY PAGE (17-10-1937)	250
306	LETTER TO PRABHAVATI (17-10-1937)	251
307	STATEMENT TO THE PRESS (17-10-1937)	252
308	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (18-10-1937)	252
309	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (18-10-1937)	253
310	LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL (18-10-1937)	254
311	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (18-10-1937)	254
312	LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR (18-10-1937)	255
313	LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI (After 18-10-1937)	255
314	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (19-10-1937)	256
315	LETTER TO M. A. JINNAH (19-10-1937)	257
316	LETTER TO PARIKSHITLAL L. MAJMUDAR (19-10-1937)	257
317	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (19-10-1937)	258
318	LETTER TO THAKOREDAS NANAVATI (19-10-1937)	258
319	LETTER TO DR. WILLIAM H. TANDY (20-10-1937)	259
320	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (20-10-1937)	260
321	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (20/21-10-1937)	260
322	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (21-10-1937)	261
323	LETTER TO SUBHAS CHANDRA BOSE (On or before 22-10-1937)	261
324	LETTER TO S. AMBUJAMMAL (22-10-1937)	262
325	LETTER TO PRABHAVATI (22-10-1937)	262
326	SPEECH AT EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE-I (22-10-1937)	263

327	SPEECH AT EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE-II (22-10-1937)	267
328	CIVIL LIBERTY (23-10-1937)	268
329	INDIAN INDUSTRY (23-10-1937)	270
330	LETTER TO PRANJIVAN (23-10-1937)	271
331	LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR (23-10-1937)	271
332	LETTER TO TULSI MAHER (23-10-1937)	272
333	LETTER TO BHAGWAN DEVI (23-10-1937)	272
334	SPEECH AT EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE (23-10-1937)	273
335	LETTER TO MANILAL AND SUSHILA GANDHI (Before 25-10-1937)	273
336	LETTER TO K. F. NARIMAN (29-10-1937)	274
337	LETTER TO TANDON (29-10-1937)	275
338	INTERVIEW TO POLITICAL SUFFERERS (29-10-1937)	276
339	NOT TODDY BUT NIRO (30-10-1937)	276
340	SOCIAL SERVICE CONSCRIPTION (30-10-1937)	277
341	A STEP FORWARD (30-10-1937)	279
342	TALK WITH ANDAMANS PRISONERS (30-10-1937)	281
343	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (31-10-1937)	282
344	LETTER TO NANDALAL BOSE (31-10-1937)	282
345	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (1-11-1937)	283
346	LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU (1-11-1937)	284
347	NOTE TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL (1-11-1937)	285
348	STATEMENT TO THE PRESS (1-11-1937)	286
349	TELEGRAM TO ABDUL GHAFFAR KHAN (On or after 1-11-1937)	287
350	LETTER TO AMINA TYABJI (4-11-1937)	287
351	LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR (5-11-1937)	288
352	FRAGMENT OF LETTER TO RABINDRANATH TAGORE (6-11-1937)	289
353	LETTER TO RABINDRANATH TAGORE (8-11-1937)	289
354	STATEMENT TO THE PRESS (9-11-1937)	289
355	TELEGRAM TO J. S. PILLAI (On or before 10-11-1937)	290
356	TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR (10-11-1937)	290
357	LETTER TO DILKHUSH B. DIWANJI (11-11-1937)	291
358	A NOTE ON PROHIBITION (13-11-1937)	291
359	THE A.I.C.C. (13-11-1937)	292
360	LETTER TO ZAKIR HUSAIN (14-11-1937)	294
361	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (15-11-1937)	294
362	LETTER TO NARESH NATH MOOKERJEE (17-11-1937)	295
363	INTERVIEW TO UNITED PRESS (17-11-1937)	296
364	LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU (18-11-1937)	296
365	LETTER TO NIRMALA GANDHI (18-11-1937)	298
366	TEMPLE-ENRTY (20-11-1937)	299
367	STORM SIGNALS (20-11-1937)	300

368	NOTES (20-11-1937)	302
369	TELEGRAM TO PRABHASHANKAR PATTANI (20-11-1937)	303
370	STATEMENT ON BENGAL GOVERNMENT'S COMMUNIQUE (21-11-1937)	303
371	LETTER TO JEHANGIR VAKIL (22-11-1937)	306
372	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (22-11-1937)	306
373	LETTER TO PYARELAL (22-11-1937)	307
374	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (24-11-1937)	308
375	A FOREWORD (27-11-1937)	308
376	LETTER TO K. NAZIMUDDIN (28-11-1937)	309
377	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (28-11-1937)	310
378	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (29-11-1937)	310
379	LETTER TO S. AMBUJAMMAL (29-11-1937)	311
380	LETTER TO NARAHARI D. PARIKH (November 1937)	311
381	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (5-12-1937)	312
382	NOTE TO DAMODARDAS MUNDHRA (On or before 6-12-1937)	312
383	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (6-12-1937)	312
384	TALK WITH MAHADEV DESAI (6-12-1937)	313
385	TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR (7-12-1937)	313
386	LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR (8-12-1937)	313
387	LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL (8-12-1937)	314
388	LETTER TO J. P. BHANSALI (8-12-1937)	314
389	LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI (8-12-1937)	315
390	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (8-12-1937)	315
391	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (13-12-1937)	315
392	LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI (13-12-1937)	316
393	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (13-12-1937)	317
394	LETTER TO J. P. BHANSALI (15-12-1937)	317
395	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (15-12-1937)	318
396	LETTER TO AMRITLAL V. THAKKAR (16-12-1937)	318
397	LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR (17-12-1937)	319
398	LETTER TO NARAYAN M. KHARE (17-12-1937)	319
399	LETTER TO MANILAL AND SUSHILA GANDHI (20-12-1937)	320
400	LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL (20-12-1937)	320
401	LETTER TO J. P. BHANSALI (20-12-1937)	321
402	LETTER TO RAMDAS GANDHI (21-12-1937)	322
403	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (24-12-1937)	323
404	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (27-12-1937)	323
405	LETTER TO YOGA R. SOMAN (29-12-1937)	324
406	LETTER TO PRABHAVATI (29-12-1937)	324
407	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (30-12-1937)	325
408	LETTER TO MADELEINE ROLLAND (30-12-1937)	325
409	LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL (30-12-1937)	326

[xiv]

410	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (30-12-1937)	326
411	CABLE TO EFY ARISTARCHI (1937)	327
412	CABLE TO C. F. ANDREWS (1937)	327
413	DISCUSSION WITH AN ITALIAN PROFESSOR (1937)	328
414	TALK WITH DOCTORS (On or before 7-1-1938)	329
415	TALK WITH C. RAJAGOPALACHARI (7-1-1938)	329
416	INTERVIEW TO THE PRESS (7-1-1938)	330
417	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (9-1-1938)	331
418	TALK WITH JAMNALAL BAJAJ (9-1-1938)	332
419	TELEGRAM TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU (10-1-1938)	332
420	LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI (10-1-1938)	333
421	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (10-1-1938)	334
422	LETTER TO RAMDAS GANDHI (10-1-1938)	334
423	TELEGRAM TO SECRETARY, PRISONERS' RELIEF SOCIETY, LAHORE (11-1-1938)	335
424	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (11-1-1938)	335
425	ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS (13-1-1938)	336
426	STATEMENT TO THE PRESS (14-1-1938)	340
427	DISCUSSION WITH EDUCATIONISTS (Before 15-1-1938)	340
428	TALK WITH A FRIEND (Before 15-1-1938)	341
429	LETTER TO MULK RAJ (15-1-1938)	342
430	DISCUSSION WITH LORD LOTHIAN (20-1-1938)	343
431	A MESSAGE (20-1-1938)	344
432	LETTER TO VICEROY (21-1-1938)	344
433	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (21-1-1938)	345
434	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (22-1-1938)	346
435	TELEGRAM TO SUBHAS CHANDRA BOSE (23-1-1938)	346
436	LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR (23-1-1938)	346
437	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (30-1-1938)	347
438	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (30-1-1938)	347
439	LETTER TO J. C. KUMARAPPA (31-1-1938)	348
440	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (31-1-1938)	348
441	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (1-2-1938)	349
442	LETTER TO M. A. JINNAH (3-2-1938)	349
443	LETTER TO V. A. SUNDARAM (3-2-1938)	350
444	LETTER TO MANILAL GANDHI AND FAMILY (3-2-1938)	351
445	LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR (5-2-1938)	351
446	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (5-2-1938)	352
447	LETTER TO N. S. HARDIKAR (5-2-1938)	352
448	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (6-2-1938)	353
449	DISCUSSION WITH JOHN DE BOER (On or before 8-2-1938)	353
450	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (8-2-1938)	356
451	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (8-2-1938)	356

452	SPEECH AT KAHDI AND VILLAGE INDUSTRIES EXHIBITION (10-2-1938)	357
453	TALK WITH WORKERS (10-2-1938)	360
454	TALK WITH VALLABHBHAI PATEL (10-2-1938)	361
455	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (11-2-1938)	361
456	LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM (11-2-1938)	362
457	SPEECH TO SANITATION VOLUNTEERS (11-2-1938)	362
458	NOTE TO AMTUSSALAAM (Before 13-2-1938)	364
459	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (13-2-1938)	365
460	SPEECH AT EXHIBITION (13-2-1938)	365
461	LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR (13-2-1938)	366
462	LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM (13-2-1938)	367
463	LETTER TO DUDABHAI DAFDA (15-2-1938)	367
464	LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR (15-2-1938)	368
465	LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM (15-2-1938)	368
466	INTERVIEW TO AMIN (15-2-1938)	368
467	LETTER TO CHIMANLAL N. SHAH (16-2-1938)	369
468	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (16-2-1938)	369
469	LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR (16-2-1938)	370
470	LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM (16-2-1938)	370
471	SPEECH AT KHADI AND VILLAGE INDUSTRIES EXHIBITION (16-2-1938)	370
472	STATEMENT TO THE PRESS (16-2-1938)	375
473	RESOLUTION ON MINISTERIAL RESIGNATIONS (Before 18-2-1938)	376
474	LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM (18-2-1938)	380
475	INTERVIEW TO "THE DAILY HERALD" (18-2-1938)	380
476	INTERVIEW TO "THE LONDON TIMES" (18-2-1938)	381
477	LETTER TO SHAM LAL (20-2-1938)	382
478	NOTE TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL (20-2-1938)	382
479	NOTE TO ANAND T. HINGORANI (21-2-1938)	383
480	STATEMENT TO THE PRESS (23-2-1938)	383
481	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (23-2-1938)	385
482	LETTER TO N. S. HARDIKAR (24-2-1938)	386
483	LETTER TO M. A. JINNAH (24-2-1938)	387
484	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (25-2-1938)	388
485	LETTER TO ZAKIR HUSAIN (27-2-1938)	388
486	TELEGRAM TO SHAM LAL (On or before 4-3-1938)	389
487	INTERVIEW TO REPRESENTATIVES OF SCINDIA STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY (4-3-1938)	389
488	TALK WITH A FRIEND (Before 5-3-1938)	391
489	TELEGRAM TO MRS. GEORGE JOSEPH (Or. or after 5-3-1938)	393
490	DISCUSSION WITH SUBHAS CHANDRA BOSE (6-3-1938)	393
491	TELEGRAM TO GLADYS OWEN (7-3-1938)	394

492	NOTE TO JAMNALAL BAJAJ (7-3-1938)	395
493	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (7-3-1938)	395
494	LETTER TO M. A. JINNAH (8-3-1938)	395
495	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (8-3-1938)	396
496	LETTER TO LAKSHMI NARAYAN GADODIA (8-3-1938)	397
497	TALK WITH A PACIFIST (Before 12-3-1938)	397
498	LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI (13-3-1938)	399
499	LETTER TO SHIVABHAI G. PATEL (13-3-1938)	399
500	LETTER TO C. RAJAGOPALACHARI (14-3-1938)	400
501	LETTER TO N. R. MALKANI (14-3-1938)	400
502	TESTIMONIAL TO N. R. MALKANI (14-3-1938)	401
503	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (14-3-1938)	401
504	A DISCUSSION (On or before 15-3-1938)	402
505	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (16-3-1938)	403
506	TALK WITH HARIJANS (18-3-1938)	404
507	DISCUSSION WITH KRISHAK PROJA PARTY MEMBERS (19-3-1938)	405
508	OUR FAILURE (Before 22-3-1938)	405
509	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (On or before 22-3-1938)	407
510	LETTER TO MIRABEHN (22-3-1938)	408
511	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (22-3-1938)	409
512	TALK WITH CO-WORKERS (22-3-1938)	410
513	FOREWORD (24-3-1938)	411
514	LETTER TO M. A. JINNAH (24-3-1938)	411
515	AN APPEAL (24-3-1938)	412
516	TELEGRAM TO AMTUSSALAAM (25-3-1938)	412
517	SPEECH AT VILLAGE INDUSTRIES EXHIBITION (25-3-1938)	413
518	SPEECH AT GANDHI SEVA SANGH MEETING (25-3-1938)	415
519	DISCUSSION AT GANDHI SEVA SANGH (26-3-1938)	424
520	SPEECH AT GANDHI SEVA SANGH MEETING (27-3-1938)	433
521	LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR (28-3-1938)	440
522	LETTER TO MIRABEHN (28-3-1938)	441
523	LETTER TO PRABHAVATI (28-3-1938)	442
524	LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL (28-3-1938)	442
525	LETTER TO J. P. BHANSALI (28-3-1938)	443
526	LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI (28-3-1938)	443
527	LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH (28-3-1938)	444
528	SPEECH AT GANDHI SEVA SANGH MEETING (28-3-1938)	444
529	LETTER TO MIRABEHN (After 28-3-1938)	450
530	SPEECH AT A.I.S.A. WORKERS' MEETING (29-3-1938)	450
531	SPEECH AT GANDHI SEVA SANGH MEETING (30-3-1938)	451
532	NOTE TO BRIJKRISHNA CHANDIWALA (Before 31-3-1938)	454
533	INTERVIEW TO THE PRESS (On or before 31-3-1938)	455

534	LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI (31-3-1938)	455
535	LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR (31-3-1938)	457
536	LETTER TO AMTUSALAAM (31-3-1938)	457
537	LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA (31-3-1938)	458
538	LETTER TO SARASWATI (31-3-1938)	458
539	INTERVIEW TO RAJA OF PARLAKIMEDI (31-3-1938)	459
APPENDICES
I	THE QUESTION OF LANGUAGES	460
II	THE KOTTAPATAM SUMMER SCHOOL	462
III	LETTER FROM G. CUNNINGHAM	463
IV	CONGRESS WORKING COMMITTEE RESOLUTION ON ANDAMANS PRISONERS	464
V	NOTES	465
VI	K. F. NARIMAN'S STATEMENT	467
VII	(a) M. A. JINNAH'S SPEECH AT LUCKNOW	468
	(b) LETTER FROM M. A. JINNAH	470
VIII	LETTER FROM JAWAHARLAL NEHRU	471
IX	BENGAL GOVERNMENT'S COMMUNIQUE	472
X	(a) LETTER FROM MAHADEV DESAI TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU	474
	(b) LETTER FROM MAHADEV DESAI TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU	475
XI	LETTER FROM K. NAZIMUDDIN	477
XII	LETTER FROM M. A. JINNAH	479
XIII	LETTER FROM M. A. JINNAH	480
SOURCES		482
CHRONOLOGY		484
INDEX OF TITLES		491
INDEX		495
ERRATA		510

1. TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR

WARDHA,
August 1, 1937

RAJKUMARI AMRIT KAUR
SIMLA WEST

IF REGRET FOR FIRING EXPRESSED AND OTHER RELIEF MENTIONED BY YOU GRANTED NO INQUIRY NEEDED. LOVE.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3798. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 6954

2. LETTER TO K. F. NARIMAN

August 1, 1937

Your attitude is most bewildering. Before I issue my statement I make this offer. I am prepared to go through the whole of your charges and if I feel convinced that you have been unjustly dealt with by the Sardar, I shall unhesitatingly say so and do everything humanly possible to undo the mischief. If, on the other hand, I find [anything] against you and you are not satisfied with my findings, I shall request Bahadurji or Sir Govindrao Madgaonkar to go through the recorded evidence and review my findings. All these proceedings need not be public so far as I am concerned. If the findings are against you, you should have an opportunity of tendering an apology and making a full and frank confession of your weakness and the wrong done to the public, the Sardar and other colleagues. But if you want the proceedings to be public, I do not mind. You need not even know what is being done. I had no desire to be in this affair at all. But you wanted me to intercede. Many friends, including Mr. Bharucha, have been pressing me to do likewise. I may not now sit still. I hope you will understand my anxiety to see that full justice is done to you and avoid everything that may possibly harm you without cause. If you desire an enquiry by me, please send me your charge-sheet and a precis of your evidence. I would send it to the Sardar and any other colleagues against whom you have any grievance and after having had his and their reply, I shall call for such evidence as may be required, if any. These proceedings need not take more than a week.

You need not concern yourself with what the Working Committee or your friends may think; they need not be informed of this procedure.

Let me add that the information which has so far reached me does not substantiate your stand.¹

Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, Vol. II, p. 240, and The Hindu, 14-8-1937

¹ On receiving this letter, Nariman sent a telegram to Gandhiji saying: "Strongly object publication one-sided impression. Desire to explain other side. Letter follows." In the letter which followed he said: "I find that in the last few letters you have been constantly threatening me with the publication of your conclusions. Am I not entitled to know what you think before you make it public? . . . I am confident that I shall be able to satisfy you on all points and remove any misunderstanding if only I am given an opportunity to do so. If, in spite of this request of mine, you decide to publish your views of this episode, I shall consider myself free also to give my explanation in public. . . ." Even before he received this letter, Gandhiji informed Nariman on August 2 that he and Bahadurji were prepared to arbitrate on the two issues connected with the election of 1934 and the election of the leader of the Congress Party in the Bombay Legislature in 1937, and asked Nariman if this proposal was acceptable to him. To this Nariman replied telegraphically on August 4: "Accept your and Bahadurji's judgement on both issues." On the 6th of August, however, Nariman asked Gandhiji's help on a few points. He suggested that lest his acceptance of this arbitral tribunal against a decision of the Working Committee might be interpreted to mean that he was disloyal to it, Gandhiji should obtain the approval of the Congress President to the proposed procedure. He asked further that all his witnesses should be protected against harassment of any kind; without such an assurance, an independent enquiry and the task of ascertaining the truth would be rendered impossible.

For Gandhiji's reply, vide "Letter to K. F. Nariman", p. 25; vide also "Statement to the Press", p. 39.

3. LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL

SEGAON,
August 1, 1937

BHAI VALLABHBHAI,

Now I can send you a wire only tomorrow, is it not? If possible Mahadev will send it [today]. I can't issue my statement¹ immediately. It will be issued only at the appropriate time. Read my letter of yesterday. I can't decide whether it would be proper to publish the whole correspondence. It is not a question of permission, but one of propriety from our point of view.

Blessings from
BAPU

SARDAR VALLABHBHAI PATEL
PURUSHOTTAM BUILDING
OPP. OPERA HOUSE
BOMBAY 4

[From Gujarati]

Bepuna Patre-2: Sardar Vallabhbhai, p. 209

4. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 1, 1937

GHI. MAHADEV,

The Simla-dweller and you have praised the reed with a fountain-pen and a typewriter! I have added a paragraph to your article.

If Shanta² can fit herself into the set-up, I don't think we shall need Devraj, provided you take work from Chhotelal also. But now we shall think over all this on the train on Tuesday.

Now Kanu is not going there today. He will go tomorrow.

Blessings from
BAPU

¹ On the Nariman controversy; vide "Statement to the Press", p. 39.

² An Englishwoman

PS.

You may send a wire to Vallabhbhai as follows: "Statement not yet. Am considering propriety publishing correspondence."¹

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11542

5. LETTER TO C. RAJAGOPALACHARI

SEGAON,
August 2, 1937

MY DEAR C. R.²,

Here is an interesting cutting for you.

Harijan is becoming a weekly letter to the Congress Ministers. You should therefore ask Ramanathan³ to put before you such things that you should read. You must not wear yourself out.

I do hope you won't pay the Members for twelve months. I should regard [as enough] Rs. 2 per day whilst the Assembly is sitting plus 3rd class travelling and actual out-of-pocket for coolies and tonga not exceeding Rs. 2. But you know best.

Do read the leading article⁴ in the current Harijan.

Let Lakshmi⁵ write for you. I don't expect you to write to me yourself.

Am off to see the Viceroy on his invitation, the cause is the mere pleasure of meeting.

Love.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 2065

¹ The draft is in English.

² Premier of Madras

³ Minister for Public Information in the Government of Madras

⁴ Ide Vol. LXV, pp. 447-53.

⁵ Addressee's daughter, Devdas Gandhi's wife

6. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 2, 1937

CHI. MAHADEV,

I think it would be better if you come over today. I suppose Dastane¹ will come by car, as also Rajkumari. As soon as the mail comes tell Shanta to forward it with either of them. A wire is enclosed.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Did you discuss with Shambhu Dayal who is responsible for his support, etc.?

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11543

7. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 2, 1937

CHI. MAHADEV,

I devote all my time these days to writing letters. I am sending one article with this. Another which I have begun may go tomorrow. If somebody goes there in the evening, I will send it with him. Otherwise I shall myself bring it tomorrow morning. If somebody brings the evening post and returns the same day he may take the article with him. Doctor is there and will return in the evening. He can bring the mail. He will be coming by car. Perhaps I will send the article with the car.

Blessings from
BAPU

PS.

I am sending with this [copies of] my letters to Nariman. Send a copy to Jawaharlal.

Send the following wire:

¹ Vasudev Vitthal Dastane

"Begum Ross Masood, Bhopal. My deepest sympathy in your irreparable loss.¹ Gandhi."

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11544

8. LETTER TO NARAHARI D. PARIKH

August 2, 1937

CHI. NARAHARI,

I had a talk with Swami. Will Venilal accept whatever decision you give after going through the account books and examining any other evidence that he might produce? Frame the reference and get the signatures of both on it. After that take the plaint and evidence in writing. You may then fix a hearing if necessary. This will save time and help us to determine what is just.

Let me have your reactions to my article² on education.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 9108

9. LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM

August 2, 1937

DEAR DAUGHTER AMTUL SALAAM,³

Only now I read in the newspaper that Ross Masood died in Bhopal. I have sent a telegram⁴. The same Ross Masood, isn't he? I can understand how you must be feeling. Have faith in God, have courage. All of us have to face death, some may die today, some tomorrow. How many have passed away and how many will in future!

Blessings to Saraswati⁵ and Paparamma⁶.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 389

¹ Ross Masood had passed away; vide "Letter to Amtussalaam", 2-8-1937.

² Vide Vol. LXV, pp. 447-53.

³ The superscription is in Urdu.

⁴ Vide "Letter to Mahadev Desai", 2-8-1937.

⁵ G. Ramachandran's sister's daughter, Kanti Gandhi's fiancée

⁶ G. Ramachandran's sister

10. FOREWORD TO "THE QUESTION OF LANGUAGES"

August 3, 1937

I have very carefully gone through Jawaharlal Nehru's essay¹ on the Hindi-Urdu question. The question has latterly become an unfortunate controversy. There is no valid reason for the ugly turn it has taken. Be that as it may, Jawaharlal's essay is a valuable contribution to a proper elucidation of the whole subject considered from the national and purely educational point of view. His constructive suggestions, if they are widely accepted by persons concerned, should put an end to the controversy which has taken a communal turn. The suggestions are exhaustive and eminently reasonable.²

M. K. GANDHI

Gandhi-Nehru Papers, 1937. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library. Also A Bunch of Old Letters, pp. 239-40

11. LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU

ON THE TRAIN,
August 3, 1937

MY DEAR JAWAHARLAL,

I am writing this on the train taking us to Delhi. Herewith is my Foreword or whatever it may be called. I could not give you anything elaborate.

You have "perhaps"³ before Pushtu and Punjabi. I suggest your removing the adverb. Khan Sahab for instance will never give up Pushtu. I believe it is written in some script, I forget which. And Punjabi? The Sikhs will die for Punjabi written in Gurmukhi. There is no elegance about that script. But I understand that it was specially invented like Sindhi to isolate the Sikhs from the other Hindus. Whether such was the case or not, it seems to me impossible at present to persuade the Sikhs to give up Gurmukhi.

¹ For the suggestions made therein, vide Appendix I; also "Hindi-Urdu", 21-8-1937.

² Vide also the following item.

³ This was changed to read "to some extent"; vide Appendix I, para 1.

You have suggested a common script to be evolved out of the four Southern languages. It seems to me to be as easy for them to substitute Devanagari as a mixture of the four. From a practical standpoint, the four do not admit of an invented mixture. I would, therefore, suggest your confining yourself to the general recommendation that wherever possible the provincial languages which have vital connection with Sanskrit, if they are not offshoots from it, should adopt revised Devanagari. You may know that this propaganda is going on.

Then, if you think like me, you should not hesitate to express the hope that as Hindus and Muslims are one day bound to be one at heart, they will also, who speak Hindustani, adopt one script, i. e., Devanagari, because of its being more scientific and being akin to the great provincial scripts of the languages descended from Sanskrit.

If you adopt my suggestions in part or in toto you will have no difficulty in laying your finger on the spots requiring the necessary changes. I had intended to do so myself in order to save your time. But I must not put that strain on my system just now.

I take it that my endorsement of your suggestions does not mean that I must ask the Hindi Sammelan to give up the use of the word Hindi. I am sure, that cannot be your meaning. I have taken it to the farthest limit possible as far as I can think.

If you cannot accept my suggestions, it would be better for the sake of accuracy to add the following sentence to the 'Foreword': 'At any rate I have no hesitation in heartily endorsing them in a general way.'

I hope Indu's¹ operation will go off well.

Love.

BAPU

Gandhi-Nehru Papers, 1937. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library. Also A Bunch of Old Letters, pp. 238-9

¹ Indira, addressee's daughter

12. LETTER TO ATULANANDA CHAKRABARTY

August 3, 1937

DEAR ATULANANDA,

I hope your daughter is well and wholly out of danger. I have gone through your articles carefully. I still do not see light. It seems to me that no culture league will answer the purpose you and I have in view.¹ It has got to be done by individuals who have a living faith and who would work with missionary zeal. Try again, if I have not seen what you see in your proposal. I shall be patient and attentive. I want to help if I can see my way clear.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

The Life of Mahatma Gandhi, p. 366

13. LETTER TO GANGABEHN VAIDYA

ON THE TRAIN,
August 3, 1937

CHI. GANGABEHN,

I am going to Delhi at the Viceroy's invitation and am writing this letter on the train. You say in your letter that you are prepared to get Manju married in another caste. Is Manju also willing? Would you accept an alliance if a suitable partner is available from any part of the country? It is certainly necessary to do so. The barriers ought to be broken. When the whole country is ours, why should we keep ourselves confined to one community or province or region? Pleasure should not be the end of marriage; there should be some sanctity about it and it should be entered into as a matter of dharma. All other barriers should be disregarded.

It is difficult to say when Kusum will settle down to something steady. She makes many plans but is not able to carry out any of them. Guide her as much as you can. By all means draw her there if you can.

¹ The addressee had proposed a culture league "to bring Hindus and Muslims together".

Ask Manju to write to me. Bachu¹, one may say, has had a new life.

I have been acquiring more and more cows.

If at any time you are keen on paying a visit here, do come. The season following the rains is pleasant.

I hope your work is winning appreciation.

Blessings from
BAPU

[From Gujarati]

Bapuna Patro-6: G. S. Gangabehnne, p. 96

14. LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI

ON THE TRAIN,
August 3, 1937

CHI. NARANDAS,

Anyone who knows all the processes from the [growing of] cotton to weaving should be able to write an introduction to the science of khadi² in two or at the most seven days.

1. Cultivation of cotton, its varieties, yield of crops in the different regions and the use of each variety

2. Plucking, cleaning and ginning of cotton-pods

3. Carding, preparation of slivers

4. Spinning

5. Weaving

The booklet would give a description of the machines with illustrations, arithmetical calculations, improvements up to date, etc. From among the persons whose names you suggest, Mahadev or Mirabehn are more likely to take up the work. But nobody can surpass Rameshwari Devi³. She is a woman of powerful personality. She knows excellent Hindi. She has an insight into all our activities. She belongs to well-known families both on her husband's and her father's sides. After you have availed yourself of her services in Rajkot, take her on a short tour of Kathiawar. She will give considerable impetus to khadi and Harijan work. I cannot send anyone better. Still, if you want me to make some other arrangement, I will do so. I would certainly not send anybody in whom you may have no faith. She was with me for a month and is just now with me in a third-class compartment. She has a house in Delhi and also one in Lahore. She is going to Delhi today and I also am going there for a day. I have been invited by the Viceroy for an informal meeting. It was she whom I had sent to Travancore for Harijan work. You must have read in Harijan my article on education. You have to demonstrate its practicability.

¹ Bachubhai Bhimji Ramdas, addressee's brother's son

² Vide Vol. LXV, pp. 414-5.

³ Rameshwari Nehru

If you feel that your services can be utilized best in the primary department only, I don't wish to shift you. I shall be more than satisfied if you popularize khadi and uproot untouchability all over Kathiawar. If you can achieve that, you will set an example to the whole country. I have no plan for any work for you outside Kathiawar. I had asked you just to make sure whether I could call you in case I needed somebody.

I feel better. I need a little rest, which I am taking. I am looking after Kanu¹. He is passing through a difficult stage. At his age we also must have felt the same. But he is an obedient boy and will, therefore, become steady by and by. Most probably he will settle down with me in Segaon. I am trying to adjust myself to him as far as possible.

Lilavati gave me your letter. I for my part have permitted her, but I don't think she will go. She doesn't wish to leave my side. However, at times she does feel restless. Her condition also is somewhat similar to Kanaiyo's.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I shall return to Wardha on the 5th or the 6th. You must have seen Kamala's request for Rs. 5 for her mother. What do you think of it?

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./II. Also C.W. 8533. Courtesy: Narandas Gandhi

¹ Addressee's son

15. LETTER TO MIRABEHN

ON THE TRAIN,
August 4, 1937

CHI. MIRA,

I am nearing Delhi. Mahadev and Pyarelal [are] with me. Hope to take the return train today, if not, tomorrow for certain.

I hope Akash will suit you equally well.

I never knew that both the Dharmavirs spun.

Did I tell you that Shanta did not go to England, her mother having practically stopped her? She is very happy with Mahadev and very helpful to him.

Balwantsinha has brought two more cows. We need still more.

Balkrishna¹ is flourishing in Segaoon. He eats freely under Dr. Batra's coaxing. He is on Kepler's malt cod-liver oil. I thought I should relax the rule about fish oils, as there were so many other restrictions. He is fast putting on weight of which he had lost much.

Rameshwari Devi is with me 3rd class, returning to Delhi. I hope you will return proof against malaria. So far as I am concerned I do not mind how long you are there, so long as you keep fit and renew your body.

I am sorry about Subhas. The enclosed for him.

Love.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 6395. Courtesy: Mirabehn. Also G.N. 9361

16. LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU

ON THE TRAIN,
August 4, 1937

MY DEAR JAWAHARLAL,

I am stupid. On receiving your letter I searched my file and behold! I found the cutting containing Meherally's speech. I referred to his, not Masani's speech.²

¹ Balkrishna Bhawe

² Vide Vol. LXV, pp. 445-6.

This is being written in a terribly jolting train taking me back to Wardha. It is now 10-30 p.m. I woke up from sleep, thought of the speech and began the search. Yesterday's compartment was better.

I saw the Viceroy. You will have seen the communique¹. It correctly summarizes the interview. There were other incidental things which Kripalani will mention to you when he meets you. One thing I may mention here. He might invite you as he invited me. I told him that if the invitation was sent, you were not likely to refuse it. Was I right?

I am sorry for having inflicted Roy's speeches on you.² But I think you were bound to read them. However I am in no hurry to have your opinion on them. You may take your time unless you have already read them.

I note that you are having the operation for Indu in Bombay.

Love.

BAPU

Gandhi-Nehru Papers, 1937. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library. Also A Bunch of Old Letters, p. 240

17. LETTER TO C. RAJAGOPALACHARI

August 6, 1937

MY DEAR C. R.,

What nonsense! Why should you feel sorry or disappointed because I hold certain views about salaries?³ I do not at all resent your not enforcing them. I have said, my views need not be accepted if found unworkable. We all marvel at the way you are managing things there. You have approached your task with faith and religious zeal. You must not feel the slightest disappointment. You know my deepest feeling. Then why should you worry? I hope you will be able to spare yourself for 17th¹. My prayers and best wishes are with you always.

¹ Issued after the interview on August 4, it read: "... The Viceroy listened with interest to Mr. Gandhi's views on the matters in question and undertook to intimate them to the Governor of the North-West Frontier Province. The interview was entirely general and personal in character, the principal subject of discussion being rural uplift and improvement of the conditions of the peasantry."

² Ide Vol. LXV, pp. 445-6.

³ Ide Vol. LXV, pp. 406-8.

The talk with the Viceroy was formal though quite friendly. Devdas was looking well.

Love.

BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 2066

18. LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM

August 6, 1937

CHI. AMTUL SALAAM,

I have your letter. I at once sent a telegram to Amtul² at Bhopal. I have already written about Kanti³. I think it is better for you to come back as you have already stayed there for a month. Ramachandran writes to say that he does not want Saraswati to go anywhere for three years. He wants her to complete her studies. In that case it would be best to leave her there. I have received no letters from Bari or Baqui.

Blessings from

BAPU

[PS.]

I am keeping well. I returned from Delhi only yesterday.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 390

19. ITS DEEPER MEANING

The thought-world of khadi workers had undergone a revolution since the objective of khadi became the steady improvement of the artisans engaged in its production rather than its supply at as cheap rates as possible. The fact that the increase in the wages has not much, if at all, affected the public has given a confidence to the workers which they had not when the policy was revolutionized. The workers are beginning to realize that they have to touch every department of the lives of the artisans and try to bring about an all-round improvement in their lot. Thus

¹ For the meeting of the Congress Working Committee which was to be held at Wardha from August 14 to 17

² Addressee's niece, widow of Ross Masood

³ Harilal Gandhi's son

one reads with joy the following in the Maharashtra Khadi Patrika noticed the other day in these columns:¹

In Korutala khadi workers are using the paper prepared by the local paper makers and are inducing local artisans to make twine from flax which is locally grown.

Many artisans have the bad habit of spitting fairly often just where they are sitting. Eighty-two such have been supplied with small earthen spittoons for use.

The manager of a zamindar in Metpally has been induced to stop begar.

In Tendur the weavers have been induced to adopt measures to prevent incurring debts. Thus they have reduced marriage expenses to Rs. 30 as the maximum, stopped feasts at the time of the first shave, stopped drinking on ceremonial occasions, caste dinners on deaths. Measures have been adopted to induce the womenfolk to use khadi saris (cheap patterns have been devised for the purpose), to save the increase in the artisans' income against a rainy day.

In Savli a substantial rise has been given to those who will not incur debts and will card and spin one seer of not less than twenty counts of yarn of eighty per cent strength in one month. Thus the following speaks for itself:

COUNT	CURRENT RATE			INCREASED RATE
	Rs.	As.	Ps.	Rs.	As.	Ps.
22	2	8	0	3	4	0
24	2	14	0	3	12	0
26	3	4	0	4	4	0
28	3	10	0	4	12	0
30	4	0	0	5	4	0
32	4	8	0	6	0	0

This new rate enables the workers to make four annas per day of eight hours.

In Sindevahi they have agreed to open a co-operative store.

I have given but a condensation of the original in Hindi which I commend to the diligent student of the working of the new objective.

Harijan, 7-8-1937

¹ Vide Vol. LXV, pp. 433-4.

20. NOT A PRIZE

I have been receiving several letters from different provinces protesting against the exclusion of their or their friends' names from ministerships and asking me to intervene. I do not think there is a single province from which such complaints have not been received. In some such letters dire results including communal riots have been threatened, if the excluded person's claims are not considered.

In the first instance let me say that I have not intervened in any single case in the selection of ministers. I have no right, having completely withdrawn from the Congress, to intervene in such matters, even if I had the wish which I have not. My participation in Congress affairs is confined to tendering advice on the issues involved in office-acceptance and on the policies to be pursued in the prosecution of our march to the goal of Complete Independence.

But it seems to me that my numerous correspondents who have been writing voluminously think that ministerships are prizes for past services and that certain Congressmen can demand their inclusion. I venture to suggest to them that ministerships are avenues to service which those who are called to it should render cheerfully and to the best of their ability. There can therefore never be a scramble for these offices. It would be decidedly wrong to create ministerships for the sake of conciliating interests. If I were a Prime Minister and I was pestered with such claims, I should tell my electors to choose another leader. These offices have to be held lightly, not tightly. They are or should be crowns of thorns, never of renown. Offices have been taken in order to see if they enable us to quicken the pace at which we are moving towards our goal. It would be tragic if self-seekers or misguided zealots were allowed to impede the progress by imposing themselves on Prime Ministers. If it was necessary to have assurances from those who have ultimately to clothe ministers with authority, it is doubly necessary to have assurances of understanding, of loyalty beyond suspicion and of willing obedience to discipline. The grim fight in which the country is engaged cannot be won if Congressmen do not show in their conduct a sufficient measure of selflessness, discipline and faith in the means enunciated by the Congress for the attainment of the goal.

Thanks to the Karachi resolution¹, ministerships under the Congress aegis have no pecuniary attraction. I must say in parenthesis that considering Rs. 500 as if it was the minimum instead of the maximum was a mistake. Rs. 500 was the last limit. Had we not got used to the excessive scale of salaries imposed upon the country, we would have regarded Rs. 500 to be excessive. The Congress scale has been generally, for the past seventeen years at least, Rs. 75 per month. In its three great constructive all-India departments, national education, khadi and village industries, the authorized scale has been Rs. 75. These departments contain men who are good enough, so far as ability is concerned, any day to be ministers. They have distinguished educationists, lawyers, chemists and merchants, who if they were so minded, could easily command over Rs. 500 per month. Why should the fact of becoming a minister make the great difference we see? But the die is perhaps cast. My remarks represent my personal opinion. I have too high a regard for the Prime Ministers to question their judgment and wisdom. No doubt they thought that this was the best in the circumstances facing them. The point I wish to make, in answer to my correspondents, is that these offices have not been taken in view of the emoluments they offer.

And then they have to be given to those only in the party who are best able to discharge the duty to which they are called.

And, lastly, the acid test is that the choice must commend itself to the members of the party to whom the Prime Ministers owe their nomination. No Prime Minister can for one moment impose a man or woman of his choice on the party. He is Chief because he enjoys the full confidence of his party as to ability, knowledge of persons, and the other qualities that mark out one for leadership.

Harijan, 7-8-1937

21. A. I. V. I. A BULLETIN

The A. I. V. I. A. has issued its first bulletin. After describing the various activities conducted in Maganwadi, the Headquarters at Wardha, it ends:²

There is a great deal of slackness on the part of members and agents in submitting their reports. Members are reminded that according to our rules if no report is received from a member for three consecutive quarters, his membership will lapse. We regret to say that in accordance with this rule the membership of several has lapsed. The reason for such slackness is probably that members think that it is not worth while reporting unless there is something noteworthy to mention. . . . Their work is in the nature of routine, and once they have reported they think that so long as they have not done anything new they need not report. This again is a mistake. It is quite essential for the proper working of the Association and for exchange of experiences through the medium of this bulletin that members and agents should carry on their work in close touch with the Central Office and keep it duly informed of their activities by means of full and regular reports. . . .

¹ Vide Vol. XLV. pp. 370-2.

² Only excerpts from the All-India Village Industries Association's bulletin are reproduced here.

Harijan, 7-8-1937

22. TEMPLE-ENTRY

It looks very much as if the whole of Malabar, the citadel of untouchability, is going to lead the way, as Travancore has done already, in the matter of temple-entry. I draw attention to the two brief statements¹ given below. One is by the Cochin Temple-entry Committee and the other by the Malabar Harijan Sevak Sangh, both promising an energetic propaganda organizing the so-called savarna and so-called avarna opinion in favour of opening all public temples to the avarnas precisely on the same terms as they are for the savarnas. If there is an unimpeachable pronouncement of such opinion, no State nor trustees can long resist such opinion. The Malabar Committee has rightly laid stress on the necessity of legislation removing all doubt as to the right of trustees to open to avarnas temples under their charge, especially if it can be proved that the large body of savarna opinion is in favour of such an opening. Let us hope that the Committees will receive the enthusiastic public support which the great cause merits and demands.

Harijan, 7-8-1937

¹Not reproduced here

23. TELEGRAM TO AMTUSSALAAM

WARDHAGANJ,
August 7, 1937

AMTUL SALAAM
HARIJAN SEVAK SANGH
TRIVANDRUM

BETTER COME HERE NOW. RAMACHANDRAN UNWILLING SEND SARASWATI TILL HER EDUCATION FINISHED.

BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 404

24. LETTER TO J. C. KUMARAPPA

SEGAON,
August 7, 1937

MY DEAR KUMARAPPA,

For Sita's sake I would say let us not leave her as Editor just yet. She should be better known than she is among our own circle. Mere possession of literary merit is not enough for our purpose. Our readers should know her as a co-worker. Do you not agree?

The Education Minister¹, C. P., comes, sees me on Tuesday at 2.30 p.m. and the Excise Minister² at 5 p.m. I think you, Bharatan, Sita, if she is well, Jajuji³, Nayakam⁴ and Kaka should be present. Will you inform them all?

Love to you—the trio.

BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 10127

¹ Ravishankar Shukla

² P. B. Gole

³ Shrikrishnadas Jaju

⁴ E. W. Aryanayakam

25. LETTER TO KANCHAN M. SHAH

SEGAON,
August 7, 1937

CHI. KANCHAN,

Do come over tomorrow (Sunday) morning and have lunch here. If you can't come early, come after 1 p.m. But do come.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8293. Also C.W. 7020. Courtesy: Munnalal G. Shah

26. LETTER TO JAMUBHAI DANI

[Before August 8, 1937]

SHRI DANI,

I have your letter. I have not received the report about the Bhangis. But as soon as I get it I will go through it and write something if it calls for comment.¹

If the public life of Kathiawar is in a mess, it only means that the people are the same but the leaders are either useless or selfish or unprincipled or all this at the same time. It is observed at some places that life continues as before in different spheres and some workers go on working away in silence without others knowing about it. Are there any such workers in Kathiawar? Try to find this out honestly and with a view to service. Whether you do it as a member of the Sangh or as an individual, do it in a worthy manner.

[From Gujarati]

Harijanbandhu, 8-8-1937

¹ Vide the following item.

27. WORKERS OF KATHIAWAR

A gathering of some workers of Kathiawar was held some time ago in Bhavnagar. After a great deal of discussion, a resolution was passed, at the instance of Shri Nanabhai, that they should do social work under my guidance and be governed by the restrictions imposed by me. Some of these gentlemen were to come to me to discuss the matter. On receiving their letter, I tried to prevent their coming by writing to them that their journey would perhaps be in vain as they would get from me advice only on what I regard as constructive work. However, this failed to convince them and, Shri Jagjivandas, Balwantrai¹, Fulchand², Dhebarbhai³ and Vajubhai⁴ came over. At the end of a discussion lasting two hours it was decided that I should write the substance of my advice in Harijanbandhu. I agreed to comply with this request.

The first discussion was about the letter⁵ I had written to Shri Dani. I had been told that in that letter I had done grave injustice to the workers of Kathiawar by calling them useless, selfish, or unprincipled or all this at the same time. In my reply I had stated that I was not in the habit of writing such crude letters and I asked for a copy of my letter. In reply to this letter the above gentlemen came in person and produced the original letter⁶, which runs as follows.

I said that those who took this letter to be censorious could be regarded as ignorant of Gujarati. Its meaning is clear. If public life in Kathiawar is actually in such a mess as described by Shri Dani, public servants must be guilty of one of the three or all the three shortcomings. These gentlemen agreed that my letter could not be construed in any other way.

With reference to this they inquired whether anyone had sent me names of persons who had acted in a manner not befitting Kathiawaris? I replied that I had published the names which had been sent to me and regarding whom I believed the allegations to be true.

¹ Balwantrai Mehta

² Fulchand Kasturchand Shah

³ U. N. Dhebar

⁴ Vajubhai Shukla

⁵ & ⁶ For the text, vide the preceding item.

The following points were then discussed:

1. Gandhiji to guide
2. [Kathiawar] Political Conference
3. The Prajamandal and the Conference
4. The restrictions and the injustices in the States
5. Organizing labour to improve their conditions
6. Constructive work like khadi, service of Harijans, etc.
7. Whether these activities should be carried on independently or under one organization.

Regarding my guidance, I declared that I could not shoulder the burden. I have neither the capacity nor the inclination to guide anyone from a distance, hence they should write off my name. If my advice is sought in a particular matter, I have always been giving it, and I regard it as my dharma to do so. In my opinion, Kathiawaris should appoint a leader from amongst persons living there and, such a leader should be reappointed every year. This would give them self-confidence and make them self-reliant. The belief, whether true or otherwise, that Kathiawaris cannot accept for long any leader selected from amongst themselves, will also be dispelled.

While discussing other activities, I gave the opinion that if I had my way, I would engage everyone in khadi work, service of Harijans and village industries. Even if everyone was to be engaged in this manner, many more workers would be needed than are at present available. But those who do not find that kind of service congenial should select whatever field they preferred and put their heart and soul into it. Having once made the choice one should not go on changing one's field of work. If a session of the Political Conference must be called, it should be called keeping in view the restrictions imposed by me in Bhavnagar and in accordance with the practice established in Porbandar. It must not be held outside the boundaries of Indian States. If permission is granted only in a single State it could be held there year after year. It could be held in Amreli¹, but it would be preferable to hold it in a State in Kathiawar.

There should be a Prajamandal in each State.

Everyone should render to the best of his ability whatever service he can to these bodies.

Within the limits imposed by me, the Political Conference cannot freely discuss such questions as injustices practised in different States, etc. This does not imply that these cannot be discussed anywhere. The people of a particular State may certainly discuss those questions, they should try and get justice in those particular matters, for it is their dharma to do so. Thus, in whichever States restrictive orders are issued or injustices perpetrated, they could be freely discussed there. Only truth and non-violence should be the restraining principles in these cases. Whatever is said should be hundred per cent true; it should be free from exaggeration and discourtesy. We should not hold out threats about anything which we are not capable of doing. We have to tolerate many things in this world because we are powerless.

¹ A town in Kathiawar which however formed part of the Baroda State

In order to improve its condition labour must get organized. Everyone knows that I prefer the policy which has been adopted by Shrimati Anasuyabehn¹ in Ahmedabad. I have not adopted the principle of organizing labour for political purposes. They may take interest in politics as all citizens should. But politics should not be the motive in forming an organization. People should form organizations having regard to their vocations and their special circumstances. We already have in the Congress an organization to deal with political issues and to train men for the work. It has to protect the political rights of labourers in the same way as it has to protect those of others. As a matter of fact, the political rights of labourers are not and should not be opposed to those of others. This means that the work of the Congress safeguards [the interests of] and represents all. It is my experience that if labour unions are politically motivated, there is an unnecessary rivalry between [political] workers, labourers become pawns in their game and, as a result, labourers have to suffer and the unions get a bad name. Labour may also perhaps eye with suspicion those who come claiming to be their friends. Those who form labour unions in order to improve their conditions should also be adept in the art of doing so. If anyone without ability tries to form a union because he wants to, it cannot be done.

Amongst all these activities, I would give the highest place to khadi, eradication of untouchability, service of Harijans, village industries and prohibition. If this cannot be done, I believe that other activities are not worth while. The belief that constructive work can be carried on only if supported by other activities is, in my opinion, born out of ignorance. It is my opinion that the strength that can be generated by firm and determined adherence to constructive activity is far superior to the strength they are misleading them. If the kisans and their leaders will capture the Congress by doing nothing but authorized Congress work; there is no harm. But if they do so by making false registers, storming meetings and so on, it would be something like Fascism.

¹ Anasuyabehn Sarabhai

But the main question is whether you want the Kisan Sabhas to strengthen the Congress or to weaken it, to use the kisan organization to capture the Congress or to serve the kisans, whether the Sabha is to be a rival organization working apparently in the name of the Congress or one carrying out the Congress programme and policy. If it is really a rival organization and Congress organization only in name, its strength and energy will be utilized in resisting the Congress and those of the Congress will be utilized in resisting the Kisan Sabha, with the result that the poor kisans will be ground between the two mill-stones.

Harijan, 23-4-1938

35. FOREWORD TO "THE PERSIAN MYSTICS"

April 14, 1938

Sir Jogendra Singh is to be congratulated on having given us his rendering into English of the "Sayings of the Mystic" by Abdullah Ansari¹. Islam has given the world mystics no less than Hinduism or Christianity. In these days when irreligion masquerades as religion, it is well to remind ourselves of what the best minds of all the religions of the world have thought and said. We must not, like the frog in the well who imagines that the universe ends with the wall surrounding his well, think that our religion alone represents the whole Truth and all the others are false. A reverent study of the other religions of the world would show that they are equally true as our own, though all are necessarily imperfect.

M. K. GANDHI

The Persian Mystics

¹ Sheikh Abdullah Ansari of Herat, 1005 A. D.-1090 A. D.

36. LETTER TO RATILAL MEHTA

April 14, 1938

BHAI RATUBHAI¹,

Maganlal² writes that Chhaganlal's³ condition is pitiable. He has incurred debts and has suffered losses. Do you know about his real condition? Does he listen to you? I have written to him, but I don't expect a reply. I hope you are keeping well.

I write this in a moving train.

*Blessings from
BAPU*

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7176. Also C.W. 4672. Courtesy: Narandas Gandhi

37. LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI

April 14, 1938

CHH. NARANDAS,

Give the enclosed⁴ to Ratubhai.

Kanaiyo is quite happy. I do feel unhappy that I am not able to pay the attention that I ought to pay him. If I could but manage it, I could take much work from him. I am fairly well. I am writing this in a moving train.

I hope everything is well with you. Are you quite satisfied with Kamala? I return to Wardha the day after tomorrow.

*Blessings from
BAPU*

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./III. Also C.W. 8543. Courtesy: Narandas Gandhi

¹ Father-in-law of Chhaganlal Mehta

² & ³ Sons of Dr. Pranjivandas Mehta

⁴ Vide the preceding item.

38. LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI

ON THE TRAIN TO DELHI,
April 14, 1938

GHI. KANTI,

You have done something really excellent.¹ Act in the same manner in future also. And now the answers to your questions².

1. It has not been my experience that in daily life it is untruth and dishonesty that always triumph. We of course come across instances of these sometimes winning, but if we look deep into the matter we shall see that the real triumph goes to truth. If, however, the victory of truth was always self-evident, what would be its value, and what would be the merit of adhering to it? Is not this the reason why the Ishopanishad, which is regarded as authoritative as the Vedas has this mantra, that the face of truth is covered with a golden lid? We are dazzled by the splendour of that lid.

2. Now the second question. It may not be our lot always to suffer, but that doesn't mean that we shouldn't advise other people to follow the seemingly strait and narrow path of truth. Even if the old man had been able to hide himself and reach Madras, what would it have availed? Where was the guarantee that he would not have got caught somewhere? And why should we assume that he had to suffer because finally he had to get down? We don't always know what is for our good. We should, therefore, proceed blindly on the assumption that the path of truth cannot but lead to our good.

¹ The addressee had helped an old Mussalman fellow-passenger on the train who had lost his ticket (Harijan, 14-5-1938).

² These, briefly, were:

(i) Would it not have been proper for the ticketless passenger to evade the ticket-examiner? Didn't dishonesty often pay?

(ii) How far was it proper for the addressee to advise him to be honest?

(iii) What right had the ticket-examiner to let the passenger off?

(iv) Not himself having any money to pay, how could the addressee have appealed to other passengers to pay the ticketless passenger's fare?

(v) If the passenger could complete his journey to Madras, would it have been right for the addressee to see him out of the platform on a platform ticket?

3. It was certainly within the right of the ticket-examiner to let that man go. If, however, he did not think he had such a right, he could not have neglected his duty out of false pity. But even in that case he could have issued the man a ticket and paid for it from his own pocket or could have collected the money from other passengers.

4. Supposing the examiner did not let the man travel, nor issued him a ticket with his own money, and the old man had therefore to miss the train or go to jail, why should he have minded that? If he was a lover of truth, he should have faced that cheerfully. And we are thinking here about the duty of a lover of truth. Even though you are not maintaining yourself with money earned by yourself, on an occasion like this, which arises only once in a while, you could have paid something yourself and collected the balance from the other passengers. If the latter had paid anything, so far so good; but even if they hadn't, you would have done your duty. But I didn't feel, either, that even the little you did was not enough.

5. Had the examiner let the man travel to Madras, he could have informed the ticket collector there that he had used his discretion in letting him go. But supposing he had refused to do that, it would not have been right for the old man to get out of the station with the help of a platform ticket. However, the way out of that situation would have been easy. You yourself could have explained his condition to the ticket collector and if the latter had not been convinced he could have kept the man in custody. These days, however, they don't follow that practice since it puts the railway company to a loss; the ticket collector merely shouts angrily at such persons and lets them go.

If you have any doubts even after reading these answers to your questions, ask me again.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7334. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

39. LETTER TO BAL KALELKAR

April 14, 1938

CHI. BAL,

I am writing this on a train to Delhi. I will leave Delhi tomorrow and reach Wardha the day after. You will have read about the visit before you get this.

I am writing this just to tell you that I have not forgotten you. I always wish that you should progress spiritually and in health even as you are cultivating the intellect. Progress in all the three spheres necessarily includes progress in each.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7969

40. INTERVIEW TO "PRATAP"¹

KANPUR,
[April 14, 1938]²

Q. Do you approve of the decision of the Congress Working Committee regarding the C. P. Ministerial crisis?

A. I cannot say anything in this matter. I cannot describe the Working Committee's decision as wrong.

Q. Do you think you have succeeded in your mission regarding the release of the Bengal political prisoners?

A. Let us hope so.

Q. Have you been invited by the Viceroy to Delhi?

A. It appears that the public knows more about it than I do.

Q. Are you expected to discuss the question of political prisoners at Delhi?

A. I do not know what I shall do at Delhi.

¹ A Hindi daily of Kanpur

² Gandhiji passed through Kanpur on April 14 en route to Delhi.

Q. What is your purpose in going to Delhi?

A. I am afraid I cannot say anything about it.

Q. Do you think that the Congress will accept the Federation, if certain changes were introduced in it?

A. How can I say what the Congress will do in this matter?¹

Q. What will you recommend to the Congress in case modifications are made?

A. Let us see what these are.

The Bombay Chronicle, 21-4-1938, and The Statesman, 15-4-1938

41. LETTER TO REGINALD REYNOLDS

April 14, 1938

MY DEAR ANGAD²,

My heart goes out to you. What does it matter that on some things we do not see eye to eye? I must however ask one question. Did you think it lawful to sexually love the married lady or do you say that although it was wrong you could not help yourselves, and having fallen, the only honourable course for you was to marry?³ I need to know this, if I may, to see how far we have drifted from each other and what philosophy guides us. The fact that you are a seeker of Truth is enough to sustain the bond between us.

I hope you are completely cured.

Love from us all.

BAPU

From the manuscript of Mahadev Desai's Diary. Courtesy: Narayan Desai

¹ What follows is from the correspondent of The Statesman.

² The monkey-prince sent as a messenger by Rama to Ravana. Gandhiji gave the addressee this name as he had carried his letter of March 2, 1930, to the then Viceroy, Lord Irwin; vide Vol. XLIII, pp. 2-8.

³ The addressee had married Ethel Mannin, a divorcee.

42. TELEGRAM TO M. A. JINNAH

DELHI,
April 15, 1938

IF ON RETURN BOMBAY YOU CAN BREAK JOURNEY AT WARDHA FOR ONE DAY YOU WILL SPARE ME THE STRAIN OF UNDERTAKING THE JOURNEY TO BOMBAY. I NEED SOME UNINTERRUPTED PHYSICAL REST IF POSSIBLE. IN ANY EVENT COULD MAULANA AZAD ACCOMPANY ME AT THE INTERVIEW? PLEASE WIRE WARDHA WHICH REACHING TOMORROW.¹

The Bombay Chronicle, 16-6-1938

43. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

ON THE TRAIN,
April 16, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

We are moving towards Wardha. I am in a fit condition. I have started the day with 160-4/98—an unusual thing nowadays. And mark you, up to Gwalior the crowds won't let me rest. They would shout in my ears, as it were.

Mahadev I have sent to the Frontier to see things for himself. He should be there three or four days.

It was a nice chat with the Viceroy. Quite inconclusive. It was not meant to be conclusive. It was an exchange of ideas. More when we meet.

You must make yourself fit in Simla. You must take the hip-baths and exercise. It is criminal to tie yourself to the desk. Play tennis daily, if it suits you.

Sushila has remained in Delhi. She must have written to you. Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3628. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 6437

¹ In his reply the addressee telegraphed: "Extremely sorry unable change programme now. Will receive you at Bombay on 25th or thereafter as arranged. Would prefer to see you alone."

44. LETTER TO G. D. BIRLA

[After April 17, 1938]¹

BHAI GHANSHYAMDAS,

What you say is correct from the economic point of view; but I look at it, and I ought to look at it, as a purely political issue.² We cannot enter into any agreement with Lancashire which will bind us to buy their cloth. The argument that Lancashire cloth is bound to come here anyway is irrelevant. There has been no change in the Congress position, as it has always been explained to the people, as regards Lancashire cloth. I think, therefore, that we cannot enter into the sort of agreement you suggest.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a copy of the Hindi: Purushottamdas Thakurdas Papers. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

45. TELEGRAM TO M. A. JINNAH

WARDHA,
April 18, 1938

THANKS. 25TH HAPPENS TO BE MONDAY. WILL REACH BOMBAY 28TH IF NOT INCONVENIENT.

The Bombay Chronicle, 16-6-1938

¹ & ² The addressee in his letter dated April 17 had written: "I thought I might clear the point again as regards the Indo-British Trade Pact. The period of protection expires next March and in any case the amount of protection will be revised. I believe that Lancashire would in any case get a 5% reduction in the tariff. The question therefore is: should we give Lancashire a grant of 5% under the recommendations of the Tariff Board without asking for any quid pro quo or should we insist on a pact based on 5% reduction and a definite guarantee by Lancashire to purchase a large amount of Indian cotton? . . . Purely from the economic point of view, we would not think of giving a free gift of 5%. But from the political point of view there may be reasons for taking up such an attitude. I should like you therefore to send me, at your leisure, your arguments in favour of such a position which, you will agree, would appear to be anomalous from the economic point of view. Because under this position Lancashire will get what she wants without having to pay anything for it."

46. LETTER TO J. C. KUMARAPPA

April 18, 1938

MY DEAR KU,

3 p.m. on 21st if that will suit the members. I know it is a hot time but I am helpless. Will you prefer 6.30 to 7.30 a. m., or have I to go to Wardha on 21st morning?

You will talk to me about finances when we meet.

Yes, there must be a joint committee for the Museum.

Rajkumari comes on 22nd by the Calcutta Mail at 7 a. m. (is it?). Look up the time-table. Will you receive her and pack her off here? I may not be able to send anyone from here.

Love.

BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 10134

47. LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL

SEGAON,
April 18, 1938

BHAI VALLABHBHAI,

Pyarelal wrote to you yesterday. If you can come, we shall discuss a few things. But if you cannot it doesn't matter. I have had a talk about the land in Gujarat. I think it impossible to do anything more about Nagpur now. Let things take their own course. The entire policy requires careful consideration. In any case, I have to be there on the 28th to meet Jinnah. I intend to return the same day. Did you call on Jalbhai? Do you write to him?

I request you not to take me to the sea coast. And on May 6-7 your committee is meeting at Wardha. I am really keeping fine health. Mahadev is expected back on the 20th or the 21st.

Blessings from
BAPU

SARDAR VALLABHBHAI PATEL
PURUSHOTTAM BUILDING
OPP. OPERA HOUSE, BOMBAY 4

{From Gujarati}

Bapuna Patro-2: Sardar Vallabhbhai, p. 219

48. TELEGRAM TO M. A. JINNAH

WARDHA,
April 20, 1938

IF NOT INCONVENIENT WOULD LIKE TO REACH YOUR HOUSE AT 11.30 A.M.

The Bombay Chronicle, 16-6-1938

49. LETTER TO PURUSHOTTAM GANDHI

SEGAON,
April 20, 1938

CHI. PURUSHOTTAM,

You are by . . .¹ doing credit to your birthday . . .² The policy of neglecting your health . . .³ and carrying on somehow or other is immoral. Have no doubt about it.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./II

50. LETTER TO KHWAJA NAZIMUDDIN

SEGAON, WARDHA,
April 21, 1938

DEAR SIR NAZIMUDDIN,

I thank you for your letter.⁴ Of course, I understand that everything has to go to the Cabinet before the final decision is taken. My suggestions were, therefore, intended to be independent and for examination on their merits. Only, I had felt that the policy so far as the detenus are concerned was a reiteration of that adopted by the Cabinet. I am anxiously awaiting your final decision. But before it is taken, if my presence is considered necessary you are only to send me a line—even a wire if necessary.¹

^{1, 2 & 3} Some words are illegible here.

⁴ Vide footnote 1, p. 19.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

The Hindustan Times, 4-10-1938; also C.W. 9921

51. LETTER TO HARIBHAU UPADHYAY

SEGAON,
April 21, 1938

DEAR HARIBHAU,

Bapuji has received both of your letters. He says he had a talk with Jamnalalji about sending Ba. He will certainly send her if she can be sent. There is no objection from Bapuji's side.

About the prisoners he says that we have to await the decision regarding the Bengal prisoners. Only after that shall we know what can be done about the prisoners of the other provinces. About the prisoners there we shall discuss when there is an occasion for you to write about them.

Yours,
PYARELAL

From the Hindi original: Haribhau Upadhyay Papers. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

52. SPEECH AT VIDYAMANDIR TRAINING SCHOOL, WARDHA²

April 21, 1938

Today the students of the Vidyamandir have taken a solemn pledge. It is a momentous pledge. Its fulfilment would seem well-nigh impossible. This pledge binds one to serve without a break for twenty-five years on a monthly salary of Rs. 15. The fact that more than five thousand applications¹ were received is proof that unemployment in our country has reached the extreme limit. Some persons, while working for high ideals cannot get even dal and rice; many persons cannot obtain work to fill their bellies.² It is also proof of the glamour that surrounds Government employment. I know that people apply for constabships or teacherships in the hope of adding to their legal pay in illegal ways. I hope that no one of you entertains any such hope. I do not know that with all my patriotism I could bind myself to serve as a teacher for Rs. 15 per month. You must dismiss from your minds the thought that there may be profits left over in your schools to be divided amongst you. If, therefore, there is anyone among you who repents of the contract, you will ask the Minister to relieve you. I promise to plead for you. Having said this, I tender my congratulations to those who hold to their contract. I hope that God will give you strength to abide by your pledge.

¹ The addressee on May 6 replied: "The Muslim League Conference made it impossible for the Assembly to meet in Darjeeling until April 20. The Cabinet at once took the matter into consideration and definite conclusions have been reached. I am afraid that, in any circumstances, a short delay may be inevitable before we are in a position to communicate with you further. This delay will not, I anticipate, be much, and you can rest assured that I and my colleagues have taken and are taking every possible step to expedite the matter."

² The school, a combination of the Wardha Scheme and Ravishankar Shukla's Vidya Mandir Scheme, was to be conducted under the supervision of the Hindustani Talimi Sangh.

Yours is a self-sacrificing pledge. If you prove true to your pledge you will set a noble example before the world. If you do not succeed, both Ravishankar Shukla and I will be condemned by the world. So the weaklings had better withdraw now.

This scheme is wholly Indian. Its ideal was born in Segaoon. Real India is enshrined in the seven lakhs of villages, whose plight is even worse than Segaoon's. I want you to drive away illiteracy from these villages, find out means whereby villagers can obtain food and clothing, and take the message of winning swaraj through truth and non-violence to the villages. This responsibility rests on you. It is your dharma to work with this ideal in view. I have presented my scheme after mature deliberation. If it fails, the teachers would be to blame. It is through handicrafts that instruction in geometry, history, geography and arithmetic will be given and an attempt will be made to meet the expenses of the school through the students' manual labour.³

You know that the scheme of this education has been drawn up in pursuance of the Congress programme. Now the Congress is pledged to win swaraj by non-violent and truthful means. Therefore the cultivation of these cardinal virtues is the foundation of the scheme. And if you do not show these in your daily contact with your pupils and a character in keeping with them, you will fail and so will your school. You know what Hitler is doing in Germany. His creed is violence, of which he makes no secret. The other day we were told that the sword was their soul. The boys and girls there are taught the science of violence from the beginning. They are taught to hate the enemy even in their arithmetic, and you will find that the examples have been chosen with a view to inculcate the military spirit. If we endorse their creed, we must recognize the necessity of inculcating the spirit of violence from infancy. The same thing is happening in Italy. We must be honest even as they are honest. I have no doubt that if the scheme is worked with all its implications and becomes popular throughout India, a silent revolution will have taken place and swaraj will be a certainty.

¹ Out of these 166 candidates were selected.

² The remaining part of the paragraph is from Harizan.

³ The following paragraph is from Harizan.

Herr Hitler is achieving his goal through the sword, I through soul. Cast off the cloak of foreign thoughts and ideals, identify yourselves with the villagers. The Western world is giving us destructive knowledge; we want to impart constructive education through non-violence. May God give you the strength to reach your cherished goal and to fulfil the pledge which you have taken today.

[From Hindi]

Harijan Sevak, 30-4-1938, and Harijan, 30-4-1938

53. STATEMENT TO THE PRESS

April 22, 1938

I observe that the forthcoming interview between Shri Jinnah and myself is not only attracting very wide attention, but is also inducing high hopes in some. Then there are friends who gravely warn me against this visit and against building any hope on the interview. It is better, therefore, for me to take the public into my confidence and tell them why and how I am waiting upon Shri Jinnah on April 28.

He has himself published my first letter¹ to him, showing my attitude on the question of communal unity, which is as dear to me as life itself. In that letter I clearly stated that all before me was darkness and that I was praying for light. If anything, the darkness has deepened and the prayer become more intense. Add to this the fact that for causes some of which I know and some of which I do not, for the first time in my public and private life I seem to have lost self-confidence. I seem to have detected a flaw in me which is unworthy of a votary of truth and ahimsa. I am going through a process of self-introspection, the results of which I cannot foresee. I find myself for the first time during the past 50 years in a Slough of Despond. I do not consider myself fit for negotiations or any such thing for the moment.

¹ Vide Vol. LXV, p. 231.

There is no need for any speculation as to the cause of my despondency. It is purely internal. It comes from within. It must be now clear that, if I regarded the forthcoming interview as between two politicians, I should not entertain it in my present depression. But I approach it in no political spirit. I approach it in a prayerful and religious spirit, using the adjective in its broadest sense.

My Hinduism is not sectarian. It includes all that I know to be best in Islam, Christianity, Buddhism and Zoroastrianism. I approach politics as everything else in a religious spirit. Truth is my religion and ahimsa is the only way of its realization. I have rejected once and for all the doctrine of the sword. The secret stabbings of innocent persons and the speeches I read in the papers are hardly the thing leading to peace or an honourable settlement.

Again, I am not approaching the forthcoming interview in any representative capacity. I have purposely divested myself of any such. If there are to be any formal negotiations, they will be between the President of the Congress and the President of the Muslim League. I go as a lifelong worker in the cause of Hindu-Muslim unity. It has been my passion from early youth. I count some of the noblest of Muslims as my friends. I have a devout daughter of Islam as more than a daughter to me. She lives for that unity and would cheerfully die for it. I had the son¹ of the late Muazzin of the Juma Masjid of Bombay as a staunch inmate of the Ashram. I have not met a nobler man. His morning *azan*² in the Ashram rings in my ears as I write these lines during midnight. It is for such reasons that I wait on Shri Jinnah.

I may not leave a single stone unturned to achieve Hindu-Muslim unity. God fulfils himself in strange ways. He may, in a manner least known to us, both fulfil himself through the interview and open a way to an honourable understanding between the two communities. It is in that hope that I am looking forward to the forthcoming talk. We are friends, not strangers. It does not matter to me that we see things from different angles of vision. I ask the public not to attach any exaggerated importance to the interview. But I ask all lovers of communal peace to pray that the God of truth and love may give us both the right spirit and the right word and use us for the good of the dumb millions of India.

¹ Abdul Kadir Bawazeer

² Call to prayer

Harijan, 30-4-1938

54. MESSAGE TO JAIPUR RAJYA PRAJYA MANDAL¹

[Before April 23, 1938]²

Everyone who cares to study what is happening at the present moment in our country can see that what we want can be attained if we will but achieve the mantra of peace, the creed of non-violence. You cannot breed peace out of no-peace. The attempt is like gathering grapes of thorns or figs of thistles. The more I go into the question, the more forcibly the conclusion is borne in upon me that our first duty is to grasp this fundamental fact. There was a day when I used to flatter myself with the belief that I had mastered the key to learning that lesson. Today I am filled with doubt. I do not know that I have in me purification enough to realize true peace or non-violence. In that frame of mind I cannot think of any other thing, talk of any other thing. But whatever may be my condition, I have no doubt in my mind that there is no swaraj without non-violence, nothing that goes by the name of constructive work. Constructive work is a mild aspect of non-violence, but the true test of non-violence lies in acquiring the capacity to meet an innocent and unflinching death in the service of our cause. How to achieve it is the question. I want you to apply your minds to it.

Harijan, 4-6-1938

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Weekly Letter". The message was sent through Jammalal Bajaj who presided over the Conference.

² Although the message was read out at the Conference by Jammalal Bajaj on April 30, this was obviously drafted before April 23; vide "Letter to Jammalal Bajaj", p. 40,

55. MARTIAL v. MORAL

It is often forgotten that the Congress has only moral authority to back it. The ruling power has the martial, though it often dilutes the martial with the moral. This vital difference has come to the fore since the assumption of office by the Congress in seven provinces. This office-holding is either a step towards greater prestige or its total loss. If it is not to be a total loss, the ministers and the legislators have to be watchful of their own personal and public conduct. They have to be, like Caesar's wife, above suspicion in everything. They may not make private gains either for themselves or for their relatives or friends. If the relatives or friends get any appointment, it must be only because they are the best among the candidates, and their market value is always greater than what they get under the Government. The ministers and the legislators of the Congress ticket have to be fearless in the performance of their duty. They must always be ready to risk the loss of their seats or offices. Offices and seats in the legislatures have no merit outside their ability to raise the prestige and power of the Congress. And since both depend wholly upon the possession of morals, both public and private, any moral lapse means a blow to the Congress. This is the necessary implication of non-violence. If the Congress non-violence is merely confined to abstention from causing physical hurt to the British officials and their dependants, such non-violence can never bring us independence. It is bound to be worsted in the final heat. Indeed we shall find it to be worthless, if not positively harmful, long before the final heat is reached.

There is considerable force in the argument of those who have conceived Congress non-violence in that narrow light when they say that it is a broken reed.

If on the other hand non-violence, with all the implications, is the Congress policy, let every Congressman examine himself and reconstruct himself accordingly. Let him not wait for instructions from the Working Committee. After all the Working Committee can act only in so far as it interprets the public mind. And non-violence is not a quality to be evolved or expressed to order. It is an inward growth depending for sustenance upon intense individual effort.

I have received several letters offering the writers' names for enrolment as volunteers ready to immolate themselves at times of rioting and the like. To these writers I would suggest that they enlist co-workers themselves, form local corps, and begin training in accordance with the suggestion I have made. Let them not confine themselves merely to preparedness for emergencies, but for the daily walk of life in all its departments, personal, domestic, social, economic, political, religious. Only thus will they find themselves more than ready for dealing with emergencies in their own localities or beats. They may not aim, except indirectly, at influencing events happening hundreds of miles away from their scene of activity. That ability will come, if the right beginning is made in the first instance.

Harijan, 23-4-1938

56. LETTER TO JAMNALAL BAJAJ

SEGAON,
April 23, 1938

CHI. JAMNALAL,

I have written to Lilavati Munshi and said "No". Wait for me on the 28th morning. You must have seen the wire I have sent to Khan Saheb. A letter¹ for Vallabhbhai is enclosed. Read it and pass it on to him. If he is not there, post it to him wherever he is. Calm yourself. You may make any changes you like in the draft of the speech² I have sent to you.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 2990

¹ Vide the following item.

² Which Gandhiji had drafted for the addressee who was to preside over the Jaipur Rajya Praja Mandal; vide p. 38.

57. LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL

SEGAON,
April 23, 1938

BHAI VALLABHBHAI,

I got your letter. Mahadev should be back here this evening. I hope to be there on the morning of the 28th. I may also meet the Governor informally on the same day. I can see him at 9 or 9.30.

I had a long talk with the Viceroy about Orissa, the land in Kheda, the detenus, etc. Orissa's case deserves consideration.¹ It will be possible to arrange a few days' stay in Gujarat at any time. Maybe I shall have to go to the Frontier Province in May. I have sent a wire to Khan Saheb today. I shall know more when Mahadev arrives.

My health is good enough just now.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Read my statement² regarding Jinnah. If I don't meet him, it is bound to be misunderstood.

[From Gujarati]

Bapuna Patro-2: Sardar Vallabhbhaine, p. 220

58. LETTER TO MANUBEHN S. MASHRUWALA

SEGAON,
April 23, 1938

CHI. MANUDI³,

I get no time at all to write to you. But I do get news of you from time to time. I hope you will not stop writing to me because I do not write to you. Kanti and Saraswati have arrived today. They will stay for a month.

¹ In Orissa, Dain, a civilian, was appointed to act as Governor during the period of leave of Sir John Habback. Vide "Statement to the Press", pp. 51-2.

² Vide pp. 36-8.

³ Daughter of Harilal Gandhi

On the 28th I am leaving for Bombay for a day's stay. I shall probably return on the same evening. Come and see me. Bring Surendra¹ with you. I am keeping fairly well.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 1569. Courtesy: Manubehn S. Mashruwala

59. LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH

SEGAON,
April 23, 1938

CHI. SHARDA,

It seems you are being sensible. I had really thought that after my letter you had abandoned the idea of going to Ahmedabad, in which case you should have told me. You had my permission, but I would want to know. Now stay with Shakaribehn² to your heart's content. Also tell her from me that there is a lot of difference between what she told me and what she had in mind. She must talk to me without reserve. She must let me know through you what she wants. I do not intend doing anything against her wish. Stay there as long as necessary on condition that you maintain your health. Give me regular account of how you spend your time. You should not be too sure of a letter from me.

I shall write to Saraswatibehn when I have the time.

Blessings from
BAPU

From the Gujarati original: C.W. 9993. Courtesy: Shardabehn G. Chokhawala

¹ Addressee's husband

² Addressee's mother

60. LETTER TO MATHURADAS TRIKUMJI

SEGAON,
April 23, 1938

I have your letter. Riots appear to be our fate.¹ At such a time there is special need for us to meet.² What is important is the urge that impels us to meet. I have today sent to the Press a statement³ which might have been drafted precisely to answer your questions. Read it and think over it.

[From Gujarati]

Bapuni Prasadi, p. 167

61. LETTER TO PRESIDENT, MYSORE STATE CONGRESS

April [24,]⁴ 1938

DEAR FRIEND,

B. Chandrasekhara, D. Chandrasekharayya, B. Ramachandran have seen me with reference to the recent unfortunate arrests that have taken place in Mysore. I am sorry that Siddhalingaiya and seven other friends are in jail over what has been called the flag satyagraha. I had hoped that after the full talks I had with friends including Siddhalingaiya at Delang there would be no friction between the State and the Congress. With the concurrence of these friends and their hearty approval I had given Sir Mirza a fairly full summary of the conversation they had with me. Sir Mirza has been writing to me about developments, but I was loath to intervene unless I had heard from the State Congress.

I must also admit that my preoccupation in Bengal would have most probably prevented my doing anything even if you

¹ The reference is to Hindu-Muslim riots in Allahabad.

² Gandhiji is here referring to his proposed meeting with Jinnah.

³ Vide pp. 36-8.

⁴ The source has "14". But on April 14, Gandhiji was on way to Delhi from Calcutta. Presumably it is a slip for '24'. The representatives from Mysore met Gandhiji at Wardha and they were in Bombay on the 26th on their way back to Mysore.

or any member had written to me. Today I had a full discussion with the friends above named. I feel that there has been some misunderstanding or some haste on the part of overzealous workers. Thus I had clearly advised at Delang that the confining of membership of the Mysore State Congress only to primary members of the Indian National Congress was wholly wrong and that in effect it made the State Congress an Indian National Congress organization even though it might be unaffiliated. In my opinion that is contrary to the spirit of the Haripura resolution¹ on the subject and, what is more, calculated to defeat the end you have in view. And as Sir Mirza was in possession of my opinion, the action of the State Congress in spite of my advice was evidently the first cause of misunderstanding and the hoisting of the flag was evidently interpreted as a challenge to the State and the State flag. I am quite clear in my mind that such was not the intention of the authors of the demonstration but we may not expect the State authorities to go behind our action and interpret it in terms of our intention expressed or implied. On the contrary they would infer intention from action. I, therefore, suggest that necessary change is immediately made in the State Congress constitution and an unequivocal declaration is made to the effect that the hoisting of the National Congress flag is in no way intended as a hostile demonstration or insult to the State flag. If Mysore is an integral part of India, as it is, it should be equally proud of the All-India national flag as it must be of its own.

It will also be necessary for you to make it clear that you will not hoist the national flag on ceremonial occasions where persons other than registered Congress members are admitted,

¹ The relevant part of the resolution read:

"In view of the different conditions prevailing in the States and the rest of India, the general policy of the Congress is often unsuited to the States and may result in preventing or hampering the natural growth of a freedom movement in a State. Such movements are likely to develop more rapidly and to have a broader basis, if they draw their strength from the people of the State, produce self-reliance in them, and are in tune with the conditions prevailing there, and do not rely on extraneous help and assistance or on the prestige of the Congress name. The Congress welcomes such movements, but, in the nature of things and under present conditions, the burden of carrying on the struggle for freedom must fall on the people of the States. The Congress will always extend its goodwill and support to such struggles carried on in a peaceful and legitimate manner, but that organizational help will inevitably be, under existing conditions, moral support and sympathy."

unless you also at the same time hoist the Mysore flag. Remember, you are not in a state of rebellion against the Maharaja. So far as I understand you do not aim at the destruction of the Principality of Mysore. You aim at radical reforms. If such is the case, you may not ignore the Mysore flag on ceremonial occasions, if you have also the all-India flag.

If, therefore, you could see your way to adopt my advice I should think that the State authorities will release the prisoners as they should. When the operating cause ceases there is no meaning in keeping political prisoners in jail. Please remember that satyagraha has to be full in thought, word and deed. If I have understood the situation correctly, I must confess that in the highest sense of the term there has been a departure, albeit entirely unconscious, from both truth and non-violence. Truth demanded the carrying out of what I had understood would be done and I had conveyed to Sir Mirza. I know it was open to the State Congress to reject my advice.

But in that case I should have been told so that I would have informed Sir Mirza accordingly. There was a flavour of violence because any hasty or thoughtless action is a breach of non-violence. I am well aware that such meticulous observance of non-violence and truth is not to be expected from the rank and file. But then satyagraha cannot be launched by the rank and file. It has to be launched by responsible persons who are versed in the law of satyagraha.

I understand there is to be a black-flag demonstration. It savours of violence. I hope if there has been any such idea, it will be abandoned.

I need hardly say that my letter carries no authority save what it may possess on account of my supposed expert knowledge of satyagraha. You are at perfect liberty to reject the whole of my advice if it does not commend itself to you and other members of the State Congress.

If you can get permission, you should see Siddhalingaiya and other prisoners and if it is at all possible arrive at a unanimous decision.¹

The Hindu, 7-5-1938

¹ According to the source the letter was cancelled on receipt of news of the Mysore firing.

62. SPEECH AT HINDUSTANI TALIMI SANGH¹

WARDHA,
April 24, 1938²

We have to make of this training school a school for winning freedom and for the solution of all our ills, of which the chief one is our communal troubles. For this purpose we shall have to concentrate on non-violence. Hitler's and Mussolini's schools accept as their fundamental principle violence. Ours is non-violence according to the Congress. All our problems have therefore to be solved non-violently. Our arithmetic, our science, our history will have a non-violent approach, and the problems in these subjects will be coloured by non-violence. When Madame Halide Edib Hanum delivered her address to the Jamia Millia Islamia on Turkey I remarked that whereas generally history is a chronicle of kings and their wars, the future history will be the history of man.³ That can be or is only non-violent. Then we shall have to concentrate not on city industries but on rural industries, that is to say, if we want to keep all the 700,000 of villages alive, and not only a fraction of them, we have to revive our village handicrafts. And you may be sure that if we can impart scholastic training through those crafts we can bring about a revolution. Our text-books will have also to be prepared with the same end.

I want you to give your close consideration to what I am saying and reject what does not appeal to you. If what I say does not appeal to our Mussalman brethren, they may reject it summarily. The non-violence I want is not non-violence limited to the fight with the British but is to be applied to all our internal affairs and problems—true active non-violence from which will issue live Hindu-Muslim unity and not a unity based on mutual fear like the pact, for instance, between Hitler and Mussolini.

When the New Education Scheme was launched I was full of self-confidence in which I now feel I am lacking. My words had power of which they seem to be bereft today. This lack of confidence is due not to things without but to things within. It is not that my senses are paralysed. My intellect gives me good work for my age. Nor is it that I have lost faith in non-violence. That faith is burning brighter than ever. But I have for the moment lost self-confidence. I would therefore ask you not to accept anything from me implicitly. Accept only what carries conviction to you. But I am sure that if we could conduct even two schools on the right lines I should dance with joy.

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Weekly Letter"

² From The Hindu, 25-4-1938

³ Ibid Vol. LX, pp. 93-4.

Harijan, 7-5-1938

63. LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU

SEGAON,
April 25, 1938

MY DEAR JAWAHARLAL,

Here is a copy of Mahadev's notes on his Frontier Province visit. As I could not go and as we had disturbing news¹, I felt that he should be sent. I am not circulating the notes among all the members. I am sending copies to the Maulana and Subhas. The notes have made me disconsolate. Mahadev has more to say. I am sending a copy, of course, to the Brothers². I hope you will feel impelled to use your great influence over the Brothers. I am of course in telegraphic communication. I may even visit the Province for a few days, if Khan Saheb wants me to go, in spite of the shock I have received. We seem to be weakening from within. It hurts me that, at this very critical juncture in our history, we do not seem to see eye to eye in important matters. I can't tell you how positively lonely I feel to know that nowadays I can't carry you with me. I know that you would do much for affection. But in matters of state, there can be no surrender to affection, when the intellect rebels. My regard for you is deeper for your revolt. But that only intensifies the grief of loneliness. But I must stop.

Love.

BAPU

Gandhi-Nehru Papers, 1938. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

¹ Presumably this is a reference to the tragedy at Mayar; vide "Speech at Marden", 7-5-1938.

² Khan Brothers

64. LETTER TO PRABHAVATI

SEGAON,
April 25, 1938

CHI. PRABHA,

You have become lazy in writing letters. Nowadays I eagerly await your letters. I couldn't bear the news that you had a fainting fit. Moreover, is it not my unworthiness that you couldn't remain calm this time although you were with me? I am not joking. These days I often feel my unworthiness. That hinders my work, too. You have to rely on your own efforts to attain peace of mind. Why do you want me to tear up your letters? Is there anything confidential in them? Since you wish, however, I do tear them up. But you should shake off this shyness. Write to me freely and let me know all your thoughts. I hope Father is keeping good health.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 3512

65. LETTER TO G. D. BIRLA

April 25, 1938

BHAI GHANSHYAMDAS,

I understand your point.¹ It is also correct. Do give your approval, looking at it purely from the economic point of view. My point was that in case you wanted Congress approval later on, you would not get it. After all, economic and political interests should not be at variance. There is no difference between them. The rulers have taught us the difference.

¹ With reference to Gandhiji's letter (p. 31), the addressee had inter alia written: "I fear it will be very difficult for the Congress to justify its position if it took up the attitude suggested by you. I can understand refusing to conclude an agreement on economic grounds. But your grounds being purely political, it would look rather odd if after having kept silent for eighteen months, the Congress now comes out to denounce the resolutions which were taken up at their request."

I shall be needing Rs. 50,000 for rural education and maybe an equal amount for the A. I. V. I. A. The burden of the Harijan Sevak Sangh is already there. This needs to be discussed further. I hope Brijmohan is well and so is Krishna.

Blessings from
BAPU

From Hindi: C.W. 7992. Courtesy: G. D. Birla

66. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

April 25, 1938

CHI. KRISHNACHANDRA,

Do whatever you want after due deliberation. I shall certainly like it. May God give you peace.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4300

67. MESSAGE FOR MYSORE

[April 27, 1938]¹

Do everything possible to keep the movement absolutely non-violent.² The death of a large number of pilgrims, if true, is too high a price to pay. If necessary, I am prepared personally to lead the movement in Mysore, wherever I happen to be in India.

The Bombay Chronicle, 30-4-1938

¹ Mahadev Desai's telegram to the Press dated April 27 stated that Bhupal Chandrasekharayya, representative of the State people was leaving that evening for Mysore with Gandhiji's message.

² On April 26 at Viduraswatham village in Kolar District, when the people defied the order banning the hoisting of the national flag and prohibiting meetings, the police opened fire and as a result 32 persons were killed and 48 seriously injured.

68. STATEMENT TO THE PRESS

WARDHAGANJ,
April 27, 1938

I approach the Frontier visit¹ in fear and trembling. I dread the crowds that gather at stations. I have only limited physical energy. I would, therefore, urge all Congress Committees en route to prevent crowds from coming to platforms, making noisy demonstrations and even insisting on my getting up at all hours of night.

The Bombay Chronicle, 28-4-1938

69. TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR

BOMBAY,
April 28, 1938

RAJKUMARI AMRIT KAUR
C/o YWCA
ANANDAGIRI
OOTACAMUND

TALKS² NOT UNHOPEFUL. AM³ WELL.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3857. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7013

70. STATEMENT TO THE PRESS⁴

April 28, 1938

We had three hours' friendly conversation over the Hindu-Muslim question and the matter will be pursued further. The public will be informed in due course of its developments.

The Bombay Chronicle, 29-4-1938

¹ Gandhiji left for the Frontier Province on April 29.

² With M. A. Jinnah

³ The source has "and".

⁴ This was issued jointly by Gandhiji and M. A. Jinnah.

71. LETTER TO MANGALDAS PAKVASA

JUHU,
April 29, 1938

BHAI PAKVASA,

I only knew from a newspaper yesterday, as we were nearing Kalyan Junction, of the wrath that has descended on you. However, God's wrath is in fact an expression of His kindness. He takes back what He had given. I don't wish, therefore, to offer you any condolences. On the contrary, I want a promise from you that you will not lose fortitude. May this loss increase your devotion to service.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 4679. Courtesy: Mangaldas Pakvasa

72. STATEMENT TO THE PRESS¹

April 29, 1938

The appointment of Mr. Dain, a subordinate of the Orissa Government, to be the acting Governor threatens to precipitate a crisis of the first magnitude. The matter looked small on the surface. The fact that he is to retire after the termination of the acting appointment has been regarded as sufficient atonement for an admitted mistake. In my opinion it is no atonement. If he is reverted to his original permanent post, not only would there not be anything wrong but if the Ministers wanted to be churlish, they might take a secret delight in their quondam acting Governor becoming their subordinate. The whole of the sting lies in a subordinate official becoming an acting Governor of his Province with whom the Ministers are expected to work and almost daily submit documents for his signature and have him to preside at their meetings.

It is incongruous and unbecoming and reduces autonomy to a farce. If this autonomy is real, and is to blossom forth into full freedom, nothing should be done by superior powers after the previous style. Every one of their acts must conform to a rule or convention. It must not depend upon the caprice of the Governor-General or even the Secretary of State for India. Wherever the prestige of autocracy depended upon its exacting obedience, willing or unwilling, from the ruled, the prestige of the superior authority that has voluntarily divested itself of autocracy and conferred autonomy should consist in always carrying the majority party with it. There is no other way that I can think of for the healthy growth of autonomy and the avoidance of friction.

¹ This was published under the title "Acting Governorship of Orissa".

The Viceroy and the Governors have bestowed unstinted praise upon all the Ministers of India. They have given no cause for the exercise of the more than ample powers reserved under the Government of India Act. The prestige of the majority party depends upon never sleeping over the rights of the people, never allowing a single error on the part of the superior authority to escape their vigilant eyes. Looked at in this light, the Congress, it seems to me, cannot allow the appointment to pass unchallenged.

I hear that the Orissa Ministry has threatened to resign as soon as Mr. Dain occupies the gubernatorial chair. I understand too that an interim Ministry will be appointed to carry on the Government. I suppose that as soon as the acting appointment is over and the Governor returns from leave, by some arrangement the present Ministry will be reinstated. That won't be fair play. The Congress will stultify itself to submit to any such arrangement. The governance of a province is not like a play of children. The Congress is discovering what a thankless task it is, how serious it is. The real Ministers, who represent the real majority of the Orissa legislators, cannot look unconcerned on the administration of their province passing into the hands of new irresponsible persons appointed at the will of the Governor or acting Governor as the case may be. I do hope, therefore, that the mistake will be undone before it is too late. There are many ways of doing it gracefully. But there must be a will before a graceful way is found. I hope it will be.¹

Harijan, 7-5-1938

¹ In response to this the Secretary to the Governor of Orissa issued the following communique on May 4, 1938: "In view of the instability of the political situation which he would be bound to leave to his successor, His

73. STATEMENT TO THE PRESS¹

April 29, 1938

I enjoy the privilege of friendship with Sir Mirza Ismail. I know that he is anxious to liberalize the administration of Mysore. I have found him to be willing to listen to the advice and suggestions of friends. And I know that the tragedy² which has been enacted in Mysore has filled him with distress.

I have read the communique issued by the Mysore Government. It does not read convincing to me. But for the advice that I am about to tender, I do not need an accurate knowledge of all the facts surrounding the tragedy. Seeing that I receive pressing letters, deputations and wires from representative people of Mysore for guidance, and seeing that I know so many workers of Mysore who look to me for a solution of their difficulties, it would be wrong on my part at this critical juncture to content myself merely with sending letters or even telegrams of advice.

One or two facts stand out prominently. There has been firing upon an unarmed crowd, resulting in several deaths and many more being injured. I will assume, though the information received by me on behalf of the public is to the contrary, that there was some provocation. We can never know with absolute certainty whether the firing was justified. There is no code which can give an exact definition of justification. It must always be a matter of opinion, and opinions always have a knack of varying.

What I, therefore, venture to suggest to the Mysore Government is that they should not be satisfied with making an inquiry, however impartial it may be. The demonstration that is going on in Mysore about the national flag is a symptom of the time.

Excellency the Governor of Orissa does not feel justified in proceeding with his original plan, and considers that he has in the interests of the province no option but to ask for the cancellation of the leave granted to him. The Secretary of State has acceded to his request with the concurrence of the Governor-General."

¹ This was published under the title "Price for Gaining Liberty".

² Vide footnote 2, p. 49.

I must confess that I was not aware of a popular awakening in Mysore on a wide scale, as there undoubtedly is. It gladdens me, as I hope it gladdens the Mysore authorities. I suggest, therefore, that the best and only remedy for the Maharaja and his Adviser, Sir Mirza Ismail, is to divest the Government of its autocracy and to make popular representatives responsible for the administration of Mysore. The responsibility must be on the broadest scale possible if it is to ensure peace in Mysore. It has been suggested that the State being backward, responsibility can only be a plant of slow growth. I have never subscribed to that doctrine. It is not a compliment to the States. One would expect them, with all the natural advantages in their favour, to show much greater progress than in unwieldy British India.

To the leaders of the people of Mysore I will say: These tragic deaths and injuries inflicted upon innocent persons would be a small price paid for the liberty of the people. They may make an enquiry and the injured and the heirs to the deceased may receive compensation. But if I were a Mysorean, I would not lay stress on personal gains; I would use these sacrifices for gaining the liberty for which they had been made voluntarily or involuntarily. They should also remember that one condition of success is the retention of a truly non-violent spirit and atmosphere under every conceivable circumstance. I have been told that the people have been behaving with exemplary non-violence and that the crowd bravely suffered the firing. If that is proved to be the case, I for one will rejoice over the loss of life. It is the necessary price paid for gaining liberty.

Harijan, 7-5-1938

74. DISCUSSION WITH VALLABHBHAI PATEL¹

April 29, 1938

Sardar Vallabhbhai raised the question of the Lancashire Delegation coming out and asked Mahatmaji as to the lines on which the Congress is likely to approve of an agreement with U. K. Mahatmaji said that he could not see under what circumstances the Congress could be a party to agreeing to take cloth from Lancashire in return for cotton from India. He said that that would be definitely against the whole creed of the Congress.

¹ As reported by Purushottamdas Thakurdas

Sardar Vallabhbhai pointed out that the Advisory Committee was appointed on a recommendation of the Assembly and the report of the Advisory Committee and the recommendation of the Government of India thereon were, without division, demanded by the Assembly to be put before them. He, therefore, inferred that the Congress party in the Assembly were committed to negotiations with Lancashire, and he said that it would not be right for the Congress to go back on it. Mahatmaji said that he was not a party to these requests and demands, but he said that as far as the Advisory Committee were concerned, he would say to them as under:

1. The Advisory Committee may examine the trade pact from a purely economic point of view.
2. That if, on that examination, they could honestly recommend an agreement with U. K., including an arrangement with Lancashire, he saw no objection to their making such recommendation.
3. Per contra, if, on such examination, the Advisory Committee felt that they could not recommend such an agreement, he would not be sorry.
4. That any such recommendation made by the Advisory Committee, as constituted, would command his best attention, but he would advise the Advisory Committee to put in a paragraph at the end of their recommendation saying that they had examined the whole question only from an economic point of view and no other. Other points of view, viz., political, etc., were for the Government of India to consider and the Assembly to express an opinion on.
5. Mahatmaji, however, made it clear in unambiguous language that if the Advisory Committee felt that they could not put in any such observation out of what he calls self-respect, they may not do so. He said that, in that case, the Congress was quite capable of raising its own points.

As I was leaving, he said:

Do your best according to your lights and leave us to do our best according to the political light.¹

He added that both these expressions of opinion from different points of view would be equally valuable and consistent.

From Purushottamdas Thakurdas Papers. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

¹ Vide also "Letter to G. D. Birla", pp. 48-9.

75. LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU

On THE TRAIN TO PESHAWAR,
April 30, 1938

MY DEAR JAWAHARLAL,

Here is a copy of the brief notes I have jotted down of the 3½ hours' talks with Jinnah. It may be that you and the other members may not like the basis. Personally I see no escape from it. My handicap today is that I do not move about the country, as you do, and a still more serious handicap is the inner despondency that has overtaken me. I am carrying on, but it is galling to me to think that I have lost the self-confidence that I possessed only a month ago. I hope that this is but a temporary phase in my life. I have mentioned this to help you to examine the proposals on their merits. I do not suppose the first will present any difficulty. The second is novel, with all its implications. You will not hesitate summarily to reject it if it does not commend itself to you. In this matter you will have to give the lead.

I expect to return on the 11th. Subhas in reply to my telegram suggesting that he should open formal negotiations with Jinnah telegraphs that he will be in Bombay on the 10th. I wish that you could also go there early. I am writing to Maulana Saheb in the same strain sending him a copy of this letter.

Love.

BAPU

Gandhi-Nehru Papers, 1938. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

76. TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR

May 2, 1938

RAJKUMARI AMRIT KAUR
CARE YWCA
ANANDAGIRI
OOTACAMUND

HEALTH GOOD. WEATHER PERFECT. LEAVING FOR BOMBAY TENTH. LOVE.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 7858. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7014

77. NOTE TO MAHADEV DESAI

May 2, 1938

Tell Khan Saheb that my health will not permit such a heavy tour programme. This time we should undertake only what can be done by staying at Peshawar. We may certainly go to Utmanzai for a day. We may leave out Khyber if necessary. Those who want to meet me should be given appointments in Peshawar. A women's meeting must be arranged. The programme for September or October can be arranged right now. It may be a one-month programme if they want it. Impatience may damage my health and may prevent our finishing all the work that we propose to do. Even after considering this, if you wish to go ahead with the programme as shown to me, it may be done. The will of God shall prevail. The programme for Peshawar may be arranged for tomorrow, if possible.

[From Gujarati]

From the manuscript of Mahadev Desai's Diary. Courtesy: Narayan Desai

78. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

May 2, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

May you always remain a youth of eighteen or twenty-two. How could that be my condition? You don't know passion, but I was a slave of passion for thirty years and tried to satisfy it. Moreover, I recently discovered that I have not been able to subdue it at all. I don't remember having had an emission while awake at any time during the last fifty years. I am not referring here to the emission in dreams or those brought on by desire. But I was in such a wretched and pitiable condition that in spite of my utmost efforts I could not stop the discharge though I was fully awake.¹ I feel now that the despondency that I had been feeling deep down in me only foreshadowed this occurrence. After the event, restlessness has become acute beyond words. Where am I, where is my place, and how can a person subject to passion represent non-violence and truth? This turmoil goes on in my heart. I keep asking myself: am I worthy of you all who follow me, am I fit to lead you all? God will answer the question when He pleases. Is it not said that Rama is the strength of the weak?

There must be some place where you can settle down. We will think over the matter when I return. Think over what you would like to suggest.

A wire was sent to Vijaya. Now let us await her reply.

Mahadev will write about Surat.

If you have in mind an indigenous machine, you needn't ask anybody.

What you write about the weaving shed seems all right.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10747

¹ Vide also "Letter to Mirabehn", pp. 60-1.

79. LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH

PESHAWAR,
May 2, 1938

CHL. SHARDA,

I have your letter. Stay there in peace. I shall reach Segaoon by the beginning of June. Maybe a couple of days earlier. Do not let your health suffer. The Jains who visit the common temples follow Hinduism. Jain philosophy is not distinct from Hindu philosophy. A temple-goer should certainly keep away from any temple which the untouchables cannot enter, shouldn't he?

Are you studying anything there? I expect to leave the Frontier Province on the 9th. I shall have to go to Bombay again. Your reply to this letter may be sent to Bombay. I shall be staying at Juhu. Let me know whatever talk you have with Shakaribehn. I am of course keeping well.

Blessings from
BAPU

From the Gujarati original: C.W. 9994. Courtesy: Sharda-behn G. Chokhawala

80. TELEGRAM TO JAMNALAL BAJAJ

PESHAWAR,
May 3, 1938

SETH JAMNALAL BAJAJ
JAIPUR

FORGOT TELL YOU VALLABHBHAI CANNOT GO JAIPUR.¹
HE HAS TO GO MYSORE. HEALTH WELL CLIMATE EXCELLENT BUT TOUR PROGRAMME CANCELLED AS TOO HEAVY.

Pancham Putrako Bapuko Ashirvad, p. 195

¹ For the Jaipur Rajya Praja Mandal Conference

81. TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR

PESHAWAR,
May 3, 1938

RAJKUMARI AMRIT KAUR
OOTACAMUND

YOU CAN GO.¹ TAKE CAREFUL NOTES. FRAME CON-CLUSION WITH ME. KEEPING WELL. LOVE.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3859. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7015

82. LETTER TO MIRABEHN

May 3, 1938

I like your letter for its transparent love. It tells me nothing new, but it comes at a moment when I am most receptive. The problem however is not so simple as you have put it. If complete brahmacharya under the conditions I am trying is like an attempt to climb the craters in the moon, what is the value of the species that requires the nine fortifications?² You are quite right in describing my experiment as new. So is my experiment in ahimsa. The two hang together. Remember that my experiment has natural limitations. I may neither tempt God nor the Devil. I have not the time to prolong the argument.

In your next letter you must tell me in concrete terms what definite changes I should make so as to fit in with your idea. Should I deny myself the service rendered by Sushila? Should I refuse to have *malish*³ by Lilavati or Amtul Salaam for instance? Or do you want to say that I should never lean on girls' shoulders? Needless to say you won't pain me at all by telling me frankly whatever you think I should do to get out of the terrible despondency. Just now I am most in need of support from those who surround me with service and affection, undeserved as it seems to me, for the time being. In guiding me remember that what I am doing I have done all my life you may say. And my brahmacharya has become firmer and more enlightened. Of course I have been far away from perfection. But I felt I was progressing. That degrading, dirty, torturing experience of 14th April shook me to bits and made me feel as if I was hurled by God from an imaginary paradise where I had no right to be in my uncleanness.

¹ To Mysore; vide letter to the addressee dated May 16, 1938.

² The reference is to the nine rules of behaviour known as "the nine-fold hedge or wall" for the protection of brahmacharya.

³ Massage

Well, I shall feel pride in my being parent to so many children, if any of them will give a lifting hand and pull me out of the well of despair. My faith in myself and my experiment will revive and will burn all the brighter.

Love.

BAPU

From the manuscript of Mahadev Desai's Diary. Courtesy: Narayan Desai

83. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

[AS AT] SEGAON,
May 4, 1938

CHI. KRISHNACHANDRA,

I am replying today; but this should not become a practice. Whenever there is an opportunity you should ask orally as it is easier for me to give oral answers. It saves time.

Your interpreting it as 'natural' is correct. All *vikaras*¹ need not be rejected. Even pitying a man is a vikara. Our distaste for something bad is also a vikara but not to be rejected. If it is desirable to carry on the business of the world, then the vikara needed for this is not only in order but is necessary. Of course vital fluid is discharged also when man and wife come together to procreate; but then it does not go waste. It may be a fall. The fall leads to new creation as a rise often does. It cannot be said that procreation is always harmful. Saying this would amount to finding fault with God. Those couples who come together only for the sake of a felt need for offspring and otherwise remain like brother and sister—can remain so without any vikara—deserve a million salutations; they are perfect brahmacharis.

¹ Mutations of the mind.

What you have written about expenses is all right.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4291

84. SPEECH AT ISLAMIA COLLEGE, PESHAWAR¹

May 4, 1938

I have become a member of the Khyber Union without reading its constitution. It is the Pathan's trick. Our people tremble at the mention of the Pathan's name.

Continuing, Mahatma Gandhi said that he had been unable to participate in active discussion for the last two or three years.

I cannot speak standing. Even when I talk at length sitting, I get dizzy in the head. It is the Khan Brothers' love of me that has brought me here.²

It is well that you referred to the problem of Hindu-Muslim unity, and I would ask you to consider what you can do in furtherance of that great cause. There is no doubt that the work belongs essentially to you of the younger generation. We are now getting old and will soon be gathered to our fathers. You have therefore to shoulder the burden. How you can help in achieving the great object, you have yourselves shown in your address by your appreciative preference to non-violence and to Khan Saheb's work. I do not know if your reference was deliberate and if you knew the full implication of what you were saying. I do hope you knew what you were saying and that you fully weighed your words. If you have, then I should like to take you a step further.

After explaining the circumstances which had delayed his visiting the Frontier, Mahatma Gandhi said that when it was first known that he was to visit the Frontier people said that this man (Mahatma Gandhi) was going to make the people cowards. If non-violence means that, you should despise it.³

An Urdu newspaper has said that my mission in the Frontier Province is the emasculation of the Pathans, whereas Khan

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Frontier Notes-III". However, this has been collated with the report published in The Hindustan Times.

² This and the preceding paragraphs are from The Hindustan Times.

³ This paragraph is from The Hindustan Times.

Sahab has invited me here in order that the Pathans might hear the message of non-violence from my own lips and in order that I might see the Khudai Khidmatgars at close quarters and find out to what extent non-violence has permeated them.¹ That means that the Khan Sahab at any rate has no such fear as has been expressed by that Urdu paper. For he knows that true non-violence is mightier than the mightiest violence. If therefore you really know the essential nature of non-violence and appreciate Khan Sahab's work, you will have to pledge yourselves to non-violence, and that in spite of the fact that violence is so much in the air and we are talking day in and day out of military manoeuvres and aerial action, armaments and naval strength. You have to realize that the power of unarmed non-violence is any day far superior to that of armed force. With me acceptance of non-violence was instinctive, it was part of my training and home influence in childhood. I have been preaching the creed of non-violence for 50 years.² Its superior strength I came to realize in South Africa where I had to pit it against organized violence and racial prejudice. I practised it in South Africa, where everybody, like the Pathans, is armed and the Government has introduced conscription.³ The people said how a handful of Indians could fight the African Government with that weapon. I returned from South Africa with a clear conviction of the superiority of the method of non-violence to that of violence. In India also, we have used it for gaining our rights and we have achieved some measure of success.⁴

If the method of violence takes plenty of training, the method of non-violence takes even more training, and that training is much more difficult than the training for violence. The first essential of that training is a living faith in God. He who has a living faith in God will not do evil deeds with the name of God on his lips. He will not rely on the sword but will rely solely on God. Lakhs of Muslims commit sins in the name of God and lakhs of Hindus who say "Rama" do likewise.⁵ A genuine believer in God need not have a stick in his hand. One who repeats God's name and recites the kalmah may not be

¹ The Hindustan Times adds here: "There is no other reason. There are other small things, but they could not have brought me here. If you really understand non-violence, you will have to be non-violent throughout."

² This sentence is from The Hindustan Times.

³ This and the following sentence are from The Hindustan Times.

⁴ This sentence is from The Hindustan Times.

⁵ This and the following four sentences are from The Hindustan Times.

Allah's devotee. He alone is a man of God who sees God in every soul. Such a man would not be prepared to kill another. But you may say that a coward may also pass off as a believer in God saying he does not use the sword. Cowardice is no sign of belief in God. The true man of God has the strength to use the sword, but will not use it knowing that every man is the image of God.

Islam, it is said, believes in the brotherhood of man. But you will permit me to point out that it is not the brotherhood of Mussalmans only but it is universal brotherhood, and that brings me to the second essential of the training for non-violence. We must not believe in non-violence as a policy, but as an article of faith.¹ The Allah of Islam is the same as the God of Christians and the Ishwara of Hindus. Even as there are numerous names of God in Hinduism there are as many names of God in Islam. The names do not indicate individuality but attributes, and little man has tried in his humble way to describe the mighty God by giving Him attributes, though He is above all attributes, Indescribable, Inconceivable, Immeasurable. Living faith in this God means acceptance of the brotherhood of mankind. It also means equal respect for all religions. If Islam is dear to you, Hinduism is dear to me and Christianity is dear to the Christians. It would be the height of intolerance—and intolerance is a species of violence—to believe that your religion is superior to other religions and that you would be justified in wanting others to change over to your faith.

The third essential is the acceptance of truth and purity, for one claiming to have an active faith in God cannot but be pure and truthful.

Now let me tell you that your appreciation of Khan Saheb's services and of non-violence carries all these implications if the appreciation is genuine.

If you want to preach non-violence in India and the world at large, you must accept my advice in the matter based on long experience. If you forsake non-violence, you will have to forsake Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan. He cannot go a step without your assistance. God also helps through people by moving their hearts. I have travelled throughout the world and seen that people do not realize and appreciate the full implications of the non-violence creed. We have to defend India's wealth with non-violence. Millions of our people will have to fully realize the implications of this creed. Non-violence is meant for all irrespective of faith.¹

¹ This sentence is from The Hindustan Times.

As votaries of non-violence we will forget violence. If Islam is dear to you and Hinduism is dear to me, sheer logic will force you to the conclusion that we must have equal respect for each other's religion.

Those who claim to lead have to live up to all the implications and express them in their daily life. Now, you will not be the rank and file, but you will be leaders of your people. As generals of non-violence you need special training than ordinary people, who can at best be soldiers.² Your non-violence will not be of the lunatic or the coward. It will be stronger than of one with the sword. If you can live up to the ideal, you may be sure that no one will have any excuse for saying that non-violence is going to emasculate you. Yours will be the non-violence of the bravest.

Harijan, 14-5-1938, and The Hindustan Times, 5-5-1938

85. DISCUSSION WITH CONGRESS SOCIALISTS³

PESHAWAR,
May 4, 1938

Mahatma Gandhi replied that the Socialists believing in the Congress creed could not be excluded from the Congress on account of their socialistic ideas. Gandhiji is reported to have pointed out that Pandit Nehru and Mr. Subhas Chandra Bose were Socialists. So long as the Socialists accepted the Congress creed and carried out the Congress programme he could not see there was any objection to their being admitted into the Congress organization. This, however, was his interpretation of the existing Congress practice. Whether different courses were warranted under particular local conditions in the Frontier Province, he was unable to say.

The Bombay Chronicle, 6-5-1938

¹ This and the following paragraph are from The Hindustan Times.

² This and the following two sentences are from The Hindustan Times.

³ A deputation of the local Congress Socialists, consisting of 11 persons, drew Gandhiji's attention to a Press report that the Frontier Congress leaders intended to exclude Congress Socialists from the Congress in view of the special circumstances obtaining in the Frontier.

86. SPEECH AT EDWARD'S MISSION COLLEGE,
PESHAWAR¹

May 5, 1938

Replying to the address in Hindustani, Mahatma Gandhi said that his heart rebelled against speaking in English for the sake of a few Englishmen in the audience. He took strong exception to addresses being presented in English when he could well read Urdu and, if he felt any difficulty anywhere, he could consult Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan. Continuing, Gandhiji said:²

Your address³ is one paean of praise of me. Well, I have never found it easy to appropriate such praise, but let me tell you that there was no time in my life when I was less able to appropriate such praise than I am today. For a curious sense of despondency has possessed me and I cannot yet get over it. Well, I came here not to make a speech, and I was told that I need not give more than five minutes. But a sentence in your address³ compels me to devote a few minutes more than I had anticipated. The sentence about non-violent passive resistance at once took my memory back to Germiston in South Africa in 1907⁴. A meeting of European friends was convened to hear me speak on passive resistance, as the movement was then known. The Chairman of the meeting there expressed practically the same statement as you have made in the address, viz., that passive resistance was a weapon of the weak. The reference jarred on me and I immediately corrected the speaker. It is curious, if not also surprising, that you should have made the same mistake after all these years of satyagraha in India. We may be weak and oppressed, but non-violence is not a weapon of the weak.⁵ It is a weapon of the strongest and the bravest. Non-violence has greater

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Frontier Notes-III". This version has been collated with the report published in The Hindustan Times.

² This paragraph is from The Hindustan Times.

³ Which read: "Born in a land where ahimsa was preached thousands of years ago it was left to you, Sir, to enunciate in your own remarkable way the doctrine of non-violent passive resistance as the most irresistible weapon in the hands of the weak and the oppressed."

⁴ This should be '1909'; vide Vol. IX, pp. 243-4.

⁵ The Hindustan Times reports here: "Non-violence is not a weapon of the weak because, when a weak man uses it, love does not come into the picture."

power than Hitler's or Mussolini's force.¹ Violence may well be the weapon of the weak and the oppressed. Being strangers to non-violence nothing else is open to them. It is, however, true that passive resistance has been regarded as a weapon of the weak. That was why the name 'satyagraha' was coined in South Africa to distinguish the movement there from passive resistance.

Passive resistance is a negative thing, and has nothing to do with the active principle of Love. Satyagraha proceeds on the active principle of Love which says, 'Love those that despitefully use you. It is easy for you to love your friends. But I say unto you, love your enemies.'² If satyagraha was a weapon of the weak, I should be deceiving Khan Saheb, for no Pathan has yet confessed his weakness. It was Khan Saheb who told me that he never felt so strong and brave as when he, out of a free will, renounced the lathi and the rifle. If it was not the Supreme weapon of the brave, I should certainly have hesitated to place it before a brave community like the Pathans. It is with that weapon that Khan Saheb can bid fair to befriend and convert the brave Afridis and the other tribesmen. You know the Afridi does not fear death.³ I have to make him braver, not a weakling. Otherwise Khan Saheb will despise me.

I am glad to have had this opportunity of correcting you. For the moment you realize it, you will enlist yourself as workers in the cause for which Khan Saheb and I are working. That it is difficult to carry conviction I agree. I find it difficult in spite of my conscious practice of it for the last 50 years. But it presupposes purity of the highest type. Infinite patience is required—even the patience of emptying the ocean with a blade of grass. If we want complete independence for India, it can be through non-violence alone.⁴

Harizan, 14-5-1938, and The Hindustan Times, 6-5-1938

¹ This sentence is from The Hindustan Times.

² St. Luke, 6. 28

³ This and the following two sentences are from The Hindustan Times.

⁴ This sentence is from The Hindustan Times.

87. SPEECH AT CHARSADDA¹

May 6, 1938²

I really wanted to make the acquaintance of those of whom I had heard so much. I wanted to see with my own eyes how the Khudai Khidmatgars live, move and work. The Khan Saheb was also keen that I must see all these and testify to what extent they had assimilated non-violence. That examination I am afraid cannot be carried on during this brief tour. But let me tell you that my desire to live in your midst has increased. To-night I am thankful that I have been able even to come to Utmanzai and Charsadda and to see you all. Khan Saheb and Dr. Khan Saheb I had seen much of even in Wardha, but I wanted to see you and make your acquaintance. A great responsibility rests on your and Khan Saheb's shoulders. You have deliberately chosen a name that carries mighty implications. You might have called yourselves Servants of the people, or of the Pathans, or of Islam; but you chose instead the name Khudai Khidmatgars—Servants of God, i. e., Servants of humanity which includes, Hindus, Mussalmans, Christians [of the] Punjab, Gujarat and other parts of India, and also other parts of the world. This very ambitious title implies the acceptance of non-violence. How can a man in the name of God serve humanity by means of the sword? It can be only done by means of a force that God has given us and which is superior to any other force that we can think of. If you do not understand this, you may be sure that the world will laugh at the Khan Saheb and me as vain hypocrites. Whilst therefore I am delighted at the sight of the Khudai Khidmatgars, I am also seized with a kind of fright. Many people have warned me against you, but that warning does not matter if you are true to your creed. Remember that you outnumber volunteers in the whole of India, and that you are more disciplined than volunteers in other parts of India. But unless the discipline is rooted in non-violence the discipline might prove a source of infinite mischief. I have rarely in my tours

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Frontier Notes-IV". The meeting was held at 10 o'clock at night and was attended by over ten thousand people.

² From The Hindu

seen more orderly and quieter meetings. I congratulate you and express my gratefulness for all the affection you have showered on me. I shall conclude with the prayer that the Frontier Pathans may make not only India free, but teach the world, through an India made non-violently free, the priceless lesson of non-violence.¹

Harizan, 21-5-1938, and The Hindu, 7-5-1938

88. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

MARDAN,
May 7, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

Sushila has been keeping you informed about me. I have not therefore worried to write to you. It has been an anxious time here.

Your analysis is good. Of course the experience was due to my "weakness, lack of faith".²

Let us all hope that I shall come out of the well of despair stronger and purer. There is as yet no sign of the end of the crisis. Darkness is still there. There is still an unaccountable dissatisfaction with myself. Moodiness is wholly unnatural to me. It creeps over me now and again. I suppress it by constant work. But the body does not respond to it as readily as I want it to. But I have not lost faith. There are signs that I shall get out of the slough. I may be deceived. I have patience. I do not fret over the delay. If it is to be a new birth, a regeneration all round, it must be preceded by adequate travail.

You are not to worry over my present condition. The sexual sense is the hardest to overcome in my case. It has been an incessant struggle. It is for me a miracle how I have survived it. The one I am engaged in may be, ought to be, the final struggle.

Love.

ROBBE

From the original: C.W. 3860. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7016

¹ Gandhiji's speech was translated into Pushto by Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan.

² Vide also "Letter to Mirabehn", pp. 60-1.

89. LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU

May 7, 1938

MY DEAR JAWAHARLAL,

What is it in the new orientation of the Gandhi Seva Sangh that has disturbed you? I must own that I am responsible for it. I should like you to tell me unhesitatingly what has disturbed you. If I have erred, you know that I shall retrace my steps as soon as I discover the error.

As to the general deterioration, I agree with you, though we may differ as to the weak spots.

More when we meet.

Love.

BAPU

Gandhi-Nehru Papers, 1938. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

90. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

MARDAN,
May 7, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

You must have got my reply. I think it would be best to use Gokuldas's¹ money for purchasing books.

I hope Chakraiyya will not lose the weight which he has gained.

It is sad that Vijaya is not improving. If she has not come there, write to her to come and see me in Bombay. I am also writing to her. Please inquire about the letter which got lost.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10746

¹ Gokuldas Khimji of Mandvi, Kutch

91. SPEECH AT MARDAN¹

May 7, 1938²

If what you have told me is a solemn promise, and if you can keep it, you may be sure that we will win not only the freedom of India but something more. When we can be ready to sacrifice any number of men in the cause of non-violence, we can easily bid fair to be spared the ghastly spectre of war that is now threatening Europe. We talk of doing everything in the name of God, we call ourselves Khudai Khidmatgars, we profess to have given up the sword, and yet if we have not put the sword and the dagger out of our hearts, we are sure to be disgraced and the name 'Khudai Khidmatgar' will be a term of reproach.

I have not yet recovered from the shock of the story³ I heard this afternoon. The Sikhs from Mayar told me of the tragedy that happened there in broad daylight. So far as I know the victims had done nothing to provoke the ire of the assassins. The assassins did the deed in broad daylight and bolted away without anyone trying to apprehend them. It is worth pondering over how such a thing could happen when we are all talking of non-violence. There were in the village Khudai Khidmatgars and others believing in the creed of non-violence. It was their duty to catch the culprits. It is their duty to prevent the recurrence of the deed. It is also your duty to befriend the bereaved and to assure the fear-stricken of your sympathy and succour. So long as things of this kind continue to happen in our midst, our non-violence must be in doubt.

Harijan, 21-5-1938

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Frontier Notes-IV"

² From The Hindu, 9-5-1938

³ At Mayar, a village about three kilometres from Mardan, three Sikhs — a boy of 11, an old man of 80 and a young man of 25 — were murdered by three Pathans.

92. SPEECH AT KALUKHAN¹

May 7, 1938²

Your address is made up of two parts—one devoted to my praise and the other to non-violence. The first part may be ignored for I am sure that that is going to do good to nobody. In fact I am quite sure that if someone offered to sing my praises for twenty-four hours, he would get tired and I should fall fast asleep. What God may have enabled me to do is but a repayment of debt, and he who repays a debt deserves no praise. In fact if he fails to do so, he may be liable to prosecution.

What interests me more is what you have said about non-violence. Let me tell you that I should not have been able to sum up better the characteristics of a non-violent man. But let me tell you what you have not said in your address, and that is the implications of non-violence. You must have heard of the riots³ in Allahabad and Lucknow. These would be impossible if there was really non-violence amongst us. There are thousands of members on the Congress register. If they were really non-violent, these riots would not have occurred. But we not only failed to prevent them, but even sought the aid of the military and the police to quell them. Some of our Congressmen argued with me that our non-violence was limited to our dealings with the Englishmen. Then I say that that non-violence was not the weapon of the strong, but of the weak. Active non-violence of the brave puts to flight thieves, dacoits, murderers, and prepares an army of volunteers ready to sacrifice themselves in quelling riots, in extinguishing fires and feuds, and so on. You have said that non-violence automatically solves unemployment. You are right, for it rules out exploitation. The non-violent man automatically becomes a servant of God. He should be ready to render account to God of every minute of his time. May you all be true servants of God and true practisers of non-violence.

Harijan, 21-5-1938

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Frontier Notes-IV"

² From The Hindu, 9-5-1938

³ During March 1938

93. LETTER TO MIRABEHN

PESHAWAR,
May 8, 1938

I hope you got my letter¹ in reply to yours on my bitter experience. My search still continues. It gives me joy. I rejoice in the pain that sometimes accompanies the labour. God who has never forsaken me is not going to do so now. I am therefore indifferent what comes out of the search. But you must continue to warn me so long as you think that I go astray in action.

Your brother-in-law's letter is very fine. Evidently your sister was a very superior woman—a rare type. I can understand your grief over such a loss. But such losses are a test of our faith. Nothing but a fixed faith that death for the good is a translation to a better state, and for the evil a beneficent escape, can reconcile us to the mystery of death.

Love.

BAPU

From the manuscript of Mahadev Desai's Diary. Courtesy: Narayan Desai

94. SPEECH AT POLITICAL CONFERENCE, PESHAWAR²

May 8, 1938

In all your three addresses³ you have told me that you made a triumphant and unique demonstration of non-violence during the C. D. campaign, but I have to find out whether you have assimilated non-violence with all its implications. The principal purpose of my visit was to find out whether all that I had heard from the Khan Saheb about the Khudai Khidmatgars was true, and I am very sorry that I could not give all the time that was needed in order to find out the truth. One conviction I am carrying back with me, viz., the wonderful and affectionate allegiance of the people to the Khan Saheb as their general. Not only the Khudai Khidmatgars but I noticed wherever I went that every man, woman and child knew him and loved him. They greeted him most familiarly. His touch seemed to soothe them. And Khan Saheb was most gentle to whoever approached him. The obedience of the Khudai Khidmatgars was unquestioned. All this has filled me with boundless joy.

¹ Dated May 3, 1938; vide pp. 60-1.

² Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Frontier Notes-IV".

³ Presented by Municipal and District Boards of Peshawar

A general merits such obedience. Khan Saheb has it by right of love unlike the ordinary general who exacts obedience through fear. The question now is what use will Khan Saheb make of the tremendous power of which he finds himself in possession? I cannot answer the question now. Nor can the Khan Saheb. Hence it is that, if God wills it, I should like to revisit this wonderful Province about October, make a prolonged stay and study in detail the working of non-violence.

Harijan, 21-5-1938

95. INTERVIEW TO A PROFESSOR¹

PESHAWAR,

[Before May 9, 1938]²

A professor of Islamia College came with a question that was troubling him and is troubling many of the present generation—belief in God. What was the basis of his belief if Gandhiji had it, as he knew he had it? What was his experience?

[GANDHIJI:] It can never be a matter for argument. If you would have me convince others by argument I am floored. But I can tell you this that I am surer of His existence than of the fact that you and I are sitting in this room. Then I can also testify that I may live without air and water but not without Him. You may pluck out my eyes, but that cannot kill me. You may chop off my nose, but that will not kill me. But blast my belief in God and I am dead. You may call this a superstition, but I confess it is a superstition that I hug, even as I used to hug the name of Rama in my childhood when there was any cause of danger or alarm. That was what an old nurse had taught me.³

But you think that superstition was necessary for you?

Yes, necessary to sustain me.

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Frontier Notes-III"

² Gandhiji left Peshawar in the morning on May 9.

³ Vid. Vol. XXXIX, p. 31.

That is all right. May I now ask if you had anything like a prophetic vision?

I do not know what you call a vision and what you will call prophetic. But let me give you an experience in my life. When I announced¹ my fast of 21 days in jail I had not reasoned about it. On retiring to bed the previous night I had no notion that I was going to announce the next morning a fast of 21 days. But in the middle of the night a Voice woke me up and said: 'Go through a fast.' 'How many?' I asked. '21 days,' was the answer. Now let me tell you that my mind was unprepared for it, disinclined for it. But the thing came to me as clearly as anything could be. Let me tell you one thing more and I have done. Whatever striking things I have done in life I have not done prompted by reason but prompted by the instinct, I would say God. Take the Dandi Salt March of 1930. I had not the ghost of a suspicion how the breach of Salt Law would work itself out. Pandit Motilalji and other friends were fretting and did not know what I would do; and I could tell them nothing, as I myself knew nothing about it. But like a flash it came, and as you know it was enough to shake the country from one end to the other. One last thing. Until the last day I knew nothing about announcing the 6th of April 1919 as a day of fasting and prayer. But I dreamt about it—there was no Voice or Vision as in 1930—and I felt it was just the thing to do. In the morning I shared it with C. R. and announced it to the country, you know with what a wonderfully spontaneous response.²

Harijan, 14-5-1938

96. INTERVIEW TO A PROFESSOR³

PESHAWAR,
[Before May 9, 1938]⁴

[PROFESSOR:] How is it that many of the English Pacifists are talking of defence and elaborate plans of defence? . . . May it not be possible to carry pacifism too far? Supposing Abyssinia had simply non-resisted and said to Italy, 'Do your worst', would the Italians have been ashamed and desisted from their design? Lansbury said they would.

¹ On April 30, 1933; vide Vol. LV, pp. 74-5.

² Vide Vol. XV, pp. 183-8.

³ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Frontier Notes-III". The Professor has not been identified in the source.

⁴ Gandhiji left Peshawar on the morning of May 9.

[GANDHI:] I shall take up the Abyssinian question first. I can answer it only in terms of active resistant non-violence. Now non-violence is the activist force on earth, and it is my conviction that it never fails. But if the Abyssinians had adopted the attitude of non-violence of the strong, i. e., the non-violence which breaks to pieces but never bends, Mussolini would have had no interest in Abyssinia. Thus if they had simply said: 'You are welcome to reduce us to dust or ashes but you will not find one Abyssinian ready to co-operate with you', what would Mussolini have done? He did not want a desert. Mussolini wanted submission and not defiance, and if he had met with the quiet, dignified and non-violent defiance that I have described, he would certainly have been obliged to retire. Of course it is open to anyone to say that human nature has not been known to rise to such heights. But if we have made unexpected progress in physical sciences, why may we do less in the science of the soul?

Now about the English Pacifists. I know there are some great and sincere men amongst them, but they are thinking in terms of pacifism as distinguished from unadulterated non-violence. I am essentially a non-violent man, and I believe in war bereft of every trace of violence. An essentially non-violent man does not calculate the consequences. The English Pacifists you are talking of calculate, and when they speak of pacifism they do so with the mental reservation that when pacifism fails, arms might be used. With them not non-violence but arms are the ultimate sanction, as was the case with Woodrow Wilson's Fourteen Points¹. No, someone has to arise in England with the living faith to say that England, whatever happens, shall not use arms. They are a nation fully armed, and if they having the power deliberately refuse to use arms, theirs will be the first example of Christianity in active practice on a mass scale. That will be a real miracle.

Harijan, 14-5-1938

¹ Outlined by him in a speech before the U. S. Congress on January 8, 1918, they became the basis of the armistice between Germany and the Allies and the subsequent peace treaty signed at Versailles.

97. A TELEGRAM¹

[On or before May 9, 1938]²

TELL BOTH FAST HAS NO MORAL BASIS. IF PEOPLE FASTED AGAINST WRONGS, FANCIED OR REAL, AND THERE WAS ANY YIELDING ON ACCOUNT OF THE FAST, SOCIETY WOULD BE DISRUPTED.

Harijan, 21-5-1938

98. TELEGRAM TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

PESHAWAR,
May 9, 1938

NANAVATI
MAGANWADI
WARDHA

YOU CAN START WEAVING SHED. AM WELL. LEAVING TODAY. ARRIVING BOMBAY ELEVENTH.

BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 10748

99. INTERVIEW TO ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW DELHI,
May 10, 1938

The Associated Press sought the opinion of Mahatma Gandhi regarding the terms of the settlement arrived at between the Mysore Government and the Mysore Congress over the flag trouble,³ announced by Sardar

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Weekly Letter". This was in reply to a telegram from Salem that A. Manikkam, an "orthodox Congressman", was on a fast unto death and his pregnant wife had started a sympathetic fast.

² According to Mahadev Desai the telegram from Salem was received during the Frontier tour. Gandhiji left the Frontier Province on May 9.

³ The terms of the settlement were: (1) Recognition of Mysore Congress; (2) declaration by the Mysore Government that it is open to the Reforms Committee to discuss and recommend responsible Government for Vallabhbhai Patel, when he arrived here this morning by the Frontier Mail on his way to Bombay.

Mahatma Gandhi said that he fully concurred with the terms of the settlement as he thought that it was the proper decision in the circumstances. When he was told that some Socialists objected to Sardar Patel's decision to allow the State flag to be hoisted by the side of the Congress flag, Mahatma Gandhi said that their objection was nevertheless not without reason; because they wanted to abolish the States, which was only possible by armed revolution to which creed he did not subscribe.

When questioned as to what should be the attitude of the general public towards the Congress flag and the Red (Socialist) flag in the case of the Congress sponsoring the labour cause in a strike, Gandhiji thought that with him the only flag that counted was the Congress flag. A labour union which had faith in the Congress should, in all circumstances, work under the Congress flag. If there were many flags, he feared that a clash was bound to occur.

Regarding the release of the Delhi political prisoners, Mahatma Gandhi said that the question of their release was before him. He would do his utmost to secure it, but at the moment he could not say as to when he would take up the matter.

The Bombay Chronicle, 11-5-1938

100. LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR

May 11, 1938

OH! LILA,

I very much wanted to write to you, but how could I get the time? I have your letter telling me about your entering your 31st year. Little by little you are sure to achieve steadiness. You have certainly made progress. But you have still a long way to go. You will acquire steadiness by observing rules in all matters. I have left Pyarelal and Sushila in Delhi. They will return

Mysore State; (3) four Congressmen who resigned from the Reforms Committee to be renominated with three additional Congressmen to be selected by the State Congress; (4) the satyagraha to be called off by the State Congress; (5) general amnesty to political prisoners and withdrawal of all repressive orders; and (6) the flag dispute to be settled on the lines suggested by Mahatma Gandhi, namely, that the Congress flag should be flown along with the State flag on all ceremonial occasions. But at purely party functions of the Congress only the National flag is to be flown.

in a few days. A. S. joined us at Delhi. Kanti and Saraswati joined us at Agra. Ba will remain in Delhi for the present.

I am all right.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 9371. Also C.W. 6646. Courtesy: Lilavati Asar

101. TELEGRAM TO JAMNALAL BAJAJ

BOMBAY,
May 12, 1938

JAMNALAL BAJAJ
SIKAR

HOPE YOUR APPEAL TO SIKAR PEOPLE WILL BE LISTENED.
YOU SHOULD STAY THERE TILL REQUIRED.

BAPU

Panchsheel Putrako Bapu's Ashirvada, p. 196

102. TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR

BOMBAY,
May 12, 1938

RAJKUMARI AMRIT KAUR
GUEST HOUSE
BANGALORE

ARRIVED SAFE. FRONTIER VISIT NECESSARY USEFUL. HOPE YOU KEEPING WELL. AM BOMBAY TILL SEVENTEENTH AT LEAST. LOVE.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3861. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7017

103. LETTER TO MIRABEHN

May 12, 1938

Your letter is most helpful. I would have called it perfect if there had not been the usual exaltation. But I have no time to dissect your letter. Your own experience settles me. I must change my manners. There will be considerable response to your suggestions. I have been daily taxing myself about my course of action. I am not yet certain what shape the change will take.

About Lilavati I can't recall anything of what you say. But once I felt that I had put my arm around her neck. I asked her in the morning. She said she had no knowledge of any touch. Nevertheless from that day I asked her to sleep at a proper distance. Give me more details about the incident you relate.

You will continue to make whatever suggestions may occur to you. I must not interrupt the experiment, but there is room for revision. My problem is: "Had the awful experience of the 14th April anything to do with the contacts or has it any other meaning?"

Love (in great haste).

BAPU

From the manuscript of Mahadev Desai's Diary. Courtesy: Narayan Desai

104. NOTE TO D. B. KALELKAR¹

[Before May 14, 1938]²

My silence should not in any case stand between us. I have nothing to say about Nanavati. I only wanted to know all that might be said about him. I have organized myself in such a way that his or anyone else's going will not inconvenience me. It is not necessary for Nanavati to stay here whenever I am here. When he serves you I consider it as service to me. Nanavati is staying here to know what village life is and to find out what part he can play in it. He is mainly useful as a musician and when everyone leaves Segaon he would stay on and die here. It is quite difficult to explain the usefulness of such a man. But it is enough if, even while staying with you, he remembers that he has to pass his life in Segaon. In this way he can retain his self-respect and keep his word too. So I think it is his dharma to go from here so long as you need him. But if deep down in his heart he has lost interest in Segaon, he should unhesitatingly take his mind off Segaon. His aim in life would then be to follow in your footsteps and take up Hindi. This is the proper age for him to fix his aim. I have very little use for him when I am in Segaon because for the most part Kanu takes up the responsibility for music. At present his main job in Segaon is to propagate weaving and to think of and experiment on village sanitation. These two tasks are very important. The result may not be visible today but eventually it will grow into a big tree. This aspect may however be ignored for the present. It is good I am observing silence, so that you can ponder over this note. Yet if you want to discuss something I am prepared to talk. Today's silence leaves room for such violations.

¹ The note was subsequently sent to Nanavati.

² The postmark bears the date May 14, 1938.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10786

105. LETTER TO MUNNALAL G. SHAH

May 14, 1938

CHI. MUNNALAL,

You shall certainly know about my agony. You may ask Mirabehn.

This is how you and Kanchan should live. You should not meet alone, nor touch each other. If either of you is aroused in the presence of the other, and if you are keen on observing brahmacharya at present, you should stay away from each other. Don't suppress passion forcibly. If you desire from the depths of your heart to observe brahmacharya, you will certainly be able to overcome your passion. If you are inspired to observe brahmacharya merely because it is good, it will not be enough. You may be certain that it can be observed only if you are convinced that without it you cannot shape your life aright.

The rest when we meet.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8576

106. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

JUHU,
May 14, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

I had hoped to see you in Bombay. Now that is over. You must build up your health. You should live on butter-milk, milk, rice if you can digest it, and juicy fruits like mosambis. You need no medicine.

Mirabehn will write about my health.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7080. Also C.W. 4572. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

107. LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH

JUHU, BOMBAY,
May 14, 1938

CHI. SHARDA,

Do come to Bombay. I am at Juhu. If you let me know, somebody will go to the station to receive you. I shall most probably leave here on the 17th or the 18th.

*Blessings from
BAPU*

From the Gujarati original: C.W. 9995. Courtesy: Shardabehn G. Chokhawala

108. LETTER TO KHWAJA NAZIMUDDIN

BOMBAY,
May 15, 1938

DEAR KHWAJA SAHEB,

I thank you for your letter¹ of the 11th instant received yesterday. I showed it today to Subhas Babu. I must confess that it does not satisfy my expectations. At the same time, I fully recognize the labours given to the question by the Government. I can also appreciate their extreme caution. I am not, therefore, going to come to any hasty decision. But before I can examine the implications of the policy adumbrated in your letter, I should like to know the number of prisoners that will still remain to be dealt with after the operation of the first three clauses. And before I can come to any conclusion, it will be absolutely necessary for me to know how the prisoners will respond to the propositions laid down by the Government.

I can well understand from your standpoint that such a procedure may not be countenanced. But I am bound by a moral promise given to the prisoners and in pursuance thereof, if the whole programme is to work smoothly, it is necessary for me to know their mind. It would be a breach of promise on my part if

¹ Vide Appendix II.

I submitted without demur to anything less than almost immediate and unconditional discharge.

I am sure you will not ask me for this purpose to travel to Calcutta. I would, therefore, ask you kindly to grant permission either to Subhas Babu or to Sarat Babu to see the prisoners as my deputies.

Of course, your request for secrecy will be strictly respected.

Subhas Babu has not seen this letter. He is engaged in the Working Committee meeting away from where I am staying, but if he was here, I am sure he would share the views expressed herein.

Yours sincerely,

M. K. GANDHI

The Hindustan Times, 4-10-1938; also C.W. 9922

109. LETTER TO VIJAYA GANDHI

May 15, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

I have your beautiful birthday letter. I pardon you for not writing any letter till now. Last year you learnt the Gita by heart. What will you do this year? Does Purushottam pass your pronunciation? Finally, of course, it will have to be passed by me. He might even show partiality towards you. After all, isn't he your teacher? But when do you ever cross my way so that I may test you?

All of us are just near the sea and so have a very pleasant breeze.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./II

110. LETTER TO SUSHILA GANDHI

May 15, 1938

CHI. SUSHILA,

If you wish, I would take you and the children, and Manu also, to Delhi. You may stay there as long as you like.

BAPU

[PS.]

God has given enough to Surendra. And you have an independent hoard of your own. Moreover, boarding will be free.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 1570. Courtesy: Manubehn S. Mashruwala

111. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

JUHU,
May 16, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

I have all your letters from Bangalore. Of course, there is the other side. But there is no rest for Mirza except through responsible government. I shall go through the papers carefully.

I am keeping good health. Pyarelal and Sushila are in New Delhi—19 Raja Bazar Square. Write to them. I am sending them today three letters from Mira with instructions to forward them to you after perusal. You will destroy them. Robbed of Mira's hysteria, they are sound. I am contemplating some changes. I have not yet decided upon anything. You will make what suggestions you may like. The despondency is there but the inner peace is coming.

Talks with J.¹ are still going on. S.² is very patient. He is a good listener. He may succeed where others might have failed. I would like him to succeed.

No hasty resolution will be taken about Mysore.

Your visit to Mysore was after all a good thing. You have gained a rich experience.

Ba is in Delhi. Amtul Salam is with me. And she is looking after me.

Love.

ROBBIE

[PS.]

Expect to leave for Wardha on 17th or 18th. So write to Wardha.

From the original: C.W. 3862. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7018

¹ M. A. Jinnah

² Subhas Chandra Bose

112. LETTER TO C. RAJAGOPALACHARI

VISHRAM VATIKA,
Juhu (P.O. SANTAGRUZ),
BOMBAY,
May 16, 1938

MY DEAR C. R.,

I have gone through the salty note. If you mean that I should take notice of the flagrant breach, I shall do so. If you mean anything more, please be clear. Are we breaking up by the sheer weight of our own folly or worse? You must give yourself a moment's leisure and think out where we are drifting to. Don't say you have no time. I want to go away tomorrow or as early as I can consistently with the business here.

Love.

BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 2069

113. A LETTER¹

Monday [May 16, 1938]²

The violence that I see running through speeches and writings, the corruption and selfishness among Congressmen, and the petty bickerings fill one with dismay. In the midst of this, we who know must be unyielding and apply the golden rule of non-co-operation.

Harijan, 21-5-1938

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Weekly Letter". The addressee has not been identified in the source.

² Monday prior to May 21 fell on May 16.

114. LETTER TO KASTURBA GANDHI

JUHU,
May 16, 1938

BA,

How could I expect any letter from you? There was no need for you to write when you were with Jamnatalji. I am all right. Kanti and Saraswati are here. Most probably they will go to Matunga. We shall be leaving for Wardha on 17th or 18th. It would be better if you went straight to Wardha. Devdas may perhaps go to Madras and take Lakshmi with him. He may have some relief from heat, too. If he should go to Dehra Dun, I feel that it would not be proper for him to stay there for more than a day or two. Pyarelal and Sushila are there in Delhi. Both of them or Pyarelal alone may perhaps accompany you. However, consult Devdas and do what you like. Manilal and Sushila also are here, and so is Rajagopalachari. He will go back to Madras in two or three days. Kanam must be fine.

Blessings from
BAPU

[From Gujarati]

Bapuna Banu Petro, p. 28

115. TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR

BOMBAY,
May 18, 1938

RAJKUMARI AMRIT KAUR
MANORVILLE
SIMLA W

HEALTH PASSABLE. CAN'T LEAVE BEFORE TWENTIETH.
DEJECTION DIMINISHING.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3863. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7019

116. RESOLUTION ON MYSORE SETTLEMENT¹

[May 18, 1938]²

The Working Committee has read the popular and official versions of the recent firing that took place near Vidhuraswatham in Mysore on an unarmed crowd. The Committee deplores the fact that the State authorities felt called upon to resort to firing. On seeing that the Mysore Government has appointed a tribunal to inquire into the causes that led to the firing, the Working Committee refrains from expressing any opinion on the tragedy. But the Working Committee thinks that H. H. the Maharaja should establish responsible government in his State so that the responsibility for law and order including firing, whenever it is deemed necessary, will be shouldered by a government answerable to the people. The Working Committee sends its condolences to the members of the bereaved families and expresses its sympathy with those who suffered injuries.

The Committee approves of the settlement³ effected by Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel and Acharya Kripalani as between the Mysore State and the Mysore State Congress. The Working Committee notes with satisfaction that in furtherance of the settlement the Mysore Government have issued a communique,⁴ and congratulates H. H. the Maharaja and his advisers on the prompt ¹ & ² According to The Bombay Chronicle, 19-5-1938, the resolution drafted by Gandhiji was discussed by the Working Committee on May 18 and passed the following day.

³ Vide footnote 3, pp. 77-8.

⁴ The communique of the Mysore Government dated May 17, stated that:

- (i) The Government would recognize the Mysore State Congress provided it co-operated with the Government in the task of constitutional reforms and carried on its activities in a peaceful and constitutional manner.
- (ii) The Government would add three new members selected by the Mysore State Congress on the committee on constitutional reforms.
- (iii) On all ceremonial occasions the Mysore flag and the flag of Indian National Congress would be hoisted.
- (iv) The Mysore State Congress would withdraw the civil disobedience and no-tax campaigns.
- (v) All the political prisoners would be released and the prohibitory orders withdrawn.

manner in which they are carrying out the settlement. The Working Committee hopes that the settlement will be strictly carried out also by the Mysore State Congress.

On the question of hoisting the national flag the Working Committee hopes that care will be taken not to do anything that may imply any disrespect to the State flag by the State Congress or the national flag by the State authorities.¹ The final status of the national flag will depend not upon the ability to exercise compulsion but upon the correct conduct of Congressmen and the progressive record of service that the Congress establishes in the country. It should further be borne in mind that the national flag is the symbol of non-violence and national unity to be brought about by means strictly truthful and non-violent. It should further be borne in mind that though there is a growing party among Congressmen who seeks the total abolition of States as a relic of the Middle Ages, the policy of the Congress as a whole has hitherto been and remains one of friendliness to the States in the hope that they will recognize the signs of the times and establish responsible government within their borders and otherwise extend and guard the liberty of the people under their jurisdiction.

Harijan, 21-5-1938

117. STATEMENT TO THE PRESS²

BOMBAY,
May 20, 1938

Sardar Prithvi Singh, who has been just taken in custody by the Collector of Bombay Suburban District, is a life-sentence prisoner in connection with what is known as the first Lahore Conspiracy Case of 1915. He served part of the sentence in the Andamans, and when as a result of public agitation that criminal settlement was closed, Sardar Prithvi Singh was transferred to Madras and then to Rajahmundry. There, having grown tired of jail life, he made two attempts to abscond. He succeeded in the second attempt in 1922, and has ever since succeeded in eluding the police. He is a self-made man. He is a leading revolutionary and for some time has been revising his views on armed revolution, and ultimately decided in consultation with his friends to surrender himself to me and be guided by me. After having had a full conversation with him, I decided to take charge of him, and told him that according to my view of life there could be no secrecy and voluntary surrender to authorities was in itself a service to the country. He recognized the force of my opinion. He came to me on the morning of the 18th, and I wrote to the District Magistrate on the 19th, informing him that Sardar Prithvi Singh had surrendered himself to me, and that I was about to put myself in communication with the Government of India with a view to securing his discharge, and that if the District Magistrate could not legally allow Sardar Prithvi Singh to remain with me, he was at liberty to take him into custody. The District Magistrate wrote to me to say that he had no authority to leave him free. He himself accompanied by the Superintendent of Police arrested him today at 1 p. m. at our residence at Juhu.¹

¹ The Hindu, 20-5-1938, carried the following report: "Mahatma Gandhi has instructed the Mysore State Congressmen to hoist first the Mysore State flag, that is, give precedence to the Mysore flag on all ceremonial occasions when they hoist the national flag, as a mark of their loyalty to the Ruler and in order to avoid any conflict."

² This was published under the title "A Fellow-Pilgrim",

I have been given to understand that he will be treated as an A-class prisoner. I had asked Sardar Prithvi Singh to write an account of his career. It is a thrilling romance. So far as I can see, he has not been guilty of anything of which he need be ashamed. He developed revolutionary ideas in Canada where he had migrated in his youth. He was witness to the illegal and shameful turning away of the Coma Gata Maru from the Canadian shore, and he and a band of Indian settlers in Canada decided to return to India and lead a revolution. After absconding he has evidently made himself useful to the nation in various ways. He is a very powerfully built Rajput. Five months of hunger-strike in the Andamans and injuries received, whether in scuffles with the police or in escaping from custody, have left no visible trace of weakness on his body. He became a first-class gymnastics teacher and studied the science of physical culture and the art of massage, and gave training in physical culture in many schools.

To seek the relief of the political prisoners has come to me in the later years of my life as a God-sent mission. To strive for the early discharge of Sardar Prithvi Singh is the latest addition to this mission. He tells me that he is endeavouring to examine the method of non-violence for the deliverance of the country. He says that many of his past revolutionary companions are thinking along these lines. He has no other aim in life but the freedom of India. I was so much taken up by the sincerity with which he talked to me that I had no difficulty in taking his word at its face value, and I should love to have men like him as fellow-pilgrims in the pilgrimage to the temple of freedom.

¹ Mahadev Desai in his "Weekly Letter", published in Harizon, 28-5-1938, commented: "Gandhiji was visibly moved as the Magistrate and the Police Superintendent bore him away, and after dictating the statement for the Press, said: 'It is people like these who can be true satyagrahis.'"

Harijan, 28-5-1938

118. INTERVIEW TO JAMES A. MILLS¹

JUHU,
[May 20, 1938]²

I hope to live to see India united and independent. When that day comes I hope to carry out the long-cherished wish of visiting America.

The Hindu, 23-5-1938

119. LETTER TO C. RAJAGOPALACHARI

SEGAON (WARDHA),
May 21, 1938

MY DEAR C. R.,

I had two hours and a half with friend Jinnah yesterday. The talk was cordial but not hopeful, yet not without hope. I must not enter into the details of the conversation, but he complained bitterly of Hindi having been imposed in particular areas of Madras in primary schools. What is exactly the position? Are Mussalman boys affected? Please send me as early a reply as possible and one that I could publicly use.

I had a long chat with Jawaharlal about the Communist Party. I think we understand each other better than before on this particular question. He says [in] the Communist Party's programme, there is no violence, there is no secrecy. Why should it [be] banned therefore as such? If any communist or party resorts to violence openly or secretly or incites to violence they must be dealt with not because of allegiance to a particular party, but because of violence. Thus the author of the writing that you showed me can clearly be dealt with under law, not because there is a ban on the Communist [Party] but because the writing itself has a criminal taint. Have you anything against this argument? If the ban is lifted, what will happen?

¹ & ² Special correspondent of the Associated Press of America, interviewed Gandhiji in Juhu just before his departure for Wardha on May 20.

I hope you have received the official reply from Subhas. It enables you to deal with your correspondent.

Love,

BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 2070

120. LETTER TO DR. N. B. KHARE

SEGAON via WARDHA,
May 21, 1938

DEAR DR. KHARE¹,

Though you are in trouble² I know you will not neglect the accompanying important newspaper article. As it professes to be authoritative it demands a reply. Will you kindly inquire and send a detailed reply in respect of each count in the indictment? How I wish Government will guide the forthcoming deliberations.³ It requires bravery of a high type to insist upon cleaning one's own house and putting it in order.

May I expect an early reply to the indictments? At the time of sending it, please return the newspaper.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

[PS.]

Newspaper separately posted.

Gandhi-Khare Papers, file No. 107, p. 1. Courtesy: National Archives of India

¹ Then Premier of the Central Provinces

² In the Central Provinces serious differences had arisen among the Ministers and three Ministers had resigned.

³ The reference is to the meeting of the C. P. Congress Assembly Party scheduled to be held at Pachmarhi on May 24, called by the Parliamentary Committee "to compose the differences that had arisen among the Ministers and investigate certain charges that had been brought to the notice of the Working Committee".

121. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

SEGAON,
May 22, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

A letter addressed to me at Calcutta in which you wrote about a young graduate, went from place to place and was received only yesterday. Your letter written on the train was duly received and was easily readable. And now has come yours of 19th.

I feel better and rested after reaching Segaoon. I want mental rest. The mind has been overworked. I can take that rest only here, so I find from experience.

The heat is no doubt trying. But I feel the joy of being a co-sharer with the other inmates. I propose presently to take daily silence for a few hours.

My weight was found to be 106 yesterday—not much of a loss for retaining the health I was able to keep.

Yes, the Mysore communique¹ was distinctly good. You must have liked the W. C. resolution². It was good you went to Mysore.

I shall gladly revise what you may send.

What do you say to my exploit about Prithvi Singh?

I must send you a copy of what happened between Jinnah and me. He is a very tough customer. If the other members of the League are of the same type a settlement is an impossibility. But there is a way out for a unilateral undertaking. Settlements cannot be unilateral. I do not know that a unilateral undertaking will not be in the prevailing atmosphere a better mode of handling the situation. But every attempt must be made to arrive at a mutual understanding.

I have not yet written to the Mirza. I shall do so in a day or two. As for myself you are right. You and others can help me only through prayer. I feel that the cloud is lifting. What is happening to make me feel easy, I do not know. And why should I worry? God's ways are mysterious.

¹ & ² Vide "Resolution on Mysore Settlement", pp. 87-8.

I had an hour's good chat with Jawaharlal on 19th. Your diagnosis is correct. The European visit will do him good. Of course he is at heart religious, though he denounces religion. He reads the Gita. He sports a Buddha head in his bedroom. Whatever he does and wherever he is, it is well with him.

Did I ever tell you that I did not deliver your letter to Jinnah? I did not like it. It should have made no mention of me but should have confined itself to the question itself. But it does not matter.

How are you doing? What about the eczema? And the throat?

Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3629. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 6438

122. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR¹

SEGAON,
May 23, 1938

I have your wire. I await letter. Love.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3864. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7020

123. LETTER TO JAMNALAL BAJAJ

May 23, 1938

CHI. JAMNALAL,

There is a wire from Gosibehn. She has lost her mother. I have sent a wire. You may send a wire or write a letter.

I hope Rajendra Babu is cheerful. Please let me know the temperature if anybody is coming this way.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 2991

¹ This is in the form of a postscript to Mirabehn's letter to the addressee.

124. LETTER TO SHANTIKUMAR N. MORARJEE

SEGAON, WARDHA,
May 23, 1938

CHI. SHANTIKUMAR,

I could reach your letter only today. May you live long and grow in your devotion to duty day by day.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 4727. Courtesy: Shantikumar N. Morarjee

125. NOTE TO JAMNALAL BAJAJ

[1.30 p.m. Monday, May 23, 1938]¹

You have not to say anything. There is no need to take Jajuji. You have to go and sit there². You should join in when you can contribute something. Otherwise remain silent. I have no doubt that it is your duty to go there. If the corruption cannot be removed you will have to leave the Provincial Committee³.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 2992

¹ Supplied by the addressee in Pancham Patrake Bapake Ashirvad, p. 196

² At the meeting of the C. P. Congress Assembly Party which was to be held at Pachmarhi on May 24; vide footnote 3, p. 91.

³ Nagpur Provincial Congress Committee, of which the addressee was President

126. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

SEGAON,
May 24, 1938

CHL. VIJAYA,

So, learn a lesson now, that wherever we are we must not eat food that does not agree with us. When will you build up your health and be your old self again? If you prefer Amritlal to look after you, then keep him and send A. S. back. Anyhow, get well quickly.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7084. Also C.W. 4576. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

127. LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU

SEGAON, WARDHA,
May 26, 1938

MY DEAR JAWAHARLAL,

How very business-like and prompt you are! I am so glad you were able to go into the Gurgaon D.C.C.'s affairs. I hope your advice will be accepted by both parties, as it should be.

Today I have your letter about my notes of my talks with Jinnah.¹ I think my second talk with him was inevitable. I hope it won't do any harm. If you have time I would like you to give me a line about Jal after you have seen him. How I wish you will give yourself rest during your European tour and not rush as you have been doing here all the time.

Love.

BAPU

A Bunch of Old Letters, p. 279

¹ Vide "Letter to Jawaharlal Nehru", p. 56.

128. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

May 26, 1938

CHL. VIJAYA,

I learnt about your fever. Don't be disheartened. Everything will be all right.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7081. Also C.W. 4573. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

129. LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM

May 26, 1938

DEAR DAUGHTER,¹

I am well. Sharda is looking after me well. Now you have to keep Vijaya there. Her temperature should come down.

I expect you have made proper arrangements for your food.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 399

130. LETTER TO KHWAJA NAZIMUDDIN

MAGANWADI, WARDHA,
May 27, 1938

DEAR KHWAJA SAHEB,

I thank you for your exhaustive reply of the 24th instant.² Evidently my position has been misunderstood. I do not wish to suggest that my judgment or that of the Congress is to be made subservient to the opinion of the convicts, but before I could come to a final judgment, it would be necessary for me in the interest of the common cause itself to sound the prisoners' mind. If I had not, subject to confirmation after an examination of details, come to the preliminary conclusion that the solution suggested by the Bengal Government might be worthy of acceptance, I could not have thought of any interview with the prisoners. My idea is, after deeper examination of the solution, to convince the prisoners of the desirability of its acceptance. Before, therefore, I can finally accept the solution suggested, I hold it to be necessary to take the prisoners into confidence. I hope that you will agree with this opinion, for the sake, as I have already said, of the common purpose, viz., to ensure peace so far as this ticklish question of prisoners' release is concerned.

¹ This is in Urdu.

² The addressee in his letter had said that Gandhiji's suggestion that the proposals for release of political prisoners and detenus should first be discussed with the convicts would promote misunderstanding both among the prisoners and the public.

I take it that the question of detenus has been satisfactorily settled. I would appreciate a line as to how the matter stands.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

The Hindustan Times, 4-10-1938; also C.W. 9925

131. LETTER TO PRABHAVATI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
May 27, 1938

CHI. PRABHA,

Kanti, Kanu and I wrote to you around the 15th. How are we to blame if you didn't get the letters?

Please continue to write to me. I am all right. A meeting is going on here just now. Kanti and Saraswati left for Trivandrum yesterday. Ba arrived from Delhi yesterday. The rest, after I hear from you.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 3514

132. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

SEVAGRAM,
May 27, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

What reply did you give Vinoba? Where did you catch the illness? But what has happened has happened. Now get well soon and return here. We shall forget the past.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7082. Also C.W. 4574: Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

133. LETTER TO SUBHAS CHANDRA BOSE

[About May 27, 1938]¹

DEAR SUBHAS BABU,

This is Shri Dayal Singh. He says he is in search of national service. I have told him I have . . .²

From a copy: C.W. 4575. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

134. FOREWORD TO "BASIC NATIONAL EDUCATION"

SEGAON, WARDHA,
May 28, 1938

The fact that the first one thousand copies of this pamphlet have been sold out shows that what Dr. Zakir Husain and his committee have called Basic National Education is exciting fair interest in India and outside. A more correct though much less attractive description would be Rural National Education through village handicrafts. 'Rural' excludes the so-called higher or English education. 'National' at present connotes truth and non-violence. And 'through village handicrafts' means that the framers of the scheme expect the teachers to educate village children in their villages so as to draw out all their faculties through some selected village handicrafts in an atmosphere free from superimposed restrictions and interference. Thus considered, the scheme is a revolution in the education of village children. It is in no sense an importation from the West. If the reader bears this fact in mind he will be better able to follow the scheme to the preparation of which some of the best educationists have given their undivided attention.

¹ This is written on the reverse of the preceding item.

² The letter is incomplete.

M. K. GANDHI

Basic National Education

135. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

May 28, 1938

CHL. VIJAYA,

Today I am sending A. S. You must carefully follow all the instructions of the doctor. It is your duty to get back your health quickly. I have written today to Naranbhai and Manubhai.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7085. Also C.W. 4577. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

136. LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM

May 28, 1938

CHL. A. S.,

I am comfortable. Vijaya has to stay there as long as the doctor does not allow her to move. If this is more than six days, I shall call you back.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

There is no reply from Jinnah.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 659

137. LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM

[After May 28, 1938]¹

CHI. A.S.,

I have your letter. You had better not damage your health. Bring Vijaya only when the doctor permits. You may come over if someone can stay there for a few hours. Vijaya should be given butter-milk only if she feels hungry. Bhansali-bhai can travel by car. So when Ba comes here, you may put him in the car or bring him in the car.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 631

138. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

May 29, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

I hope you are better today. I intend to replace A. S. tomorrow. I am thinking of sending Lilavati. If you have any suggestion to make, let me know.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7086. Also C.W. 4578. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

139. LETTER TO ANNAPURNA

SEGAON,
May 29, 1938

CHI. ANNAPURNA,

I have your letter. You don't mention how many years you have completed. How can I say, therefore, how old you have grown? I got your gift. Today I am wearing the *kuchcha*¹ made from your khadi. There is still room for improvement in your handwriting, though, of course, you have tried to write with greater care.

¹ Vide the preceding item.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 9424

140. LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM

May 29, 1938

DEAR DAUGHTER,²

The question of sending Lilavati arises only if Vijaya has to stay there long. If she is released tomorrow, nothing need be done.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 400

141. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

May 30, 1938

CHI. KRISHNACHANDRA,

I shall make no change in your time-table now. Talk less.

I shall release you from Sharda's tuition. I shall protect you. You have given me good warning.

Your food charges may well be met here. What you spend on books is too much. It would be good if you received books from home. Are you not satisfied with whatever books we have? Mahadev also has many books. You can look at them.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4292

¹ An article of underwear

² This is in Urdu.

142. CABLE TO AGATHA HARRISON¹

WARDHA,
[May 31, 1938]²

AGATHA HARRISON
2400 BATTERSEA
2 CRANBOURNE COURT
ALBERT BRIDGE RD., S. W. 1

BASELESS.

BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 1501

143. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

May 31, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I read your letter. Despatch my letter. I understand what you say. I have not failed to understand. Let me follow my own way for the present. I made my attitude clear only when I made up my mind. "One who has had the good fortune to see Rama has won all the three worlds." I see in this the boundless compassion of the Lord.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11596

¹ This was in reply to the addressee's cable which read: "Is rumour you contemplate visit here shortly correct? Cable."

² On the addressee's cable Amrit Kaur has noted: "Sent Tuesday, May 31, 1938, 7.30."

144. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

June 1, 1938

CHI. KRISHNACHANDRA,

Your questions are very pertinent. Our duty, as I understand it, is not to spend public funds and not to refuse the money which our relatives are willing to give us. However, if they give unwillingly and because they cannot help it, that money should be refused. You can judge for yourself in the present situation. If you consider it your duty not to take anything from there, then your expenses on food, dress, some little postage, etc., should be met from here. Now about books. If it is a matter of a rupee or two, I do not find any harm in taking that money from here. It would be desirable to consult me on such occasions.

I hope everything is clear now.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4293; also S.G. 63

145. LETTER TO DR. SYED MAHMUD

SEGAON, WARDHA,
June 2, 1938

DEAR SYED MAHMUD,

You are a long time coming. If you come now, I won't be able to provide for you even the comforts you would need for your health. You must now let the rainy season pass.

Hope your drive against illiteracy is making rapid progress.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

From the original: Syed Mahmud Papers. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library. Also G.N. 5111

146. LETTER TO E. RAGHAVENDRA RAO

SEGAON, WARDHA,
June 2, 1938

DEAR RAGHAVENDRA RAO,

I must thank you for your frank letter.¹ As you must have seen, such² of your objections as have force have been anticipated by the Working Committee. But it seems to me that you are judging a big institution by the shortcomings of individual members. The Congress has to be judged by its capacity of resistance to the foreign exploitation of the country. In that test I hope that even the present ministry won't be found wanting. I invite you to return to the Congress fold and fight impurity wherever you see it with all your might.³

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

From a facsimile: Madhya Pradesh aur Gandhiji, pp. 131-2

147. TO ASHRAM INMATES⁴

[June 2, 1938]⁵

... yesterday it became clear to me as day that it had been wrong on my part to forbid my co-workers to avail themselves, during my lifetime, of the freedom I had given myself. I cannot understand how I could have put up with it all these years. I feel my action was impelled by vanity and jealousy. If my experiment was dangerous, I should not have undertaken it. And if it was worth trying, I should have encouraged my co-workers to undertake it on my conditions. My experiment was a violation of the established norms of brahmacharya. Such a right can be enjoyed only by a saint like

¹ Vide "A Criticism", pp. 123-5.

² The source has "so much".

³ Vide also "Letter to E. Raghavendra Rao", p. 112.

⁴ This was quoted by Balkrishna Bhawe in his letter to Gandhiji dated 5-9-1944 as part of a confidential circular that had been addressed to Ashram inmates by Gandhiji in 1938.

⁵ Vide "Letter to Chhaganlal Joshi", pp. 132-3.

Shukadevji who can remain pure in thought, word and deed at all times of day. Having thus deliberated, I arrived at the decision yesterday.

I feel that my experiments were responsible for the bitter experiences of Dahyabhai and others at Sabarmati. Who can say for how many more such moral lapses my conduct has not been responsible?

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 811. Courtesy: Balkrishna Bhavé

148. LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR

June 3, 1938

CHI. LILAVATI,

I have your letter. You will understand everything by and by. Have patience for the present.

Don't run away from there in haste. Stay on till Durga has completely recovered. Here Kanchan is looking after everything quite well. The bread she makes is also quite good.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 9372. Also C.W. 6647. Courtesy: Lilavati Asar

149. LETTER TO VIPIN D. PATEL¹

SEGAON, WARDHA,
June 3, 1938

CHI. BABA,

I got your letter only today. How old will you be on your next birthday? Why did you forget to write that? And shouldn't one who asks for blessings give something in return? What will you give? What new thing will you do in the new year?

Blessings from
BAPU

[From Gujarati]

Bapuna Patro-4: Manibehn Patela, p. 162

¹ Grandson of Vallabhbhai Patel

150. LETTER TO MUNNALAL G. SHAH

SEGAON,

June 4, 1938

CHI. MUNNALAL,

That my ideal is Shukadevji does not mean that I should like to have a face like his, to sleep, sit and eat like him and go to the Himalayas as he did. It only means that I should like to cultivate brahmacharya like his. And if you say that this can't be the ideal of one who wishes to live and serve in this world or that it cannot be attained by such a one, then brahmacharya like Shukadevji's is of little value. A perfect brahmachari should remain unaffected by passion in any circumstances. If you say that nobody has ever been, and nobody will ever be, able to cultivate such freedom from passion, then it means that we should abandon the struggle to cultivate brahmacharya. If this is correct, then it follows that one can never cultivate perfect ahimsa.

I am alarmed, or was, by my experience¹ because I was at a loss to know what to do. Now that I know, the reason for alarm has disappeared. Saying that I know does not mean, either, that physical contact with women was one of the causes or the only cause of my painful experience. But this has become clear to me as day that I should not have done what I was not prepared to tolerate in others. Now that I have given up the practice I shall discover whether it was physical contact with women that was obstructing my progress or whether there was some other cause. Hence, for fully assessing the result of the experiment of refraining from physical contact with women, I must avoid such contact completely, for the present at any rate. There is no question here of more or less contact.

I hope you will understand everything from this.

Blessings from

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8574. Also G.W. 7028. Courtesy: Munnalal G. Shah

¹ Vide "Letter to Amritlal T. Nanavati", p. 58.

151. LETTER TO MANILAL GANDHI

Unrevised

SEGAON, WARDHA,

June 5, 1938

GHI, MANILAL,

You will be leaving on Wednesday. You came but I feel as if you had not come at all. We had long enough conversations but I can't say that we talked at leisure. But, then where do I have such a thing as leisure? Whatever decision you take, do it calmly. If you can keep [Indian] Opinion going, do so. But remember the meaning of keeping it going, which I explained to you. I would not consider it being kept going if it is done through advertisements. This does not mean that you should now stop accepting advertisements. But it would be pitiable for the journal to be kept going on advertisements. Advertisements should be used for increasing the profits or for reducing the subscription rate. In the case of pice-newspapers a pice would not help to meet even the cost of the newsprint. But because they get advertisements they are able to reach lakhs of readers by charging a nominal price. If we accept the policy of taking in advertisements we can justify it only in this way. The royal road for you, therefore, is that you should divide the total expenditure by the number of prospective subscribers and fix that figure as the subscription rate from the very beginning. If you don't get subscribers at that rate, then you should conclude that I. O. should be closed down. The rest you know. If you want to earn, settle down there. I won't consider that objectionable. If you wish to return to India, you should be content with whatever you get and decide to devote yourself to public service. Please treat all this as no more than my advice and do what you yourself wish.

Have an amicable talk with Kallenbach.

Don't carry with you any worries about Sushila and the children. Vijayalakshmi and Nanabhai are there to look after them. They will stay in Akola as long as they wish and then come here. You should also know that what the children will acquire in India in the ordinary course from the surrounding atmosphere they cannot acquire in a foreign country, despite all our efforts. You need not, therefore, worry about the children's education either. Sushila should come to Segaoon early, because most probably I shall be in the Frontier Province in October. And I can't say how long I shall be there. My health is all right. Pyarelal and Sushila are still in Delhi. Maybe they will come after a few days. Don't be lazy in writing letters.

If my message¹ has not been sent already, it will be enclosed with this. Please give it to Ramdas. The enclosed letter² is for Ramdas.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 4871

152. LETTER TO PREMABEHN KANTAK

June 5, 1938

CHI. PREMA,

How silly you are! What a long letter you write when you should have just said: 'I want five rupees every month; please send the amount.'³ Now say how you want me to make the remittance? Shall I send it by money order or in any other way I like? Shall I send the sum every month or every three or four months together?

I have no time to write more. I have torn up your letter.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10394. Also C.W. 6833. Courtesy: Premabehn Kantak

¹ Vide "Message to Indians in South Africa", p. 109.

² This is not traceable.

³ The addressee wanted this amount to meet her personal expenses.

153. LETTER TO MANILAL GANDHI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
[June 6, 1938]¹

CHI. MANILAL,

I forgot yesterday to enclose a letter for Kanam. Here it is. I am sending the message² also. I had almost forgotten about it.

Don't worry about me. You are bound to feel the pain of separation, but you should bear it.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 4874

154. MESSAGE TO INDIANS IN SOUTH AFRICA

SEGAON,
June 6, 1938

I can give only one message to the Indians in South Africa. We shall never be able to preserve our self-respect in South Africa without self-sacrifice. There can be no such distinctions as Hindus, Muslims, Christians, Madrasis, Gujaratis or Punjabis.

M. K. GANDHI

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 4872

155. TO SEGAON WORKERS

June 6, 1938

The manager should copy out whatever I write herein and read it out to the others. This note-book should always be kept in front of me.

* * *

I have been asked if there are any rules here about anything. There are. For when winding up Sabarmati Ashram

¹ & ² Vide the following item.

I had said that we would from then on be a mobile Ashram and carry with us wherever we went Ashram life and Ashram rules. Prayers, etc., thus stay as before as also the hour of rising. We may certainly introduce changes, excepting in principles, according as circumstances may warrant, as has been done here. We deliberately employ Harijan servants, because we want to serve the Harijans. But though we employ them as servants we have to treat them as our brothers.

Therefore we must do even menial work that we can do ourselves. If we cannot do some particular work ourselves we may have it done by others. Only work that even others cannot do may we ask Harijans to do.

From Hindi: C.W. 4674; also G.N. 6866

156. LETTER TO ATULANAND CHAKRABARTY

SEGAON, WARDHA,
June 8, 1938

MY DEAR ATULANAND,

I have not been able to overtake your letter of 20th May earlier. Yours of 22nd April I saw only today. The reason for this delay you know.

About the year-book, you have to do what Subhas Babu suggests. I may not, and must not take the lead. I can't issue invitations. The thing has got to be taken up by the Congress. What I said was that an accurate year-book would supply a felt want. It is not the work of any single individual, but you can make yourself responsible for it as editor if the Congress would entrust the work to you.

I am glad that you have dropped the idea of the monthly journal.

I hope your daughter is fully restored.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

From a photostat: C.W. 1479. Courtesy: A. K. Sen

157. LETTER TO KHWAJA NAZIMUDDIN

SEGAON, WARDHA,
June 9, 1938

DEAR KHWAJA SAHEB,

I am grateful for your letter of the 1st inst. If you will please refer again to my letter of 27th ultimo, you will find that the sentence referring to deeper conviction has been wholly misunderstood. You will see that it does not bear the meaning you have put upon it. It is clear from the context that if, after deeper examination of the solution suggested by the Government,¹ I should find it acceptable, I would like to convince the prisoners of the desirability of their acceptance. For deeper examination I must have more material, which is lacking and which I am seeking from you and other sources. If, before I or Sarat Babu or Subhas Babu went to the prisoners, we all three came to the conclusion that the Government's was a sound offer, I for one should stand by it, even if I failed to get the prisoners' acquiescence, unless they could convince me of the error of my judgment. I must however inform you that my deeper study is shaking my belief in the workability of the solution offered by the Government. Naturally I must weigh every solution in the scales I have set up for my guidance, and on the basis of which I submitted my propositions to you before leaving Calcutta. I do not mind through what formula or through what machinery the object of securing the release of every prisoner inside of one year or thereabouts is attained.

With reference to the detenus and the State prisoners I remember the paragraph you refer to in your letter of 17th April. I did not raise any objection to it, although I felt it to be a new introduction, because I had hoped that an early solution of the prisoners' question would be reached. I venture to remind you that in the very beginning of the conversations it was agreed that the detenus and the prisoners who were incarcerated without trial were to be separately considered from the convicted prisoners. In my opinion it would be a grave injustice if the discharge of the detenus and State prisoners is to be made contingent upon an agreed solution of the question affecting convicted prisoners.

¹ For the scheme proposed by the Government for the release of political prisoners, vide Appendix II.

May I also remind you that the policy about detenus has been already made public by you? It would be a thousand pities, therefore, if the release of detenus and State prisoners were delayed or indefinitely postponed because of the possible breakdown of the negotiations for the release of convicted prisoners.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

From a copy: C.W. 9927

158. LETTER TO E. RAGHAVENDRA RAO

SEGAON, WARDHA,
June 10, 1938

DEAR RAGHAVENDRA RAO,

I have your letter of 6th inst. Mahadev has already asked you to send a copy of your first letter.¹ I want to work at it without in any way disclosing your name.² All I wish to say at this stage is that you should send facts and figures to support your conclusions.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

From a facsimile: Madhya Pradesh aur Gandhiji, p. 130

159. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

June 10, 1938

CHL. KRISHNACHANDRA,

Women may well be there, but I must nevertheless have a man by me. Whether I want support or not is not the question. I am trying to do without it but how can I say when I may have to have it?

I shall see about the massage. Sushilabehn knows every nerve and tissue of the body. That is why even she does not dare to give it up too soon. You should learn how to massage by practising it on Kanu.

¹ Vide also "Letter to E. Raghavendra Rao", p. 104.

² Vide "A Criticism", pp. 123-5.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4294; also S.G. 64

160. TALKS ON VOCATIONAL EDUCATION¹

[Before June 11, 1938]

I had long been impressed with the necessity for a new departure as I knew the failure modern education had been through the numerous students who came to see me on my return from South Africa. So I started with the introduction of training in handicrafts in the Ashram school. In fact an extra emphasis was placed on manual training, with the result that the children soon got tired of the manual training and thought that they had been deprived of literary training. There they were wrong, for even the little that they gained was more than children ordinarily get in the orthodox schools. But that set me thinking, and I came to the conclusion that not vocation cum literary training, but literary training through vocational training was the thing. Then vocational training would cease to be a drudgery and literary training would have a new content and new usefulness. The acceptance of office by the Congress prompted me to place the thought before the nation, and I am glad that it was welcomed in many quarters.

English we decided to taboo, because we knew that most of the time of the children was taken up with memorizing English words and phrases, and even then they could not put in their own language what they had learnt, and could not properly follow what the teacher taught them. On the other hand they forgot their own language by sheer neglect. Education through vocational training seemed to be the only way to avoid both these evils.

I should make a start on the first day with finding out the calibre of the boys—whether they know any reading and writing, any geography, and then start with trying to add to their equipment through the introduction of the takli.

Now you might well ask me why I picked up the takli out of the many other existing handicrafts. Because takli was one of the first crafts that we found out and which has subsisted through the ages. In the earliest ages all our cloth used to be made of takli yarn. The spinning-wheel came later, and [as] the finest counts could not be produced on the spinning-wheel, one had to go back to the takli. In devising the takli man's inventive genius reached a height that had not been reached before. The cunning of the fingers was put to the best possible use. But as the takli was confined to the artisans who were never educated, it fell into disuse. If we want to revive it today in all its glory, if we are to revive and reconstruct the village life, we must begin the education of children with the takli. My next lesson would therefore be to teach the boys the place the takli used to occupy in our daily life. Next I would take them into a little history and teach them how it declined. Then would follow a brief course in Indian history, starting from the East India Company, or even earlier from the Muslim period, giving them a detailed account of the exploitation that was the stock in trade of the East India Company, how by a systematic process our main handicraft was strangled and ultimately killed. Next would follow a brief course in mechanics—construction of the takli. It must have originally consisted of a small ball of clay or even wet flour dried on to a bamboo splinter running through its centre. This has still survived in some parts of Bihar and Bengal. Then a brick disc took the place of the clay ball and then in our times iron or steel and brass have taken the place of the brick disc and a steel wire the place of the splinter. Even here one might expatiate with profit on the size of the disc and the wire, why it is of a particular size and why not more or less. Next would follow a few lectures on cotton, its habitat, its varieties, the countries and the provinces of India where it is at present grown and so on. Again some knowledge about its cultivation, the soil best suited for it, and so on. That would make us launch into a little agriculture.

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Education through Vocation—A Synthesis". Desai does not say when or where the talks were delivered.

You will see that this takes a fund of assimilated knowledge on the part of the teacher before he can impart it to his pupils. The whole of elementary arithmetic can be taught through the counting of yards of spinning, finding out the count of yarn, making up of hanks, getting it ready for the weaver, the number of cross-threads in the warp to be put in for particular textures of cloth and so on. Every process from the growing of cotton to the manufacture of the finished product—cotton picking, ginning, carding, spinning, sizing, weaving—all would have their mechanics and history and mathematics correlated to them.

The principal idea is to impart the whole education of the body and the mind and the soul through the handicraft that is taught to the children. You have to draw out all that is in the child through teaching all the processes of the handicraft, and all your lessons in history, geography, arithmetic will be related to the craft.

If such education is given, the direct result will be that it will be self-supporting. But the test of success is not its self-supporting character, but that the whole man has been drawn out through the teaching of the handicraft in a scientific manner. In fact I would reject a teacher who would promise to make it self-supporting under any circumstances. The self-supporting part will be the logical corollary of the fact that the pupil has learnt the use of every one of his faculties. If a boy who works at a handicraft for three hours a day will surely earn his keep, how much more a boy who adds to the work a development of his mind and soul!

Harijan, 11-6-1938

161. LETTER TO JAMNALAL BAJAJ

SEGAON, WARDHA,
June 11, 1938

GHI. JAMNALAL,

I saw your letter¹ addressed to Mahadev. I can understand your pain. I hope the step I have taken will help to lighten your pain to some extent. I have drafted a statement² in English for newspapers, but I have not as yet published it. Your suggestion is certainly worth thinking over. My temperament inclined me to another course. I experience greater peace when I make such things public. The fear mentioned in your letter is based on practical considerations. I don't feel that I have lost the strength to stick to a step which I may have decided to take deliberately and as a matter of dharma. However, I won't publish the statement in a hurry. Even though I am putting it off, for non-Gujarati readers there must be a statement in English similar to the one in Gujarati.

¹ Not traceable. It had referred to the adverse comments by some of the Ashram inmates on Gandhiji's practice of resting his hands on shoulders of girls during his walks and his decision to give up the practice.

² Gandhiji had written an article on his decision for Harijan but it was never published as some of the Ashram inmates did not approve of making Gandhiji's decision a public affair.

I got the news yesterday through Gordhandas about Savitri¹ having given birth to a son. I am writing a few lines on a post-card to Lakshmanprasad².

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 2993

162. LETTER TO BALWANTSINHA

SEGAON,
June 11, 1938

GHI. BALWANTSINHA,

Your letter is extremely good. It is pure. Your doubts are pertinent, even your fear is relevant and your caution is quite welcome.

The vow³ of 1935 was worded in English, I had not seen the Gujarati or the Hindi translation. The purport of the original English is that I renounce the practice of placing my hands on the shoulders of women. I did not feel then that there was anything wrong about it, nor do I now. I gave up the practice only for the sake of public good. My heart never took it to mean that I would never place my hand on the shoulder of any girl whatsoever. I have no recollection of the particular girl with whom the practice was resumed in Segaoon. But I do recollect that I fully remembered my vow of 1935 when I placed my hand on her shoulder. Possibly I could not resist her request, or maybe I needed her support. I cannot of course say that the support became necessary because of my weak state for had that been the case I could have had the support of some man so as to keep the vow inviolate. But my vow never had such a wide meaning, at least for me. From the very beginning I have regarded Sushilabehn in the same way as Ba, as an exception. My tender feelings are to account for that too. I would like to give up physical contact even with these two if it were possible, but I have no desire to do so at the cost of the deep hurt which I would be causing them while my heart feels no sin in the contact of these two. I took the decision only after much discussion with the girls here, after some laughter and some cajoling. I have caused Ba much pain. I still occasionally do, but I have no courage nor any desire to inflict any further pain on her. Sushila has observed brahmacharya since childhood but her observance does not include the exclusion of innocent contact with men. Pyarelal too is a brahmachari and one of the reasons for his joining me is that I do not advocate total avoidance of innocent contact between the two sexes and I have had a certain measure of success in this. Once I intended to give up all personal services from Sushila but within twelve hours my soft-heartedness had put an end to the intention. I could not bear the tears of Sushila and the fainting away of Prabhavati. I did not even want to. It is these brothers and sisters that my decision has affected most and that is why I summoned them by wire. I want their sincere co-operation in my present task. Sushila has been present in the bathroom while I have bathed in the nude and in her absence Ba or Prabhavati or Lilavati have attended on me. But I see nothing wrong in it. It was necessary for someone to be there. I could call a male co-worker, too. Pyarelal has been in attendance occasionally but I have never felt any embarrassment in being seen naked by a woman. Still it would have to be a woman whose relations with me cannot come under any kind of suspicion.

¹ Addressee's daughter-in-law

² Savitri's father. The letter is not traceable.

³ Vid. Vol. LXI, "A Renunciation", pp. 436-7.

Now for its implementation. As soon as I put my decision into practice the discussions arose. During the first round of discussions I started acting upon the decision the very next day though the step was to be taken only after 3-4 days. The discussions are inevitable as long as my mastery over the passions is incomplete, perhaps they are even necessary. Complete realization can be expressed best only through silence. Speech can never fully express thought. Ignorance denotes disorganization of thought which is why it needs the vehicle of speech. Thus you may take it for certain that the very necessity of any explanations and persuasions on my part proves my imperfection or proneness to passions. My claim is and has ever been very small. I am striving incessantly to have full control over my thoughts, i.e., to remain unaffected in every circumstance. I am quite vigilant but the outcome lies with God which fact relieves me of worry. Do write to me if some point has still not been covered or a new doubt arises.

I return your letter.

Blessings from
BAPU

163. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR¹

[About June 11, 1938]²

Your argument is welcome. I haven't the time for long argument with you.

S.³ is out of the picture. She must be an exception being a doctor. But your objection is sound in that even one woman vitiates the experiment. I am struggling to exclude Ba, too. S. has put herself out. She wouldn't have what others can't. Therefore she is training a male nurse.

You are again right in saying that even a woman's proximity, speech, look, letter, etc., may work the evil as her touch might. But I had to think of myself. If I scented danger then I must put out my eyes, rather than have the animal in me be aroused.

You miss the crucial point. It is not the woman who is to blame. I am the culprit. I must attain the required purity. This experiment is but a way to be tried.

The article has not gone to the press. It may never go though the prohibition is in force. You will put yourself wholly in the wrong if you avoid me because of my decision. If you were here I would convince you of the necessity of the decision, in spite of your finding flaws.

From the manuscript of Mahadev Desai's Diary. Courtesy: Narayan Desai

¹ She had written to Gandhiji regarding his decision to give up touching women.

² There is a reference in the text to the article not having gone to the press. There is a similar reference in the "Letter to Jammalal Bajaj", pp. 115-6, where Gandhiji says: "I won't publish the statement in a hurry." This letter therefore could have been written about June 11.

³ Dr. Sushila Nayyar

164. LETTER TO SUSHILA GANDHI

SEGAON,
June 12, 1938

CHI. SUSHILA,

I got your letter. It is a great crime to feel unhappy over a step which one may have taken as a matter of dharma. Therefore, forget the pain of separation. It is your duty to stay in Akola and mine to keep you there as long as your presence there is necessary for service. But if there is no such need, then stay in Akola long enough to satisfy Father and Mother and then come away here. Take care of your health, as also of the children's. If you have no special reason for being in Bombay, you may spend so much the more time in Akola.

Blessings from
BAPU

SHRI SUSHILABEHN GANDHI
C/O MASHRUWALA
TOPIWALA BUILDING

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 4875

165. FOR SEGAON WORKERS

June 12, 1938

I hope, if I keep well, to join in the takli-yajna daily.

This yajna is not obligatory for anyone but I think it essential for all inmates of the institution. Takli-yajna is a social and public yajna and the charkha has no place in it. Takli teaches us silent service. The millions can perform the yajna only through takli. The noise of the spinning-wheel is a distraction in the takli-yajna. So those who understand its worth may ply the takli exclusively.

The room we sit in is not arranged properly. Quite a few things there are superfluous. They should be removed after due examination. The case lying near my seat is quite out of place. Everything can be accommodated on the box. Our possessions should be the very minimum. We should remember that non-possession is one of the eleven vows.

BAPU

From the Hindi: C.W. 4674

166. LETTER TO PRITHVISINGH

MAGANWADI,
WARDHA, C. P.,
June 13, 1938

DEAR PRITHVISINGH,

I was delighted to have your letter and am happy to learn that you are quite comfortable there.

You have rightly asked me how a prisoner wishing to observe truth and non-violence should behave in prison. Your present behaviour is quite commendable, but let me put down here a few principles:

(1) A votary of truth and non-violence may have nothing secret.

(2) He will observe all the jail regulations cheerfully.

(3) He may invite the attention of the authorities to such rules as may appear to him to be improper or hard.

(4) He has a right, and it may be even his duty, to disobey such rules as may offend his self-respect. But it is his duty first to make a representation to the authorities in respect of these rules, and he may disobey them holding himself ready to suffer the consequences only after he has failed to obtain redress.

(5) Such a prisoner will never regard himself in any way superior to the rest, and will never agitate to secure facilities which are denied to others.

(6) Such a prisoner will regard the prison as a temple of freedom, and will therefore work for the development of his mind and his soul by serious study and thinking. He will not waste a single minute.

(7) Such a prisoner will regard all jail labour as his own work and will perform it with the same devotion. He will seize every opportunity to learn a new calling.

(8) Such a prisoner will always think of God, will never give himself up to despair, and will cheerfully put up with all hardships and sufferings.

What more can I say? I know you will fill in the details.

I am in correspondence with the authorities regarding your release. The result is in God's hands.

Do write whenever you can. I do get news about you from Shantilal and Jamnadas. Your father has been informed. I shall let you know when I have his reply.

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

167. TELEGRAM TO M. A. JINNAH¹

June 15, 1938

SURE PUBLICATION IS UNAUTHORIZED. BUT YOU MAY PUBLISH OUR CORRESPONDENCE.

GANDHI

Hindustan Times, 16-6-1938

168. LETTER TO JETHALAL G. SAMPAT

SEGAON, WARDHA,

June 16, 1938

BHAI JETHALAL,

Parnerkar explained to me all about your dairy activities. But what he told me about ghee, etc., was not at all encouraging. But his information was nine months old. What is the present position? He also told me that the dairy would need a capital of seven thousand rupees for running it efficiently. From where are we to get that? And even if it were found, one cannot be sure about any very big result being produced. You must, therefore, learn the art of being self-supporting with whatever is available. What are the activities at present?

Blessings from
BAPU

From Gujarati: C.W. 9865. Courtesy: Narayan J. Sampat

¹ This was in reply to the addressee's telegram of June 14 saying: "Publication correspondence Jawaharlal and myself is breach of confidence. Seems leakage is from Congress circles. I must release fully now your correspondence along with the rest. Hope you agree."

169. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

SEGAON, WARDHA,
June 17, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

I have never liked the idea of our women seeking foreign aid in their fight for freedom. Hence I do not want the League¹ to inquire into the position or condition of India's women. This kind of propaganda turns their attention from themselves. Their fight is not even against India's men. It is and must [be] among and against themselves. I have never relished the fight put up for women at the Round Table Conference. Such being my radical views you can understand my indifference to what the League does or does not do. But if I have to examine their viewpoint, I refuse to read colour prejudice where there are other cogent reasons to justify a particular course of action. I wonder if this is plain to you. You may not agree just yet, though you will in the end. For I am quite sure of my ground. The women in S. A. rose at a bound by their own action. And have [not] they, the village women, done likewise even here?

I had a long chat with Asha Lata about Parkinson's note. I think she has grasped my point.

Love.

-TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3865. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7021

170. DISCUSSION WITH KALIDAS NAG²

[Before June 18, 1938]

KALIDAS NAG: Wherever I have been . . . non-violence is the question of questions. But it is just a question or a matter of doubt. . . . But . . . has not Buddhism been responsible for widespread emasculation? And whatever may be the potency of non-violence, is it not impossible as a weapon of defence?

¹ Women's International League for Peace and Freedom

² Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Weekly Letter". Kalidas Nag had visited many foreign countries on cultural missions. This time he was going to Australia. On his way to Calcutta to board a ship, he stopped at Wardha to meet Gandhiji.

GANDHIJI: Do you want me to answer these questions or did you reply to them?

K. N. I have been replying to them after my own historical fashion, but I want you to answer them, for yours will be authentic answers. . . .

G. Well, the answer is being given in India in actual practice. It is no use citing the example of China and Japan. India is the only place where if an answer must come can come. Experience here is quite encouraging. Intellectually of course even many people in the West have come to recognize the futility of violence and begun to ask if non-violence may not after all be worth a trial. Dr. Stanley Jones has sent me a copy of his recent article, "Gandhian Solution of the Chinese Trouble"—and he has seriously discussed various forms of non-co-operation that may be successfully adopted. There was time when Dr. Jones had not much belief in non-co-operation, but he now seriously suggests it as a non-violent solution, and has pressed me to go to Europe to preach peace. But so long as my mission in India remains unfulfilled, my visit to the West on a peace mission must be a vain effort. Whilst it is true that non-violence has made much headway in India, it is not of much value to an outsider and a critic at that.

K. N. What you say, Mahatmaji, is quite correct, viz., that the answer is being given, and if it is really given on such a scale as the size of our country it will be most effective. For their acceptance—even intellectual—of non-violence and non-co-operation is in a spirit of condescension.

G. It is impossible that a thing essentially of the soul can ever be imparted through the intellect. It is just like trying to impart faith in God through the intellect. It cannot be as it is essentially a matter of the heart. Faith can be turned into knowledge by experience, and it can come only through the heart and not the intellect. The intellect, if anything, acts as a barrier in matters of faith.

Harijan, 18-6-1938

171. A CRITICISM

A C. P. correspondent sends me a bitter letter criticizing the C. P. Ministry.¹ I condense it below toning down the bitterest part:

¹ Vide "Letter to E. Raghavendra Rao", p. 104.

I have been wanting to write to you for some time but did not do so advisedly. I do so now as one interested in the good government of my province which, I take it, is also your adopted home for the rest of your life. We were led to believe that government by the representatives of the Congress would be so good as to escape calumny and be able to rule for all time merely by reason and by moral influence. But the main purpose of the Congress Ministry appears to us to be

- (a) to worship your idol in public and break it in secret;
- (b) to worship the symbols of Imperialism in secret and denounce them in public;
- (c) to play the malefactor towards their opponents whom they cannot conquer by truthful and legitimate methods;
- (d) to carry on a brisk traffic in legislation and public offices.

The government of a people cannot be run, as the Congress Ministers in the C. P. seem to imagine, by the common argument of promised boons and by corrupting the electorate with hope. During the past ten months your Ministers have left no stone unturned to shake the moral foundation of good government of this province. The Ministry and its component parts are honey-combed with intrigues and corruption. To sum up my conclusion, which I wish to convey to you, is that the Congress Party might have been deemed capable of governing had they never assumed power and responsibility. Next to assumption of power is the responsibility of relinquishing it. It is strange that your soul should not revolt against such a predatory Ministry for the creation of which the moral responsibility is entirely yours.

The Working Committee referred all the complaints against the Ministry to the Parliamentary Board which carried on an enquiry on the spot. Its report¹ is public property. The Congress is a wholly democratic organization with the widest possible franchise. The Working Committee is its mouthpiece and has to work within the limits prescribed for it by the Congress Constitution.

¹ The Parliamentary Board which held a joint meeting with the C. P. Congress Legislature Party and the three Provincial Congress Committee presidents from the C. P. examined the various charges against the C. P. Ministry, including some of corruption. In a statement Vallabhbhai Patel and Abul Kalam Azad declared that while the Committee found no evidence to substantiate the charges of corruption it found certain complaints "not without justification". For instance, raising from Rs. 15,000 to 1 lakh the limit of the Debt Conciliation Act and appointing undeserving persons to professorships in the University. They were glad to note among those concerned "a readiness to admit mistakes and make amends" and hoped that "under promise of prompt rectification all public criticism will cease."

It was open to the C. P. Congress representatives to demand resignation from the Ministers, but they did not. On the contrary they wanted the present Ministers to compose their difference and carry on the Government. The Parliamentary Board could not disregard the wishes of the representatives. It had no power to do so. But it did all it could to rid the Ministry of whatever shortcomings they had discovered. The Ministers, it must be admitted, offered no opposition to whatever the Board wanted to do. It now remains to be seen how the new arrangement works.

The point, however, that I wish to make is that the Working Committee does not hush up any evil that is found in the Congress organization. It is not afraid to impose discipline which is readily obeyed in most cases.

I wholly endorse the correspondent's proposition that the Congress can only rule "by reason and moral influence". He and critics like him may rest assured that the Congress will die a natural and deserved death if and when it substitutes reason and moral influence by goondalism.

One more point. The Congress is composed of ordinary mortals. They share the virtues and vices of the nation which they seek to represent. But after all is said and done, it will not be denied that it is the oldest political organization in the country, it is the most representative, it has drawn to itself the best talent in the country, it has the highest amount of sacrifice to its credit. Above all it is the one organization that has offered the greatest resistance to foreign rule and exploitation. Whilst all honest criticism is to be welcomed, I would like to remind the correspondent and other critics that it is open to them to join the Congress and criticize it from within and to try to rid it of all the removable limitations they may discover in it.

Harijan, 18-6-1938

172. QUALIFICATIONS OF A PEACE BRIGADE

Some time ago I suggested¹ the formation of a Peace Brigade whose members would risk their lives in dealing with riots, especially communal. The idea was that this Brigade should substitute the police and even the military. This reads ambitious. The achievement may prove impossible. Yet, if the Congress is to succeed in its non-violent struggle, it must develop the power to deal peacefully with such situations. Communal riots are engineered by politically minded men. Many of those who take part in them are under the influence of the latter. Surely it should not be beyond the wit of Congressmen to devise a method or methods of avoiding ugly communal situations by peaceful means. I say this irrespective of whether there is or there is not a communal pact. It cannot be that any party seeks to force a pact by violent means. Even if such a pact were a possibility, it would not be worth the paper on which it might be written. For behind such a pact there will be no common understanding. What is more, even after a pact is arrived at, it would be too much to expect that there would never be any communal riots.

¹ Vide Vol. LXVI, "Our Failure", pp. 405-7.

Let us therefore see what qualifications a member of the contemplated Peace Brigade should possess.

(1) He or she must have a living faith in non-violence. This is impossible without a living faith in God. A non-violent man can do nothing save by the power and grace of God. Without it he won't have the courage to die without anger, without fear and without retaliation. Such courage comes from the belief that God sits in the hearts of all and that there should be no fear in the presence of God. The knowledge of the omnipresence of God also means respect for the lives of even those who may be called opponents or goondas. This contemplated intervention is a process of stilling the fury of man when the brute in him gets the mastery over him.

(2) This messenger of peace must have equal regard for all the principal religions of the earth. Thus, if he is a Hindu, he will respect the other faiths current in India. He must therefore possess a knowledge of the general principles of the different faiths professed in the country.

(3) Generally speaking this work of peace can only be done by local men in their own localities.

(4) The work can be done singly or in groups. Therefore no one need wait for companions. Nevertheless one would naturally seek companions in one's own locality and form a local brigade.

(5) This messenger of peace will cultivate through personal service contacts with the people in his locality or chosen circle, so that, when he appears to deal with ugly situations, he does not descend upon the members of a riotous assembly as an utter stranger liable to be looked upon as a suspect or an unwelcome visitor.

(6) Needless to say, a peace-bringer must have a character beyond reproach and must be known for his strict impartiality.

(7) Generally there are previous warnings of coming storms. If these are known, the Peace Brigade will not wait till the conflagration breaks out but will try to handle the situation in anticipation.

(8) Whilst, if the movement spreads, it might be well if there are some whole-time workers, it is not absolutely necessary that there should be. The idea is to have as many good and true men and women as possible. These can be had only if volunteers are drawn from those who are engaged in various walks of life but have leisure enough to cultivate friendly relations with the people living in their circle and otherwise possess the qualifications required of a member of the Peace Brigade.

(9) There should be a distinctive dress worn by the members of the contemplated Brigade so that in course of time they will be recognized without the slightest difficulty.

These are but general suggestions. Each centre can work out its own constitution on the basis here suggested.

Lest false hopes may be raised, I must warn workers against entertaining the hope that I can play any active part in the formation of Peace Brigades. I have not the health, energy or time for it. I find it hard enough to cope with the tasks I dare not shirk. I can only guide and make suggestions through correspondence or these columns. Therefore let those who appreciate the idea and feel they have the ability, take the initiative themselves. I know that the proposed Brigade has great possibilities and that the idea behind it is quite capable of being worked out in practice.

Harijan, 18-6-1938

173. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

June 18, 1938

GHI. MAHADEV,

I am sending my two articles today. The one in Hindi should not be published. Publishing it may possibly harm Raja. What I have written below the Government note is enough for the present. Make a suggestion to Raja privately.

I am glad that you are training Babla. He should be fully satisfied. Please see that while he becomes proficient in English he does not forget Gujarati, Hindi or Sanskrit. Moreover, he should not feel that all that is worth knowing is in English and that everything else is trash.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11597

174. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

[Before June 20, 1938]¹

CHI. MAHADEV,

I hope you will be able to calm yourself now. Send a wire to Kanti as per enclosed draft. His ship is in mid-sea. "A thought for today" in today's Times deserves to be engraved in our hearts by us all. I have been reading the Dhammapada. It also is a book which can be of great help. The letters and articles are enclosed.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Details about blood-pressure will be given by Sushila. For Kanti: "Do come. Love. Bapu." I got your mail just now. I will now look into it. No note from you! Well, let it be so. I forgot about the blood-pressure. Today 164/102. Yesterday also it was the same. In between it had risen to 176/106.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11600

175. LETTER TO KOTWAL

SEGAON,
June 20, 1938

BHAI KOTWAL,

I don't seem to have got your precious letter. You should not remain unconcerned where Harijans are excluded. I feel that you can throw open the temple for Harijans if others co-operate with you. Somebody who knows the local law would be able to express a definite opinion.

¹ This was obviously written before "Letter to Prabhavati", 20-6-1938, in which Gandhiji says "Kanti is expected to come with Saraswati in a day or two."

You may come after the rains are over.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 3602

176. LETTER TO PRABHAVATI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
June 20, 1938

CHI. PRABHA,

I have not been able to write to you myself lately. But what is the use of writing? Do you ever stay at one place for any length of time? You do not seem to have got the letters that I wrote to you at Sewan. And then you complain that I don't write to you. Now tell me what I should do? At what address should I write so that you may get the letters without delay?

You worry too much. But the Gita says that one should never worry. One should endure everything. One may try to remedy things wherever possible but one may not worry if one's efforts fail. I can guide you further if you write frankly.

Sushila is here. She has been giving me her services. I have dictated to her one letter. Amtul Salaam also is here and of course Pyarelal too.

I am all right. My diet is practically the same as it was. I take walks as usual and also work well enough.

Harijanbandhu is sent to you regularly.

Do you get the food you need?

When may I expect you here? Kanti is expected to come with Saraswati in a day or two.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 3515

177. LETTER TO FULCHAND K. SHAH

SEGAON,
June 20, 1938

SHAI FULCHAND,

I got the letters of both of you. I have written to that gentleman. I will send the name if he permits. If he does not, why should we make any inquiry? There can be no inquiry about anything which is not supported by definite evidence. I hope you are completely restored.

Blessings from
BAPU

FULCHAND KASTURCHAND SHAH
KELAVANI MANDAL
WADHWAN CITY, KATHIAWAR

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 9200. Also C.W. 2853. Courtesy: Shardabehn Shah

178. LETTER TO PRABHAVATI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
[After June 20, 1938]¹

CHI. PRABHA,

You are unnecessarily suffering. My statement will not be published as drafted. And why should you be unhappy even if anything is published? You need not go anywhere for solitude. Your solitude is with me. Come as soon as you can. I don't like your worrying. Continue to write to me regularly. Don't be remiss about it. Come out with all your suffering and lighten your heart. Kanti has left Saraswati here. She cannot stay without Kanti now. Let us see what happens.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 3310

¹ From the reference to Saraswati's arrival. Gandhiji wrote to the addressee on June 20: "Kanti is expected to come with Saraswati in a day or two."

179. LETTER TO PRABHAVATI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
[After June 20, 1938]¹

CHI. PRABHA,

What an angry letter! Your anger is the result of your suffering. That you are not educated means that I didn't educate you. Isn't that so? I don't repent of that. It is possible that you may not be useful there. I have not trained you for the work there. I have trained you for public service. I have trained you for work with me. There is no work here for which you are not fit. You can live in the midst of all types of people. I wouldn't hesitate to send you anywhere. I have no fear that you might do something wrong. You have got the strength now even to mount the gallows with a smile on your face. What more would you like to be? If you wish to learn English, you may do that whenever you like. I can certainly teach you. Do come in September if you can. I cannot bear to see you unhappy. You have no cause for unhappiness at all. It is your duty to stay there for the present and serve Jayaprakash in whatever way you can. When you have no work with Father and when Jayaprakash can let you come, you will certainly come away, your place finally is here. Work is waiting for you here. What more do you wish? Why do you unnecessarily make yourself unhappy?

I am well. The blood-pressure is under control. Just now I am experimenting with a diet of milk, dates and lemons. I take mangoes when available. I seem to feel better with this. It is only the third day today.

Saraswati is here. Kanti is in Bangalore. Sushila and Pyarelal are still here. Kallenbach's sister-in-law has come. The place is crowded. There is hardly room even to stand. A takli-yajna is going on daily and I join in it. I feel very happy doing so.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 3311

¹ From the reference to Saraswati's presence in Segson, this letter seems to have been written about the same time as the preceding one.

180. DISCUSSION WITH DELEGATES FROM CONGRESS PROVINCES¹

WARDHA,
June 21, 1938

To questions from the Frontier delegate regarding the non-violence with special reference to foreign aggression, Mahatma Gandhi said that violence means a vicious circle of conquest and defeat. True freedom is only possible through non-violence and religion lives by non-violence.

Mahatma Gandhi further said that agriculture is not a craft dependent on social and political condition. Craft training is essential for Indian villages. A compact and a small area without previous schools and with national work as the background, is necessary for introducing the Wardha scheme which is primarily rural, and for urban areas the same principle with the necessary modifications.

The Bombay Chronicle, 22-6-1938

181. LETTER TO CHHAGANLAL JOSHI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
June 22, 1938

CHI. CHHAGANLAL,

I got your letter. Replies tend to get delayed.

The reasons which you have mentioned also may be responsible for the scene on the 14th.² But a great experiment can be carried out only by enlisting the support of those who are most likely to respond, and only thus can one discover truth. I can now clearly see that it was a fundamental error on my part to have deliberately excluded other co-workers from my experiment. I should have tried to get a class of workers who would be able to carry on the experiment in accordance with conditions laid down by me. My taking it upon myself, instead of finding such a class of workers, was the result of abysmal ignorance and certainly of conceit, too. In consequence, while I would not tolerate even the most trivial departure from the conditions by my co-workers, I myself committed the most serious blunders. This was the limit of intolerance. The small-mindedness implied in this attitude fills me with disgust for myself; but on the other hand the generosity displayed by all of you co-workers delights me with its sweet fragrance. This, in brief, is the truth.

¹ They had come for a fortnight's training as Educational Officers, under the Wardha Scheme of Education.

² File "Letter to Amritlal T. Nanavati", p. 58.

The new experiment¹ started on the 2nd. But it is only the beginning as yet. The ship has set sail and is slowly leaving port. It is not easy for one who has been used to sailing in one kind of weather continuously for 40 years to try to sail in weather of another kind. Hence the slowness of speed.

I am not in a position to advise you much in regard to Gijubhai. But I should certainly like you to consider one point. Gijubhai is a devoted follower of the Montessori system. I know its basic principle. We do not even make an attempt to follow it here. Narandas and you have understood the principles of the Wardha scheme and are convinced of the soundness of the scheme. Probably Gijubhai will not be able to co-operate with you. For, as far as I know him, he will not be able to co-operate unreservedly in implementing the Wardha scheme.

Show this letter to Narandas. You may write to me or come here whenever you wish.²

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 5544. Also Bapuna Patro-7: Shri Chhaganlal Joshi, pp. 267-8

182. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

June 23, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

My idea of boycott is that it can be a perfectly non-violent measure. When it is that, it becomes a duty. Hence boycott of Japanese goods does become a duty for those who consider Japan to be wholly in the wrong. And when it becomes a duty, it takes no account of consequences. And duty has to be performed whether one has company or not. Have you seen Stanley Jones's thesis on the subject?

¹ Of not having any contact with grown-up girls. Gandhiji had decided not to take the support of girls during his walks.

² These two sentences are from the printed source.

No more today.
Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3630. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 6439

183. DISCUSSION WITH STUDENTS¹

[Before June 25, 1938]

Gandhiji explained to them how almost since the beginning of his public life in South Africa he had been closely associated with labour. When he settled down to practise at the bar in South Africa he decided to give the whole of his spare time to work for the Indian settlers there, and the first man who came to him for assistance was an indentured labourer. This case at once put him in touch with labour. The labourers brought to him their troubles with their employers and also their personal and domestic worries, and that gave him a glimpse into their lives as nothing else could have done. Non-violence was the first thing he placed before them, and non-violence was the only thing that they had been pledged to observe when, at a critical stage in the satyagraha campaign, nearly 60,000 labourers downed their tools and faced imprisonment. They went through untold hardships, suffering, starvation, and some even died, but they adhered to non-violence until the end. Their condition was particularly difficult and in a sense worse than the workers' here. They were not free, but indentured, and they had to fight not only for justice from their employers but for the abolition of the opprobrious £3 tax which threatened them with extinction. But non-violence helped them to pull through. His work in Champaran and Ahmedabad was recent history. Regarding Champaran he said that the condition of the peasants there was almost the same as the indentured labourers', and that they had failed in their agitation for nearly half a century for there was no cohesive power of non-violence to hold them together. There had been several riots and their condition had grown worse every year. But the first taste of non-violence breathed new life into them, and at the end of a remarkably brief struggle they were emancipated.

Without that necessary discipline in non-violence, they would have internecine strife and would never be ready to develop the strength that is needed to enable them to realize the power that they possess. Organization, technical skill and everything else would follow the acceptance of the fundamental principle of nonviolence. Class collaboration would also follow as a matter of course. They are strong in numbers and yet they feel so dependent, so very much at the mercy of their employers. That is because they do not know their own inherent strength. Otherwise what is there to prevent them from pooling their own resources and dictating terms as employers do now. The thing that they have to realize is that labour is as much capital as metal. That realization can come only through acceptance of non-violence.

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Notes". A group of university graduates after undergoing training in the organization of labour had come to see Gandhiji.

But after that realization has come and they have come to their own, non-violence does not become superfluous. If they were to bid good-bye to it, they would be as bad as capitalists and turn exploiters themselves. The realization of their strength combined with adherence to non-violence would enable them to co-operate with capital and turn it to proper use. Then they will not regard it as a conflicting interest, they will not regard the mill and the machinery as belonging to the exploiting agents and grinding them down, but as their own instruments of production, and will therefore protect them as well as they would their own property. They will not steal time and turn out less work, but will put in the most they can. In fact, capital and labour will be mutual trustees and both will be trustees of consumers. The trusteeship theory is not unilateral and does not in the least imply superiority of the trustee. It is, as I have shown, a perfectly mutual affair, and each believes that his own interest is best safeguarded by safeguarding the interest of the other. 'May you propitiate the gods and may the gods propitiate you, and may you reach the highest good by this mutual propitiation,' says the Bhagavad Gita. There is no separate species called gods in the universe, but all who have the power of production and will work for the community using that power are gods—labourers no less than the capitalists.

Harijan, 25-6-1938

184. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

[Before June 25, 1938]¹

CHL. KAKA,

I want that book about marriage rites. Send two or three copies. I hope to marry Vijaya to Manubhai shortly. Nanabhai will most probably attend and he himself will perform the rites.

¹ Vide "Letter to Mahadev Desai", p. 138.

But he says he would like to perform the rites according to your booklet. I therefore think it necessary to send a copy to him.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7686

185. TELEGRAM TO KANTILAL GANDHI

WARDHAGANJ,
June 25, 1938

KANTI GANDHI
HARIJAN SEVAK SANGH
BANGALORE

SARASWATI DISCONSOLATE. WANTS YOUR PRESENCE. SAYS CAN'T LIVE WITHOUT YOU. SUGGEST YOUR SENDING WIRE ASKING HER CARRY OUT PROMISE BUT DO WHAT YOU THINK BEST.
BAPU

From a photostat: C.W. 7336. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

186. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

Unrevised

SEGAON,
June 25, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

I am not regular nowadays about your letters. For I have not asked Mira to give a regular letter or p.c. But you shall have it if you want it.

There is no neglect on the part of the postal department about the letters. The thing is that I am writing this at night. It will be posted tomorrow but will bear the date the day after. I hate post-dating letters.

I have been forgetting always to tell you that the exception in favour of S. was dropped, she had to nurse me because of her skill. This is no favour but necessity which is protected in my note yet unpublished.

I have not yet been able to come to a final decision about the publication. My own inclination is to publish it. I have not yet given it final shape. I am in no hurry.

Yes, I read Sastri's address. I want to deal with it if I get the time.

Subhas is in Wardha. He is looking a picture of health. All he needed was work of the type he loves. He has got it and he is happy.

Love.

ROBBER

From the original: C.W. 3866. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7022

187. LETTER TO KHWAJA NAZIMUDDIN

SEGAON, WARDHA,
June 25, 1938

DEAR KHWAJA SAHEB,

I thank you for your letter of 18th June,¹ as also for the letters from prisoners, dated 21st and 26th May respectively. I wish the prisoners' letters could have been sent to me earlier. I am enclosing replies² to them, which I hope will be sent to them without delay.

With regard to the prisoners, I had the benefit of a fairly long chat with Subhas Babu. On his return he hopes to be able to see you, and then, if necessary, ask for permission to see the prisoners. As, very properly, his acceptance and that of Sarat Babu is regarded necessary, it is as well that further negotiations are conducted by one of them. Moreover this arrangement saves me another journey to Bengal. I am sorry to inform you that my health has again become very uncertain owing to the heavy strain of work I have been recently undertaking.

Before the proposed scheme can be accepted by us three it is necessary that even following out the method of the Government scheme, the result should approximate to what I have submitted in my letter of 13th April last. If I accepted anything less I would be guilty of a breach of faith with the prisoners to whom I gave an absolute assurance, often repeated, that, subject to their subscribing to non-violence, I should strain every nerve to secure early discharge for every one of them. I could, therefore, not be party to any scheme which does not imply such discharge of all prisoners. The method adopted for achieving the end would then cause no difficulty.

¹ In this the addressee had said that the Bengal Government were not standing still in the matter of the detenus and that they would gladly grant facilities for convincing the prisoners of the desirability of accepting the decision come to regarding their cases.

² These are not traceable.

I hope that when Subhas Babu meets you, it will be possible to reach a satisfactory solution. If, at any time, you desire my presence, and if it is likely to facilitate matters, you will please not hesitate to drop me a line and, health permitting, I would gladly visit Bengal.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

THE HON'BLE KHWAJA SIR NAZIMUDDIN
7 HUNGERFORD STREET
CALCUTTA

From a copy: C.W. 9929

188. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

June 25, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Please see Kanti's letter. Send the accompanying wire¹ to Ramachandran. Hope the wire² to Kanti was despatched yesterday.

Last night I took serpina. At 3.30 a.m. the blood-pressure was 190/112. Just now it must be less. Nothing need be done because of this. I shall have to reduce the work. Send the accompanying wire to Hanna³.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Did you give Kaka the letter regarding marriage rites? Now at 6.30 a.m. it is 180/102.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11599

¹ This is not traceable.

² Vid. "Telegram to Kantilal Gandhi", p. 136.

³ Niece of Kallenbach. The telegram to her is not traceable.

189. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

[After June 26, 1938]¹

GHI. MAHADEV,

If sleep overcomes you let it. This time we need not worry about the editorial. Hanna will finish it in a little while. I do understand why you feel sleepy. Your mind is a little lighter. You certainly did well in not coming. There is no need for you at all to force yourself. I am returning the cheque.

Should I look for some assistant? It will be enough if you manage Lilavati. Here she is absolutely idling away her time and feels unhappy all the time—for having had to leave the kitchen. She will be somewhat happy if she goes there.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11638

190. TELEGRAM TO KANTILAL GANDHI

WARDHAGANJ,
June 27, 1938

KANTI GANDHI
HARIJANSEWAK SANGH
BANGALORE

YOUR LETTER. SARASWATI WANTS YOU TAKE LEAVE. BE FIRM. TELL HER SHE MUST FULFIL PROMISE STAY SEGAON. YOU CANNOT LEAVE BANGALORE. LOVE.

BAPU

From a photostat: C.W. 7335. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

¹ From the reference to Hanna who arrived on June 26

191. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

June 27, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

Again pencil hand. I am on my back with the earth bandage on the abdomen.

If you do not see the *Reformer*¹, look up the current number. You will find Hansa's article. Do you know anything of that movement?

We have a newcomer in Kallenbach's niece. She is an extraordinarily good woman. But our climate may floor her. She came in only yesterday.

The weather just now is cool.

My b. p. shoots up and goes down. Does not interfere with work.

Love.

ROBBER

From the original: C.W. 3867. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7023

192. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

June 27, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

I read your letter, as also the article. If the article pertains to the work of Talimi Sangh, the sentence about Hindi should be omitted. But if it pertains to the work for the spread of Hindi, it cannot be omitted. The distinction is clear enough. More when we meet.

Who is Madan Mohan? He has given his address care of you. The reply² to him is enclosed.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7687

¹ The Indian Social Reformer

² This is not traceable.

193. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

SEGAON,
June 29, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

It is not your fault, either. Nor is it Amtul Salaam's. I had no other intention except that of changing Amtul Salaam if it was necessary for you to remain there for more than six days. You ought not to indulge in conjectures about my intentions. You may come only if the doctor gives full permission. Lilavati can be sent without any inconvenience.

Blessings from
BAPU

From Gujarati: C.W. 4579. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

194. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

Silence Day [After June 29, 1938]¹

CHI. VIJAYA,

You must be all right. Manilalbhai will bring you here in the evening, if the doctor permits, that is.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7109. Also C.W. 4601. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

195. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

SEGAON,
June 30, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

You won't mind the missing of a day now and again.

My statement is still hanging fire. It is still to be mended. I am having extraordinary opinions on it.

¹ Vide the preceding item.

Did I tell you Kallenbach's niece had come here? She is very weak in body. She is most anxious to help. I wish you would see her. If she does not remain well, I shall have to pack her off.

Shanta has gone back.

Balkrishna is not bad.

Love.

ROBBEY

From the original: C.W. 3868. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7024

196. LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI

June 30, 1938

CHI. KANTI,

I got your letter. I have done all that you wished and more. I have arranged for her coaching in Hindi, music, etc. I ask her to sit with me. I permit her to eat everything. I have permitted her to cook her food with chillies, even offered to get it cooked for her. I have asked Vasumati and Sharda to keep her company. I give her a good deal of my time too. But she wants you. How can I give that?

You are safe because you can see your errors sooner or later. Being at my wit's end I have already sent a wire to Ramachandran. I have asked him or Govindan to come over. There has been no reply so far. It was your duty to let me know what happened there.

Now my advice. If you wish to save yourself and Saraswati you will have to be hard-hearted. You should plainly tell Saraswati that you will neither leave Bangalore nor permit her to come over there; that she will have to stay either at Segaoon or at Trivandrum. She will submit to you. But she knows your weakness. She is, of course, a child but you, too, have proved to be a child. I had thought that you were mature and had ability to guide Saraswati. But my judgment has proved to be wrong. You seem to have become completely infatuated. If you find it impossible to overcome the infatuation, then there is no other way for you except to get married. But I would consider it an outrage for you to marry at present. I would not give my consent to it. But you do not need my consent. I would regard it as your duty to do that without which you cannot live. If I cannot give my consent to it because I don't like it, you should not feel unhappy.

Give up the idea of going to Nagpur. Complete the course there.

Permit Amtul Salaam to talk. It would be easy for me if you did so. You should trust me. I will not let Amtul Salaam violate propriety.

I will tell you an interesting thing that happened yesterday. In the morning Saraswati came and asked me to send you a wire stating: "I will be brave," etc. I asked her to write down the telegram. She, therefore, brought the enclosed. I told her that it being Sunday I would send it today. She was pleased. Before two hours had passed she brought another telegram, also enclosed. It was of course not sent. This is the position. Everything depends on you. I wish to give you all possible help. But all that should be within the limits of dharma. Be mature and steady of mind. At present you should live purely a student's life. Your life will be ruined if you yield to attachment.

May God show you the right path. I will not be in a hurry to send Saraswati to Trivandrum.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7337. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

197. LETTER TO LAKSHMI GANDHI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
June 30, 1938

CHI. LAKSHMI,

When I do not write to you how can I expect you to write? Please write to Saraswati.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 2027

198. LETTER TO SUSHILA GANDHI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
June 30, 1938

CHI. SUSHILA,

I also have had a letter from Manilal. By all means stay there as long as you wish. Please remember that the law of life is that we should be governed by dharma rather than by our own desires. Most often desire and duty, preyas and shreyas, are opposed to each other. On such occasions we should follow shreyas. This, of course, need not be applied to your wish to stay there. It is all the same to me where you stay. I should like you to stay wherever you would be more cheerful and keep good health. From the point of view of service, perhaps it may even be your duty to stay there for some more time.

Sita also may stay there. What arrangement have you made for her education? Does Arun harass you much? Is there any improvement in your health? Why don't you write to Vasumati? If you do not write even though you get time to write, how can you hope to be excused?

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 4876

199. LETTER TO GOSIBEHN CAPTAIN AND SISTERS

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 1, 1938

I thought I had never been one of the domestic circle and had never even tried to be one. There has been an invisible spiritual bond between us derived from the common loyalty to Dadabhai. I have regarded you as more than his descendants by blood. You have believed in him and his mission. His life was an inspiration to me when I was yet a boy. I came under his influence before I had known any other Indian leader. That influence has persisted. Soon after I returned to India Perin entered my life and it was more than a joy to me to find Dadabhai's granddaughter sharing my ideals. This contact grew.

And it has become such that I instinctively feel and share the sorrows that overtake you when I come to know of them. I never came near enough to Jalbhai to know him so well as you four sisters. But I knew his great worth from many sources. I knew above all his quiet services. I realize therefore what a shock his death must be to you all. This is to supplement my wire. May the knowledge that I am a silent sharer in your grief lighten it somewhat.

With love to you all,

BAPU

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

200. LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI

SEGAON,
July 1, 1938

CHI. KANTI,

I did not like your wire. How can we stand between Saraswati and her parents? How can we insist that she should never visit them at all? But now your wire has no meaning. The latest position is this. I had a talk with her about a great many things. I joked with her and I even assumed a stern tone, but Saraswati did not give up her obstinacy. Firmly she told me: "Get me married." I said: "I will never agree to that. I cannot attend such a marriage nor can I give my blessings. I do not approve of a girl of your age marrying. I am a reformer and therefore cannot give my consent to a thing which I don't approve of. Moreover, I have every fear that Kanti's studies will suffer as a result of the marriage, and that is another reason why I cannot give my consent. But if your parents agree and Kanti also is willing, then I will not stand in your way and in that case you will not need my blessings." Saraswati was pleased and said at once: "Then I am ready to go to Trivandrum. You can arrange for that." I then asked: "Shouldn't we first ascertain your parents' and Kanti's views?" So she asked me to write immediately. This conversation took place yesterday during my walk. There was no question of writing a letter then. In the morning I got your wire. I showed it to her and asked her how she could go to Trivandrum now and also how the marriage could take place. But she said: "Kantibhai is definitely ready for marriage. My parents also will not object. You should write a letter and after getting his consent send me to Trivandrum." When during our talk yesterday I agreed not to oppose the marriage to the extent of preventing it, she agreed even to study during the time she had to stay here. She has started learning English from Mr. Kallenbach's niece. Today she must have started even the Hindi lessons. This is the position.

The idea of Nagpur is absolutely useless. Mahadev has already written to you about that. I also have already given you my opinion. I had given my consent only with the hope that your relationship would be an ideal one. At the moment, I do not see any sign of that hope being realized. I said to Saraswati: "Kanti wants that you should be treated as Kanam." She vehemently protested: "I am not Kanam. I know my interests. I will not stay here without Kantibhai. Please call him for fifteen days." I cannot make Saraswati obey my orders as you think. I ought not to do that either. The key is solely in your hands. My advice is that you should let Saraswati go to Trivandrum, should flatly refuse to marry just now and should not go to Trivandrum yourself. You should sacrifice everything else for the sake of your studies. You should write all this to Saraswati very frankly. You ought not to leave your studies and come here. But this is, of course, my opinion. If it does not appeal to you and if you are ready to marry, you may by all means do so. You need not bother if I do not think that it will be for your good. Who can foresee the future? My fear may be unjustified and my reasoning may be wrong. You know best what is good for you. You should, therefore, decide as you think best without taking into consideration my opinion and inform me accordingly. In the mean time, I will do whatever may be necessary to humour Saraswati. Yesterday I spared four hours for that girl. Vasumati is devoting a good deal of her time to her, but she frankly confesses: "The task is beyond me. How would a girl who does not listen to you listen to me?" Over and above this Kanu also gives some time to her. Lilavati, Sharda, etc., try their level best to make friends with her. But she is not easy to make friends with. It seems she feels somewhat at home with Vasumati, though. I still think that Amtul Salaam might be able to influence her.

Now do as God prompts you and write to me.

Blessings from
BAPU

201. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

SEGAON,
July 1, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

I got your letter. I have already read through twice the letter to Maulana Saheb. I do not reject it but may have to redraft it completely. Hence the delay. I will redraft it as early as I can.

I understood Ramdevji's letter. If you come some day, you can persuade Mirabehn yourself. My persuading her will mean ordering her, which will not be right.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7685

202. LETTER TO CHHAGANLAL JOSHI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 1, 1938

CHI. CHHAGANLAL,

Your letter was excellent, because it was so frank. There was no reason at all for you to apologize for it. I fully remember the discussion at the Sabarmati Ashram. But my impression is the opposite of yours. I think also that the subject was discussed on two separate occasions. I have a faint impression that at the end of the discussion on the first occasion some decision was arrived at regarding my practice of walking with my hand on a girl's shoulder. Kaka was not present at that discussion. When he came to know about it, he raised the subject again, for he approved of the principle behind my practice. At the end of the second discussion, my memory is that I had decided to maintain the status quo. Be that as it may, the main point is that I do not think I have failed to do what I had promised to do.

As regards the Wardha decision, you will see if you read *Harijan*¹ that the girls, while going in procession from Maganwadi to Mahilashram and from Mahilashram to Maganwadi, used to call at my hut and take me out with them. I walked with my hands on their shoulders by turns. This was observed by some people and became the subject of comment. I myself raised the matter for discussion and published the decision at which I finally arrived. It was not in my mind at all that I would never place my hands even on the shoulders of girls who live with me, for after writing that article I continued to use Manu and other girls as my walking-sticks. But that procession stopped, and the practice has not been revived and will not be revived. The reason for stopping it had nothing to do with my vow of brahmacharya. The only consideration was the good of society. In this instance, too, there is no question of my having failed to do what I had declared I would do. If I had made such a declaration and then failed to abide by it, knowing full well that I was doing so, I would be pained and feel humiliated in my own eyes. It would give me no pleasure to know that I had weakened in my determination to keep a vow. Yes, there may be self-deception sometimes; as, for instance, when I decided to drink goat's milk because my vow forbade me to use cow's or buffalo's milk, or when I compromised by counting several vegetables as one item in observing the vow of not consuming more than five items at any one meal. This is a painful memory for me. Even so, I have convinced myself that I have not violated the letter of my pledges and exercise the utmost strictness in observing a vow. I have no comment to make about Thakkar Bapa having been pained. You had no reply to give to the criticism of that muni of Kutch; for you had before you two instances of what you regard to be violation of pledges; you should, therefore, bear that criticism without resentment. Your only reply can be: 'Even we, who live with him, are puzzled by some of his actions. But we think we have lost nothing by our association with him, and so we cling to him. I will ask him about the comparison which you have made.' If you gave this reply, it was correct. If you kept quiet, that also was right. In any case, you can always give this reply: 'He has always touched girls with a pure feeling and never with a gross purpose. But a doubt having occurred whether, unknown to him, there might not be an impure feeling in his heart, he has temporarily given up the practice to end that doubt.'

¹ Vide Vol. LXI, "A Renunciation", pp. 436-7.

Personally, I cannot compare the muni's conduct with mine. According to me, there is a serious error in it. If, however, his own conscience feels nothing wrong in his practice, he should continue it no matter what I do. This is so deep a matter that blind imitation of one another is likely to land one into serious error. Everybody, therefore, should cultivate a vigilant conscience and be guided by it, with God as witness.

I am trying to issue a statement explaining my position. I wish to satisfy as many co-workers as I can. Let us see if I succeed.

You do not seem to have understood the meaning of the remark "the ship is still in port"¹. It only means that, though the experiment is going on, while discussion about it is still continuing it cannot be said that it is being carried on in thought, speech and action. I can observe its effects only if I go on with it silently. Just now, therefore, it is being followed only in action. As for thought and speech, we joke about the matter daily. This is enough for today.

I can say nothing about the Frontier Province just now. I shall see about it afterwards.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 5547

203. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

July 2, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

A new phase in my search has commenced. I do not know where it will end. The statement, if it is issued at all, will have no relation to the one you have seen. But you must be patient. I can say nothing yet. All I can say is that something is coming over me. Nothing alarming. Only the step I have taken is not drastic enough. In what way I shall have to shape it I do not know. God will guide me.

You seem to have had smooth sailing with your Board. I am anxiously awaiting your letter.

Love.

ROBBER

From the original: C.W. 3869. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7025

¹ Vide "Letter to Chhaganlal Joshi", pp. 132-3.

204. LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI

July 2, 1938

OH! KANTI,

Saraswati has just showed me your letter. One moment you are angry and the next moment you are pleased. How can anybody, therefore, feel happy when you are pleased or unhappy when you are angry?

Have I ever considered your attachment to Saraswati wrong? I felt unhappy because I did not see what I had expected of you. But what does it matter? It would be best that you appear to me exactly as you are.

Saraswati has been jubilant since the day before yesterday, for she has concluded from your letter that she will be marrying you in a few days. She was afraid that I would oppose the marriage. She was in high spirits the whole of yesterday. She showed me your today's letter to her. I feel afraid now that there will be some hitch again. I strain myself on her account. I give her as much time as I can and do my best to cheer her. But I see that whenever her mind gets fixed upon something it is impossible to do that.

Otherwise I very much like her innocence, her simplicity and her childlike nature. I will look after her as long as she stays here. I will watch what effect your letter has on her. She has not yet talked to me. I did ask her of course.

You are right when you say that wherever my conclusions are based on incomplete information, they are faulty. They must be so. It may be called a virtue in a votary of truth, for his conclusions ought to be strictly based on the facts in his possession. He should not be led astray by any consideration of self-interest and should preserve an objective attitude. I should be happy if my condition is such as you have described it. That is what it should be.

I have received a letter from Nagpur saying that yesterday was the last day for filling the posts. There were only nine posts for one of which you were a candidate, and there were sixty applications for those nine. What would you have done in such a crowd?

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7339. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

205. LETTER TO KANU GANDHI

July 2, 1938

CHI. KANAIYA,

I hurt you in the morning, didn't I? But did you realize or not that there was love behind my anger? I could not bear even that mistake on your part which I knew you would make. It is a good sign. I want to see you perfect. If you have patience, you will certainly become so.

Are you not Narandas's son? Emulate his patience and faith. You should never yield to despair.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./II

206. TESTIMONIAL TO LALJI PARMAR

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 2, 1938

Shri Lalji Parmar was under training in the music department of the Gujarat Vidyapith and he has acquired enough proficiency to enable him to teach a bit. Only his teachers can give a definite opinion regarding his progress. I have seen the testimonials given by the former music teacher and the head of the Gujarat Vidyapith. Shri Lalji Parmar is a Harijan and it would be good if the Bombay Government could grant him some aid.

M. K. GANDHI

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 3289

207. LETTER TO JAMNALAL BAJAJ

July [4,]¹ 1938

CHI. JAMNALAL,

The car was expected here today at 6 to take Balkrishna² to the hospital. If it has not left and if you can send it, please do. A note is going to the hospital too. The car will be required only if there is still time.

¹ From Pancham Patra Bapu's Ashram

² Balkrishna Bhawe, who was suffering from tuberculosis

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 2994

208. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

July 4, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Nobody has yet come from there. Kaka is here and I am sending with him whatever is ready. An article by me and a note¹ on Sushila's findings concerning sugar are getting ready and will be sent by and by.

The conversation of the day before yesterday has greatly benefited me. It suggested some ideas to me, but there is no time to write about them here. We may discuss them tomorrow. I may have to visit Wardha at three o'clock. Tandonji and others are arriving. Inquire before coming here. A letter² for Kanti is also enclosed.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11601

209. LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI

July 4, 1938

CHI. KANTI,

You must have received my letter of yesterday. You are very cruel indeed, and also childish. You may write as rude letters as you can but they will not make me angry. But why do you get so angry? You are wise and are capable of self-sacrifice, but it pains me to know that you are eaten up by anger. The knowledge that you are harming yourself does wring my heart. I feel afraid of you. It does not do you credit that I should weigh my words when writing to you.

¹ Presumably "Bad Teeth and Refined Carbohydrates", published in Harjan, 30-7-1938

² Vide the following item.

Your letter to Saraswati was bad. She has been terribly upset. Here is her letter to me. Why pit an army against a goat? It was you who ensnared her. What is the meaning, then, of your growling at her now if she cannot live without you? She is your helpmate, your partner in dharma, and not your slave or your property. It is not proper that you should first make a doll of her and then treat her as your property. Do not dismiss all this in a fit of anger. Remember that I am a man of experience.

I am afraid there is no way out except marriage. After the marriage you may do what you like. Do not worry if I do not give my consent to the marriage. It should be enough for you that I do not oppose it. It would of course be best if you two could bear separation and be content with writing to each other from time to time and meeting occasionally. But that seems impossible so far as Saraswati is concerned. Think over what you should do after the marriage. Discuss the matter with me. My feeling is that you will have to give up study afterwards. But I shall be happy if my fear is proved wrong and both of you study together, as Saraswati says you will. You may now think calmly and do what you please. Meanwhile I am tending Saraswati like a flower.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I had finished this letter before I sent you the wire¹, but kept it back on getting your letter.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7340. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

¹ The telegram is not traceable.

210. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

July 4, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

What a heavy mail today! You must have received the material sent earlier with Kaka. I hope you have sent the wire to Kanti. My stars seem to be unfavourable. But if one knows how to offer up misfortunes also to the Lord, even unfavourable stars become favourable. I have yet to learn that. Two articles are enclosed. Giri's letter is there. Kanaiyo is going there for it. About the rest in the next letter.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N.11602

211. ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS¹

SEGAON,

July 6, 1938

QUESTION: What is the place of religious instruction in the Wardha Scheme of Education?

ANSWER: We have left out the teaching of religions from the Wardha Scheme of Education, because we are afraid that religions as they are taught and practised today lead to conflict rather than unity. But on the other hand, I hold that the truths that are common to all religions can and should be taught to all children. These truths cannot be taught through words or through books. The children can learn these truths only through the daily life of the teacher. If the teacher himself lives up to the tenets of truth and justice, then alone can the children learn that truth and justice are the basis of all religions.

When Mahatmaji was asked whether it was possible to teach children between the ages of seven and fourteen equal respect for all religions he said:

¹ The questions were asked by Educational Officers from Congress provinces who had come for a fortnight's training under the Wardha Scheme and who met Gandhiji twice during the training. Vide also "Discussion with Delegates from Congress Provinces", p. 132.

Yes, I think so. The truth that all religions are the same in essentials, that we must love and respect others' faiths as we respect our own, is a very simple truth, and can easily be understood and practised by children of seven. But, of course, the first essential is that the teacher must have this faith himself.

The Bombay Chronicle, 7-7-1938

212. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

SEGAON,
July 8, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

What a question? Of course you pass through Wardha on your way to B¹. That means you may be here when the W. C. meets. And here you will find yourself in a crowded room. But that you don't mind.

How you manage to lose your voice from time to time! You must go to a place where you can't be pestered. Is it not Segaoon[?] And now I can build for you also to your design!

J.'s² letter to S.³ you have now, I hope. The talks have stopped of course. The reply has to go from W. C.

Yes, Jawaharlal is having a grand time. He is raising India in the estimation of the West.

It is perhaps as well that you will be the only member of your Peace Brigade. This work does not need thousands. True immolation of a few will do the trick.

You are wrong. I began work among women when I was not even thirty years old. There is not a woman in S. A. who does not know me. But my work was among the poorest. The intellectuals I could not draw. My appeals have always been from heart to hearts. I have felt like fish out of water in the company of intellectuals. Hence you are wrong in laying down the sweeping proposition you have. You can't blame me for not having organized the intellectuals among women. I have not the gift. And then my method of organizing is out of the ordinary, not necessarily superior. All I mean is that I have nothing to show on paper. But just as I never fear coldness on the part of the poor when I approach them, I never fear it when I approach poor women. There is invisible bond between them and me. And why do you miss the agony I am passing through? Is it not for womankind? I am wringing my soul for adequate purity, to enable me [to] render greater service to them and through them to the whole of humanity. Ahimsa, which is my sheet-anchor, demands all this.

¹ Bangalore

² Jinnah's

³ Subhas Chandra Bose

I expect your next letter to tell me you are well.
Love.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3631. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 6440

213. LETTER TO RAMNIK

July 8, 1938

GHI. RAMNIK,

I get from time to time news of your illness from your father. I understand that you are not recovering. To get well, to fall ill or to remain ill, all this is not in our hands. But it is in our power to preserve equanimity in all circumstances, not to forget God and not to lose the joy within. I hope you are preserving all this.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8762. Also C.W. 1055. Courtesy: Champabehn Mehta

214. LETTER TO BALWANTSINHA

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 8, 1938

GHI. BALWANTSINHA,

One point in brahmacharya is this that the vital fluid should not be wasted. It is supposed that it is not wasted when it moves upward. This is not correct. A man giving way to anger mis-spends it or rather destroys it, thus rendering it unfruitful. To that extent brahmacharya has been damaged. Similarly a man wastes his vital fluid when he indulges in intercourse for the sake of pleasure, as it is unproductive. When a man has no desire for sensual pleasure and both the man and the woman desire a child and come together for that purpose, then alone is vital fluid completely fruitful. Such a couple are truly brahmacharis. But such a couple might be only one among crores. Apart from the one single occasion of copulation they live like brother and sister and refrain from any sensual indulgence in thought, speech, contact or any other way. Their intercourse for the purpose of procreation alone can in no way come under the category of gratification of the senses. This ought to clear your doubt.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 1905

215. THE STATES

Events seem to have justified the wisdom of the Congress resolution of non-intervention in the affairs of the States. The constitution, however unjust, arbitrary and illogical it may be, is such that, legally and politically, every State, small or big, is an independent entity in its relation to the other States and that part of India which is called British in contradistinction from the States. The similarity common to all is that they are under the iron grip of British Rule. But geographically and ethnically the people of the States and the other parts of India are one and indivisible. We, the thirty-three crores of men and women, are blood relations who cannot be parted by any constitutional or military device. This natural relationship is working itself without let or hindrance because of the recognition of the constitutional fact while it lasts. That is the way of satyagraha or the way of non-resistance to evil. It is the aseptic method in which the physician allows the poison to work itself out by setting in motion all the natural forces and letting them have full play.

By its resolution of non-interference the Congress put the States people on their mettle, in other words set in motion the natural forces, i. e., the powers latent in the people themselves. In the few recent instances it has been found that the people having discovered their strength they used it without any aid from outside and won full victory. The result also was that the assistance of Congressmen was invoked by the States' authorities in order to settle the differences between themselves and their people. No doubt this method like every other known to mankind has its limitations. The Congress cannot dictate unreasonable terms. The people must have a real grievance and they must approach it with pure hands. For the tool of satyagraha is ahimsa, i. e., self-suffering without inflicting suffering on the opponent for the vindication of a cause which must be absolutely just.

If only the people of the States can realize the full meaning and potency of satyagraha, i. e., of non-violence, they will win their relative freedom before India as a whole comes to its own. And they will have to before India has Independence. Thus they can have full liberty of non-violent speech, writing and action without having to deal with cumbersome British machinery. They can secure with comparative ease a more equitable, even if not an equal, distribution of the wealth produced in the States. They can, without much effort, regulate the privy purse of their Princes and can have cheap and pure justice guaranteed. They can deal with the problem of poverty and village reconstruction with infinitely greater ease than in unwieldy and bureaucracy-ridden British India. They can have real national education for the wanting.

This will be their swaraj—no doubt far short of the Independence that the Congress wants. But if the people of the majority of the major States attain their full height, the day of Independence will be hastened in a manner no one has dreamt of. Let not the reformers in the States therefore be unduly impatient; let them not forget their limitations and above all the conditions of success, viz., strictest observance of truth and non-violence. They must be ready to face bullets without flinching but also without lifting their little finger in so-called self-defence. A satyagrahi abjures the right of self-defence. Let it also be remembered that a satyagrahi's minimum is also his maximum.

Harijan, 9-7-1938

216. HIGHER EDUCATION

The Rt. Hon. Shri Srinivasa Sastri has criticized, as he had a perfect right to do, the views I timidly and very briefly expressed some time ago on higher education. I entertain a very high regard for him as man, patriot and scholar. It is therefore always painful to me when I find myself disagreeing with him. And yet duty compels me to re-express my views on higher education more fully than before, so that the reader may make out for himself the difference between his views and mine.

I admit my limitations. I have no university education worth the name. My high school career was never above the average. I was thankful if I could pass my examinations. Distinction in the school was beyond my aspiration. Nevertheless I do hold very strong views on education in general, including what is called higher education. And I owe it to the country that my views should be clearly known and taken for what they may be worth. I must shed the timidity that has led almost to self-suppression. I must not fear ridicule, and even loss of popularity or prestige. If I hide my belief, I shall never correct errors of judgment. I am always eager to discover them and more than eager to correct them.

Let me now state my conclusions held for a number of years and enforced wherever I had opportunity of enforcing them:

(1) I am not opposed to education even of the highest type attainable in the world.

(2) The State must pay for it wherever it has definite use for it.

(3) I am opposed to all higher education being paid for from the general revenue.

(4) It is my firm conviction that the vast amount of the so-called education in arts, given in our colleges, is sheer waste and has resulted in unemployment among the educated classes. What is more, it has destroyed the health, both mental and physical, of the boys and girls who have the misfortune to go through the grind in our colleges.

(5) The medium of a foreign language through which higher education has been imparted in India has caused incalculable intellectual and moral injury to the nation. We are too near our own times to judge the enormity of the damage done. And we who have received such education have both to be victims and judges—an almost impossible feat.

I must now give my reason for the conclusions set forth above. This I can best do, perhaps, by giving a chapter from my own experience.

Up to the age of 12 all the knowledge I gained was through Gujarati, my mother tongue. I knew then something of arithmetic, history and geography. Then I entered a high school. For the first three years the mother tongue was still the medium. But the schoolmaster's business was to drive English into the pupil's head. Therefore more than half of our time was given to learning English and mastering its arbitrary spelling and pronunciation. It was a painful discovery to have to learn a language that was not pronounced as it was written. It was a strange experience to have to learn the spelling by heart. But that is by the way, and irrelevant to my argument. However, for the first three years, it was comparatively plain sailing.

The pillory began with the fourth year. Everything had to be learnt through English—geometry, algebra, chemistry, astronomy, history, geography. The tyranny of English was so great that even Sanskrit or Persian had to be learnt through English, not through the mother tongue. If any boy spoke in the class in Gujarati which he understood, he was punished. It did not matter to the teacher if a boy spoke bad English which he could neither pronounce correctly nor understand fully. Why should the teacher worry? His own English was by no means without blemish. It could not be otherwise. English was as much a foreign language to him as to his pupils. The result was chaos. We the boys had to learn many things by heart, though we could not understand them fully and often not at all. My head used to reel as the teacher was struggling to make his exposition on geometry understood by us. I could make neither head nor tail of geometry till we reached the 13th theorem of the first book of Euclid. And let me confess to the reader that in spite of all my love for the mother tongue I do not to this day know the Gujarati equivalents of the technical terms of geometry, algebra and the like. I know now that what I took four years to learn of arithmetic, geometry, algebra, chemistry and astronomy I should have learnt easily in one year if I had not to learn them through English but Gujarati. My grasp of the subjects would have been easier and clearer. My Gujarati vocabulary would have been richer. I would have made use of such knowledge in my own home. This English medium created an impassable barrier between me and the members of my family, who had not gone through English schools. My father knew nothing of what I was doing. I could not, even if I had wished it, interest my father in what I was learning. For though he had ample intelligence, he knew not a word of English. I was fast becoming a stranger in my own home. I certainly became a superior person. Even my dress began to undergo imperceptible changes. What happened to me was not an uncommon experience. It was common to the majority.

The first three years in the high school made little addition to my stock of general knowledge. They were a preparation for fitting the boys for teaching them everything through English. High schools were schools for cultural conquest by the English.

The knowledge gained by the three hundred boys of my high school became a circumscribed possession. It was not for transmission to the masses.

A word about literature. We had to learn several books of English prose and English poetry. No doubt all this was nice. But that knowledge has been of no use to me in serving or bringing me in touch with the masses. I am unable to say that if I had not learnt what I did of English prose and poetry, I should have missed a rare treasure. If I had, instead, passed those precious seven years in mastering Gujarati and had learnt mathematics, sciences, and Sanskrit and other subjects through Gujarati, I could easily have shared the knowledge so gained with my neighbours. I would have enriched Gujarati, and who can say that I would not have, with my habit of application and my inordinate love for the country and the mother tongue, made a richer and greater contribution to the service of the masses?

I must not be understood to decry English or its noble literature. The columns of Harijan are sufficient evidence of my love of English. But the nobility of its literature cannot avail the Indian nation any more than the temperate climate or the scenery of England can avail her. India has to flourish in her own climate and scenery and her own literature, even though all the three may be inferior to the English climate, scenery and literature. We and our children must build on our own heritage. If we borrow another, we impoverish our own. We can never grow on foreign victuals. I want the nation to have the treasures contained in that language, and for that matter the other languages of the world, through its own vernaculars. I do not need to learn Bengali in order to know the beauties of Rabindranath's matchless productions. I get them through good translations. Gujarati boys and girls do not need to learn Russian to appreciate Tolstoy's short stories. They learn them through good translations. It is the boast of Englishmen that the best of the world's literary output is in the hands of that nation in simple English inside of a week of its publication. Why need I learn English to get at the best of what Shakespeare and Milton thought and wrote?

It would be good economy to set apart a class of students whose business would be to learn the best of what is to be learnt in the different languages of the world and give the translation in the vernaculars. Our masters chose the wrong way for us, and habit has made the wrong appear as right.

I find daily proof of the increasing and continuing wrong being done to the millions by our false de-Indianizing education.

Those graduates who are my valued associates themselves flounder when they have to give expression to their innermost thoughts. They are strangers in their own homes. Their vocabulary in the mother tongue is so limited that they cannot always finish their speech without having recourse to English words and even sentences. Nor can they exist without English books. They often write to one another in English. I cite the case of my companions to show how deep the evil has gone. For we have made a conscious effort to mend ourselves.

It has been argued that the wastage that occurs in our colleges need not worry us if, out of the collegians, one Jagadish Bose can be produced by them. I should freely subscribe to the argument if the wastage was unavoidable. I hope I have shown that it was and is even now avoidable. Moreover, the creation of a Bose does not help the argument. For Bose was not a product of the present education. He rose in spite of the terrible handicaps under which he had to labour. And his knowledge became almost intransmissible to the masses. We seem to have come to think that no one can hope to be like a Bose unless he knows English. I cannot conceive a grosser superstition than this. No Japanese feels so helpless as we seem to do.

Nothing but a heroic remedy can deal with the deep-seated evil which I have endeavoured to describe. The Congress Ministers can, if they will, mitigate it if they cannot remove it.

Universities must be made self-supporting. The State should simply educate those whose services it would need. For all other branches of learning it should encourage private effort. The medium of instruction should be altered at once and at any cost, the provincial languages being given their rightful place. I would prefer temporary chaos in higher education to the criminal waste that is daily accumulating.

In order to enhance the status and the market value of the provincial languages, I would have the language of the law courts to be the language of the province where the court is situated. The proceedings of the Provincial Legislatures must be in the language, or even the languages of the province where a province has more than one language within its borders. I suggest to the legislators that they could, by enough application, inside of a month, understand the languages of their provinces. There is nothing to prevent a Tamilian from easily learning the simple grammar and a few hundred words of Telugu, Malayalam and Kanarese, all allied to Tamil. At the centre Hindustani must rule supreme.

In my opinion this is not a question to be decided by academicians. They cannot decide through what language the boys and girls of a place are to be educated. That question is already decided for them in every free country. Nor can they decide the subjects to be taught. That depends upon the wants of the country to which they belong. Theirs is the privilege of enforcing the nation's will in the best manner possible. When this country becomes really free the question of medium will be settled only one way. The academicians will frame the syllabus and prepare text-books accordingly. And the products of the education of a free India will answer the requirements of the country as today they answer those of the foreign ruler. So long as we the educated classes play with this question, I very much fear we shall not produce the free and healthy India of our dream. We have to grow by strenuous effort out of our bondage, whether it is educational, economical, social or political. The effort itself is three-fourths of the battle.

Thus I claim that I am not an enemy of higher education. But I am an enemy of higher education as it is given in this country. Under my scheme there will be more and better libraries, more and better laboratories, more and better research institutes. Under it we should have an army of chemists, engineers and other experts who will be real servants of the nation and answer the varied and growing requirements of a people who are becoming increasingly conscious of their rights and wants. And all these experts will speak not a foreign language but the language of the people. The knowledge gained by them will be the common property of the people. There will be truly original work instead of mere imitation. And the cost will be evenly and justly distributed.

Harijan, 9-7-1938

217. LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 9, 1938

GHL. NARANDAS,

I got your pamphlet¹. The Rentia Baras day is or should be the time for drawing up an annual balance-sheet of the progress of khadi work and thinking out ways and means of speeding it up. I see that your resolutions are increasing in number every year. But in comparison to what we have to achieve, even this increased number of resolutions are nothing. According to the saying, 'drop by drop fills the lake', we should content ourselves with doing the best we are capable of. Let all participants in this yajna remember that we should not rest satisfied till the daily income of all workers including the spinners reaches eight annas for a day of eight hours. And in order to achieve that we should be proficient in all aspects of the charkha science. In that way we shall be able to improve the quality of the khadi without raising the prices very much. If we master that science, we can prove that khadi, though apparently costly, is actually bound to be cheap.

¹ Issued on the 69th birth anniversary of Gandhiji; vide "Note to Narandas Gandhi", p. 165.

I hope to be able to send someone for the Rentia Baras day.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./II. Also C.W. 8544. Courtesy: Narandas Gandhi

218. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

SEGAON,
July 9, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

I will read the Hindi book. It is not going to be easy. The whole policy will have to be reconsidered. If even one false step is taken, then there is serious danger of the whole structure which is being built falling to pieces. If you come on Tuesday we will think over it. Come in the afternoon if the time suits you. Write to me and let me know, when you get the time, what you thought after your talk with Tandonji. That will help me and also help you to clarify your thoughts.

Ponder carefully over what I have written¹ on education.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7684

¹ Vide pp. 158-63.

219. NOTE TO NARANDAS GANDHI

[About July 9, 1938]¹

It will be very good indeed if this is implemented.² Make some arrangement to ascertain whether everybody who makes the resolve keeps it.

[PS.]

I have already replied to your other points.

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./II. Also C.W. 8551. Courtesy: Narandas Gandhi

220. LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR

July 10, 1938

GHI. LILA,

Do you expect a note from me every day? You should not be over-impatient to come here. You may come here whenever you get an opportunity in the normal course. I would also like your coming here, but you should not come at the cost of your work or health.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G. N. 9373. Also C. W. 6648. Courtesy: Lilavati Asar

221. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

Unrevised

SEGAON,
July 11, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

I write this just as I got your letter and before destroying it. You must not allow your imagination to destroy your sanity.

¹ The note is written on the pamphlet mentioned in "Letter to Narandas Gandhi", pp. 163-4.

² The pamphlet carried an appeal by Narandas Gandhi to all the workers to take a vow of spinning 160 rounds of yarn a day, thus spinning 70,000 a year.

I have taken no drastic step. I shifted to Pyarelal's hole for giving Hanna the privacy she needed. She is wholly unaccustomed to our ways. I have now come back and you will occupy your usual corner. Sharda is my constant attendant. Amtul Salaam sleeps by my side, fans me and covers me when I need more covering. She feeds me. Lilavati is helping Mahadev, Shanta having gone back to England. You must not be quite so idiotic as you seem to have become over my travail. It is there. But my faith in my original conception is not shattered. Only I must learn how to realize it. Bad dreams must be avoided. There must be no repetition of 14th April.

Hanna has been sent by Kallenbach to gain experience and to know me personally as she has known me through him for years. She is most lovable but I fear she is too delicate to be able to stay here long.

I shall expect you on 23rd, the day of the meeting of the W.C. It is quite cool just now but the road is fearfully muddy. You will feel a little crowded. But that you won't mind.

You are criminally wasting your body. There is no occasion for all the neglect of which you are guilty. Some people deem it a merit to neglect their bodies. I wish you would have your name removed from the register of these illustrious criminals.

Love.

TYRANT

[PS.]

You inquire about my health. I assure you that it is in good order and condition. Hakumatrai was here yesterday. You can ask him. It is true I have lost weight. But that is of no consequence in blood-pressure cases. I must not attempt to regain it in this weather. If I keep well otherwise, the weight will be regained, at any rate most of it.

T.

From the original: C.W. 3870. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G. N. 7026

222. LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR

July 11, 1938

CHI. LILA,

What a letter from you! What is the point of your staying on there in such a condition? If you do not like to remain there, come over here. I do not want to keep you there against your wishes. If I have killed your individuality, what good has your staying with me done you? I did not at all like your letter. Why do you not understand that you are free to do what you like?

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 9374. Also C.W. 6649.
Courtesy: Lilavati Asar

223. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

July 11, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Have you read Lilavati's letter? If you have not, you will know about it from my reply. Kanti it seems could give you fairly good work. Read carefully what I have written today. I feel like writing about something else too, but I will restrain myself. Mirabehn is down with malaria.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I am sending that draft for Jawaharlal. I have kept with me a copy each of the articles.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11603

224. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

July 12, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

For today I am sending Kanu. He will stay at least till Kanti leaves. And if you wish to detain him for tomorrow also he will stay on. I do not know whether you get Lilabhai's help or not. The burden should not be on you. I see that Dekha is worth being trained. I have decided to observe silence as long as my heart-searching goes on. Of course if I grant an interview to anybody I will speak. The moment he leaves, I will stop speaking. I do not know how long I should keep this up. It will be all right if you do not come here in the present atmosphere. Do not strain yourself to come. Come only if you can do so easily.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I am enclosing the papers.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11604

225. LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR

July 13, 1938

CHI. LILA,

I got your letter. You have not at all forfeited your right to come to me. You may certainly come whenever you are free. I will be perfectly content if you can preserve peace of mind there. Ultimately of course you will have to come here. Build up your health there.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 9589. Also C.W. 6561. Courtesy: Lilavati Asar

226. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

July 13, 1938

CHL. MAHADEV,

I send you herewith a letter from Agatha. Reply to it. Send Agatha's letter to Ghanshyamdas. It would be better to help her come here. Write about the fare, etc. Agatha may also write whatever she wishes.

Do not forget to bring jamun or, if they are not available, their stones.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11605

227. A MESSAGE TO "THE ARYAN PATH"

SEGAON,
[July 14, 1938]

I welcome your advertising the principles in defence of which Hind Swaraj was written.¹ The English edition is a translation of the original which was in Gujarati. I might change the language here and there if I had to rewrite the booklet. But after the stormy thirty years through which I have since passed, I have seen nothing to make me alter the views expounded in it. Let the reader bear in mind that it is a faithful record of conversations I had with workers, one of whom was an avowed anarchist. He should also know that it stopped the rot that was about to set in among some Indians in South Africa. The reader may balance against this the opinion of a dear friend, who, alas, is no more, that it was the production of a fool.¹

¹ A special issue of The Aryan Path exclusively devoted to Hind Swaraj, then being planned, came out in September. The contributors included such eminent Western thinkers as Frederick Soddy, G.D.H. Cole, C. Delisle Burns, John Middleton Murry, Hugh I'Anson Fausset, Gerald Heard and Irene Rathbone. Though none of them found themselves wholly in agreement with the thesis advanced in Hind Swaraj they all nevertheless saw the great importance of the work. Frederick Soddy, for instance, though disagreeing with Gandhiji, suggested that "anyone who wishes to change the world would do well to study" the book. To G. D. H. Cole Gandhiji's case against the West looked "infinitely stronger" than it did in 1908, when "the ephemeral civilization of the West looked stable under Western eyes". C. Delisle Burns saw the highest merit of Hind Swaraj "in its emphasis upon moral issues and opposition to the pursuit of private wealth and power". John Middleton Murry considered Hind Swaraj a "great book", "one of the spiritual classics of the world", and compared Gandhiji's vision of real swaraj to the Christian vision of the Kingdom of Heaven. Gerald Heard thought Hind Swaraj was superior to Rousseau's Social Contract and Karl Marx's Das Capital, for it did not mark the end of an age but the beginning of a new order. Irene Rathbone found the book "enormously powerful",

M. K. GANDHI

The Aryan Path, September 1938, Vol. IX, No. 9, p. 423

228. LETTER TO PREMABEHN KANTAK

SEGAON,

July 14, 1938

CHI. PREMA,

You have not asked for a reply to your letter,² but I felt like writing at least a postcard. Though I do not write to you, I naturally think of you on innumerable occasions. May you go on making steady progress. The rest from Harijan, and from Mahadev.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10395. Also C.W. 6834.
Courtesy: Premabehn Kantak

the language of which forced her "by its tremendous honesty to search my own honesty". She thought the work was "simple and logical, economical, condensed, poetic". Hugh Fausset summed up Hind Swaraj as a book whose purpose was "to save India, not from Englishmen, but from the modern civilization which is eating into the vitals of the West". He had enough trust in the indestructible vitality of the human spirit to be sure that it would not allow itself to be lastingly mechanized. The machine was exposing ruthlessly the consequences that must happen to men and nations who had lost their integrity. Hind Swaraj was an attempt at restoring man to his true estate, and was, for this reason, "one of the best modern handbooks of that real revolution which must happen in us all, if we are to fulfil the creative purpose of life".

¹ Mahadev Desai in a preface to Hind Swaraj published by the Navajivan Trust wrote: "When Gokhale saw the translation, on his visit to South Africa in 1912, he thought it so crude and hastily conceived that he prophesied that Gandhiji would himself destroy the book after spending a year in India" (p. 14).

² The addressee had written to Gandhiji on her birthday for his blessings and had also asked some questions which she said Mahadev Desai could answer if Gandhiji was busy.

229. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

[July 15, 1938]¹

MY DEAR IDIOT,

What a sad and wretched letter, yours of 11th. I am enjoying myself and you are sorrowing for nothing. When you come here, you will laugh at your own folly. My misery is superficial if there is any yet left. My peace cannot be permanently taken away by anything or anybody. You simply do not know me if you think that my experiences have undone me. If there is real attempt at purification, it must strengthen me and make me more joyful. But how can I help you if you must allow your imagination to run riot?

You have to apologize about women. I could not organize intellectual women as such.² I have not organized intellectual men as such. But this thing does not lend itself to argument. I simply cannot subscribe to the charge that there has been any neglect on my part about organizing women. It may be that I have not had the qualifications for doing better. But that would [be] no charge against me. However I do not mind your complaint. I rather like it. It shows that there are things in which we look at things differently. And why not? True affection does not demand identity of outlook. But I do not even on this point despair of convincing you that I could not have done better than I have. My passion for brahmacharya has that meaning. I must be wholly pure if I have true love for womankind.

Love.

TYRANT

[PS.]

I believe apricots did arrive—all rotten. Apples have come. I shall certainly eat them. You must be well quickly.

From the original: C.W. 3632. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 6441

¹ According to the addressee the postmark on the envelope bears the date 16-7-1938.

² Vide also "Letter to Amrit Kaur", pp. 155-6.

230. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

July 15, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Herewith some letters. I do not know if you brought liquid paraffin for Mirabehn yesterday. If you did not bring it, then please remember to bring it. If you do not come, send it with the person who comes. I hope you have asked Vyas about jamun stones and written to Bombay to discontinue sending fruit.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11606

231. LETTER TO D.B. KALELKAR

July 15, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

I am returning Rajaji's letter. He is filled with great despair from all sides. But his sense of humour saves him.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

A letter from Rajkumari is enclosed.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10900

232. SPEAKERS AND POLITICS

Some controversy has raged round the propriety of the Speakers of the various Provincial Assemblies taking an active part in politics. There has been the Speaker's ruling and a full debate and a resolution in the U.P. Assembly to the effect that the Speaker can consistently with the due discharge of the obligations of office take an active part in politics. Shri Sambamurti was with me for a few days and exhaustively discussed the question with me. He read to me copious extracts from authoritative treatises dealing with the Speakers' duties in the Parliaments of the world. And there has appeared an article in Harizan by Shri Satyamurti. I had a long discussion on the question with Shri Purushottamdas Tandon during his recent visit to Wardha.

After all these discussions and study of the subject I seem to hold a view perhaps different from those I have heard and read. Mine is derived from my conception of the acceptance of office by Congressmen. When I advised the Working Committee to authorize acceptance of office, the idea was that whilst the letter of the Government of India Act should not be transgressed, its interpretation should be stretched to the farthest limit so as to widen the liberty of the people and to strengthen the Congress. The Act was not to be worked in the manner conceived by its authors, but while it lasted should be fully used for the advancement of the Congress goal and therefore in a manner least expected by its authors. Such being my conception of office acceptance, British and foreign precedents are of little use to me. Moreover, in the nature of things, they can help us but little for the simple reason that unlike ours the constitutions of the world's Parliaments are not imposed on the respective peoples but are their own creation.

A Congressman who is a member of an Assembly, no matter what office he occupies there, is subject to the discipline of the Congress and has to carry out its instructions from time to time. Therefore, so long as the Government of India Act does not in so many words prohibit it, the Congress may, if it thinks it necessary, require Speakers in the Congress Provinces to take an active part in the politics of the country.

But the Congress, as far as I know, has not considered the question. In my opinion Congressmen who are members of Assemblies, whether as mere members or Ministers or Speakers, have in every act of theirs to bear in mind the fact that they have, in virtue of the Congress constitution, to conform to truth and non-violence. Thus the conduct of a Congressman in an Assembly would have to be that of strictest honesty and courtesy in dealing with his opponents. He will not resort to shady politics, will not hit below the belt, will never take a mean advantage of his adversary. The greater his position in the Assembly, the greater is his responsibility in these matters. A member in the Assembly no doubt represents his constituency and his party but he also represents the whole of his province. A Minister no doubt advances his own party but never at the expense of the nation as a whole. Indeed he advances the Congress only so far as he advances the nation. For he knows that if he has no sword to give battle to the foreign ruler, he has it not to give battle to his adversary inside the nation itself. And since the Assembly is the place where all communities meet together willy-nilly, it is the place where by winning over his opponents he expects to forge sanctions which can be made irresistible. All the problems that affect the body politic including communal unity can be solved if the Assembly is regarded not merely in terms of the Government of India Act but as an instrument to be used for solving questions which representatives of different communities composing the nation can be expected to solve if they had unrestricted powers. And the Government of India Act does not prevent the use of the Assemblies for solving the many problems which are outside its scope but which are necessary for national progress.

Looked at from the point of view here suggested, the Speaker's position assumes very high importance, greater than that of the Prime Minister. For he has to discharge the functions of a judge while he occupies the chair. He has to give impartial and just rulings. He has to enforce decorum and laws of courtesy between members. He has to be calm in the midst of storms. He has opportunities of winning over opponents which no other member of the House can possibly have.

Now if a Speaker outside the House ceases to be impartial and indulges in party polemics, he cannot possibly carry the weight he would if he observed impartiality and calmness everywhere. I claim that if a Speaker cultivates the habit of uniform impartiality outside his own very limited sphere, he will enhance the Congress prestige. He can, if he realizes the unique opportunity his office gives him, pave the way for the solution of the Hindu-Muslim tangle as also many others. Thus in my opinion the Speaker, if he has to be that not only inside but outside the House, must be a first-class Congressman. As a man too he has to have a character without reproach. He must be able, fearless, naturally just, and above all truthful and non-violent in thought, word and deed. Then he may stand on any platform he likes.

Harijan, 16-7-1938

233. SOME OBJECTIONS

A Muslim correspondent writes:

During the last four months opinions have been appearing in the Urdu Press regarding the Wardha scheme. As usual nobody seems to have read the report carefully or to have thought out the subject of basic education. The objections centre round three points:

- (a) that religious instruction has been completely ignored;
- (b) that boys and girls are to be taught together; and
- (c) that a respect for all religions is to be inculcated.

These objections have been culled from the Urdu Press.

Religious instruction in the sense of denominational religion has been deliberately omitted. Unless there is a State religion it is very difficult, if not impossible, to provide religious instruction as it would mean providing for every denomination. Such instruction is best given at home. The State should allow enough time for every child to receive such instruction at home or otherwise. It is also conceivable that the State should provide facilities for private tuition by those denominations which may wish to instruct their children at school provided that such instruction is paid for by such denominations.

As for co-education, the Zakir Husain Committee has not made it compulsory. Where there is a demand for a separate school for girls, the State will have to make provision. The question of co-education has been left open. It will regulate itself according to the time-spirit. So far as I am aware the members of the Committee were not all of one mind. Personally I have an open mind. I think that there are just as valid reasons for as against co-education. And I would not oppose the experiment wherever it is made.

As to the necessity of teaching equal regard for all religions, I personally hold strong views. Till we reach that happy state, I see no prospect of real unity among all the different communities. I regard it as fatal to the growth of a friendly spirit among the children belonging to the different faiths if they are taught either that their religion is superior to every other or that it is the only true religion. If that exclusive spirit is to pervade the nation, the necessary corollary would be that there should be separate schools for every denomination with freedom to each to decry every other, or that the mention of religion must be entirely prohibited. The result of such a policy is too dreadful to contemplate. Fundamental principles of ethics are common to all religions. These should certainly be taught to the children and that should be regarded as adequate religious instruction so far as the schools under the Wardha scheme are concerned.

234. A FALLACY

An A.I.S.A. agent asks what he is to say to his co-workers who have formed a union and presented him with terms. I regard the formation of such unions a fallacy. The workers have evidently missed the scope and the message of the A.I.S.A. It is a philanthropic organization formed by the Congress and has been given an autonomous charter for the specific purpose of developing the central village industry of hand-spinning and all it implies. Those who are engaged in this voluntary organization not only derive no pecuniary advantage from it but are expected, if they can, to give their labour free of any hire. And since in this the poorest country in the world many persons cannot do so, a large number are paid an emolument only enough to sustain them. Whilst every attempt is made to make them comfortable, they are not regarded as employees in the ordinary sense. There are no profits shared by anyone. If there are shareholders or proprietors, they are the spinners, weavers and the like. Even the consumers are not beneficiaries. They are expected to wear khadi not because it is cheaper or better to look at than mill cloth, but because it gives employment to the largest number of half-starved half-employed persons, mostly women. The whole of the takings go to these dumb artisans after deducting the salaries and other expenses incurred in running this vast philanthropic organization.

If, therefore, any body of workers form unions as against the Association, they are against the artisans. What they take has to come out of the pockets of the artisans or the consumers. It would be manifestly absurd to tax the consumers in the interest of the workers. Will they, the workers, not realize that the agents are themselves as much workers as they themselves? In several cases the agents are purely honorary. It is of course a different thing where an agent is found to be going beyond his sphere of duty and acting as if he was the lord and master of, instead of being co-worker with, the men working with and under him. In such a case the workers have their remedy through the central office but surely not through unions after the orthodox style. In the one case they are a necessity, in the other they are not only superfluous, but they are, as I have said above, a fallacy and, if persisted in on a wide scale, they may kill the Association of which they are part creators and trustees.

Harijan, 16-7-1938

235. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

SEGAON,
July 17, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

This will be my last.

Your advice can't be accepted. You do not know the facts. You have exaggerated everything. I believe I am slowly finding my way. I have imposed silence on myself without limit of time, to be broken at will. I do break it to see people to whom I must give appointments or to those here who may be ill or when I must speak to express my wants. This answers my purpose well. It enables me to conserve my energy and go through my work. Do not be alarmed. I shall break it to speak to you. I am quite sure that your sadness will leave you as soon as you reach Segaoon. Of course you are coming here 23rd evening, if weather permits your coming.

There is nothing the matter with me. The B. P. keeps fairly steady. I take my walks regularly.

The rest from Sharda.

Vijaya went to her home yesterday. Balkrishna went to Varoda today.

Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3871. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7027

236. LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR

July 17, 1938

CHI. LILA,

You will have tried the remedies I suggested. Constipation must be cured.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11607

237. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

July 17, 1938

CHH. MAHADEV,

The article about khadi with my revisions is enclosed. I am sending other material also. Your notes are of course there.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11607

238. LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 18, 1938

BHAI VALLABHBHAI,

Sheriff¹ spent nearly an hour and a half with me yesterday. He showed me during our talk the correspondence he has had with you. He wanted to know why you had not replied whether or not you had written to Sir Manmath² regarding him. I told him that you would never write to Sir Manmath. All the same I promised to find out from you. Please let me know now.

I have drafted the reply to be sent to Jinnah. You will read it when you come.

About the rest, Mahadev writes to you from time to time.

Blessings from
BAPU

[From Gujarati]

Bapuna Patro-2: Sardar Vallabhbhains, p. 221

¹ Minister for Law and Justice in the Congress Ministry of Central Provinces. He had recommended to the Governor the release, on ground of mercy, of certain persons convicted of rape of a thirteen-year-old Harijan girl. The Working Committee had decided that he should resign from the Ministry.

² Manmathnath Mukherjee, a retired judge of the Calcutta High Court, who had been entrusted, on Gandhiji's advice, with an inquiry into Sheriff's case. His verdict was against Sheriff.

239. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

SEGAON,
July 18, 1938

CHL. VIJAYA,

You must have reached there safely. I hope the journey was comfortable. Ba's verandah looks deserted without you. Sushila seems to have lost her occupation. Remember that crying is prohibited. I am awaiting your letter. Sushila and Arun arrived yesterday.

Blessings from
BAPU

SHRI VIJAYABEHN
C/O NARANBHAI VALLABHBHAI
VAROD, via BARDOLI

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7088. Also C.W. 4580.
Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

240. LETTER TO PRABHAVATI

July 18, 1938

CHI. PRABHA,

I got your letter. You are silly. Who told you that only the educated have intelligence? What is education? Do they not send you Harijan, etc., at Siwan? Today, of course, I am sending the copies from here. If you are eager to study, there is still time. You have not yet become old. Come here from Malabar if you can. Probably I shall be here then. Kanti has gone to Bangalore and Saraswati to Trivandrum.

You can find solitude, or whatever you call it, only here. Siwan, Patna, etc., may be all right for service, but during the rest of the time you should stay only here. I will cure you of your despondency. Do not ruin your health completely. I must hear from you once a week at least.

Manilal's Sushila came yesterday. Vijaya has gone to Bardoli with her father. There is thus rise and fall in the tide.

Balkoba went away yesterday to live in the hut at Varoda. Anasuya gave birth to a son three days ago.

I am all right. I continue to take milk and fruit—mangoes, if available, otherwise prunes and mosambis.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 3516

241. LETTER TO MUNNALAL G. SHAH

July 18, 1938

CHI. MUNNALAL,

What you write about light is correct. But some inconveniences have to be endured. Often they are remedied by themselves while we put up with them. It is not proper that I should interfere in such matters. You yourself should find a way out patiently and with love. Don't you think this is the right thing?

I have written a letter to Nana after my talk with Kanchan.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8572. Also C.W. 7030. Courtesy: Munnalal G. Shah

242. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

July 18, 1938

CHI. KRISHNACHANDRA,

Your question is relevant when considering brahmacharya. Whether procreation by itself is right or not is a separate issue. We can even question whether it is right for a brahmachari to engage in any activity at all. But the problem before us is to determine when brahmacharya is violated. I hold that no violation of brahmacharya occurs when a man does anything while remaining free of passion and attachment. The vital fluid is power and its proper use does not impair brahmacharya; this is the assumption underlying my interpretation.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4295; also S.G. 65

243. LETTER TO SARASWATI

July 18, 1938

CHI. SARU,

Your letter is very good. Continue thus to say what is in your heart. Remain cheerful. We should live as God wills. A few years will soon pass and then pangs of separation will be forgotten. You will in any case meet Kanti through the letters. This separation is only for the good of you two. You can come to me when you have become stabilized. Sending you away only gave me pain. I had built such high hopes. I was to teach you everything and listen to your singing but God willed otherwise.

What harm can there be in Sharda's reading your letters? Your letters are so innocent. But I shall withhold them from her unless you give your permission. Sharda is a serious-minded girl. She is not the one to blabber unnecessarily.

Your health must be better. Sushila Gandhi has arrived with Arun. Sita is at Akola.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 6167. Also. C.W. 3440. Courtesy:
Kantilal Gandhi

244. LETTER TO AGATHA HARRISON

SEGAON, WARDEHA,
July 19, 1938

MY DEAR AGATHA,

Here is a letter received by Dr. Shaukatullah Shah from H.E.'s office about Harold Ansari. Poor Shaukatullah has not yet built up any practice worth the name. He has sent all the money he could scrape together. And now he has nothing. He and Zohra, Dr. Ansari's daughter, were with me for two days. Shaukatullah had drafted a reply which I advised him not to send. Now I would like you or Polak to find out and tell me what this Education Department is and what is its function. Does it help students in distress? I am anxious to find the money here. But this is a difficult case. In any case Harold's studies must not suffer. If therefore the Department can make an advance, they should do so in the hope of recovering it from the heirs or Harold himself when he begins to earn. If you know Harold and his mother, do please get in touch with them and guide me. I am writing to Harold too. I have never met the boy. Of course I knew nothing of Dr. Ansari's domestic affairs.

I am sending you the papers Dr. S. has left with me. Please return after use.

Love.

BAPU

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

245. LETTER TO NAWAB OF BHOPAL

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 19, 1938

DEAR NAWAB SAHEB,

Zohra and Shaukat were with me for two days. They left yesterday. It was distressing to learn from them that they were unable to discharge the obligations left by Dr. Ansari. His boy Harold has to finish his education. Harold's mother has to be supported. This means £35 per month for 3 years at the end of which Harold should finish his education. Dr. Ansari has left petty debts amounting to Rs. 12,000. I know the intimate friendship that existed between you and the late Dr. Ansari. I know too that you sent some help after Dr. Ansari's death.

But as Zohra and Shaukat were talking to me I could not help thinking of you and asking you to come to the rescue if it is at all possible for you to do so. I hardly need add anything by way of pleading this cause. For I know that you had known Dr. Ansari before I had the privilege of knowing him.

I hope you are keeping excellent health.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

246. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

July 19, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

You do not seem to have got the mail sent from here in the morning by the time you sent the mail from there. It contained four letters and a list of medicines for Sushila.

You did right in not coming. When there is no work, you can skip the day.

The Danish engineer has captivated my heart. One does not come across many such frank faces.

I am sending with this some other letters. "Skill overhead" is all right. As we reduce "overhead charges", we increase "overhead skill". But if "skill overhead" does not seem correct English, you may change it suitably after understanding the meaning.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11608

247. LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 19, 1938

CHI. KANTI,

I hope you reached there safely and are not worrying. It was very good indeed that you came. There was a long and fine letter from Saraswati. I knew only this time that she could write. She seems to feel quite at home with me. She feels the separation from you a good deal but is trying to bear it. Sushila and Arun have arrived. Do you not write to Prabhavati? Do write. She is in Patna.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.W. 7341. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

¹ Vide "Duty of Khadi-weavers", pp. 198-200, where Gandhiji has used this expression.

248. LETTER TO MANILAL GANDHI

July 19, 1938

CHI. MANILAL,

I got your letters. So far I have not been able to write to you. It is now three days since Sushila and Arun arrived here. Arun is all the time asking to be taken to Akola. We hope he will calm down by and by.

I understand your anguish. Do what you think is proper. Consider calmly all the pros and cons and do what you feel it is best to do.

Do not worry about things here. It is good that Ramdas has come and stayed here for a few days.

My health, one may say, is quite good. Ba also is fine. Segaoon is rather crowded just now. It is difficult to manage in the rainy season. There is not sufficient room for sleeping. But God helps us to manage somehow.

Hanna is unfit for this place. She has a very delicate constitution. She is not able to put up with any discomfort. She cannot digest the food either. She will leave on the third.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 4877

249. LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI

SEGAON,

July 19, 1938

CHI. NARANDAS,

I have sent something¹ for Harijanbandhu as per your suggestion. It is a good beginning.

If the atmosphere there is congenial, it would be good to visit the Harijan colony and take up the welfare work. But this should be done only if persons other than those already engaged in the spinning yajna volunteer. All the activities are likely to fail if only one group tries to conduct them. Do not therefore take up anything unless it is supported by your own experience. I have merely suggested it for the sake of variety. Otherwise, the real object of celebrating Rentia Baras is to concentrate on the charkha alone during this period.¹

¹ Vide "Notes", p. 202.

About Purushottam², I will write in my letter to Jamna³.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./II. Also G.W. 8545.
Courtesy: Narandas Gandhi

250. LETTER TO CHHAGANLAL JOSHI

SEGAON,
July 19, 1938

CHI. CHHAGANLAL,

If you had not asked the questions which you did,⁴ I would have been really pained and you would have committed an offence.

I am in correspondence with Rajaji on the subject of popularizing Hindi. I also have not understood his policy. It would not be proper to rush to the Press before understanding his point of view.

Ministers may certainly be criticized in public, but the criticism should be balanced and well informed. No opinion should be formed on the basis of Press reports and, before criticizing, one should seek clarification from the Minister one wishes to criticize.

The shortcomings which you point out in the behaviour of satyagrahis really exist. Read the article⁵ which I have written for the next issue of Harijan about the causes of such shortcomings.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 5545

¹ The programme chalked out by the addressee on the occasion of 69th birthday of Gandhiji called for 69 days' spinning.

² Addressee's son

³ Addressee's wife

⁴ Vide "Letter to Chhaganlal Joshi", pp. 147-9.

⁵ Vide pp. 194-8.

251. LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 19, 1938

BHAI VALLABHBHAI,

These two friends belong to the Quilon Bank¹. They wish to tell you their story and also want your advice.² Give them some time. It is a sad story.

They want to see Sir Purushottamdas also. I have given them a note.

Blessings from
BAPU

[From Gujarati]

Bopuna Patro-2: Sardar Vallabhbhai, p. 222

252. LETTER TO SAMPURNANAND

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 19, 1938

BHAI SAMPURNANAND,

What is this news item about a Congress platoon of 10,000 to be formed in Farrukhabad? If an armed platoon is envisaged, is it compatible with the Congress creed of non-violence?

Yours,
M. K. GANDHI

From Hindi: C.W. 10132. Courtesy: Kashi Vidyapith, Varanasi

¹ One of the larger banks of Travancore

² Vide also "Letter to Mahadev Desai", p. 187.

253. TO SEGAON WORKERS

July 19, 1938

A painful incident occurred today. A boy was grazing cows near our field. Balwantsinha tried to dissuade him and on his refusal gave him a push. This is a matter of shame for us. I have told the villagers that if Balwantsinha does this kind of thing again he shall leave Segaoon. We must understand that we are servants not masters and we can live here only through the kindness of the villagers. We have no right at all to swear at or touch anyone.

BAPU

From Hindi: C.W. 4674

254. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

9 p.m., July 19, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Give the two friends from Travancore the accompanying two letters, one¹ is addressed to Vallabhbbhai and the other² to Sir Purushottamdas.

The friend from Denmark seemed to me to be an excellent man. I have already written you this, but his face is still before my eyes and so you find me mentioning it again.

Some other letters also are enclosed.

Blessings from
BAPU

[P.S.]

Urgent

If two commodores can be spared from Maganwadi, send them here and also the two thin mattresses belonging to Nimu.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11609

¹ Vide p. 186.

² Not traceable

255. LETTER TO BALWANTSINHA

July 20, 1938

CHI. BALWANTSINHA,

There is only one solution. You must swallow the bitter pill of yesterday¹ and keep up the effort to overcome your anger. Nothing is too much for the sake of goseva. No one can be angry by himself. Anger can be mastered only where it is generated. Do you not agree? We are servants. How can a servant raise his hand against the master?

I know Ganpatrai.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I am returning your letter.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 1907

256. LETTER TO DEVDAS GANDHI

SEGAON,
July 21, 1938

CHI. DEVDAS,

A letter was published in The Hindustan Times about Shuaib which he has sent to me. He has also sent me a copy of his letter to you. That letter should not have been published without being shown to Shuaib. I have written to him that you must not have seen it at all. As far as possible, such letters should not be published without being shown to you. You must have now published, without giving Shuaib's name, the facts sent by him. If you have not, do so now. You must have asked "Fair play" why he sent such a report. If he sticks to his report, you may then write to Shuaib and inform him accordingly.

We are after all in the midst of a raging fire.² You will see in the next issue of Harijan what I have been able to write ultimately.³ I have completely changed the approach.

¹ Vide "To Segon Workers", p. 187.

² Presumably the reference is to the ministerial crisis in C.P.

³ Vide "Functions of the Working Committee", 6-8-1938.

These days I am generally observing silence. I speak only when absolutely necessary. The practice suits me very well.

Sushila and Arun are here. Kallenbach's niece also is here. Rajkumari is coming here the day after tomorrow for three days.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 20004

257. LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI

July 21, 1938

CHI. KANTI,

You must have received my postcard. I got your letter. It was very good indeed that you did not get angry with Ramachandran. If we go deep into the matter we will find nothing over which to get angry with other people. And, therefore, how can anyone ever have the right to get angry? Is not anger described as a mild form of madness in English? And as the Gita says, its root is kama. I will keep on writing to Saraswati.

It will be very good if you concentrate on your studies.
All of us are well here.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I hope you read Harijan.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7342. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

258. WHAT IS SARVODAYA?¹

SEGAON,
July 21, 1938

Sarvodaya is impossible without satyagraha. The word satyagraha should be understood here in its etymological sense. There can be no insistence on truth where there is no non-violence. Hence the attainment of sarvodaya depends upon the attainment of non-violence. The attainment of non-violence in its turn depends upon tapascharya. Tapascharya, again, should be pure. Ceaseless effort, discretion, etc., should form part of it. Pure tapascharya leads to pure knowledge. Experience shows that although people talk of non-violence, many are mentally so lazy that they do not even take the trouble of familiarizing themselves with the facts. Take an example. India is a poor country. We wish to do away with poverty. But how many people have made a study of how this poverty came about, what its implications are, how it can be removed, etc.? A devotee of non-violence should be full of such knowledge.

¹ Gandhiji sent this message for the first issue of Sarvodaya published by D. B. Kalelkar and Dada Dharmadhikari.

It is the duty of Sarvodaya to create such means and not to enter into controversies. Editors of Sarvodaya should forget Gandhism. There is no such thing as Gandhism. I have not put anything new before India; I have only presented an ancient thing in a new way. I have tried to utilize it in a new field. Hence my ideas cannot be appropriately called Gandhism. We shall adopt truth wherever we find it, praise it wherever we see it, and pursue it. In other words, in every sentence of Sarvodaya, we should catch a glimpse of non-violence and knowledge.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 7680

259. NOTE TO D. B. KALELKAR

SEGAON,
July 21, 1938

Herewith the list of rules with my letter on the subject and an article¹ for Sarvodaya.

You forgot here that article for Harijan. It is also sent herewith.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10909

¹ Vide the preceding item.

260. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

July 21, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

You must have got my postcard. Amritlal is sending the name of the medicine. Try to regain the lost weight. It is raining hard here.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7089. Also C.W. 4581. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

261. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

SEGAON,
July 21, 1938

CHI. KRISHNACHANDRA,

I re-read your letter with care. I think that my answer should have sufficed. The only answer to the question as to when the desire for procreation may be regarded justified is when a couple desires offspring without desiring sexual pleasure. This was believed so in the case of Dasharatha. The whole process has been given the character of dharma.

What you write about the mastery over sexual passion is correct.

My interpretation of "इत्यपि च कर्तव्यम्"¹ is that he who is wholly free from attachment will not kill at all. Thus the expression may be regarded as an exaggeration. My walking up to Wardha may not be called dharma but it is not adharma either. The same is true of the utterance on procreation.

Now this answers all your doubts. If not, put them to me in the form of questions and I shall answer.

One suggestion. My pronouncements should not be taken as authority. They are not all revelations. Some are empirical, some rational. Such utterances have the same status as every other utterance which means that any saying of mine which is not acceptable to your heart or mind may be totally rejected. There will be no need to compile my opinions if you act thus. Does anyone need to compile quotations to realize that the earth is round?

¹ "Even though he slay all these worlds"—Bhagavad Gita, xvm. 17; side Vol. XXXII, p. 339.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4296. Also S.G. 66

262. LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR

July 22, 1938

CHI. LILA,

If you think that by not writing to me you save my time, you are making a mistake. I would be satisfied if you wrote once in a while. If it is necessary for you to take tea for the bowels to move, you may take just enough for that purpose as medicine.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 9590. Also C.W. 6562. Courtesy: Lilavati Asar

263. LETTER TO PRABHAVATI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 22, 1938

CHI. PRABHA,

I got your letter only today and am replying immediately. A letter for Jayaprakash is enclosed. If you want to resort to satyagraha, you must not do so without consulting me. And in any case you must not worry. Do not ruin your health. One's duty is but to try. Worries weaken us in our effort.

Navin has come today.

I am keeping good health. My diet these days consists of two pounds of milk, mosambis, as many as I can eat—at present I eat about ten or eleven daily—and garlic water with jaggery thrice a day. I feel better with this diet.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 3517

264. LETTER TO JAYAPRAKASH NARAYAN

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 22, 1938

BHAI JAYAPRAKASH,

Prabha writes in great distress that you totally neglect your health. The decision to go to Malabar also seems to be cracking up. After all even for your own work preservation of health is necessary. I would request you to go for the sake of Prabha's peace if not for any other reason. Her health too is not good. But she will automatically improve when you get well.

I hope you will follow my advice.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 3518

265. LETTER TO R.

July 22, 1938

BHAI R.¹,

Balkrishna conveyed to me your message. I find your case similar to that of a man living in the midst of fire yet pleading to be protected from fire. I think you should satisfy your sexual desire through G.² This is the way of the world. Those who want to be free of passion cannot do so by merely wishing it. The wish must be accompanied by incessant effort. This is beyond you. This is what I feel. If your heart indicates another way and you can master your sexual impulses I for one shall be extremely happy.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 212

^{1&2} The names have been omitted.

266. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

8 p.m., July 22, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I forgot to give today three of the accompanying letters. I did not look into the pad.

I hope you remember that Rajkumari is coming tomorrow, the 23rd. She is arriving by the Grand Trunk Express. Come after making arrangements for receiving her at the station. If it is raining, she should be detained there.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11610

267. HOW NON-VIOLENCE WORKS

A Congress leader said to me the other day in the course of our conversation, "How is it that in quality the Congress is not what it used to be in 1920-25? It has deteriorated. Ninety per cent of the members are not carrying out the Congress discipline. Can you not do something to mend this state of things?"

The question is apposite and timely. I can't shirk responsibility by saying I am no longer in the Congress. I have gone out of it for the purpose of serving it better. I know that I still influence the Congress policy. As the author of the Congress constitution of 1920 I must hold myself responsible for such deterioration as is avoidable.

The Congress started with an initial handicap in 1920. Very few believed in truth and non-violence as a creed. Most members accepted them as a policy. It was inevitable. I had hoped that many would accept them as their creed after they had watched the working of the Congress under the new policy. Only some did, not many. In the beginning stages, the change that came over the foremost leaders was profound. Readers will recall the letters from the late Pandit Motilal Nehru and Deshbandhu Das reproduced in Young India. They had experienced a new joy and a new hope in a life of self-denial, simplicity and self-sacrifice. The Ali Brothers had almost become fakirs. As we toured from place to place, I watched with delight the change that was coming over the Brothers. What was true of these four leaders was true of many others whom I can name. The enthusiasm of the leaders had infected the rank and file.

But this phenomenal change was due to the spell of 'swaraj in one year'. The conditions I had attached to the fulfilment of the formula were forgotten. Khwaja Sahab Abdul Majid even went so far as to suggest that, as the general of the satyagraha army, which the Congress had then become and still is (if only Congressmen realize the meaning of satyagraha), I should have made sure that the conditions were such that they would be fulfilled. Perhaps he was right. Only I had no such prevision in me. The use of non-violence on a mass scale and for political purposes was even for myself an experiment. I could not therefore dogmatize. My conditions were meant to be a measure of popular response. They might or might not be fulfilled. Mistakes, miscalculations were always possible. Be that as it may, when the fight for swaraj became prolonged and Khilafat ceased to be a live issue, enthusiasm began to wane, confidence in non-violence even as a policy began to be shaken, and untruth crept in. People who had no faith in the twin virtues or the khadi clause stole in, and many even openly defied the Congress constitution.

The evil has continued to grow. The Working Committee has been making some attempt to purge the Congress of the evil but has not been able to put its foot down and risk the loss of numbers on the Congress register. I myself believe in quality rather than quantity.

But there is no such thing as compulsion in the scheme of non-violence. Reliance has to be placed upon ability to reach the intellect and the heart—the latter rather than the former.

It follows that there must be power in the word of a satyagraha general—not the power that the possession of limitless arms gives, but the power that purity of life, strict vigilance, and ceaseless application produce. This is impossible without the observance of brahmacharya. It must be as full as it is humanly possible. Brahmacharya here does not mean mere physical self-control. It means much more. It means complete control over all the senses. Thus an impure thought is a breach of brahmacharya; so is anger. All power comes from the preservation and sublimation of the vitality that is responsible for creation of life. If the vitality is husbanded instead of being dissipated, it is transmuted into creative energy of the highest order. This vitality is continuously and even unconsciously dissipated by evil, or even rambling, disorderly, unwanted thoughts. And since thought is the root of all speech and action, the quality of the latter corresponds to that of the former. Hence perfectly controlled thought is itself power of the highest potency and can become self-acting. That seems to me to be the meaning of the silent prayer of the heart. If man is after the image of God, he has but to will a thing in the limited sphere allotted to him and it becomes. Such power is impossible in one who dissipates his energy in any way whatsoever, even as steam kept in a leaky pipe yields no power. The sexual act divorced from the deliberate purpose of generation is a typical and gross form of dissipation and has therefore been specially and rightly chosen for condemnation. But in one who has to organize vast masses of mankind for non-violent action the full control described by me has to be attempted and virtually achieved.

This control is unattainable save by the grace of God. There is a verse in the second chapter of Gita which freely rendered means: "Sense effects remain in abeyance whilst one is fasting or whilst the particular sense is starved, but the hankering does not cease except when one sees God face to face."¹ This control is not mechanical or temporary. Once attained it is never lost. In that state vital energy is stored up without any chance of escaping by the innumerable outlets.

It has been said that such brahmacharya, if it is at all attainable, can be so only by cave-dwellers. A brahmachari, it is said, should never see, much less touch a woman. Doubtless a brahmachari may not think of, speak of, see or touch a woman lustfully. But the prohibition one finds in books on brahmacharya is mentioned without the important adverb. The reason for the omission seems to be that man is no impartial judge in such matters, and therefore cannot say when he is or is not affected by such contacts. Cupid's visitations are often unperceivable. Difficult though therefore brahmacharya is of observance when one freely mixes with the world, it is not of much value if it is attainable only by retirement from the world.

Anyway, I have practised brahmacharya for over thirty years with considerable success though living in the midst of activities. After the decision to lead the life of a brahmachari there was little change in my outward practice, except with my wife. In the course of my work among the Indians in South Africa, I mixed freely with women. There was hardly an Indian woman in the Transvaal and Natal whom I did not know. They were so many sisters and daughters to me. My brahmacharya was not derived from books. I evolved my own rules for my guidance and that of those who, at my invitation, had joined me in the experiment. If I have not followed the prescribed restrictions, much less have I accepted the description found even in religious literature of woman as the source of all evil and temptation. Owing as I do all the good there may be in me to my mother, I have looked upon woman never as an object for satisfaction of sexual desire but always with the veneration due to my own mother. Man is the tempter and aggressor. It is not woman whose touch defiles man but he is often himself too impure to touch her. But recently a doubt has seized me as to the nature of the limitation that a brahmachari or brahmacharini should put upon himself or herself regarding contacts with the opposite sex. I have set limitations which do not satisfy me. What they should be I do not know. I am experimenting. I have never claimed to have been a perfect brahmachari of my definition. I have not acquired that control over my thoughts that I need for my researches in non-violence. If my non-violence is to be contagious and infectious, I must acquire greater control over my thoughts. There is perhaps a flaw somewhere which accounts for the apparent failure of leadership adverted to in the opening sentence of this writing.

¹ Bhagavad Gita, II. 59

My faith in non-violence remains as strong as ever. I am quite sure that not only should it answer all our requirements in our country, but that it should, if properly applied, prevent the bloodshed that is going on outside India and is threatening to overwhelm the Western world.

My aspiration is limited. God has not given me the power to guide the world on the path of non-violence. But I have imagined that he has chosen me as His instrument for presenting non-violence to India for dealing with her many ills. The progress already made is great. But much more remains to be done. And yet I seem to have lost the power to evoke the needed response from Congressmen in general. It is a bad carpenter who quarrels with his tools. It is a bad general who blames his men for faulty workmanship. I know I am not a bad general. I have wisdom enough to know my limitations. God will give me strength enough to declare my bankruptcy if such is to be my lot. He will perhaps take me away when I am no longer wanted for the work which I have been permitted to do for nearly half a century. But I do entertain the hope that there is yet work for me to do, that the darkness that seems to have enveloped me will disappear, and that, whether with another battle more brilliant than the Dandi March or without, India will come to her own demonstrably through non-violent means. I am praying for the light that will dispel the darkness. Let those who have a living faith in non-violence join me in the prayer.

Harijan, 23-7-1938

268. DUTY OF KHADI-WEARERS

I have before me several letters, some protesting against the constant rise in the price of khadi, and some piteously appealing to me to show the way to poor middle-class people for buying dear khadi.

The A.I.S.A. exists only for the betterment of the khadi producers, the majority of whom are poor women spinners. I hold that the Association cannot be satisfied till every woman who puts in an honest hour in spinning gets one anna per hour. We are on the point of reaching half an anna per hour, and if the consumers and the Congress Governments do their duty, the Association expects to give the anna per hour much earlier than most people expect.

This must mean some rise in the price of khadi, but not a proportionate rise. City people should know that ceaseless effort is being made to evoke greater skill among the artisans so that the whole of the increase in the wages may not fall upon khadi. Overhead charges are also being constantly reduced. Skill overhead increases with experience. But sixteen times increase in the wages of spinners cannot all be brought about merely by increased efficiency. Therefore some rise in the price of khadi is inevitable with the increase in the wages. This is being unequally distributed among the different varieties so that the heaviest rise will take place in the khadi that is purchased by the monied classes. Everything that can be done to ease the burden on poor buyers is being done and will be done by the Association.

But khadi-wearers should know that the economics of khadi are different from the ordinary economics which are based on competition in which patriotism, sentiment and humanity play little or no part. Khadi economics are based on patriotism sentiment and humanity.

Before the new policy of the Association was laid down, its aim was to cheapen khadi, mostly in disregard of the wages of the spinners, the most helpless artisans perhaps in the world. This continued for nearly a decade. It was a mistaken policy, but the mistake was unconscious and based on faulty reasoning. I must take the largest share of the blame for the mistake. Khadi-wearers had the sole benefit of the mistake. Is it right for them to complain when the mistake is being repaired and the spinners are gradually being paid what is their due?

The Association has expected hearty co-operation from the khadi-wearers and I am glad to be able to say that on the whole the increase in the price of khadi has not been resented by them. Many consider it a privilege that they are partners in the tardy justice that is being done to the dumb sisters whose need is infinitely greater than that of the wearers of khadi.

I know that there are many middle-class persons who find it difficult to make the two ends meet, and for them every additional anna becomes a problem. And they will not spin. They have my sympathy. But they cannot have it both ways. If they will not spin, they should cut down their requirements or reduce other expenses. In this climate we do not need the clothes we use. Where there is a will there is a way.

A correspondent suggests that khadi is mainly supported by the poor middle class, and contends that if the prices are not brought down to the level at which they can buy it, it will not survive me. If that is the condition on which alone khadi can live, it deserves to predecease me. Happily there is a fallacy behind the argument. The question of cheapness mainly affects the city-dwellers. If all of them, rich and poor, took to khadi, they could hardly use more than ten per cent of the possible production of khadi. The rest has to be used by the producers themselves who are villagers. The question of price does not affect them materially, if at all. It is true that khadi has not penetrated the villages to the extent expected. During the transition period, therefore, it has to depend upon the patriotic spirit of city-dwellers both rich and poor. Those who believe in the message of khadi will not consider any price too dear for khadi. It is the only real insurance against famine and unemployment. Even if India were to be industrialized overnight, much of the unemployment would remain. In this country the problem is to find work for a whole nation which has one-fourth of her time without occupation. If pestilence, poverty and bloodshed are to be avoided, there is no remedy but khadi and other village industries. Those who believe in this mission of khadi and who believe also in a living wage being paid to the spinners, will not grudge the increase that has to be made in the price of khadi. They may rely upon the Association moving with the utmost caution. The past two years' experience warrants the hope that the public welcome the increase in the wages that the spinners are receiving.

Harijan, 23-7-1938

269. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

July 23, 1938

MY DEAR AMRIT,

Pray don't come tonight. The weather is awful. Wet, wet, wet everywhere. Tomorrow you will come anyhow, unless of course you are ill and it is raining hard as it is now. Your corner is of course reserved.

Love.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 9633. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 6442

270. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

July 23, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

You were wise not to come. It is wet all around. Khan Sahab wants to come for the night. It would be better for him not to. He may come tomorrow if it is dry or after the Working Committee meeting. Even the cot meant for him is not here. Rajkumari also should not come tonight. I think it is impossible to bring the car. It is certainly risky. She may come tomorrow during day-time. The letters are enclosed.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I completely forgot to send this letter. Fortunately for me, I am able to send it now.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11611

271. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

July 23, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

Since Vasumati has asked for time, you should tell her that you cannot spare more time. Give her fifteen minutes. Explain to her that she can get much in fifteen minutes if she works with concentration.

Do not worry if you cannot at present give help in preparing bhaji. Those who feel hurt by people's criticism become old prematurely. Such persons violate brahmacharya according to my definition of it and those who do so become old.

We should feel unhappy about our own shortcomings. When others impute faults to us we should laugh it away. If they are inclined to listen we can explain to them. It is our duty to explain to those who have formed a wrong opinion about us. We should treat others as if they were our kith and kin.

By all means take Sunday off. On that day you may help in preparing bhaji. Cultivate a sense of humour.

There were four or five mistakes in Dahyalal's Gita recitation yesterday. Observe all such mistakes and correct them. His recitation has certainly improved, but there is scope for further improvement.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10749

272. LETTER TO SARASWATI

July 23, 1938

CHI. CRAZY SURU,

What a letter? You must have had my postcard and the letter¹ as also the telegram² I sent. How can I comfort you? Even if I call you back here you will have no peace in Kanti's absence. I wanted to keep you with me. You are deluding yourself to no purpose. Do not harass Kanti. Let him pursue his studies. There you have your father, mother, grandfather and uncle with you. What more do you want? You will have no rest here even for a day. You will daily exhort me either to send for Kantibhai or to send you to him. What shall I do then? Think well and give up this madness and folly. Do write to me daily if you want to. I never wrote to your uncle: "Save me from Saraswati." Why should I wish to be saved from you? Are you not my beloved daughter? I hope you can read my hand.

¹ Vide p. 181.

² This is not traceable.

Blissings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 6168. Also C.W. 3441. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

273. TO THE KATHIAWAR HARIJAN SEVAK SANGH¹

While sending the foregoing² Shri Narandas writes³:

Shri Narandas also suggests that one half of the amount collected may be donated to Harijan service work, one-fourth to khadi work and one-fourth to the National School. The suggestion has my approval. A total of Rs. 17,000 has already been donated to Harijan service in this manner. The quantity of yarn spun and the amount of money collected have kept on increasing from year to year. If that happens this year, too, all the three causes will receive increased aid. There is, therefore, no doubt that if the men and women engaged in Harijan and khadi service do their work conscientiously, a substantial sum of money will be collected and greater interest will be created in spinning.

[From Gujarati]

Harijanbandhu, 24-7-1938

¹ This was published under "Notes".

² Not translated here. It was an appeal to khadi workers in Saurashtra for their co-operation in the spinning programme of 69 days to celebrate the 69th birthday of Gandhiji on Bhadrapad Vadi 12, according to the Vikram calendar.

³ Not translated here. Narandas had stated in the letter that the spinning programme had been inaugurated in the National School on July 15 with prayers and flag-salutation.

274. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

July 24, 1938

MY DEAR AMRIT,

I don't know whether it is your misfortune or mine. I wrote yesterday a note to you and by my stupidity it was left out. I have been waiting for you all the morning. If you come after 2 p.m. I shall have taken the weekly silence. I see Jivraj¹ is coming with you. I suppose he does not want to hear my voice. He wants to see my face and take the b.p. I hope you are quite fit. How nice if you could walk.

Love.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3634. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 6443

275. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

July 24, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

What weather! I will keep myself ready tomorrow, at 2.45 p.m. I have sent a note to Subhas Babu saying that I am prepared to be present at the bungalow at that time. I would prefer that. I would not like so many dragging themselves here.

The cart is just leaving here. In the last resort Rajkumari may come in that cart. If she is not well, she need not. And if I have to go there tomorrow, she may as well stay there. Here it is wet all around. Navin² has drawn a life-like portrait of Ba. Why need Jivraj go in such weather! His health is more delicate than mine. Do not write too much. I do not like your keeping late hours. I am writing.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I do not understand why Rajagopalachari was to come. Vallabhbhai, therefore, may telegraph to him whatever he thinks proper. There is nothing special for which I should like to give him trouble. Ask Vallabhbhai to reply to me regarding Sheriff.¹ Let me also have his opinion about the will². I hope he is dealing firmly with the C. P. affair. Take out enough from the fruit baskets for your use there.

¹ Dr. Jivraj Mehta

² Son of Vrajlal Gandhi

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11612

276. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

July 24, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

You must have got the two letters sent with the doctor.

Write to Narahari and tell him that Parnerkar cannot be spared. Apart from the moral consideration, he is busy at present in the farming and the co-operative dairy experiments. If he wants, he may have the man sent by Trivedi. You may send the thing to Jugatram over your signature³. Write to Krishnan and ask him to keep me informed. The Trivandrum affair was well settled. I did have fears about Khare. The cart must have reached by now.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11613

277. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

SEGAON,

July 24, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

I got your postcard. I might put up with your not improving here, but I cannot tolerate your not doing so there. Here I will have the satisfaction of giving you intelligent treatment. I do not have any faith in the treatment given to you there. Therefore, take every step after due deliberation. Living entirely on butter-milk is perfectly all right. I might be satisfied if you gave me the details of the vaid's treatment.

¹ Vide "Letter to Vallabhbhai Patel", p. 178.

² Vithalbhai Patel's will in favour of Subhas Chandra Bose

³ The source is obscure here.

The blood-pressure is at my normal level. It remains at about 172/102. I take milk up to 2½ lb. and 9 mesambis. Sometimes the number goes up to eleven. For the last two days I have been having peaches brought by Khan Saheb. He and Rajkumari have come here. They have not met yet because of the rains.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7090. Also C.W. 4582. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

278. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

July 24, 1938

CHI. KRISHNACHANDRA,

Desire for progeny has a place as service has. Some go to the length of prescribing that the seekers of mukti should refrain from any activity whatsoever. But we have not accepted this as our creed. The appointed work must be done without attachment. If a man in full mastery over passion desires offspring he may procreate. We cannot be arbitrary in our judgment.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4297. Also S.G. 67

279. LETTER TO H. L. SHARMA

SEGAON,
July 24, 1938

CHI. SHARMA,

Mahadev does keep writing to you. I can write very little these days. I have to take care of the body. Doing a lot of work in a short time necessitates giving up a great deal of work. There was no special occasion for my writing too. You have had the permission to go to Satis Babu.¹ I hope everything is going on well.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a facsimile of the Hindi in Bapuki Chhayamon Mere Jivanki Solah Varsh, facing p. 271

¹ The addressee was to go to Satis Chandra Das Gupta to learn about cheap remedies for villagers.

280. LETTER TO BALWANTSINHA

July 24, 1938

CHL. BALWANTSINHA,

Water accumulates in a puddle in the southern verandah of Jamnalalji's cottage. Earth or sand should be spread there to form a slope as has been done in my verandah and there should be a gunny screen to keep off water.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 1906

281. LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM

July 25, 1938

CRAZY DAUGHTER,

You created a fine scene today! You conclusively proved that we do not understand each other. I had said I would have roti today as also the vegetable though prepared separately. And you threw away the roti? In what I said there was no suggestion of not taking the roti and vegetable served by you. Such anger! And for what crime! You will gain nothing by being so angry with poor me. It is as well that I am observing silence. Now tell me what I should do? Shall I fast? Or give up all service from you? What is a girl of such a temper not capable of? Why do you not leave me if I am so unworthy? Maybe it is best for you to leave me.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 403

282. LETTER TO P. G. MATHEW

SEGAON,
July 27, 1938

MY DEAR MATHEW,

I have your letter. I shall watch your progress. Hope your mother is on the road to recovery. You left a good book with me.

Love.

BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 1539

283. LETTER TO VALJI G. DESAI

July 27, 1938

CHI. VALJI,

I saw your handwriting after a long time. Mahadev is trying to get that book. There is no truth in what the Bombay doctor says. Countless people protect their teeth with the babul twigs. Yes, there is one thing. Those who go on brushing the gums with a twig and that too without chewing it into a soft brush do cause their gums to recede. But this has no connection with the babul juice. The juice has the quality of strengthening the gums. Pyorrhœa is not caused by external infection but results from internal decay.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I hope the children are well.

SHRI VALJI DESAI
GONDAL
KATHIAWAR

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7479. Courtesy: Valji G. Desai

284. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

SEGAON,
July 27, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

I got your letter. Balkoba has gone to Varoda. He is fine. Get rid of your fever. Try to find out what medicine the vaid is giving you. It is no doubt an advantage to you that the milk there is thin. It means that there is less fat in it.

Khan Saheb has arrived in Wardha. When the work of the [Working] Committee is over, he will come to Segaoon.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7091. Also C.W. 4583. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

285. LETTER TO SARASWATI

SEGAON,
July 27, 1938

CRAZY DAUGHTER SURU,

There has been no letter from you for some three or four days. Write daily until you are well. Remember God and recite the following bhajan:

दोक अक्षर सव कुळ तारे वारी जाई उस नाम के ।
गुळीदास प्रभु राम दवायन और देव सव राम के ॥¹ and repeat Ramanama.

Blessings from
BAPU

From Hindi: C.W. 3442. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

¹ "I dedicate myself to that name, the two letters of which bring salvation to all. The Lord Rama of Tulidas is like a cloud showering mercy, while all other gods need gratification."

286. LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 28, 1938

CHI. KANTI,

I got your letter. I am returning Saraswati's letters. She writes to me also in the same strain. I feel that you two should get married and after marriage, as you suggest, stay separately in Bangalore and observe self-control till your studies are over. But I see positive harm in keeping Saraswati in Bangalore without marriage. After you get married, Saraswati perhaps may not insist on staying with you and may come to me or go to Trivandrum. I am prepared to write to Ramachandran on hearing from you. I have discussed the matter with Navin. If Ramachandran put those questions, it is a painful thing.

If you have given up milk and ghee, you have certainly not done right. It would be duragraha. Resume normal food immediately. If necessary send me a wire.

Saraswati regularly writes to me, and so do I to her.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7343. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

287. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 29, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

Your letter and wire. This is just to tell you all is well here. Too busy to say more. I am in the midst of friends and work.

Hanna still on glucose and oranges.

Love there to the Tyabjis and for yourself.

Yours,
ROBBER

From the original: C.W. 3872. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7028

209

288. LETTER TO C. A. TULPULÉ

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 29, 1938

DEAR FRIEND,

Though the fullest brahmacharya is unattainable whilst one is in the flesh a very near approach is perfectly possible in my opinion. The way to it is yet unexplored. So far as I am concerned I am exploring it in the hope of finding it. What progress I have made makes me hopeful.

The sphere of limitations simply means the limits nature has put upon us as fractions of the Divine. A fraction is not the whole.

If a person has as full control as is possible for a human, his willing affects his surroundings. I have personal experience of that in several instances. It may be argued that correspondence between the willing and the alleged response were mere coincidences. For such doubters I have no reply.

I hope this answers all your questions.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

SHRI C. A. TULPULÉ
TILAK ROAD
POONA CITY

From a copy: C.W. 2898. Courtesy: C.A. Tulpulé

289. A CLARIFICATION

An ex-professor writes a long letter on my article on higher education¹ from which I take the following relevant extracts:

There is need for further clarification of your views on higher education as they have appeared in the Harizon of the 9th inst. I agree with many of your views—especially those regarding the enormity of the damage caused by the foreign medium. I also feel that what passes as higher education today contains much brass mistaken for gold. I speak from experience as I was a teacher in the line of the so-called 'higher education' till very recently. It is your third conclusion about general revenue and claims of higher education and its corollary, viz., that universities should be self-supporting, that has left me unconvinced. I believe that every country to be a progressive country must have sufficient facilities for the pursuit of all branches of knowledge — not merely chemistry, medicine and engineering, but every kind of knowledge—literature, philosophy, history, sociology, both abstract and applied. All higher pursuits require many facilities which cannot be had without State support. A country depending only on voluntary effort for such pursuits is sure to fall behind and suffer. It can never hope to be free and be able to maintain that freedom. The State must be jealously watchful over the position of higher education in all fields. Voluntary effort must be there and we must have our Nuffields and Rockefellers¹. But the State cannot and must not be allowed to remain a silent spectator. It must actively come forward to organize, help and direct. I wish you to clarify this aspect of the question.

¹ Vide pp. 158-63.

You say at the end of your article: "Under my scheme there will be more and better libraries." I do not find the 'scheme' you speak of in your article, nor am I able to make out how 'more and better libraries and laboratories' will come into being thereunder. I am of opinion that such libraries and laboratories must be maintained and so long as donors and voluntary agencies are not coming forward in sufficient numbers, the State cannot divest itself of this responsibility.

My article is clear enough if the expression "definite use" mentioned in it is given its extensive meaning. I have not pictured a poverty-stricken India containing ignorant millions. I have pictured to myself an India continually progressing along the lines best suited to her genius. I do not, however, picture it as a third-class or even a first-class copy of the dying civilization of the West. If my dream is fulfilled, and every one of the seven lacs of villages becomes a well-living republic in which there are no illiterates, in which no one is idle for want of work, in which everyone is usefully occupied and has nourishing food, well-ventilated dwellings and sufficient khadi for covering the body, and in which all the villagers know and observe the laws of hygiene and sanitation, such a State must have varied and increasing needs, which it must supply unless it would stagnate. I can therefore well imagine the State financing all the education my correspondent mentions and much more that I could add. And if the State has such requirements, surely it will have corresponding libraries.

¹ Viscount Nuffield established the Nuffield Foundation for medical, scientific and social research and John D. Rockefeller similarly endowed many charitable corporations for the advancement of learning.

What, however, according to my view the State will not have is an army of B.A.s and M.A.s with their brains sapped with too much cramming and minds almost paralysed by the impossible attempt to speak and write English like Englishmen. The majority of these have no work, no employment. And when they have the latter, it is usually clerkships at which most of the knowledge gained during their twelve years of high school and college is of no use whatsoever to them.

University training becomes self-supporting when it is utilized by the State. It is criminal to pay for a training which benefits neither the nation nor the individual. In my opinion there is no such thing as individual benefit which cannot be proved to be also national benefit. And since most of my critics seem to be agreed that the existing higher education, and for that matter both primary and secondary, are not connected with realities, it cannot be of benefit to the State. When it is directly based on realities and is wholly given through the mother tongue, I shall perhaps have nothing to say against it. To be based on realities is to be based on national, i.e., State, requirements. And the State will pay for it. Even when that happy time comes, we shall find that many institutions will be conducted by voluntary contributions. They may or may not benefit the State. Much of what passes for education today in India belongs to that category and would therefore not be paid for from the general revenue, if I had the way.

But the agreement of my critics on the two main points, medium and the realities, cannot lull me to rest. They have criticized and tolerated all these many years the existing system. Now that the opportunity for reform has come, Congressmen ought to become impatient. If the medium is changed at once and not gradually, in an incredibly short time we shall find text-books and teachers coming into being to supply the want. And if we mean business, in a year's time we shall find that we need never have been party to the tragic waste of the nation's time and energy in trying to learn the essentials of culture through a foreign medium. The condition of success is undoubtedly that provincial languages are introduced at once in Government offices and courts, if the Provincial Governments have the power or the influence over the courts. If we believe in the necessity of the reform, we can achieve it in no time.

290. STATEMENT TO THE PRESS

[July 30, 1938]

With regard to the recent ministerial crisis in C.P., it has been suggested that Dr. Khare was asked to sign a prepared draft containing humiliating admissions. I have no hesitation in saying that this suggestion is baseless. Dr. Khare, accompanied by several members of the Working Committee, came to Segaon on July 25, and after discussion he prepared a statement to be issued to the Press.¹ I made corrections and additions to it, but after reading my corrections and additions he changed his mind and said that he would consult his friends and then decide whether to issue it or not. In my opinion there was nothing humiliating in it, if only because it contained nothing but facts. I hardly think Dr. Khare will dispute this. The best thing, however, is for the public to have the statement itself before it. I invite Dr. Khare to publish a facsimile of it. I have kept no copy of his own with my amendments. He took it with him to Nagpur.

Harijan, 6-8-1938

291. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

July 30, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Herewith a letter to Dr. Khare. Send with it a copy of my statement². I hope you have gone through it closely. Send a copy to me also.

I hope Lilavati is feeling better. She must be wearing the glasses.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11615

¹ For the text of the statement and Gandhiji's corrections, vide Appendix III.

² Vide the preceding item.

292. LETTER TO JAMNALAL BAJAJ

July 30, 1938

OH! JAMNALAL,

You have told somebody here that you wish to come and stay here. If you wish to come, everything is of course ready. But if you are not coming, I should like to keep Kishorelal here for some time. But this does not mean that you should drop the idea of coming. I will ask Kishorelal only if you are not coming. I wish you to visit Ramana Maharshi as early as possible.¹

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 2995

293. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

SEGAON, WARDHA,
July 31, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

This is for the sake of telling you all well again. Khan Saheb is leaving tomorrow. Hanna the day after. Probably Kishorelal will come to stay here for a few days on Tuesday.

Your apples are still being eaten.

Jivraj brought a new thermos yesterday. That is the result of entrusting you with a mission—quite a paying thing!

Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3873. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7029

¹ The addressee called on Ramana Maharshi on August 19, 1938.

294. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

July 31, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I had got word, before you brought it, that David would be coming at 3.

I am replying to Dr. Khare. Send the letter¹ today. What a pitiable condition!

Two other letters also are enclosed.

What The Hindu says about the Governor is strange. I wish to write even more strongly than that.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11616

295. LETTER TO SARASWATI

SEGAON,
July 31, 1938

CHI. CRAZY SURU,

I have your letter. I hope that you have calmed down now. Kanti's letters too keep coming and they cause me anxiety. Why do you despair? Even as regards food you have to build up your health on a regular diet.

Manu has arrived. Sushila has stayed on for two or three days at the Mahila Ashram with Tari. It has stopped raining these days.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 6169. Also C.W. 3443. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

¹ Not traceable

296. INSTRUCTIONS ON PRECAUTIONS AGAINST CHOLERA¹

August 1, 1938

Segaon has cholera. Therefore nothing should be taken by anybody from Segaon. Those who have got cholera may be isolated where they are, unless they could be conveniently shifted elsewhere. No one should be allowed near them except those who have been entrusted with nursing. The latter should be bare-bodied or have special clothes which should be put away when they come into contact with the outside world. They should wash themselves in permanganated water (rose coloured) every time they come in contact with others. All should drink only boiled water and have simple food, rather underfed than overfed. Those who have no scruples may be inoculated.

Send me report through Mahadev. He starts from Maganwadi at about 12.30 p.m. Did Kaka drink nira? It should be stopped for the time being.

The Bombay Chronicle, 12-9-1938

297. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 1, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I have written a rather long article. The typing has not begun yet. It can therefore go only tomorrow. If possible I will send it tonight.

Dhiru is coming tomorrow. Navin will go there today. I have still to read the mail sent by you. I do not know when I shall be able to write about picketing. I am sending Nayakum's article. You will see that I have divided it into two parts. I will have no objection if they are combined.

¹ According to the source D.B. Kalelkar, Narhar Athavale, Pandurang Bhurke, Gajanan Dabke, Murlidhar Sabnis and Shripad Joshi had drunk of unfermented palm juice, nira, on July 30 and on July 31 developed symptoms which the Civil Surgeon of Wardha diagnosed as those of cholera. On August 1 Aryanayakum reported the matter to Gandhiji who wrote out these instructions. Athavale, Bhurke and Dabke later succumbed to the disease.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N, 11618

298. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

[August 1, 1938]¹

CHI. MAHADEV,

Bablo also would require something. Please, therefore, have this. I suppose someone will give the ticket, etc., to Hanna when she goes there. She is to be sent off tomorrow.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11558

299. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

August 1, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

I am in a very great hurry. It is good that you sent the names of the medicines. Observe the rule about writing on a fixed day in the week.

Hanna is leaving tomorrow. Khan Saheb has left. Kishorebhai and Manu are coming tomorrow. And so the number will remain the same.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7092. Also C.W. 4584. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

¹ Vide the following letter in which Gandhiji writes: "Hanna is leaving tomorrow."

300. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

[After August 1, 1938]

CHI. MAHADEV,

Cholera has broken out in Karanji. Help has been sent, but let this man take a note to C. S. He will bring from there medicines, the doctor, etc., whatever is available. Send the post. When will the oranges start coming?

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11557

301. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

August 2, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

Kanu has frightened me. He says you flatly refuse to take medicine. This is not right. Sushila and Amritlal are going there. Having heard that Mahodaya needs help, I am sending Sushila. Take whatever medicine she gives, either oral or for external application. I have told her that she must give no medicine containing non-vegetarian or alcoholic ingredients.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10902

302. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

August 3, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

I have deliberately hardened my heart and am not coming there to you. You need not reply to this letter. Get well soon. Do send for me whenever you consider my presence necessary.

My sandamataran to Bhai Daftari.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10903

303. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

August 3, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

Pandurang and Dabke have gone where all of us will go sooner or later. I kept back this fact from you. But why keep it a secret? It is necessary that you should not let the news affect you. Is not our study of the Gita tested in digesting such news calmly?

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10904

304. TELEGRAM TO PRESIDENT, BURMA
CONGRESS COMMITTEE

[On or before August 5, 1938]¹

YOUR WIRE². I DO NOT KNOW WHAT INFLUENCE I CAN HAVE ON BURMESE FRIENDS. THE RIOTS³ ARE MOST DEPLORABLE WHATEVER THE CAUSE. THEY SHOW THAT WE BOTH HAVE NOT PASSED THE BARBAROUS STAGE. HOW I WISH THE HEADS OF BOTH COMMUNITIES COULD DEVISE WAYS AND MEANS OF AVOIDING A REPETITION OF SUCH TRAGEDIES.

The Hindu, 5-8-1938

¹ The news item reporting this is dated August 5.

² This read: "Happily with the services of Indian and Burmese elders peace is being restored. The Burma Congress Committee believes that a suitable public statement by you will go a great way in removing the misunderstanding, if any, and restoring the original cordial relations and amity between Indians and Burmans."

³ Between Buddhists and Muslims which broke out on July 26. Vide also "Recent Riots in Burma", 20-8-1938.

305. LETTER TO SHAUKATULLA SHAH

August 5, 1938

MY DEAR SHAUKAT,

Since this was written I have your letter. I think we need not worry for the moment. Miss Harrison must have overtaken the immediate need. I am making my effort. Haven't heard from Bhopal.¹

You must set Zohra right.

Love to you both.

BAPU

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

306. LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI

SEGAON,

August 5, 1938

CHI. KANTI,

Mahadev has replied to your letters. I am writing this with the greatest difficulty. I have been thinking a great deal about you. From Saraswati's latest letter which I have received, it seems that she is calm. Ramachandran also writes to say that she is regaining poise. If so, it is very good indeed. I think it is best that Saraswati should stay at Trivandrum at present. All the same I will be ready for all contingencies. You should stop worrying. Whatever is to happen will happen. Keep me informed. Give up your anger towards Ramachandran. Do not distrust him. Your respect for him should not diminish.

Kakasaheb is down with cholera. Chances are he will survive. Chimanlal has been sent to the hospital for an operation for piles. Two very dear co-workers of Kaka died of cholera. Nana Athavale² is also down with it. Such is the position. Manu has come. She is very happy. Write sometimes to Ba.

Blessings from

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7345. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

¹ Vide "Letter to Nawab of Bhopal", p. 182.

² Narhar Lakshman Athavale, a worker of the Mahila Ashram

307. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

SEGAON,
August 5, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

Chimanlal has been sent to hospital for an operation for piles. Please send someone to find out if he requires anything. If you yourself can visit him, do so.

Kaka is all right I hope. Tell him that I have sent a telegram¹ to Bal three days back.

Look after your health.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10752

308. LETTER TO SARASWATI

August 5, 1938

CHI. SARU,

If I am not to call you crazy shall I call you wise? Have you really grown wise? Why would Kanti be uneasy if that were true? Kanti's letters reveal that you are only crazy. Tell me now what I am to believe. Give me all the details: what your diet is, how many hours you sleep, what you study and whether you play the vina. Do you go to school or study at home? Do you keep cheerful?

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Manu has arrived. Kakasaheb has had cholera but I hope he will survive.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 6170. Also C.W. 3444. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

¹ Not traceable

309. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

August 5/6, 1938

CHI. VAJAYA,

I am writing this with great difficulty. As Kakasaheb is down with cholera, Amritlal is at Wardha nursing him. Chimanlal has been sent to the hospital for an operation of piles. Most probably Kishorelal will come tomorrow. Two very devoted young co-workers of Kaka fell victims to cholera and have left this world. Nana of Mahila Ashram has also fallen a prey. I have frequently to go to Wardha. Such is the position. I hope you are improving. Cholera has spread a little in Segaon too.

Blessings from
BAPU

KUMARI VIJAYABEHN

AT NARANBHAI VALLABHBHAI PATEL'S HOUSE
VARAD

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7093. Also C.W. 4585. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

310. FUNCTIONS OF THE WORKING COMMITTEE

Press cuttings on the ministerial crisis in C. P.¹ make most instructive reading. That the resolution of the Working Committee condemning the action of a veteran leader like Dr. Khare would come in for some severe criticism was a foregone conclusion.¹ But I was not prepared for the ignorance betrayed by the critics on the functions of the Working Committee.

¹ The crisis in the C.P. Ministry had begun soon after the assumption of office by the ministry headed by N. B. Khare. First a minister had made recommendation direct to the Governor concerning the release of certain convicts (see footnote 1, p. 178) and later there were differences among ministers leading to tension. In April the Congress Parliamentary Committee managed at a meeting at Pachmarhi to resolve these differences and achieve a settlement. But Khare did not keep the terms of the settlement and continued to function without consulting the Working Committee or the Parliamentary Committee. In order to get rid of certain ministers he submitted his resignation to the Governor and asked the ministers concerned to resign. When they refused to oblige, the Governor dismissed them and later invited Khare to form a new ministry.

Dr. Khare was not only guilty of gross indiscipline in flouting the warnings of the Parliamentary Board, but he betrayed incompetence as a leader by allowing himself to be fooled by the Governor, or not knowing that by his precipitate action he was compromising the Congress. He heightened the measure of indiscipline by refusing the advice of the Working Committee to make a frank confession of his guilt and withdraw from leadership. The Working Committee would have been guilty of gross neglect of duty if it had failed to condemn Dr. Khare's action and adjudge his incompetence. I write these lines in sorrow. It was no pleasure to me to advise the Working Committee to pass the resolution it did. Dr. Khare is a friend. He has run to my aid as a physician when quick medical assistance was needed. He has often come to me for advice and guidance and has expressed himself to be in need of my blessings. I banked on this friendship when, on the 25th ultimo, I appealed to him bravely to stand down and work as a camp-follower. He himself seemed to be willing but he was badly advised, and not only declined to accept the Working Committee's advice but sent a letter instead, questioning the propriety of the whole of the action of the Working Committee in connection with his ill-advised and hasty resignation of office and equally hasty formation of a new Cabinet. I hope that on mature reflection he would have seen the error of his conduct and taken the action of the Working Committee in a sportsmanlike spirit. There is no moral turpitude involved in his action. He is a good fighter. He is free with his purse in helping friends. These are qualities of which anyone may be proud. But these qualities need not make the possessor a good Prime Minister or administrator. I would urge him as a friend to work for the time being as a camp-follower and give the Congress the benefit of the admitted qualities I have recited.

If Dr. Khare was impatient of his recalcitrant colleagues he should have rushed, not to the Governor, but to the Working Committee and tendered his resignation. If he felt aggrieved by its decision, he could have gone to the A.I.C.C. But in no case could any Minister take internal quarrels to the Governor and seek relief through him without the previous consent of the ¹ The Working Committee condemning the action of Khare held him to be "unworthy of holding positions of responsibility in the Congress organization". For the text of the resolution, vide Appendix IV.

Working Committee. If the Congress machinery is slow-moving, it can be made to move faster. If the men at the helm are self-seekers or worthless, the A.I.C.C. is there to remove them. Dr. Khare erred grievously in ignoring or, what is worse, not knowing this simple remedy and rushing to the Governor on the eve of the meeting of the Working Committee to end his agony.

It is suggested that the men who succeed him are self-seekers and incapable, and can make no approach to Dr. Khare in character. If they are as they have been portrayed by their critics, they are bound to fail in the discharge of the onerous responsibility they have undertaken. But here again the Working Committee has to work within the limits prescribed for it. It cannot impose ministers on a province. After all they are elected members, and if the party that has the power to elect them chooses to do so, the Working Committee has no authority to interfere so long as they remain under discipline and are not known to be persons unworthy of public confidence. But the crisis should surely put the Ministers on their mettle. It is up to them to show by their conduct that the charges levelled against them are baseless, and that they are capable of discharging their trust ably and selflessly.

It speaks well for the impartiality of the Indian Press in that several journals found it necessary to condemn the action of the Working Committee in pronouncing the opinion it did on the part H. E. the Governor of C. P. played during the unfortunate crisis. I am not in the habit of hastily judging opponents. The criticism of the resolution has left me unconvinced of any injustice done to the Governor by it. In estimating his action, time is of the essence. In accepting the resignations of Dr. Khare and his two colleagues, in demanding resignations from the other three Ministers, in expecting an immediate answer, in summarily rejecting their explanation and dismissing them, and for this purpose keeping himself, his staff and the poor Ministers awake almost the whole night, the Governor betrayed a haste which I can only call indecent. Nothing would have been lost if instead of accepting Dr. Khare's resignation there and then, he had awaited the meeting of the Working Committee which was to meet two days after the strange drama. In dealing with a similar crisis the Bengal Governor acted differently from the C.P. Governor.

Of course, the Governor's action conformed to the letter of the law, but it killed the spirit of the tacit compact between the British Government and the Congress. Let the critics of the Working Committee's action read the Viceroy's carefully prepared declaration which, among other declarations, induced the Working Committee to try the office experiment, and ask themselves whether the Governor was not bound to take official notice of what was going on between the Working Committee and Dr. Khare and his colleagues. These indisputable facts lead one to the irresistible conclusion that the Governor, in his eagerness to discredit the Congress, kept a vigil and brought about a situation which he knew was to be uncomfortable for the Congress. The unwritten compact between the British Government and the Congress is a gentleman's agreement in which both are expected to play the game.

The resolution therefore gives English administrators more credit than evidently the critics would give. Englishmen are sportsmen. They have ample sense of humour. They can hit hard and take a beating also in good grace. I have no doubt that the Governor will take the Congress resolution in good part.

But whether he does so or not, the Working Committee was bound to express what it felt about the Governor's action. It wishes to avoid a fight if it can; it will take it up if it must. If the fight is to be avoided, the Governors must recognize the Congress as the one national organization that is bound some day or other to replace the British Government. The U.P., the Bihar and the Orissa Governors waited for the Congress lead when a crisis faced them. No doubt, in the three cases, it was obviously to their interest to do so. Is it to be said that in C.P. it was obviously to the British interest to precipitate the crisis in order to discomfit the Congress? The Working Committee resolution is a friendly warning to the British Government that if they wish to avoid an open rupture with the Congress, the powers that be should not allow a repetition of what happened at Nagpur on the night of the 20th July.

Let us understand the functions of the Congress. For internal growth and administration, it is as good a democratic organization as any to be found in the world. But this democratic organization has been brought into being to fight the greatest imperialist power living. For this external work, therefore, it has to be likened to an army. As such it ceases to be democratic. The central authority possesses plenary powers enabling it to impose and enforce discipline on the various units working under it. Provincial organizations and Provincial Parliamentary Boards are subject to the central authority.

It has been suggested that, whilst my thesis holds good when there is active war in the shape of civil resistance going on, it cannot whilst the latter remains under suspension. But suspension of civil disobedience does not mean suspension of war. The latter can only end when India has a Constitution of her own making. Till then the Congress must be in the nature of an army. Democratic Britain has set up an ingenious system in India which, when you look at it in its nakedness, is nothing but a highly organized efficient military control. It is not less so under the present Government of India Act. The Ministers are mere puppets so far as the real control is concerned. The collectors and the police, who 'sir' them today, may at a mere command from the Governors, their real masters, unseat the Ministers, arrest them and put them in lock-up. Hence it is that I have suggested that the Congress has entered upon office not to work the Act in the manner expected by the framers but in a manner so as to hasten the day of substituting it by a genuine Act of India's own coining.

Therefore the Congress conceived as a fighting machine has to centralize control and guide every department and every Congressman, however highly placed, and expect unquestioned obedience. The fight cannot be fought on any other terms.

They say this is fascism pure and simple. But they forget that fascism is the naked sword. Under it Dr. Khare should lose his head. The Congress is the very antithesis of fascism, because it is based on non-violence pure and undefiled. Its sanctions are all moral. Its authority is not derived from the control of panoplied black-shirts. Under the Congress regime Dr. Khare can remain the hero of Nagpur, and the students and citizens of Nagpur, and for that matter other places, may execrate me or/and the Working Committee without a hair of the demonstrators' heads being touched so long as they remain non-violent. That is the glory and strength of the Congress—not its weakness. Its authority is derived from that non-violent attitude. It is the only purely non-violent political organization of importance, to my knowledge, throughout the world. And let it continue to be the boast of the Congress that it can command the willing and hearty obedience from its followers, even veterans like Dr. Khare, so long as they choose to belong to it.

Harijan, 6-8-1938

311. LETTER TO MANGALDAS PAKVASA

SEGAON,
August 6, 1938

BHAI MANGALDAS,

I got your letter too late to be able to send you my blessings on the 3rd. You did not give either your son's or his bride's name. The marriage celebration must have passed off without any trouble. Please convey my blessings to both. May both of them devote themselves to service and may God grant them long lives.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 4680. Courtesy: Mangaldas Pakvasa

312. NOTE TO KRISHNACHANDRA

August 6, 1938

I understand. I shall not keep you away from serving me. Do sleep when you feel sleepy. It will be good if you give up trying to get up at night. I shall wake you up if I feel the need. You must fix the quantity of your food, More on hearing the details regarding the piles.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4298. Also S.G. 68

313. TO SEGAON WORKERS

August 6, 1938

We should bear in mind the following:

1. Spittle is also excretion. Therefore we must never clean the utensils where we spit or wash our soiled hands.

2. We should not use water direct from the tap as it wastes water and not many people can use the tap at the same time. Therefore everyone must collect the water he needs in a lota.

3. No one should brush his teeth at the place meant for washing hands and mouth. The teeth must be brushed at a separate place and the mouth rinsed with water from a lota. Brushing of the teeth too should be done near a hedge or where people do not happen to walk.

4. We should never spit or blow the nose on the paths.

BAPU

From a copy of the Hindi: C.W. 4674

314. LETTER TO H. J. KHANDEKAR

[Before August 7, 1938]¹

I would urge you not to enforce your threat.² It would be an abuse of satyagraha.³ You cannot impose a Harijan on the Ministry. You can agitate in a peaceful manner for the inclusion of a Harijan in the cabinet, if you are satisfied that among the members of the C. P. Assembly there is a competent Harijan prepared to accept the Congress discipline, enjoying the confidence of the Harijan members and able to shoulder Ministerial responsibility. I am sure you will not insist that in every case and irrespective of merit a Harijan must have a place in the C. P. Ministry.

The Hindustan Times, 8-8-1938

¹ The news item from which this has been extracted is dated August 7.

² This sentence is from a report in The Hindu, 8-8-1938.

³ The addressee, a Harijan member of the C. P. Congress Committee, had threatened to start a satyagraha if a Harijan was not included in the C. P. Cabinet.

315. HARIJANS AND HINDU HOTELS

The strike of the Hindu hotel owners does credit neither to them, nor to Ahmedabad, nor does it afford protection to Hindusim. These hotel owners could close down their hotels if others did not go to their hotels because of the presence of Harijans there. But resorting to strike is tantamount to preventing the Congress Government from doing justice.

The question arises whether the Hindus on strike are on the side of the Congress or opposed to it. Are they enemies of Hinduism or are they its well-wishers? If they consider themselves supporters of the Congress, they should lovingly feed Harijans despite having to put up with difficulties. If, while doing so, other Hindus stop coming to their restaurants, they should put up with this. If all Hindu restaurant-owners practise this dharma, other Hindus would either be forced to take advantage of those very restaurants or wholly give up eating in such restaurants. In the latter eventuality the restaurant-owners should look for a new source of livelihood. They should on no account forsake their dharma.

If they are Congressmen—and they should be—they should regard untouchability as adharma and, if that is so, it is evident that by resorting to strike they are practising adharma.

This strike indicates that the ordinary mass of Hindus share the opinion of the restaurant-owners. If that is so they are opposed to the Congress. But that cannot be so, because Ahmedabad has always sided with the Congress. How can they not be convinced that the practice of untouchability cannot survive in this age? Akha Bhagat has taught us that untouchability is a superfluous appendage and the cutting off of such a limb is beneficial.

Moreover, today, we find Hindus everywhere eating in all sorts of places. Their religion does not come in their way there. They frequent Irani restaurants. They freely visit English hotels. There is no prejudice against Harijans in those places.

If Harijans put on the caste mark on their foreheads, wear beads and go to restaurants without proclaiming their caste, who can prevent them? How can one find out about their caste? There is no doubt that many Harijans go to restaurants in this way. Is the strike then merely for the crime which the Government has committed in issuing the order to enforce its own law? If those who regard untouchability as their dharma actually wish to put it into practice, they should stop going to restaurants, taking foreign medicines; they should refrain from eating sweets whether foreign or Indian, as there is every possibility of Harijans having had a hand in their making. Foreign medicines are not made by Hindus and who knows how many Harijans may not have touched them before they reach the consumer? Today there are many vaidas who do not practise untouchability. Is not their medicine polluted? And the less said about sweets the better. All this is worth considering. And those who do so will certainly come to the conclusion that those who practise untouchability should give up many other things. And, as that is not possible, they should realize the difficulty involved in it and tolerate the presence of Harijans in restaurants.

The path of those who regard untouchability as being opposed to dharma is simple. If no restaurant-owner opens the doors of his restaurant to them these people should start restaurants in whatever way it is possible and lovingly feed those visiting them. If anyone feels that Harijans are dirty, that their clothes are unclean, rules of cleanliness applicable to all can be enforced with regard to restaurants. Absence of cleanliness is not a monopoly of Harijans alone.

A few words about the duties of the Government. So long as public opinion is in favour of the Congress, the dharma of the latter is clear. On no account will it tolerate untouchability. It will sink or swim with Harijans. Even if the Congress can rule over the entire world by doing injustice to Harijans, it should regard it as dirt. Abolition of untouchability is an indispensable part of Congress policy. If no one starts a restaurant which would be open to all, either the municipality or the Government should run such places as required at its own expense. If such a restaurant does not find enough customers it could be closed down. But not a single Hindu restaurant should be allowed to function which does not permit the entry of Harijans.

Now a few words to the Harijans. Just as Congressmen and sanatani Hindus have to practise their dharma, so have the Harijans. These men and women have to see to it that they do not lose the game which is almost theirs. I have before me letters written by some proven Harijan workers. In these they have mentioned that at some places either in order to show their enthusiasm or to show their gratitude towards the Government, or for some other reason, Harijans, in large numbers, had surrounded restaurants and attempted to enter them. They were not even properly dressed. Those who do so render no service to Harijans but rather do them harm. They misuse laws laid down by the Government. Some rights are such that they cannot be utilized fully as soon as they are given. Some time must elapse before they are fully enjoyed and we should patiently put up with it. This right to enter restaurants is of this nature. Not a single Harijan must visit them to assert a right. Any Harijan who is really hungry and is passing by a restaurant, who has the money and is clad in clean clothes, should certainly go to the restaurant. He should suffer any insult which he encounters while doing so, he should inform the Harijan Sevak Sangh of this without taking any offence and the latter will certainly take steps to ensure that he is not insulted again. And, finally, if steps outside of the law prove to be futile, he will resort to legal help. The statement made by Shri Muldas in this connection is very useful. Harijan men and women will see it published in the current issue and I hope that they will put it into practice.

[From Gujarati]

Harijanbandhu, 7-8-1938

316. LETTER TO DIRECTOR, THE TIMES OF INDIA, BOMBAY

SEGAON,
August 7, 1938

DEAR SIR,

I thank you for your letter of 28th ultimo and a copy of The Story of the World in Pictures.

I do not consider myself in any way qualified to pronounce an opinion on ventures like yours. I would therefore ask you to excuse me for my inability to comply with your request.

Yours faithfully,

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

317. LETTER TO PERINBEHN CAPTAIN

SEGAON,
August 7, 1938

DEAR SISTER,

Your letter was welcome. If you knew of my relations with Parsi women, you would not feel the distrust that you do. I cannot even dream of having ill will for Nariman.¹ I was responsible for bringing him in to the Working Committee. But my conscience still tells me that whatever happened as a result of the inquiry conducted to probe into the mistakes committed by him was perfectly right.

Vandemataram from
M. K. GANDHI

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11562

318. LETTER TO VALJI G. DESAI

August 7, 1938

CHI. VALJI,

I have kept back both your articles. The one about Shan-karacharya seems unnecessary. The argument does not sound convincing. The other about the Manusmriti is rather imaginative. It makes pleasant reading but it does not help much in understanding the meaning of the Smritis. What would you suggest?

How is Dudhibehn? How is the children's education going on? How is their health? And yours? Here Kaka and a few others have had cholera. Two workers have passed away.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7480. Courtesy: Valji G. Desai

¹ K. F. Nariman had accused Sardar Patel of using his influence to get B. G. Kher elected as the leader of the Congress Party in the Bombay Legislative Assembly in March, 1937. The matter was referred to a tribunal consisting of Gandhiji and Bahadurji. Their judgment went in favour of Sardar Patel. Nariman and his followers then accused Gandhiji of favouritism.

319. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 7, 1938

GHI. AMRITLAL,

I was told that Vijaya's letter was sent to you yesterday. Even though the doctor has given permission, let Kaka start eating gradually. Do not give him plum-water. Its effect is not good. Nothing can equal mosambi juice. Let him take semi-liquid porridge of sago, and that also only if he feels hungry. He may take a mixture of five tolas milk, five tolas water and one spoonful of sago. It is advisable to go slow. I hear that Dharmadhikari had been sent for. In any case he had been given permission. If that is so, I must apologize to him.¹

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 10754

320. LETTER TO NANA DHARMADHIKARI

August 7, 1938

BHAI NANA,

I thought that you had left without permission and that is why I was angry. I see now that you had been called away. No doubt I thus did you an injustice, though unintentionally. I make amends for it now by acknowledging my mistake through this letter.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a copy of the Gujarati: C.W. 4754

¹ Vide the following item.

321. LETTER TO PRABHAVATI

SEGAON,
August 7, 1938

CHI. PRABHA,

I got your letter. I do not like your being ill. I should like Jayaprakash to come here after his work in Malabar is over. In the beginning of October I shall have to go to the Frontier Province. Here Kaka, Nana and some other workers have had cholera. Two very fine young workers have succumbed. Kaka barely survived. Cholera is raging all around. It is raging in Segaoon, too. Sushila has been working hard. Manu is here. Navin and Dhiru also are here. I am arranging to send Harijan-bandhu and Harijan.

Mirabehn, Ba and the rest are well. I am also keeping well. I take milk and eat khakhra, vegetables and fruit.

Rajkumari is coming on the 9th. She is in Poona. Kanti is in Bangalore. I am observing voluntary silence and it is going on. I speak only when necessary.

Rajendra Babu is going to the south in two or three days to see a sadhu, a maharshi.¹ You know him by name because you were to go to his ashram while returning from Travancore. His name is Ramana Maharshi.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 3519

322. LETTER TO CHIMANLAL N. SHAH

August 7, 1938

CHI. CHIMANLAL,

I got your letter. I was much relieved. I am sending milk from here. Sushila, Pyarelal and I think that it would be better if you refrained from taking milk today. Fruit and lime juice will be enough. Do not worry about the weakness, but there should be no injury to the piles. For their quick shrinking it is better to avoid food.

¹ Rajendra Prasad visited Sri Ramana Maharshi's Asramam from August 14 to August 18. He then requested the Maharshi for a message for Gandhiji. The Maharshi said: "Adhyatma shakti is working within him and leading him on. That is enough, what more is necessary?" (Talks, under 18-8-1938)

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10582

323. LETTER TO MUNNALAL G. SHAH

August 7, 1938

CHI. MUNNALAL,

I think that the women alone will not be able to cope with the vegetables. Two of them are guests. And the sick Ba should be left out of account. Mirabehn also is not there. You should, therefore, put the responsibility on a man. For the present let it be Navin. He should carry on with whatever help he may get from the women.

A bucket for everybody is too much. Everybody must have a lota of course. A lantern for everybody is also a luxury. We should always think of what the poor do and try as far as possible to live as they do.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8571. Also C.W. 7069. Courtesy: Munnalal G. Shah

324. LETTER TO RADHAKRISHNA BAJAJ

August 7, 1938

CHI. RADHAKRISHNA,

I shall want the motor-car tomorrow, Monday, at 12 o'clock, if it is not raining. Balkrishna is to be taken to Nagpur.

It was my fault that the car was kept here the whole day yesterday. I was sorry Kisborelal did not turn up yesterday. My heart cried and memory failed. What am I to do?

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 9123

325. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 7, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

If you cannot find Jayantiprasad's address there, please return the letter here. It is all right that you did not come. The story about . . .¹ has got a wide publicity from there. How did it happen? Please make an inquiry. From what Santok writes, what has happened is serious. This refusal has shocked me a good deal indeed. Such incidents test me fairly severely. 'In a man brooding on objects of the senses attachment to them springs up.'² I am cancelling the note about Sarvat. I do not wish to give him publicity in that way. I am returning the rest to you, believing that you will prefer to get it typed by Babla. If that is not so, return it early in the morning so that I may get it typed here.

There has been one more case of cholera here. Sushila, Kanu and Soptekar were therefore busy in the village from 6.30 to 11.30 in the morning. Eighty persons were inoculated. The man was on death-bed. Maybe he will survive.

For today I am sending milk for Chimanlal from here. Most probably I will do that every day.

There are many letters to be posted. Check the addresses on them. There is no need to despatch them urgently. Sushila and Balkrishna will leave tomorrow by the 1 o'clock train. I have already written to Radhakrishna Bajaj about the car. However, please inquire about it. If it is raining, then of course we will not let them go. Kishorelal has come. He does have some fever. Yesterday he had an attack of asthma too.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I do not have the courage to write about Manahar. If you have and if you wish to ask, you may. I am afraid there will be a negative reply from that quarter also.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11621

¹ The omission as in the source

² Bhagavad Gita, II. 62

326. LETTER TO KRISHNAGHANDRA

August 7, 1938

Dharma says that you should not accept any money from your uncle. Whatever book I may sanction may be purchased with the public funds.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4299

327. TELEGRAM TO S. K. PATIL

August 8, 1938

S. K. PATIL
BOMBAY

WITH REFERENCE YOUR LETTER SORRY HAVING CAUSED WORRY CONFUSION PLEASE IGNORE ADVICE CONTAINED MY AND DO TELEGRAM WHATEVER YOU THINK BEST IN CONGRESS
INTEREST.¹

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

328. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 8, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

It will be better to keep Kaka hungry rather than overfeed him. Do consult the doctor, though of course not about food—that you may ask me.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10755

¹ This was in reply to the addressee's letter regarding the suspension of the Joint Honorary Secretaries of the Girgaon District Congress Committee.

329. LETTER TO CHIMANLAL N. SHAH

August 8, 1938

CHI. CHIMANLAL,

I hope you are better. Go slow about food.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10583

330. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 9, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I am sending whatever is ready. Hope you are well. Do not be too eager to come.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11643

331. LETTER TO MANILAL GANDHI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
August 9, 1938

CHI. MANILAL,

I got your letter. The practicability of Mr. Kallenbach's suggestion will depend on my ability to send teachers from here. But that is nil. It is difficult to get teachers who would satisfy me. Even if I come across such a teacher, he would have to be paid a salary which we cannot afford. Thus whatever arrangement you think of making will have to be made locally. My opinion, therefore, is that the plan of a school will not work.

So I have to think only about I.O.¹ If the people there give a clear guarantee to make good the loss, not oral but such as will satisfy the bankers, then it is your duty to keep it going.

¹ Indian Opinion

If Rustomjee Trust offers some help, there is no harm in accepting it. But I would like only direct help from the people.

If the I.O. can be kept going, Sushila must return there. I think that essential for helping you as also for her and your peace of mind. Sushila's presence by your side will by itself be a source of comfort, such as you cannot have from anything else.

I feel that if Sushila goes there, Arun should accompany her and Sita should stay here. Both of you should learn to bear such separation. I am considering here only the welfare of the children.

In case Sushila goes there, you should treat Phoenix as your home and stay there. You should overcome your desire of coming over here too often. It is, of course, a different thing if you get an unsought opportunity of coming.

You should overcome the desire to see your elders. If separation from one's people is one's dharma, one must cheerfully abide by that dharma.

Today this is enough. The other news Sushila may give if she wishes and knows how to.

If Ramdas can be tempted to stay there, then there is nothing better than that. In that case the children of both of you should also be trained to look after the work there.

About Hanna also, whatever Sushila may write.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 4878

332. LETTER TO CHIMANLAL N. SHAH

August 9, 1938

CHI. CHIMANLAL,

I read your letter to Sharda. Do not take all the freedom about food that the doctors may give. Eat only as much as the body demands. If you do that you will be able to return early and there will be no complication.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10584

333. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 10, 1936

CHI. MAHADEV,

How wholly confidential? But you did right. Herewith is a telegram for Ramachandran. Sell the eggs to Bharatan and Nayakum. If they do not want them, send them to the hospital.

I went and saw Nana last night. While on the way, I got a note from him and so went on foot with Sushila. His condition at the time was good. The present report is not bad. From there I returned in the car.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11622

334. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 10, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

There is no change in Pyarelal's condition. At the moment there seems to be no danger. Kaka will regain strength slowly. Do not be impatient.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Kaur and Krishna, Jamnalal and Ramana Maharshi, Ba.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10763

335. LETTER-TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

August 10, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

I got your letter and rakhi. I am writing this letter with the rakhi tied round the wrist. Congratulations on the improvement in your health. Kaka and Nana are fairly well. The danger seems to have passed. I am doing well. The diet is practically the same. Girdhari and his wife (recently married) have come here for today.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Rajkumari arrived on Tuesday.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7094. Also C.W. 4586. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

336. LETTER TO CHIMANLAL N. SHAH

August 10, 1938

CHI. CHIMANLAL,

You are right in taking less milk. I have nothing else to say.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10585

337. LETTER TO UMABAI L. ATHAVALÉ

SEGAON,
August 11, 1938

DEAR SISTER,

I hope you are not brooding over Nana's¹ death. I am impressed by your courage. After seeing you, I am able to understand Nana's spirit of sacrifice and self-control better. Nana's body has perished, but his spirit will remain in the Mahila Ashram and will be a source of inspiration to the sisters.

Vandemataram from
M. K. GANDHI

[From Gujarati]

Bapuki Virat Vatsalata, p. 75

338. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 11, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Post the accompanying to Jairamdas at Hyderabad. Send the following telegram today, if possible:

"Jairamdas
Prem Bhavan
H'bad. (Deccan)

Girdharijidas had reported your health. You must leave Sindh. G. D. will suggest Nainital. Love.

Bapu."²

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11623

¹ Narbar L. Athavale, her son

² This is in English.

339. LETTER TO BALWANTSINHA

August 11, 1938

CHI. BALWANTSINHA,

If Premji is well enough he should be ready to leave today. I shall write to Jhaverbhai about the piles, he will arrange about the operation.

Consult Munnalal about Bankelal, I have already done so.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 1908

340. LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
August 12, 1938

CHI. KANTI,

I got your letter. You should not be impatient. I am trying to help you according to my lights. I hope you will not spoil things by your impatience. Do not give up your faith in Ramachandran and others. If you slight him, my efforts will be wasted. I have had a letter from Saraswati about her having got dysentery and I have therefore wired to Ramachandran. I am not at all negligent in this matter.

What a silly thing to say? Why you didn't get cholera!-If you accept my diagnosis you will make rapid progress. Nana Athavale passed away yesterday.¹

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7346. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

¹ File "Letter to Unmeshi L. Athavale", p. 242.

341. LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL

SEGAON, WARDHA,
August 12, 1938

BHAI VALLABHBHAI,

You may certainly call a meeting of the A.I.C.C. in Bombay if you wish. Delhi will not suit. If you think my presence will be necessary, call the meeting in Bombay. The best place, of course, will be Wardha. If you agree, consult Jammnalal by wire. From the point of view of facilities Bombay will probably be better. You need not consult my convenience. It will be better if the notice of the meeting is issued early. Do what you think best. On second thoughts, I am inclined in favour of Bombay. Allahabad also may be considered. We never hold meetings there. But this is only a suggestion for your consideration.

Blessings from
BAPU

[From Gujarati]

Bapuna Patro-2: Sardar Vallabhbhai, p. 223

342. LETTER TO G. D. BIRLA

SEGAON, WARDHA,
August 12, 1938

BHAI GHANSHYAMDAS,

Go through this and give me your opinion. I do not wish to use the money received from you on such matters without your approval. And it might not even be possible to divert such a large amount considering the expenditures I am incurring these days. Anyway, I want your free opinion about it. Dr. Shaukat has nothing at present. Begum Ansari owns some rural property over which Dr. Ansari's brother has staked a claim. Nobody wants to help Harold except Shaukat and Dr. Ansari's daughter Zohra. Ansari of course was always giving him money. I am not very clear what it would be best to do. You should write to me unreservedly.

Blessings from
BAPU

From Hindi: C.W. 7994. Courtesy: G. D. Birla

343. LETTER TO SARASWATI

SEGAON,
August 12, 1938

CHI. SURU,

You are nothing but crazy. What a letter you write! You are calm one day and agitated for the next several days. If you continue thus it will ruin your life as well as Kanti's. Everything can be accomplished by patience only. If you give up patience you will ruin everything. So, if you will but listen to me, you will compose yourself and get well. How can even I be of any help to you in your agitated state? I do want you to see Kanti soon but not by straying from the path of dharma, not by straying from propriety. Now, what would you like to do? Get well quickly. Get rid of the dysentery. Your letter this time has caused me considerable pain.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 6171. Also C.W. 3445. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

344. IS VIOLENCE CREEPING IN?

Mahadev has passed on to me information containing complaints about violence being done by Congressmen. One complaint is that, in the name of peaceful picketing, picketers are resorting to methods bordering on violence, such as making a living wall beyond which no one can pass without being hurt or hurting those who make the wall. As the author of peaceful picketing I cannot recall a single instance in which I had encouraged such picketing. A friend has quoted Dharasana against me. I had suggested the occupation of salt works. But that is wholly inapplicable to the case under consideration. In Dharasana the objective was the salt works of which possession had to be taken and maintained as against the Government. The action could hardly be called picketing. But to prevent workers from going to their work by standing in front of them is pure violence and must be given up. The owners of mills or other factories would be fully justified in invoking the assistance of the police and a Congress Government would be bound to provide it if the Congressmen concerned would not desist.

Another instance brought to my notice is that of a body of Congressmen having taken possession of the offices of a Congress Committee recognized by the Provincial Congress Committee. This is surely unpardonable unruliness.

The third instance is that of breaking up meetings by shouting and otherwise creating disturbances.

The fourth is that of reviling capitalists as a class and inciting people to loot them.

All these are clear instances of violence and indiscipline. I am told that such unruliness is on the increase. I have before me a letter which bitterly complains that whereas capitalists used to get justice during the old regime, now under the Congress regime they not only get no justice but are even insulted and humiliated.

There can be no doubt that the British system favours capitalism. The Congress, which aims at securing full justice for the famishing millions, cannot favour capitalism. But the Congress, so long as it retains non-violence as its basic policy, cannot resort to usurpation, much less allow any class of persons to be insulted or humiliated in any way whatsoever or allow any Congressman or a body of Congressmen to take the law into their own hands.

Nor can the Congress tolerate violent picketing or speeches inciting to violence.

If violence is not checked in time, the Congress will go to pieces purely from internal decay. It is up to the heads of provincial and subordinate committees to root out the evil without the least delay. If on the other hand Congressmen in general are tired of non-violence, the sooner the first article of the constitution is revised the better it will be for all concerned and the country. Let it not be said of the great organization that it used truth and non-violence as a cloak to cover untruth and violence.

Harijan, 13-8-1938

345. TWISTING OR INTERPRETING?

A friend writes a long letter with reference to my article on 'Speakers and Politics'.¹ What is discussed in the letter can be put thus in the form of a question:

When you say that the language of the Government of India Act should be stretched to the farthest limit, so as to give the greatest strength to the movement for Independence, do you imply that the Speaker should, or can, knowingly twist any section of the Act so as to give it the desired meaning?

I should be surprised if such an implication could be extracted from my article. It will amount to encouraging untruth. A Speaker who knowingly gives an interpretation contrary to the plain meaning of a text, renders himself unfit for the high office and discredits the Congress cause. He must, at all cost, preserve the Congress credit for honesty and integrity. What, however, I have meant is that where a section is manifestly capable of two meanings or more, he is bound to give that which favours the national cause. And when a section bears only one meaning which is manifestly restrictive of the people's liberty, he must unhesitatingly give that meaning. I have no doubt that such impartiality on the part of a Speaker will enhance his reputation and to that extent increase the moral prestige of the Congress. Having discarded violence, the strength of the Congress depends wholly upon the moral fibre and fearlessness of individual Congressmen.

Harijan, 13-8-1938

346. LETTER TO SHAUKATULLA SHAH

SEGAON, WARDHA,
August 13, 1938

MY DEAR SHAUKAT,

Here is another instalment from Miss Harrison. I have got no news from Bhopal. I do not know what should be done now. I am trying. But that takes time. Is anything possible about the village? Even if I get something, I do not know that I can get £ 900 for which the guarantee is required.

¹ This was published under "Notes".

² Vide pp. 172-4.

How is Zohra doing?

Love.

BAPU

[PS.]

At the time of replying please return the enclosures.

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

347. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 13, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I am sending these letters. Agatha's letter which should have gone with Ghanshyamdas's has been left out. I am now getting a copy made. Pyarelal has 100.6° temperature and feels quite weak. We can do nothing but wait and see what happens. You may come at your usual time. Treatment is going on.

Blessings from

BAPU

[PS.]

Get a copy of Perinbehn's letter made there and bring it along.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11624

348. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

August 13, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

Once you are on your feet, we shall discuss about the change in your diet. I may say even now that your argument is not correct. If Amritlal shares everybody's food, he will not remain fit for your service. But we shall argue about it later on.

I will have a talk with Amritlal about ghee. Pyarelal's fever has gone up to 104.

Blessings from

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 10905

349. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 13, 1938

CHL. AMRITLAL,

Hope Kaka passed the night comfortably. Here Pyarelal is laid up with typhoid.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10757

350. LETTER TO JIVANJI D. DESAI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
August 14, 1938

BHAI JIVANJI,

What kind of an article do you expect from me? Should you not leave me out of it? You should give me a reward if I can carry out even your other assignments.

I understand about the Autobiography.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 9946. Also C.W. 6921. Courtesy: Jivanji D. Desai

351. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 14, 1938

CHL. MAHADEV,

I saw your post just now. If worrying about me gives you peace of mind, by all means do so. This incident itself is such as will not allow me any peace of mind. I get a good deal of it, of course, through silence. I can see how shallow my non-attachment is. As for Pyarelal, after doing the best we can about his treatment, why need I worry about him?

I will go through your thing. Pyarelal has started with 101.2. He keeps cheerful. He had good sleep. He is still sleeping. Outwardly at any rate he remains peaceful. He does not resist me in anything. Let us see what happens.

Send a wire to Mridu as under:

"Can come between seventeenth nineteenth. Hope Madan better. Love to all. Bapu."

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11625

352. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 14, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

The ghee is the same that we had. Ba says that if you heat it again, it will be all right.

We need not worry about Kaka getting loose motions. He will improve only gradually. Pyarelal seems better. At the moment of writing, i.e., at 8.45, the mercury shows 103.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Has not the loom been installed yet?

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10758

353. DISCUSSION WITH HENGCHIH TAO¹

[Before August 15, 1938]²

GANDHIJI: I am exceedingly sorry to receive you when I am in distress. I may not break my silence even to speak to you. But of course you will say whatever you want to. You may speak, I may not.

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Notes". Since Gandhiji was observing silence his part of the discussion was conducted in writing.

² Vide "Letter to Mahadev Desai", p. 253, from which it would appear that Gandhiji had met Tao before that date.

Prof. Tao explained that he was a member of the People's Council of Action of all China. This was a body of 140 or 150 drawn from all parties in China, united, which the whole of China was united to meet Japanese aggression. . . . were united in fighting the common danger, . . . military command of Chiang Kai-shek. . . . Tao was . . . Medical Mission from India was sailing to China as a token of . . . ; and he asked Gandhiji if he had any suggestions to offer in order to fight the war to a successful conclusion.

g. I do not know that I can throw any light on the problem at the present moment. My method is so radical that it is wholly inapplicable to your struggle. You cannot all of a sudden change the course of the struggle. A nation in arms cannot all at once give up arms and accept non-violence as its weapon.

Prof. Tao saw the difficulty and explained that the Chinese had not even time to think, the aggression was so sudden and so unprovoked. But he would like to discuss problems of national reconstructions. He had given up University work in order to take up peasants' education and he was deeply interested in the Wardha Education Scheme. "What exactly is the core of the Scheme?" he asked.

g. The central fact is some village craft through which the whole of the man or the woman in the child can be drawn out.

"But there was the difficulty of teachers," said Prof. Tao, and Gandhiji laughed. "We had the same difficulty. Would you have trained teachers to learn a craft or craftsmen to learn the art of teaching?" asked Prof. Tao.

g. The average educated man can be expected easily to master a craft. Our craftsmen will require much longer time to acquire the necessary general instruction than an educated man, say like you, can require to learn, say, carpentry.

"But," said Prof. Tao, "our educated man is after fat jobs and money. How can he be interested in this?"

g. If the scheme is sound and appeals to the educated mind, it must prove attractive in itself and thus wean the educated youth from the lure of gold. It must fail, if it does not evoke sufficient patriotism from the educated youth. There is one advantage with us. Those who have received instruction through the Indian languages cannot enter colleges. It is just possible that they will find the scheme attractive.

Prof. Tao was deeply interested in our present political struggle. How were we going to acquire power at the centre?

G. If we are true to our salt in the seven provinces, the accession of strength that will come to us will put us on the way to power at the centre.

T. But the power is being felt everywhere, and the Government has risen. Has it not?

G. The Congress prestige has risen. The people have come conscious of their power and strength. The Government also recognize this. My fear is that this power may throw us off our balance.

Prof. Tao reverted to the question of mass education. He made an attempt to describe the Chinese system of "relay" teachers whereby each man or woman who had learnt something had to pass it on to the next one he or she came across. Even the child, the "little" teacher, had to share his or her learning with his illiterate parents, and the Chinese through this system were liquidating illiteracy and ignorance on a mass scale.

G. I have no doubt that it can. I would like you to write for me a short note on how the "relay" teachers and the "little" teachers are taught, how they teach and with what result.

Prof. Tao said he would gladly comply.

Prof. Tao would not go without a message from Gandhiji for the people of China. He explained that even a non-violent message would be welcome. . . . They were engaged in a war of self-defence, but in other respects they were observing non-violence. . . . On May 20 Chinese planes had flown over Japanese towns, and they might easily have spread death and destruction among the people of Japan in retaliation for the bombing of so many Chinese ports by Japan. But instead of raining bombs they rained handbills and leaflets showing the wrong of the war. . . .

G. But the self-inflicted restraint won't last when the real stress comes. The temptation will be irresistible. I shall not be surprised. It is inevitable. There is no love in war. We have got to come to the conclusion that either there is to be complete non-violence or undiluted violence. Is not this enough message?

Prof. Tao wondered if some day the Chinese might expect to have Gandhiji in their midst.

G. I almost came to your country when those who had invited me had to stop me from going owing to the disturbances that had taken place. I do want to see peace reigning in your land during my lifetime. Nothing will please me better than to visit your great country some day.

Harijan, 27-8-1938

354. LETTER TO G. P. RAMASWAMI IYER

[August 15, 1938]¹

DEAR FRIEND,

In order better to guide R. and through him the State Congress and if at all possible to avoid friction between the State and the people, I am sending Shri Rajkumari Amrit Kaur to study the situation and to offer friendly assistance. She expects to leave here tomorrow and to proceed to Trivandrum after a day's stay in Madras. The Rajkumari will not address public meetings or do any public propaganda. I hope you will make full use of her services.

Yours sincerely,

From a copy: C.W. 4217. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7853

355. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 15, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Pyarelal's fever has risen to 104. It is futile to hope for it to come down soon. But one good sign is that, though today is Monday, he took mosambi and lime juice. He appears cheerful. Sushila devotes all her time to nursing him. Pyarelal would not accept service from anybody except her. There is also the cholera work for her in the village. May God protect both!

I am sending one article. I have now finished another, on Burma.² The fingers refuse to work any longer now.

You yourself may write to Sarup. Send her what you can. Send a wire to Mathuradas as follows:

"Your arrangement sound. Misgivings justified but inclusion seems inevitable. Bapu."³

Bring the Australian friend. Since I gave so much time to Tao, why not to this gentleman?

¹ In the text Gandhiji says about Amrit Kaur: "She expects to leave here tomorrow." Amrit Kaur left on August 16.

² Vide "Recent Riots in Burma", 20-8-1938.

³ This is in English.

The Burma article cannot be sent before tomorrow.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11626

356. LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL

SEGAON, WARDHA,
August 15, 1938,

BHAI VALLABHBHAI,

You did very well in going to Rajkot. So long as your star is in the ascendent, such occasions are bound to arise. Chudgar¹ is following a wrong path. Let him do what he likes. If the subjects of the State have some salt in them, they would not try to fly in the air but fight on peacefully without looking for outside help. If they do so they cannot but win. And if the Congress does not abandon principles, it will become strong even in the States.

You were bound to fall ill. You are a sardar² of others, but seem to be a slave of yourself. A true sardar is one who commands himself. If you regulate your time and draw up rules for doing all your work, you will live long. Do not dismiss this suggestion, saying, 'Here is a pan laughing at a pot.' Mahadev also is paying for his carelessness.

Blessings from
BAPU

[From Gujarati]

Bapuna Patro-2: Sardar Vallabhbhai, pp. 223-4

¹ Popatlal Lavjibhai Chudgar, a barrister of Saurashtra

² Leader

357. NOTE TO AMRIT KAUR

[On or before August 16, 1938]¹

There are two things I want you to do:

- (1) To go to Travancore to set the quarrel right;
- (2) To visit Kathiawar for the birthday celebrations which begin on 23rd September.

You can well tackle both. But if you don't feel like going, you shall not.

From the original: C.W. 4219. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7855

358. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 16, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

I hope Kaka is able to walk about a little. Pyarelal is better.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10759

359. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

August 16, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

I got your letter. Are you now planning to go to Ahmedabad and improve your health there? What more will you have there? It is a different thing, of course, if you wish to consult a doctor. But let that be. My only desire is that wherever you go you should get well. What a fine body you had and now it is so shattered. Hereafter write to me at Delhi. Address the letters: Harijan Nivas, Kingsway, Delhi. I shall be there for eight days at least. Ba will accompany me. Amritlal came here the day before yesterday. Nanabhai had also come.

¹ In the source the addressee has dated the note "Segaon, August 1938". She was in Segaon till August 16.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7095. Also C.W. 4587. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

360. LETTER TO CHIMANLAL N. SHAH

August 16, 1938

CHI. CHIMANLAL,

Send the milk early. Rajkumari is going to Travancore today. Pyarelal may be said to be better. But the fever is still there.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10587

361. TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR

WARDHAGANJ,
August 17, 1938

RAJKUMARI
CARE AMMU SWAMINATHAN
MADRAS, CHETPUT

PYARELAL NOT BAD. I HAVE GAINED ONE POUND. HOPE YOU WELL.
LOVE.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3875. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7031

362. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

SEGAON,
August 17, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

It was difficult to part with you in the state you were.

At the time of writing Pyarelal is not quite what he was yesterday. He had a restless night. But deep down in me there is the faith that he will pull through.

Shuaib Qureshi came the same time you went, by the same train.

You left your glasses and some papers which I enclose herewith. Unless I hear from you to the contrary, I am keeping the glasses with me.

I hope you will keep well there. Do not overstrain yourself. Have no anxiety about the mission.

I am well. The diet and silence continue. The silence gives me the peace I need. More food I cannot do justice to at present. Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3874. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7030

363. LETTER TO K. M. MUNSHI

August 17, 1938

BHAI MUNSHI,

In your difficulties Girish's¹ fever is a great calamity indeed. It is difficult to understand so many relapses. As an antidote, I am sending the whole bhajan from which I had sent one line to Lilavati. To me that bhajan has given great comfort.

My opinion about the 'Rifle Club' is this: seek the opinion of the Working Committee about this matter. I think we cannot refuse the request outright. Licences may be given to all those who submit to rules and regulations. The Congress Government will not bear the expenses. Its policy will remain non-violent.

¹ Addressee's son

I will be ready to write in Harijan.

Blessings from
BAPU

From Gujarati: C.W. 7640. Courtesy: K. M. Munshi

364. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 17, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

I take it that you are daily writing to Bal. I was careless about writing to him regularly. Tell Kaka not to start thinking about the future from now. We shall think about everything after he has completely recovered.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Pyarelal is not quite well today. However, there is no cause for worry.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10760

365. LETTER TO CHIMANLAL N. SHAH

August 17, 1938

CHI. CHIMANLAL,

I have learnt everything about the operation from Sushila. After the remaining complaint is completely cured, there should be no difficulty in building up the body. I hope you get milk regularly.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Pyarelal is not quite well today. There is no cause for worry, though.

Tell Shankaran that I got his note. He wants a change. Ask him about his food, etc. Ask him to write to me again.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10588

366. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 18, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

It was really good news about Kaka. I hope the progress will continue. Pyarelal's ship is in mid-sea. The temperature is lower than in your case. It had risen up to 105 yesterday. One reason may be that he has a strong constitution.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

There is no letter from Vijaya. I have written to her.
From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10761

367. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

SEGAON,
August 18, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

You are quite lazy in writing letters. That will not do. Have you not promised to write every third day? One must keep one's promise even unto death.

Pyarelal's typhoid still persists. In Segaoon the cholera is raging. We can do nothing but wait and see. I am observing complete silence these days. That is the only way in which I can preserve my peace of mind.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7096. Also C.W. 4588. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

368. LETTER TO CHIMANLAL N. SHAH

August 18, 1938

CHL. CHIMANLAL,

I am glad the operation is successfully over. I understood about Shankaran. How long will you have to remain there? Pyarelal's fever will go only when it has run its course.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10589

369. LETTER TO MUNNALAL G. SHAH

August 18, 1938

CHL. MUNNALAL,

Today if the rain stops, otherwise tomorrow under any circumstances. You yourself should go to see Gajanan . . .¹ having fallen ill . . . If he does not feel comfortable there, he may stay at the Harijan Ashram. Let him not . . . endanger his health . . . Ask him and find out if he wants anything. A co-worker of his has got cholera. Who is he? Where does he come from?

Here all . . . carefully . . .

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8570

370. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

[About August 18, 1938]²

CHL. MAHADEV,

I have been thinking about Khare. Do give up the idea of writing the article. About Pyarelal, I will let God guide me.

¹ The letter is illegible at many places.

² About this day Pyarelal's condition was critical. In "Letter to Amritlal T. Nanavati", p. 259, Gandhiji wrote, "Pyarelal's ship is in mid-sea."

Herewith is a bottle containing Balkrishna's¹ sputum. If the bottle can be returned, he wants it back. We shall pay no attention to his fever just now. Let them send any medicine they think proper.

You need not worry about me. I have been forewarned. So there will be no trouble. Ultimately God's will must prevail. Read the letter addressed to Shanta and give it to her.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

If Shantikumar can pay the money, let him do so. Let him not do so against his will at all.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11536

371. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 19, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I understand what you write about Maharashtra. We should stay where God ordains. How can we make any distinction between Maharashtra and Gujarat? However, you will not come to Segaoon in an unnatural way. You will see your path clear before you if it becomes necessary for you to come.

Just now there is no need for you to come. There is enough work for you there. You have to attend to a hundred things there. What would you do here? What part would you play in the quarrels here? What service can you render to Pyarelal? What service can he ask of you? He does not accept much service from anyone except Sushila. He lets the others take turns by his side and shift the cot. But it is Sushila who does the real nursing. They are a wonderful pair, the brother and sister. I have not seen their like anywhere.

I understand about Lilavati. Her good lies there. Suffer her, therefore, and train her.

Tell Radhakishan that neither he nor anyone else need make any preparations about Sunday. As we refrain from opposing them, they will calm down.² It would be better if the Inspector-

¹ Balkrishna Bhawe was suffering from tuberculosis at this time.

² The reference is to the Harijan satyagrahis who wanted a Harijan to be included in the C. P. Ministry; vide "Discussion with Harijan Satyagrahis", 27-8-1938 and "Letter to Mahadev Desai", After 27-8-1938.

General of Police also does not come. What will he do even if he comes?

Shuaib will pass the night there, as it might rain in the morning. His luggage has gone to the station. If you need anything send for it. I have thought it better to lodge Shuaib with you. That is the only correct course for us.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11627

372. LETTER TO MANILAL GANDHI

August [19]¹, 1938

CHI, MANILAL,

I have only sent you my opinion². If you get 200 subscribers who would pay £25 each or 100 who would pay £50 each, and if you get an assurance regarding the I. O. expenses and do not have to go about for collections, you ought to stay on there. You should increase your efficiency. If you become steady there, Sushila and Arun may go there and Sita may stay here. She seems to be progressing very well in her study at Akola. If Sushila goes there, you will of course get help and also peace of mind. I do feel that, when Sushila is living near me, I am observing silence and so cannot train her or get her trained as I should like to do. Moreover, as I take my meals by myself, I cannot watch what she and Arun eat. If I were in better shape, Sushila's swollen body and Arun's weak one also would certainly have improved. But what can we do? She can receive from me only as much as her fate permits. She can be said to have been freed from my clutches. It is no easy thing to get caught in my clutches. Well, God's will prevails in all things.

Just now Pyarelal is confined to bed. There have been three bad deaths. Now Pyarelal is in mid-sea. He is being nursed carefully, of course. I hope he will survive.

What you write about Ramdas is correct.

I have already told you that no school can be run in Phoenix.

¹ The date in the source reads "29", though perhaps Gandhiji intended to write "19".

² Vide pp. 238-9.

Hanna must be an old face there now.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 4880

373. LETTER TO MUNNALAL G. SHAH

August 19, 1938

CHI. MUNNALAL,

Relieve Salekar so that he can go to fetch the medicine. Entrust his work to Rajbhushan. If there is any difficulty about this, let me know.

BAPU

[PS.]

Gunvant should not take it. Let him discuss with me. I did not read one of the letters. The telegram in reply to this is given just now so that it can be sent early tomorrow. You need not put yourself to inconvenience to come here in the morning. If you can come conveniently, you may. Perhaps that may be enough. This was one . . .¹

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8569. Also C.W. 7034. Courtesy: Munnalal G. Shah

374. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 19, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

The mistake regarding plums should not be repeated. Nana Dharmadhikari should go only after the work for which he had come is over. He need not stay on because of Kaka. If the latter wants him, however, by all means let him stay. In fact what I said was just off hand, so there was no question of your being guided by it.

I will tie the rakhi.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10762

¹ Omission as in the source

375. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

[After August 19, 1938]¹

CHI. NANAVATI,

Send detailed report about Kakasaheb. If there is a letter from Vijaya send that too. Ba has become more impatient than I. I had already told Mahadev that the Punjab tour was cancelled because of my illness. If the message has not been conveyed, please do it. If necessary send a wire tomorrow or write a letter. If Dharmadhikari has not returned admonish him and send him off. A public worker cannot leave his duty to visit his dear ones. He should know that there will be enough men to look after Kakasaheb.²

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10753

376. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

[After August 19, 1938]³

CHI. AMRITLAL,

I have given instructions for sending you ghee. Add a few drops of ginger juice to Kaka's drink. If calomel does not suit him, one ounce of castor oil can be given every half hour. But ask Mahodaya about this. Have you not started giving glucose yet?

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I tied the rakhi.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10764

¹ From the reference to Nana Dharmadhikari in the preceding item.

² The letter was signed by Kanu Gandhi, under instructions from Gandhiji.

³ From the reference to rakhi in the letter of August 19 to the addressee.

377. HOW TO SAVE HANDLOOM WEAVERS

The statement that the handloom industry has defied mill competition is only partially true. There are not today half as many handloom weavers as there were, say, twenty-five years ago. There was a time when, as the spinning-wheel spun the whole of the yarn required by the nation, the handloom wove all the cloth required. When the mills were established the spinning-wheel all but died out for the very simple reason that it gave a paltry return and was never a whole-time occupation. But the loom offered stubborn resistance, for the reason, among others, that it was a full-time occupation by itself and paid the weaver enough to eke out a living. When the spinning mill came, the weaver fell back upon it for his hanks of yarn. He even welcomed the change because he could get more evenly spun and stronger yarn. Little did he know that he was to become perfectly helpless if the mills for any reason could not supply him with yarn. Unlike the village spinner the mill-owner dictated the price of his yarn. By and by the weaver who wove simple patternless khadi could not withstand the mill competition and he died. And for the past few years the weaver of fancy cloth has felt the pressure from weaving mills. Public taste is slowly but surely changing. If the mills cannot exactly copy the patterns woven by the village weaver, they can, as they do, produce new patterns and by efficient advertising attract customers. Therefore several thousand Orissa weavers are idle for want of custom. A similar cry came to me the other day from Ahmednagar, a strong weaving centre. My advice to them all was that if these weaving families would but introduce carding and spinning in their homes, they could be wholly independent of mill yarn and enlist the never-failing assistance of the A. I. S. A. It might be that the weavers might not earn as much as before because of part of their time being given to spinning. But now, under the revised policy of the A. I. S. A. which aims at giving one anna per hour to the spinner and is actually giving one and half pice per hour, the weaver would hardly feel the reduction in his income. And in any case a reduced wage is surely better than starvation.

Let it be borne in mind that the weaver, in introducing spinning and carding in his family, has to go in for very little outlay. The wheel he already has. It will no doubt require some improvement. He has to invest in a carding-bow costing a few annas.

I understand that the Orissa Government is banishing mill yarn from their jails and restricting their cloth purchases to khadi. They deserve congratulations for conforming to the constructive programme of the Congress. Let the workers in charge of the organization remember the prescription herein suggested, and they will find that production of the yarn required will be the easiest by educating the weavers to take up spinning. They will also by this method probably find that khadi can be, comparatively speaking, more cheaply produced than if they were to wait till they trained raw villagers to become efficient spinners. No doubt they will have to introduce spinning in all the villages. For that is the goal of the A. I. S. A. But they may not neglect the handloom weavers till the high purpose is accomplished.

Harijan, 20-8-1938

378. RECENT RIOTS IN BURMA

A telegram says:

Burma riots deserve more attention than you paid. Whatever Government information, no peace till tenth, when I left Rangoon by aeroplane. Indians frightfully perturbed. They adopted your non-violence, suffered terribly. Effective steps urgently solicited.

The step that I took immediately on receipt of a wire from Rangoon was the only effective step I could then take.¹ I was not then even in possession of facts. Now there is before me a narrative of the cause of the Burmese fury. It appears that a Burman wrote a tract in disparagement of Islam some time ago. A Burman Buddhist who had become a convert to Islam wrote a counter-tract attacking the original and also attacking Buddhism. No Indian had a hand in the writing of the counter-tract. It did not attract notice at once, but the Burmese Press fiercely criticized it and inflamed the Burmese mind. The result was the savagery which took many precious, innocent lives and destroyed property worth, it is said, millions. Nor was it confined to Rangoon; it spread throughout Burma wherever there were Indian settlers.

If, as my correspondent says, "Indians adopted your (i. e., my) non-violence," I can only say they suffered less than they would have otherwise done. Non-violence has no limits. If a particular dose does not seem to answer, more should be administered. It is a never-failing remedy.

¹ Vide "Telegram to President, Burma Congress Committee", p. 219.

But why call it 'my' non-violence? Probably the wire is a gentle rebuke to me, so much as to say that my remedy failed. The pertinent question is whether they believed in non-violence as a sure remedy against violence, or was it undertaken because there was no help for it? I, however, need not wait for a reply. If one is to believe the papers, there was not complete non-violence practised by the Indians. I have, however, no difficulty in believing that a considerable number observed non-violence whether from belief or necessity.

The question for consideration, however, is: 'what of the future?' There will no doubt be some kind of an inquiry. There may be some compensation paid to the losers. There would be some punishment meted out to the offenders who are not likely to be the prime movers but their dupes. I must confess that I am uninterested in these proceedings. There will be no insurance against future outbreaks.

Indians in Burma should realize that they are at the mercy of the inhabitants of Burma. They have no Government in India that can really afford them protection. We know what is happening in the other parts of the world; nor is it to be wondered at. England will never go to war with any nation or country because it has insulted or wronged Indian settlers in that country. It may, it will, make representations, sincere of course; it will lodge energetic protests even. But there her help will end. And in a case like the Burmese riots, the relief that the Government of India can afford will be next to nothing. What does it do when riots take place in India itself? It can do very little after they are over. The utmost it can do is to take measures to quell riots when they take place. What have even Congress Governments been able to do after the riots that have recently taken place in some Congress Provinces? They do not admit of relief being granted to the sufferers except in rare cases. What is possible in Burma I do not know.

I am concerned with attainment of permanent peace in so far as permanence is possible in this very impermanent life. When once religious animosity is roused, it has a knack of repeating itself with periodic regularity, if radical measures are not adopted by the communities concerned. One such measure is cultivation of mutual respect for the several religions professed by the parties. If the Buddhists of Burma have little regard for Islam and the Muslims for Buddhism, the seeds of dissension are there. They will take little watering to sprout into the savagery such as we saw the other day. I would, therefore, suggest a mutual understanding of these great religions.

My fear is that at the bottom of the riots there is an anti-Indian feeling, due, perhaps, to economic causes. For though Muslims seem to have suffered most, Hindus too seem to have come in for a fair share of the Burman fury. Therefore, Indian settlers must see to it that their dealings with the Burmans are fair and above board. It is said that everything is fair in trade, and that no turpitude attaches to a trader taking advantage of his customer's ignorance and demanding from him even an unconscionable price for his goods. That kind of dealings will surely acerbate feelings. Wherever we have gone, even before the British rulers took possession of our country, we have depended solely on the goodwill of those among whom we have lived and with whom we have traded. Such is the history of our relations with Zanzibar, Aden, Java, etc.

Times have however changed. The people all over the world have become conscious of their rights. Whereas formerly foreign settlers in other lands did questionable things with impunity, they cannot do so now. Honesty has never been so much proved to be the best policy as it is now for those who do not or cannot back their dishonesty with gunpowder and poison gas. If India is to escape that training and is to adopt, as a free nation, peace as her motto in every walk of life and in every country where her children go, they will have to practise strictest honesty in their human dealings.

To the Burmese friends one word. When I was in Burma some years ago, Burmese priests were good enough to invite me to their conference and honour me with their address under the shadow of the mighty Pagoda. They were good enough, as Buddhists, to claim me as one of them. It therefore hurt me when I read of the mob fury which knew no distinction of sex or age and wreaked vengeance on persons who could never have had anything to do with the offending pamphlet. I have the greatest veneration for the Buddha. He is one of the greatest preachers of peace. The gospel of the Buddha is gospel of love. It passes comprehension how representatives of that faith could give themselves up to savagery, and that on an apparently flimsy pretext. The pity of it is that, if the newspaper reports were true, even priests, the repositories of the Buddha's gospel, were to be seen among the mob, not stilling its fury, but actually taking part in loot, arson and murder. Would that the wise men among them would do a little heart-searching and take steps to prevent a recurrence of the tragedy which all right thinking persons must deplore!

Herijan, 20-8-1938

379. TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR

WARDHA,
August 20, 1938

RAJKUMARI AMRIT KAUR
STATE GUEST HOUSE, TRIVANDRUM

YOUR WIRE. PATIENT BETTER. SELF WELL. PRAYING SUCCESS
YOUR MISSION. ANXIOUS SARASWATI'S CONDITION. LOVE.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3876. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7032

380. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

August 20, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

There must be a wire awaiting me at Maganwadi. I heard yesterday that you were to be State Guest. I do hope my letter¹ went through all right (or alright?).

Pyarelal is decidedly better today. The temperature is only 101 against 103 at this time yesterday (8 a.m.). If he is restored it would be a great and good thing.

I have no doubt that you will be able to fix up everything nicely. I had a visit yesterday from the President of the T[ravancore] National Congress. Of course I was silent. He is an able man. He spoke with sweet reasonableness.

I hope you will keep well and drive to the Cape if you have time. Would like you to drop in at Tiruvannamalai for a day to see the Maharshi² on your return. My b.p. was 160/100 this morning.

Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3635. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 6444

¹ Vide "Letter to C. P. Ramaswami Iyer", p. 253.

² Ramana Maharshi. In Letters to Rajkumari Amrit Kaur, the addressee says: "But both Mahadev Desai and I refused to see him as we said our hearts were Gandhiji's and Gandhiji did not appreciate the argument."

381. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

[August 20, 1938]¹

CHI. MAHADEV,

I have asked the man to go there directly. Sushila says that no ice is required. And moreover he feels better today. Pyarelal said in the morning that probably the mercury would not rise tomorrow. Today he has started with 101. He also slept well in the latter part of the night.

Send this telegram²:

I understand about Maharashtra. Lilavati should not have minded not being permitted to come yesterday. If there is no special work today, do not come. From the letters sent herewith get a copy made of Limaye's letter. That has not been done here.³

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11631

382. LETTER TO SUSHILA GANDHI

August 20, 1938

CHI. SUSHILA,

You have made a mountain out of a molehill. I only described my sorrow in the letter to Manilal. As long as I cannot make you sit down by my side for your meals, I would not suggest any change in your diet. The same is true about Arun. Moreover, as I do not speak I cannot joke with you either. I can suggest much even while joking.

I am not dissatisfied with you. Do I not believe you to be wise?

When did I ever say that women were unfit for service? Yes, I have declared myself unworthy. That unworthiness may perhaps be overcome. As you are ready to serve, you have earned the merit of having actually served.

¹ From reference to Pyarelal's temperature, which came down to 101° on this date; vide the preceding item.

² For the text, which is in English, vide "Telegram to Amrit Kaur", p. 269.

³ The letter is unsigned.

It is not easy to please Ba. Have I not told you this? But she is simple-hearted. We should, therefore, not mind what she says.

I do wish indeed that you should increase your reading and learn to write Gujarati articles for Indian Opinion.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 4879

383. LETTER TO PARVATIDEVI GHORPADE¹

August 20, 1938

DEAR SISTER,

I learnt about you from Bhai Kaujalgi's letter to Gandhi Seva Sangh and also read the account of the concessions that you have given to the people of your State. I compliment you on your generosity. It is worthy of you. May God make you more generous still and grant you long life.

Blessings from
M. K. GANDHI

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7454

384. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

August 20, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

I got your message. I have been writing as much as I can. I remember your suggestion. If God wills it, I will write before the incense burns out. But who permitted you to resume work? If you exert your mind and body so soon, the weakness will be prolonged. Pyarelal is better.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10906

¹ Dowager queen of Mudhol State

385. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 20, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

Most probably the Nagpur students will come. If Mahadevi wants to come, let her come.

But what will she do?

I of course continue to observe silence. Who knows what I shall think it right to do when the students arrive?

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10765

386. LETTER TO CHIMANLAL N. SHAH

August 20, 1938

CHI. CHIMANLAL,

I understand about you. See that Shankaran does not fall ill. There is no change in Pyarelal's condition.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10590

387. LETTER TO DR. B. PATTABHI SITARAMAYYA

SEGAON,
August 21, 1938

DEAR PATTABHI,

Please make a searching inquiry into this complaint¹ and let me know the result. I do not want to publish the letter before knowing your verdict.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

¹ Some people had been reported to have incited people to occupy land by force.

388. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

August 21, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

As I start this letter, here is Sushila ready for massage. So I will be brief. You seem to be progressing very well. See also that the discharge of pus from the gums stops.

Pyarelal's fever persists, but he is improving. There is no danger so far. His mother came yesterday evening. I am well.

*Blessings from
BAPU*

[PS.]

Chimanlal will be discharged [from the hospital] tomorrow or the day after.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7097. Also C.W. 4589. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

389. LETTER TO MUNNALAL G. SHAH

August 21, 1938

CHI. MUNNALAL,

Balwantsinha says that Bankelal does very little work. Please inquire. Ask the village . . .¹ about him. Get a full report. Make a thorough inquiry.

Who looks after Kuwadu?

. Install the loom in the new building. Nayakum has kept the bag ready.

*Blessings from
BAPU*

[PS.]

What did you do about Dahyalal yesterday?

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8568. Also C.W. 7036. Courtesy: Munnalal G. Shah

¹ A word is illegible here.

390. *REPLY TO NAGPUR DEPUTATIONISTS*¹

August 21, 1938

I realize your regard and support for Dr. Khare, I also have great love for Dr. Khare, but we who are fighting the independence battle have to forget family relations while doing our duty. After introspection I found that no wrong or injustice had been done to Dr. Khare. You have no material for comparison. I myself framed the Congress constitution in 1920 wherein the All-India Congress is the final appellate authority which everybody can approach. The Working Committee or leaders referred to, if found guilty, deserve punishment.

I advise you to prepare your case in favour of Dr. Khare to be placed before the A. I. C. C. I have said whatever I wanted to. I cannot address a public meeting at seventy. I have no desire to prove Dr. Khare's guilt, nor do I wish you to lessen your love for Dr. Khare. Time alone will tell and Dr. Khare will admit his mistake. I have patience. If I realize that I did injustice in this case unknowingly, I will apologize.

I do not wish to win independence through hooliganism which will destroy the Congress if it enters that body. Everybody has the right to criticize provided the criticism is fair, decent and truthful. No ban was imposed on Dr. Khare for contesting the election of the leadership of the C. P. Assembly Party nor did Mr. Subhas Chandra Bose threaten any member while exercising his right to vote, nor did I deprive Dr. Khare of his right to contest the election.

The Working Committee's resolution against Dr. Khare was recommendatory, not mandatory. The charge of favouritism against the C. P. Ministry was inquired into, and the wrongs redressed, while the charge of bribery and corruption was not proved. The Working Committee can correct its mistake if it has committed any. If the members of the Working Committee had the right to attend the party meeting none could remove them. It could convene the meeting at Wardha. That resolution was drafted after consulting constitutionalists and lawyers who committed no mistake in framing it.

¹ A deputation of over 150 students and others led by V. A. Khare had come from Nagpur to see Gandhiji. They expressed support for Dr. N. B. Khare and demanded withdrawal of the Working Committee's resolution concerning him. Since Gandhiji was observing silence he wrote out this reply.

The Bombay Chronicle, 22-8-1938

391. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 22, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I am sending as much as is ready. I did not understand about the hotel. I went through all the articles yesterday and sent them to you. Only the article about Nagpur is left with me now. It does not contain your translations. I must have with me my replies. However, I will see at night. There is no time now during the day. I shall have to make several additions and omissions. If the article on the hotel is with you, you may insert your additions in it.

Sushila must have sent the articles about khadi. I had also given her your letter to me.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11628

392. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 22, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

Your work must be flourishing. Pyarelal passed the night well. His mother has come. That has lessened my worry.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10766

393. LETTER TO CHIMANLAL N. SHAH

August 22, 1938

CHI. CHIMANLAL,

Probably you will be discharged today. Pyarelal passed the night fairly well. The rest from newspapers or . . .¹

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10591

394. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 23, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Why need we reply to the Sentinel's canard²? What a canard! I feel that falsehoods which no one is likely to believe should be ignored. If you feel otherwise, however, we may reply.

I will not, I cannot, send the report about the tourists with Prabhu Dayal. It will require time. I will, therefore, get it typed here.

Pyarelal passed the night fairly well.

Please send the ice.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Chimanlal is being discharged today. So if you are coming by car, bring him with you, or if anybody is coming from the bungalow he may come with him. In the last resort, he may come by tonga. If a tonga suits you better, you may hire one. But in any case the carriage will have to be arranged by you.

Telegram for Rajkumari:³

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11629

¹ A word or two are illegible here.

² The reference is to a canard spread by the Delhi correspondent of the Daily Express that Gandhiji was about to take kayakalpa or rejuvenation treatment. This was published by other newspapers also.

³ For the text of the telegram, vide p. 278.

395. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

[August 23, 1938]¹

CHI. AMRITLAL,

There is no cause for worry about Kaka. We shall have to proceed carefully. Ask Dr. Mahodaya if it would not be better to give two grains of calomel every half an hour eight times. Go on giving him glucose, as much as he can digest. Give him small quantities of mosambi juice. There are toxins in the body and they will remain for some time. If he commits no mistake in eating, all will be well.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10767

396. LETTER TO CHIMANLAL N. SHAH

August 23, 1938

CHI. CHIMANLAL,

I have entrusted to Mahadev the task of writing to you or sending anything to you. I assume that you will be ready to start as soon as you get the call. If there is any change in the programme inform Mahadev.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10592

¹ The date is as supplied by addressee.

397. TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR

WARDHAGANJ,
August 24, 1938

RAJKUMARI AMRIT KAUR
GUEST HOUSE
TRIVANDRUM

GOD WILL SOLVE DIFFICULTIES. PATIENT PROGRESSING.

BAPU

From the original C.W. 3878. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7033

398. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

August 24, 1938

MY DEAR AMRIT,

Just time to send you love. All well.

BAPU

* [PS.]

You see how considerate I have been. Say thank you.

From the original: C.W. 3877. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7034

399. LETTER TO PRITHVISINGH

SEVAGRAM, WARDHA,
August 24, 1938

MY DEAR PRITHVISINGH,

I write to you in English so that you may get this earlier.

I had your letters. I am glad you are having good treatment and that you have mental peace. I know that non-violence in thought is the most difficult of attainment. And yet without the co-operation of thought, non-violence in word and action does not become an all-pervading irresistible force that it undoubtedly is. Such non-violence comes only through God's grace. And that grace descends only on those who make a ceaseless effort—much greater surely than what we make to attain material ends.

I am pursuing my work. Much depends upon the external atmosphere.

You will continue to write regularly to me.

A letter is being sent to your people. I have already told you they met me and I was pleased they came.

Pyarelal is suffering from typhoid. But he is on the mend.

Yours sincerely,

M. K. GANDHI

From a photostat: G.N. 5630. Also C.W. 2941. Courtesy: Prithvisingh

400. LETTER TO M. VISVESVARAYYA

August 24, 1938

You may depend upon my doing all I can in behalf of your project¹.

SIR M. VISVESVARAYYA

BANGALORE

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

401. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 24, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Fresh ginger is needed for Pyarelal. I have of course made inquiries in Varoda. Rajaram will see about it. But if he is not able to procure it, please see to it yourself.

Ice and vegetable soup have been discontinued for the present. He will take whey.

If you have not written for grape-fruit along with pomegranates, do so now. Through God's grace my silence is continuing.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11632

¹ Of setting up an automobile factory in India

402. LETTER TO S. GANESAN

SEGAON,
August 25, 1938

MY DEAR GANESAN¹,

You are mad. Can't you be at peace with yourself? I am glad you withdrew your letter².

Yours,
BAPU

SHRI S. GANESAN
8 PYCROFT ROAD
TRIPPLICANE
MADRAS

From a copy: C.W. 4347. Courtesy: D. C. Jha. Also G.N. 6614

403. A MESSAGE³

August 25, 1938

There will be no peace without non-violence in the hearts of many. There will be no non-violence without prayer, and prayer is vain without correspondent work.

From the manuscript of Mahadev Desai's Diary. Courtesy: Narayan Desai

¹ Editor, Swatantra Sangh, Madras

² This seems to have expressed the anguish of workers at some of the provisions of the Temple-entry Bill then under consideration.

³ This was sent to Muriel Lester for "Prayer for Peace in the World".

404. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

[August 25, 1938]¹

CHI. KAKA,

I am sending the article after revising it. The changes are self-explanatory. Did not Subnis drink nira? Have you regained sufficient strength now to come?

Pyarelal is progressing. Fever is going down. He has started taking whey from yesterday.

Why do you make yourself unhappy because you are a Maharashtrian? Atonement has to be made by all. It is better that the poison that is inside comes out. If we do not increase it by opposing it, it will spend itself.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

You did not see Amritlal, did you?

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10911

405. TELEGRAM TO SATIN SEN

August 26, 1938

HELPLESS. SELF WORKING UNDER HANDICAP. SUFFERERS SHOULD CLUB TOGETHER AND FIND HONEST LABOUR.

GANDHI

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

¹ There is reference in the letter to Pyarelal having started taking whey "from yesterday". In "Letter to Mahadev Desai", p. 279, Gandhiji mentions Pyarelal being given whey. This letter would thus appear to have been written on August 25.

406. LETTER TO J. C. KUMARAPPA

August 26, 1938

SHRI KUMARAPPA,

Please tell Bharatan I was pleased¹ to read his good article in the Aryan Path.

From a photostat: G.N. 10135

407. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 26, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Your presumption about ice is correct. It will not be needed now. Therefore do not be too sure of Rajaram's coming there. It has started raining now. Is it but God's wrath or is He weeping at our sins?

Telegram to Ramachandran:

"Under circumstances you should act as you think proper without mentioning me. God be with you. Bapu."²

To Rajkumari:

"No sorrow over your so-called failure. Self well. Pyarelal rapidly progressing. Love. Bapu."³

If you have sent a wire in the morning in reply to hers, then do not bother about this.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11633

¹ This word is not very clear in the source.

² & ³ The telegrams are in English.

408. LETTER TO G. D. BIRLA

SEGAON,
August 26, 1938

BHAI GHANSHYAMDAS,

What you write is quite proper. I only wanted to have your reaction. All money needed for the boy¹ will be provided by Bhopal². The matter was weighing very heavily on my heart.

Yes, anarchy in the Congress seems to be on the increase. I am doing and will continue to do my utmost to check it, but the results rest with God. Anyway, the outcome can be nothing but good if our efforts are pure.

The news about Viyogi Hari has made me very happy. The weather here is very bad these days.

You should come and stay for a while in Segaoon when it gets better. Jamnalalji's cottage is quite good.

Blessings from
BAPU

From Hindi: C.W. 7995. Courtesy: G. D. Birla

409. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

Night, August 26, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

We have to send money to Nimu. She has sent a reminder. Pyarelal's fever has practically gone. There is no other complaint.

Do not force yourself to come. The work should not accumulate but you should not strain yourself to finish it either. I constantly feel that we are going to have to bear a very heavy burden. I have been working rather hard. I cannot say how long I shall be able to continue in this manner.

Blessings from
BAPU

¹ Harold Ansari; vide "Letter to G. D. Birla", p. 244.

² The Nawab of Bhopal; vide "Letter to Nawab of Bhopal", p. 182.

[PS.]

We forgot about the Ramayana. The enclosed was sent by Ramdas.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11634

410. MY SO-CALLED INCONSISTENCIES

During my student days improperly so called (for they properly began after the period of examinations and are not yet over for me) I learnt a saying of Emerson's which I never forgot. "Foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds," said the sage. I cannot be a little mind, for foolish consistency has never been my hobgoblin. My critics are shocked over my recent remarks on picketing. They think that in describing as a species of violence the formation of a living wall of pickets in order to prevent the entry of persons into picketed places, I have contradicted my sayings and doings during the civil disobedience campaign. If such is really the case, my recent writing must be held as cancelling my comparatively remote sayings and doings. Though my body is deteriorating through age, no such law of deterioration, I hope, operates against wisdom which I trust is not only not deteriorating but even growing. Whether it is or not, my mind is clear on the opinion I have given on picketing. If it does not appeal to Congressmen, they may reject it, and if they do, they will violate the laws of peaceful picketing. But there is no discrepancy between my past practice and the present statement. When civil disobedience was first organized by me in South Africa, my companions discussed with me the question of picketing. The registration office had to be picketed in Johannesburg, and the suggestion made was that we should form there a living wall of pickets. I at once rejected the idea as violent. And pickets were posted in marked positions in a big public square so that no one could elude the eagle eyes of the pickets and yet everyone could go to the registration office, if he liked, without touching anyone. Reliance was put upon the force of public opprobrium which would be evoked by the publication of the names of 'black legs'. This method was copied by me here when liquor shops were to be picketed. The work was specially entrusted to the women as better representatives of non-violence than men. Thus there was no question of the formation of a living wall. Many unauthorized things were no doubt done during those days as they are now. But I cannot recall a single instance in which I countenanced the kind of picketing condemned by the article that has come in for sharp criticism. And is there really any difficulty about regarding a living wall of pickets as naked violence? What is the difference between force used against a man wanting to do a particular thing, and force exercised by interposing yourself between him and the deed? When, during the non-co-operation days, the students in Benares blocked the passage to the University gates I had to send a peremptory message and, if my recollection serves me right, I strongly condemned their action in the columns of Young India. Of course I have no argument against those who hold different views from mine regarding violence and non-violence.

The other inconsistency imputed to me has reference to my advice to factory-owners to invoke the assistance of the police to defend themselves against what I have described as violent picketing. Having condemned the Ministries for calling in the aid of the police and even the military for suppressing riots, how could I advise employers of labour to ask for, and Ministers to supply, police assistance, ask my critics.

This is what I wrote¹ in Harijan about the Ministerial action in U.P.:

It has been suggested that when we have our independence riots and the like will not occur. This seems to me to be an empty hope, if in the course of the struggle for freedom we do not understand and use the technique of non-violent action in every conceivable circumstance. To the extent that the Congress Ministers have been obliged to make use of the police and the military, to that extent, in my opinion, we must admit our failure. That the Ministers could not have done otherwise is unfortunately only too true. I should like every Congressman, I should like the Working Committee, to ask themselves why we have failed, if they think with me that we have.

Surely here there is no condemnation of the Ministers' action. I have deplored the necessity for it as I would deplore such necessity in the matter of picketing. But till the Congress has developed a peaceful method of dealing with violent crimes, its Ministers must use the police and, I fear, even the military, if they are to undertake the administration of the affairs of the country in the present stage of its career. But it will bode ill for them and the country if they do not devise methods of dispensing with the use both of the police and the military or at least of visibly reducing their use to such an extent that he who runs may notice the reduction. There certainly is a way. I have ventured to give a faint indication of it. But it may be that the Congress organization is not really fitted for the great task. Without a living faith in non-violence, neither the military nor the police can be supplanted.

¹ Vide Vol. LXVI, p. 407.

Cries come in from many quarters of growing insubordination, indiscipline and even open violence among Congressmen. I hope that the charge is untrue of the majority of Congressmen.

Harijan, 27-8-1938

411. LETTER TO GOSIBEHN CAPTAIN

August 27, 1938

I am developing ideas about dealing with the growing violence and untruth. The two go hand in hand.

From the manuscript of Mahadev Desai's Diary. Courtesy: Narayan Desai

412. LETTER TO JAIRAMDAS DOULATRAM

August 27, 1938

You should have no worry while you are building your body. In this we may well copy Englishmen. Out of office they forget the office cares and every day come fresh to work. If they get ill, they know that they must rest and trust that without them the nation's business will go on as usual. This is true Gita living. It is the soundest economy.

From the manuscript of Mahadev Desai's Diary. Courtesy: Narayan Desai

413. LETTER TO VALJI G. DESAI

August 27, 1938

CHI. VALJI,

I read your third article and am returning all the three. The idea of composing a new Smriti is a tempting one, but I am not qualified. If I assume that I am qualified, I would require the leisure that is possible in jail. Outside I have no choice.

I have to take up the work that comes to me and do it as best as I can. There is some freedom of choice in jail. If you wish to contribute in the composition of a new Smriti, you will have to go deep into the thing. There are many interpolations in the Smritis. Some portions, though not interpolations, deserve to be rejected. Even in the Vedas everything contained is not eternal truth. The Vedas are a mixture of poetry, history and eternal verities. We should try to pick out the last. We should formulate rules of interpretation. And after that, we may place before the people our interpretations right from the Vedas to the Puranas, as the substance of Hinduism. You have got the necessary ability for this, but have I? This task is beyond the ability of a single person. For this we should have a group from among ourselves. You will now get some faint idea about how my mind is working. I do know what is dharma, but I do not know how to put it as the Vedas do. I am not sufficiently well-versed in the Shastras. And the most important thing is that I am not completely free from attachment. I aspire to be so in this life. But I will not feel sorry if I fail. I am using all the strength God has given me to destroy attachment, etc. It is not impossible for me to attain to that state, but I do not know whether I have that much time left to me. Please, therefore, do not give me anything raw just now. Your language is attractive, but I will not yield even to that attraction and accept all that you send just now. Please improve your health if you can.

Is the politics there unbearable?

Pyarelal is free from danger.

Blessings from

BAPU

[From Gujarati]

From the manuscript of Mahadev Desai's Diary. Courtesy: Narayan Desai

414. LETTER TO DEVDAS GANDHI

August 27, 1938

CHI. DEVDAS,

I could not spare the time to reply to you. I also have formed the same impression about Khan Saheb that you say you have. However, he is so suspicious that one cannot know when he might do what. But being a man of God, he remains unharmed by mistakes and perhaps he may live his whole life in this way and remain blameless. He suffers from mental lethargy and so does not know what to do in particular circumstances. And, moreover, he is simple-hearted. He would believe everything that a man whom he has come to trust told him, would not believe anything said by anyone against whom he is prejudiced, and get angry with those that did. Even so, he is a saintly person, and so one does not mind his faults.

Pyarelal has pulled through this time. Showing him what you have written would have an adverse effect. He is not fit enough just now to bear your jokes and it would not do showing him the letter after it has been edited! If his temperature is not normal today, it will be so in a day or two. He follows my advice on most things. He gives me no trouble, and so you need not worry. My silence has benefited me so much that if and when I have to give it up, I shall find it hard to do so. Most certainly there is anger in me. The silence eats it all up. After all, how much anger can I give vent to by writing?

We are going through a period of wet adversity. Water is dripping everywhere. You will see evidence of it in this also. I fully realize now the meaning of living in a village.

I am enclosing Ramdas's letter.

Ramachandran is likely to be arrested in a day or two. Rajkumari will return from Travancore tomorrow. Poor woman, she did her very best. But after all we can only try, is not that so? We have left, and should leave, credit or discredit to God. If we do not act thus, we would come to grief. I may not give you any more time now.

Blessings from

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 2011. Also the manuscript of Mahadev Desai's Diary. Courtesy: Narayan Desai

415. DISCUSSION WITH HARIJAN SATYAGRAHIS¹

[August 27, 1938]²

Harijan friends . . . calling themselves 'satyagrahis' marched to Segoon on Saturday last and demanded justice from Gandhiji. Gandhiji was of course silent, but he received them and asked them in writing if they would be content with written replies. They said they would. He asked them to explain the purpose of their visit.

"We gave you notice," their spokesman said, "that unless you could have a Harijan appointed as a Cabinet Minister we should go to Segoon and do satyagraha there. You asked us to desist. We did so and wrote to you to say so. But after that, having heard nothing from you we decided to fulfil our promise."

GANDHIJI: But what do you want, and what do you mean by satyagraha?

HARIJANS: We want a Harijan to be in the Cabinet, and a seat reserved in the Cabinet for a Harijan as there is one reserved for a Mussalman.

G. But that is not in my power.

H. It is. You were prepared to lay down your life for the Harijans at Yeravda and your fast led to the Yeravda Pact. You can do everything for the Harijans.

G. I am doing all that is in my power. But let that be. What do you mean by satyagraha?

H. We will remain here without food until another party from Nagpur comes to relieve us.

G. You are welcome to do so. You want me to provide you with room. Well we are cramped for space, but you tell us where you will sit, and we will vacate the place for you.

H. We will be fasting, and five or six people will have to stay with us to attend to our needs whilst we are fasting.

G. I am not concerned with that. You select the place and we vacate it for you.

¹ Extracted from Mahadev Desai's "Notes"

² Desai says the Harijans met Gandhiji on "Saturday last". This would be August 27.

One of the Ashram inmates went out with them to show them over the place. He returned to say that they wanted a room adjoining a hut reserved for women and also the verandah in front of it.

g. Explain to them that that room is reserved for women and they might select some other place.

He did so, but came and reported that they would have no other place.

g. Vacate it then. Let not Ba be perturbed. She can come and occupy my room, and I will go there or in the house outside which is built for Aryanayakum.

Harijan, 3-9-1938

416. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

[After August 27, 1938]¹

CHI. MAHADEV,

Herewith both your articles.

You must have received one bundle of letters sent with Rajaram.

Herewith also I am sending a few letters which are ready. Rajkumari has reached safely. The 'satyagrahis' are quite well. They do not give any trouble.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11617

417. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

August 28, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

I sent a note with Mahadev only yesterday about the medicine to be taken. Let us see what effect it has. Strength will return only by degrees.

Let C. S.'s statement be published. It will be enough for the present if your Marathi article appears in Hindi. Then we shall see. What a mountain is being made out of a molehill!

¹ From the reference to satyagrahis; vide the preceding item.

It would help if you have the legs and the body massaged. About the glucose injections, hot-water fomentation is the best remedy. However, you may try a mud-pack once. The rule for a patient is that he should not endure anything silently. That does not show his courage but betrays his ignorance. The doctor should know where you are having the pain. When he asks you to endure it, you should of course do so. Do not mind your having taken my time.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7682

418. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

August 28, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

Bhogilal Parekh has specially sent some apples. I am sending six out of them for you. Pyarelal is well.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10907

419. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 28, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

What an argument! Anyone going from Maganwadi asks neither Bharatan nor Zayerbhai. This does not show lack of co-operation. It is a question of procedure. What kind of co-operation would it be if a man on his way here visited Jamnalal, Kishorelal, Rajendra Babu, Jajuji and others and also Harijan Ashram, Aryanayakum, Mahila Ashram and Balkrishna and asked if they had any work! The rule is that a man should not go anywhere without reason. So I myself stopped sending a note to you. I have not considered it my dharma to send you all the news about this place. Is it clear now?

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Vijaya does not seem to be writing everything to me.

BAPU

[PPS.]

I learnt only yesterday about Pyarelal's niece. Pyarelal is quite well.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10768

420. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 28, 1938

CHL. AMRITLAL,

There is no question of ordering anybody. You alone understand Kaka's needs. You also know about the conditions here. So you alone can say best where you can be more useful or where you will have more satisfaction. Kaka himself is not able to decide because it is not as if he could not do without you. I cannot say because I do not have all the data. You alone can have that, so the burden naturally falls on you. I will approve of whatever decision you come to.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10769

421. MESSAGE TO HARIJAN SATYAGRAHIS

August 28, 1938

BROTHERS,

I am pained to see the troubles that you are taking because I do not know what useful purpose your troubles are going to serve. I consider that your vow is born of lack of knowledge. Whatever that may be, your fast cannot effect a change in my views. We should not coerce anyone by resorting to fasts. I therefore appeal to you that you should give up the fast and then resort to any other kind of agitation.

At the same time I [do not] consider that agitation of any kind is necessary because it is the duty of every Congress Ministry to include a Harijan in the Cabinet if a capable Harijan is forthcoming.

The Bombay Chronicle, 31-8-1938

422. TELEGRAM TO BRIJKRISHNA CHANDIWALA

WARDHAGANJ,
August 29, 1938

BRIJKRISHNA CHANDIWALA
KATRA KHUSALRAI, DELHI

NO CAUSE SORROW.¹ GOD BLESS HER SOUL. LOVE.

BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 2466

423. LETTER TO P. C. GHOSH

SEGAON, WARDHA,
August 30, 1938

MY DEAR PROFULLA,

I am glad you are having an exhibition for khadi and allied village industries and hope that it will be a glorious success as well from the point of view of numbers who attend as of sales.

Yours,
BAPU

[PS.]

I am out of stock for palm-gur and need it badly for Pyarelal who is just convalescent. Please send the maximum quantity carried at the minimum cost per railway parcel or postal, whichever is cheaper.

BAPU

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

¹ The addressee had lost his mother on August 26,

424. LETTER TO LALI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
August 30, 1938

MY DEAR LALI,

It is good that you have trust in my judgment. But I must not abuse that trust. So instead of using it, I left it to you to decide where you would be happy. Now you will prove the wisdom of your choice by becoming a worthy lad both in character and cleverness.

You will give me at least a monthly detailed report of your progress.

Love.

BAPU

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

425. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

August 30, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I trust Lilavati did not suffer much. Ba was asking bitterly why I let her go.

Send a telegram to Jawahar:

"Wire Indu's health. Love all. Bapu."¹

It has become a problem how to cope with the work. I wished to write for Harijan but found it impossible to do so.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I have read Kishorelal's article. Let it be published as it is.

BAPU

[PPS.]

Did you send the money to Nimu?

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11635

¹ This is in English.

426. LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
August 30, 1938

CHI. NARANDAS,

Rajkumari Amrit Kaur was born in 1887 A. D. She is the only daughter of the late Raja Sir Harnam Singh. The late Raja Saheb was the uncle of the Maharaja of Kapurthala. The Rajkumari was educated in England for eight years. She has been taking a prominent part in the women's movement since 1928. At present she is President of the All-India Women's Conference. Her way of living is exceedingly simple. She has been wearing khadi for years. She is a member of the Spinners' Association and the Village Industries Association and takes great interest in both these activities. This information should suffice for you.

Tell Chhaganlal that if he wants to arrange a tour of Kathiawar for her for a few days, he may do so. It is not absolutely obligatory to arrange the tour. It may be dropped if the atmosphere at present is not favourable. I have prepared her for it.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

The Rajkumari is a Christian by birth, and a Hindu by conduct. She cannot be taken to a temple.

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./II. Also C.W. 8546. Courtesy: Narandas Gandhi

427. LETTER TO PRABHAVATI

SEGAON,
August 30, 1938

CHI. PRABHA,

I got your letter. Who can help one who makes herself unhappy without cause? Joy and sorrow are mental creations. I experience this every moment. If Jayaprakash does not go to Malabar at all, will it mean that you will not be permitted to come? When he goes to Malabar he may take you from here, or he may go directly there and you may leave this place at the same time and join him there. My visit to the Frontier Province may perhaps start around the 20th September. In that case you will remain here. I shall have to be back from there around October 20.

Pyarelal has no fever now, but feels weak. The danger is over. My silence is for an indefinite period. God alone knows when it will be over. But you are not concerned with that. You will be able to talk to your heart's content, and I will reply to you by writing. But the truth is that you do not need to talk. It is enough for you to stay with me to have peace of mind. I need not worry about you then. Please, therefore, come if you can. I will see about your studying.

I am well.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G. N. 3520

428. LETTER TO S. GURCHARAN SINGH

SEGAON, WARDHA,
August 31, 1938

DEAR FRIEND,

I am glad you are free. Your threat pains me and it is unworthy. Why should discharged political prisoners think that they have a right to expect the nation to support them and pay the expenses of the education of their relatives? Sacrifice loses all value when it demands its price with compound interest. And how should your threatened hunger-strike make wrong right?

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

S. GURCHARAN SINGH
OVERSEER
EX-POLITICAL PRISONER

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

429. LETTER TO BHARATAN KUMARAPPA

August 31, 1938

MY DEAR BHARATAN,

Ramdas Gulati saw the museum for the spinning models. His engineer eyes saw defects in the building. I asked him to reduce them to writing. Here is his report¹. You should study it and if the defects pointed out are really defects you should find who is responsible and, where possible, they should be remedied. How much progress in Hindi?

Love.

BAPU

Encl. 1

From a photostat: G.N. 3595

430. LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU

SEGAON, WARDHA,
August 31, 1938

MY DEAR JAWAHARLAL,

Owing to my limited energy, I have been obliged to repress my desire to write to you.

I await your reply to my wire about Indu.²

I note your warning about federation. I discount the news, i. e., if it is more than a rumour. They won't call it without first securing Congress consent. This they can't get.

¹ Not traceable

² Vide "Letter to Mahadev Desai", p. 294.

Then about the Jews. I feel entirely like you. I boycott foreign goods, not foreign ability. And I feel keenly for the persecuted Jews. As a concrete proposal I suggest your collecting the names of the most deserving ones and making it plain to them that they must be prepared to throw in their lot with us and accept our standard of living. The rest from Mahadev.

Love:

BAPU

Gandhi-Nehru Papers, 1938. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library. Also A Bunch of Old Letters, p. 286

431. LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI

SEGAON,

August 31, 1938

CHI. NARANDAS,

Please find enclosed a cheque from Gokaldas. Send him a receipt from there. I have not written to him from here. I hope Jamna is calm.

What is the news about Harakhchand?

Manju has not replied to my letter. Can't Purushottam satisfy her love of music?

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

You have been covering years well. Cover many more and continue to serve.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./II. Also C.W. 8547. Courtesy: Narandas Gandhi

432. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

August 31, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

I am sorry about the ghee. I did not know at all. There is a sort of chaos here. And moreover there was no note from you. As soon as I came to know, I arranged for it. Now you must have got it. Gajanan brought Kaka's letter only this morning, so there has been no delay in sending ghee. A reply to Prabhu is enclosed. It may go only if Kaka approves.

I got the hundi for Rs. 69. There seems to be a famine of ghee just now. Because of an epidemic among the cattle, the supply of milk has been reduced somewhat.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10770

433. LETTER TO RAJKUMAR SINHA

[On or before September 1, 1938]¹

DEAR RAJKUMAR,

I have your second letter today. For my health I am working under enormous strain. Therefore delay in writing to [you] and other friends must not be interpreted as negligence on my part of the main work which has brought you and other friends in touch with me. Let this suffice for you that there can be no peace for me till every prisoner is accounted for.

Your soldier-like bearing and promptness when you came to me captivated me. I hope to enlist you as a true soldier of peace. But that later.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

RAJKUMAR SINHA
CAWNPUR

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal. Also The Hindu, 2-9-1938

¹ The Hindu report carrying this item is dated September 1, 1938.

434. TELEGRAM TO PRIVATE SECRETARY TO THE VICEROY

September 1, 1938

UNDERSTAND GOVERNMENT CONSIDERING CASE OF B. K.
DUTT¹ POLITICAL PRISONER LODGED BIHAR PROVINCE
AILING SERIOUSLY. HAVE PRESSING LETTERS ABOUT HIM. REQUEST HIS EXCELLENCY'S INTERVENTION EARLY RELIEF IF AT ALL POSSIBLE.

GANDHI

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

435. LETTER TO SUSHILA GANDHI

September 1, 1938

CHI. SUSHILA,

Tell me who is the better person—Surendra or Manilal? Manu is never tired of praising Surendra. Have you seen any shortcomings in Manilal? Does he curb you in any way? So much for jest.

I certainly like it that Sita is coming over but will it not affect her studies? From my point of view, children do learn here but what they learn is of a different kind altogether. The two cannot be combined.

Do you and Manu mind my silence? I certainly feel like speaking for your sake, but silence is very important for my peace of mind and my work. Both of you, therefore, should willingly put up with it. Even though I do not speak, don't you both play with me? Show this to Manu and both of you give me your willing permission.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 4881

¹ Batukeshwar Dutt, a close associate of Bhagat Singh

436. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 2, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Let Maulana Saheb come today at 2 o'clock. I will leave the takli yajna or finish it earlier according as I feel inclined at the time. When you come, bring some good vegetables for Mother¹ if available. Durga or Lila may go to the market.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11639

437. LETTER TO HARISHANKAR PANDYA²

[On or before September 3, 1938]³

The Sardar is not going to foment trouble. He has been President of the Rajakiya Parishad. He has been honoured as a guest in several States. He owes a duty to his co-workers of the Parishad. He goes merely as a guide. It is strange that you should regard his coming as outside interference. I expect you to take advantage of his presence to produce harmony if the agitation is confined to a minority. You may depend upon the Sardar. Knowing as I do so many of the workers, I am unable to regard them as ill-meaning agitators. Please share this with Bhayats, Lohana Samaj and the Muslim Council, who have wired to me. I hope wiser counsels will prevail.

The Hindu, 3-9-1938

¹ Pyarelal's mother

² The addressee, as well as some others, had sent telegrams requesting Gandhiji to dissuade Vallabhbhai Patel from going to Rajkot in connection with the Kisan agitation there as the situation did not call for outside interference.

³ The news item reporting this is dated September 3.

438. STATEMENT TO THE PRESS

September 3, 1938

I have been in close touch with the prime movers affected by the tragedy which is now being enacted in Travancore, and I had hoped that I should be able to avoid having to make any public statement. After a study of the available evidence and interviews with representative men from Travancore, I have come to the conclusion that the Travancore Government are resorting to repressive methods, far in excess of the requirements, if there are any.

The Travancore Government contend that the Travancore State Congress activities are disloyal and subversive. I have studied the documents alleged to contain evidence in support of such a charge and have failed to find anything of that nature. On the contrary, I have seen emphatic repudiation by the State Congress of the charge unless constitutional agitation for responsible government is to be called subversive.

I have, however, read the memorial of the Working Committee of the Travancore State Congress, making the most serious charges unsupported by any evidence against the able Dewan, Sir C. P. Ramaswami Aiyar. They should never have been made, even if the memorialists had evidence in support. Such evidence is irrelevant to the case for responsible government. It would have its place in a memorial for the removal of the Dewan. There is no doubt that these charges have harmed the memorialists and therefore the State Congress, though they cannot weaken the case for responsible government.

I have no doubt whatsoever that the case for responsible government will be strengthened by the frightfulness being committed by the Government of Travancore if only the people will not be demoralized and will continue to adhere to non-violence. If reports about violence by students are true, I appeal to the students to desist and allow the movement to develop non-violently.

Leaders who have been locked up should make amends by withdrawing the charges against the Dewan.

I had the honour of meeting the young Maharaja and the Maharani. I have had the privilege of knowing Sir C. P. Ramaswami Aiyar for many years. I appeal to them to retrace their steps and allow the State Congress to function so long as its activities remain peaceful. Surely the common law of the State is enough to cope with individuals using violent language or resorting to actual violence. But at this hour of the day, to expect the people to submit to the suppression of free speech or of demands, however advanced these may be, is to invite trouble.

In my humble opinion, the prevention of Shrimati Kamaladevi Chattopadhyaya from entering the State was a first-class tactical blunder. It passes comprehension how Sir C. P. Ramaswami Aiyar, himself a foreigner, prohibited the entry of a distinguished Indian lady on the grounds, according to him, of her being an outsider. She was amenable to the State law if she had committed any breach thereof. I thought it was only reserved for the English administrators to treat Indians going from one province to another as foreigners. It ill becomes the Indian Princes and their advisers to follow the pernicious practice of the English administrators—a practice of which many Englishmen are heartily ashamed. The Government may, by the terrible repression they have resorted to, succeed in killing the movement for the time being, but it will never die and will leave a bitter memory behind. I hope that wiser counsels will yet prevail and the State Congress will be permitted to function properly.

Harijan, 10-9-1938

439. CHOICE BEFORE CONGRESSMEN

Since the publication of my article¹ on violence said to be creeping into the Congress ranks, evidence is coming in to corroborate the complaints made by my correspondents. Violence at Congress elections, they say, is on the increase. It looks as if Congressmen are not able to digest the power that has come to the Congress. Everyone wants to have a share in the spoils of office. And so there is an unhealthy competition to capture committees.

This is not the way to win swaraj, nor is it the way to work the office programme. The holding of any office in the Congress Government must be in the spirit of service without the slightest expectation of personal gain. If A is satisfied in ordinary life with getting Rs. 25 per month, he has no right to expect Rs. 250 on becoming a minister or obtaining any other office under the Government. And there are many Congressmen who are taking only Rs. 25 per month in voluntary organizations and who are well able to shoulder ministerial responsibility. Bengal and Maharashtra are teeming with able men who have dedicated themselves to public service on a mere pittance and who are well able to give a good account of themselves no matter where they are put. But they are not to be tempted to leave the fields they have chosen, and it would be wrong to drag them out of their invaluable self-chosen obscurity. It is true all the world over, and more true perhaps of this country, that as a rule the best and the wisest men will not become ministers or accept positions under Governments. But I have digressed.

¹ Vide Vol. LXVI, pp. 405-7.

We may not always get the best and the wisest men and women to run Congress Governments, but swaraj will become a distant dream if the ministers and other Congressmen holding offices are not selfless, able and incorruptible. We are not likely to have such men if Congress committees become job-hunting arenas in which the most violent would win.

How to preserve the purity of the organization is the question. Anyone who subscribes to the credal article of the Congress and pays 4 annas can demand registration as a member. Many sign the Congress pledge without believing in the necessity for observing truth and non-violence as conditions of attainment of swaraj. Let no one cavil at my use of the expressions 'truthful and non-violent' as synonymous with 'legitimate and peaceful'. From the very commencement of the Congress constitution I have used those adjectives without challenge. The word 'non-violence' was first introduced by me in the resolution on non-co-operation carried in Calcutta by the Congress. Can anything be untruthful and yet be legitimate, violent and yet be peaceful? Be that as it may, I claim that those who commit a breach of these two primary conditions, no matter by what adjectives they are known, can have no place in the Congress organization so long as it is governed by the present constitution.

Similarly those who do not use khadi as habitual wear have no place in any Congress committee. This condition should apply also to those who do not carry out vital resolutions of the Congress, A. I. C. C. or the Working Committee. My prescription would be that those who commit a breach of any of these conditions should automatically cease to belong to the Congress. It may be urged that the remedy is too drastic. It is, if it is regarded as a punishment. If it is the automatic result of a particular act or omission of a person, it is no punishment. I know that thrusting my finger into a furnace will surely burn it and still I thrust it; my suffering is no punishment, it is the natural consequence of my action. Punishment depends upon the will of the judge. Natural consequences are independent of any person's will.

It will be urged that under these conditions the Congress will cease to be a democratic organization, it will become a close corporation.

I hold a wholly contrary view.

Democracy of the West is, in my opinion, only so called. It has germs in it, certainly, of the true type. But it can only come when all violence is eschewed and malpractices disappear. The two go hand in hand. Indeed malpractice is a species of violence. If India is to evolve the true type, there would be no compromise with violence or untruth. Ten million men and women on the Congress register with violence and untruth in their breasts would not evolve real democracy or bring swaraj. But I can conceive the possibility of ten thousand Congressmen and women who are cent per cent true, and free from having to carry the burden of innumerable doubtful companions, bringing swaraj.

Let us reflect upon the past a little. Over fifty years ago a handful of men and women took it into their heads to meet together and represent and speak in the name of the dumb millions. Time has proved the validity of their claim. Since then the prestige of the Congress has risen not in proportion to its numbers, not in proportion to the display of intellect on the platform or in committee rooms, but it has risen in proportion to the ability of Congressmen to suffer and sacrifice themselves for the nation. No one will deny that when in 1920 the Congress definitely became a democratic, duly elected body having a large number of voters on its rolls, it found itself possessed of new power only because it deliberately adopted truth and non-violence as its means of reaching its goal. And even at the present day, the Congress has quite an insignificant number of men and women on its register compared to the tremendous power it wields. The reason to my mind is that it shows a measure of sacrifice, cohesion and discipline unequalled by any other organization in India. But as an experienced servant and general I make bold to say that we shall have to show a much higher measure of these qualities if we are to win independence before many years are out. It is my deliberate conviction based on closest observation that we can secure all we want, within much less time than perhaps any one of us imagines, simply by showing high efficiency and equally high honesty in every one of the Congress activities.

It would ill become us as truly brave men and women to wish ill to the British in order to gain our end. In non-violent warfare wishing ill to the enemy is not permissible. A non-violent person relies upon his own strength and refuses to trade upon his opponents' weakness.

With all the earnestness I can command I, therefore, plead with every Congressman who believes in his pledge to make his choice: either to apply the purge I have suggested, or, if that is not feasible because of the Congress being already overmanned by those who have lost faith in its creed and its constructive programme on which depends its real strength, to secede from it for its own sake and prove his living faith in the creed and programme by practising the former and prosecuting the latter as if he had never seceded from the Congress of his ideal. If one or the other thing is not done, I see grave danger of the Congress collapsing by the weight of its own weaknesses.

It has given me no pleasure to pen these lines. But having felt the urge, I would have been untrue to the Congress if I had not uttered the warning. It is the voice of silence. For the reader should know I took silence over a fortnight ago for an indefinite period. It has given me peace I cannot describe, and it enables me to commune with Nature.

Harijan, 3-9-1938

440. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 3, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I wrote these yesterday. Today, I have been awake from 1.30. Since my mind has been possessed of the H. M. matter I have been writing about it. Please remember that you are not to come today before three. See that both the telegrams are sent without any mistake. It should not be necessary to tell you this, but I mention it considering the burden on you. The word 'mistake' should be interpreted in two senses—one, that the copy should be identical with the original and, two, if you think I have made any mistake, correct it. If there is any doubt, ask me. If you wish to wait till you have shown it to V. you may do so. The urgency is about Travancore.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11620

441. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

SEGAON,
September 3, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

I did not even remember anything about Bombay. You may now do what you think proper.

Has Amritlal decided anything? I like what you say about the Smriti. If you can work with the others and select extracts, do so.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10908

442. LETTER TO BRIJKRISHNA CHANDIWALA

September 3, 1938

CHI. BRIJKRISHNA,

My spirit was always with you. It is sad that you were not by Mother's bed-side at the moment of her death. But do we regard death as death? It is a great transformation. The body is constantly changing. When the self which had associated with it has deserted it, why lament over it? You can come here when you want. I shall shortly go to Delhi. Hence if you want to save the expense you may. The weather here is also not too good.

Blessings to all brothers from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 2465

443. LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL

SEGAON, WARDHA,
September 4, 1938

BHAI VALLABHBHAI,

How long will you live on medicines? Which kingdom do you aspire to win? Go slow. Do only as much as you can. Take care of your health, otherwise you will be guilty of violence.

Blessings from
BAPU

[From Gujarati]

Bapuna Patro-2: Sardar Vallabhbhains, p. 224

444. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

September 4, 1938

CHH. KRISHNACHANDRA,

About the first letter, I can only say that I never suspected the palate¹.

About the other, I can say that I allow the massage if I need it, otherwise I stop it in a few minutes. Why should I let Amtussalaam come when I do not need her services? I did not know that she woke you up every night. But you will have to sleep near me when Amtussalaam leaves me and when Lilavati will not be there. Then you will see how I box your ears. You must apologize to Munnalal. Beware of constipation.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4301

¹ The Gujarati original has swada, which means relish of the palate.

445. STATEMENT TO THE PRESS

[September 5, 1938]¹

I have read Dr. Khare's own defence. The only part that directly concerns me I owe it to the public to answer. It is painful for me to have to contradict Dr. Khare.

He came to Segaon voluntarily. He came as a friend. There was no protest on his part when he came. It was not without full argument that he felt convinced of the charges I brought against him. When he realized the force of my argument, he said he placed himself unreservedly in my hands. I told him that as he had admittedly lost his balance, if he felt like consulting his friends whom I had named, he should do so. There was no desperate hurry. He said he was quite capable of deciding for himself and that there was no need to consult other friends. Then I said he should better write out himself what he had admitted. He suggested that I should draft a statement, as he was no draftsman. I said nevertheless that I wanted his language. If I felt it did not cover sufficiently what he had admitted, I would revise it or add to it.

After some hesitation he took pen and paper and drew up the draft. I then took it up and made the corrections and additions.² He read them twice or thrice and said he could never admit betrayal of trust and that in any case he would not make any statement there and then but would accept my suggestion that he should consult his friends. Three o'clock the following day was the time limit fixed for the receipt of his answer. I have consulted the President, Maulana Saheb and Sardar Patel, who are here, and they confirm my version.

Harijan, 10-9-1938

¹ From The Hindustan Times

² For Khare's draft statement and Gandhiji's corrections, vide Appendix

446. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 5, 1938

GHI. MAHADEV,

Herewith a telegram for Devdas. We will not take anything in Harijan in that way. Your labour, however, has not been wasted.

I will get your note typed here. My article is almost ready. If it is ready earlier, or even otherwise, I will send it complete from here. Somebody will come.

Your letter was welcome. It is brave of you to write directly to me. I have torn up the letter after reading it. It is a strange story! I will write when you come. There is nothing to worry about. The thing is so ridiculous. Do we have the time just now for such things? Do your duty without thinking about my blood-pressure. It would have been altogether wrong if you had not written the letter.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11640

447. LETTER TO RADHAKRISHNA BAJAJ

September 5, 1938

BHAI RADHAKRISHNJI,

Bhai Chakrayya needs some handloom goods. You may give him whatever you can. How are Anasuya and the child? I have almost forgotten them both.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 9124

448. LETTER TO ABDUL GHAFFAR KHAN

SEGAON, WARDHA,
September 6, 1938

DEAR KHAN SAHEB,

The date of the W. C. is now finally fixed. It meets at Delhi on 20th. I reach there on 20th. I hope you will attend. This means that I can go to the Frontier Province immediately after the Delhi meeting. You will now advise me please.

Will you also tell me whether you want me to take Amtul Salaam with me or not?

I hope you are doing well. Are you reading Harijan regularly? You should if you are not.

Love.

BAPU

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

449. STATEMENT TO THE PRESS

September 6, 1938

I have read the Travancore Dewan's statement with the attention it deserves. I fear I cannot take shelter under ignorance of the Press messages published from time to time on the tragedy that is being continued in Travancore.¹ Sir C. P. Ramaswami Aiyar's defence reads like an edition of the reports that used to be issued on behalf of the British Government during the civil disobedience campaign. Not even the massacre of Jallianwalla was justified exactly as the Travancore shootings are now being justified. Was not General Dyer's action subsequently condemned? So is it likely to be in this case.

I ask Sir C. P. Ramaswami to copy Sir Mirza Ismail and appoint an outsider of unimpeachable integrity to enquire into the whole affair. Let him declare a general amnesty and allow free expression of opinion. Instead of importing the military and a Special Officer to carry on repression, I invite the Travancore Government to request someone like the Rt. Hon'ble V. S. Srinivasa Sastri, if Congressmen are anathema, to go to Travancore and help them to re-establish peace there without further military action.

¹ The Dewan in his statement had said, "Mahatma Gandhi is thoroughly unaware of the facts . . ."

Harijan, 10-9-1938

450. FRAGMENT OF LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR¹

September 6, 1938

This is no rebuke to you. You have done all this with the best of motives for the love of me. But without a knowledge of the manner of doing things, all our love may miscarry. Love waits, prays and is infinitely patient. You have been impatient to do good. If you have understood this you will dance with joy that you have in me a knowing friend whose love knows no bounds.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 4218. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7854

451. LETTER TO HARSHADABEHN DIWANJI

September 6, 1938

DEAR SISTER,

I got your loving gift. I have heard that women are in the habit of concealing their age. Have you justified this belief by concealing yours? Be that as it may, live a full hundred years.

If you want my compliments for spinning a hundred rounds more, you have them. But where is the room for compliments when one is doing one's duty?

You may come whenever you wish to.

Blessings from

BAPU

SHRI HARSHADABEHN DIWANJI
KHAR
BOMBAY

From Gujarati: C.W. 9795

¹ The first three sheets of the letter are not traceable.

452. LETTER TO LORD BRABOURNE

SEGAON, WARDHA,
September 7, 1938

DEAR LORD BRABOURNE¹,

I am touched by your prompt and sympathetic reply to my wire about political prisoner B. K. Dutt. I thank you for it.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

453. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 7, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

You may begin in the morning with juice of fruits—either mosambi or grapes. Increase the quantity of milk by 8 oz. Take less rice. Eat more wheat instead. You do drink enough water. Stop walking too much, but do continue pacing about for two hours slowly and at uniform speed. The hour for retiring at night must be strictly observed. Do not worry if any work is left unfinished. A few things can be got done here. More in the next letter. Do not put yourself to any inconvenience for coming today.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11641

¹ Governor of Bengal, then acting as Viceroy. He had acknowledged Gandhiji's telegram of 1-9-1938 and said he had agreed to the prisoner's release on grounds of ill-health subject to certain conditions.

454. LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI

September 7, 1938

CHI. KANTI,

I do not remember the letter in which you had asked questions. When it is necessary to reply to your letters or act on them, I do not hesitate even to send a telegram. Saraswati has been writing to me and saying that she is perfectly peaceful. You should write to me about the unhappy circumstances in her family. If I can do something, I may try.

What Rajkumari writes about my health is not correct. I consider my health fine.

I would be satisfied if yours was as good as mine, barring the blood-pressure.

There is no time for more.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7347. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

455. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

September 7, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

Who wants to get married, you or I? If you can wait, why need I be in a hurry? And as long as you are ill how can I give you away?

But please know that the treatment there is mere quackery. So, if you wish, come over here. But not in my absence. Go to Manjubehn. Let her examine you and suggest whatever remedy she likes. It would be better if you did not go to Maroli just now. I will not have your illness being prolonged there. I would bear it even if you were to die here because I would be sure then that scientific treatment had been given. Try Manjubehn first. Naranbhai will not now stand in your way.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7098. Also C.W. 4590. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

456. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

September 7, 1938

I have written to Vijaya. Manjula may examine her. She may go to Maroli if it is necessary. Let her not try quack remedies.

How is it that you too get fever? What is it due to?

*Blessings from
BAPU*

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10771

457. LETTER TO JETHALAL G. SAMPAT

September 7, 1938

CHI. JETHALAL,

I got your fine letter yesterday. I finished reading it just now at 6.30 in the morning. I have now given it to Parnerkar to read.

If you are persuading the people to make ghee in their own homes, you should also show them the correct method of making it. I do not understand how you guard against adulteration.

Your second letter is based on hasty reasoning. But that does not matter. Experience will correct the errors of reasoning. Instead of judging the world, we should judge ourselves and do what we can. Bearing in mind that He who controls us all is perfect, we should be content with whatever we are able to do. Have faith that in the measure in which you are able to improve your village, other villages also will improve, and concentrate on that task. You do maintain accounts for everything, starting with cattle feed. Don't you? How much milk does a cow give? How much butter and ghee?

*Blessings from
BAPU*

From Gujarati: C.W. 9866. Courtesy: Narayan J. Sampat

458. LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM

September 7, 1938

MY DAUGHTER AMTUL 'SALAAM,

I do not know what I should say; you repeat the same question which I have answered again and again. Bhansalibhai writes to me; but does he complain? Whatever I say reaches his head and heart. Whatever I say to you does not satisfy you—I cannot discuss your food. If I ask you to strain less, you will exert more. If I ask you to sleep, you will not listen. Even if you try to sleep, your heart will protest that it is not correct advice. How can I know what was said to the Maulana? Tell me, how can I make you understand.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 728

459. LETTER TO HARIBHAU UPADHYAYA

[September 7, 1938]¹

DEAR HARIBHAU,

Ba and Bapuji have received your letters of the 2nd. Bapuji says that Ba is now no longer fit for such work and therefore should be spared.

We shall certainly meet in Delhi.

Yours,
MAHADEV

From the Hindi original. Haribhau Upadhyaya Papers. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

¹ From the postmark

460. A LETTER

SEGAON, WARDHA,
September 8, 1938

DEAR FRIEND,

I was unable to speak to Subhas Babu yesterday. But I have written to him.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

From a photostat: S.N. 11649

461. LETTER TO AGATHA HARRISON

SEGAON,
September 8, 1938

MY DEAR AGATHA,

My capacity for work is very limited and work is daily mounting. Hence the delay in writing to you. But there has been not a moment's delay in action on this side. The whole sum is guaranteed. I gave Shuaib your address and he definitely promised to give the whole thing proper form and write to you. He was to send you or Harold £100 on a/c. I am now taking action.¹

The rest from Mahadev.

Love.

BAPU

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

¹ Vide the following item.

462. LETTER TO SHUAIB QURESHI

September 8, 1938

MY DEAR SHWAIB,

No news from you! Have you sent £100? The matter admits of no delay.

What about your mission?

My right hand needs rest. This is with the left hand.

Love.

BAPU

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

463. LETTER TO SHAUKATULLA SHAH

September 8, 1938

MY DEAR SHAUKAT,

This is with the left hand as the right needs rest. Mahadev has been telling me everything. Poor Zohra!

I hope you are getting full assistance from Dr. Bidhan.

I have your warning about the guarantee for Harold. The idea is that the Bank should be put in funds and that £100 should be sent at once.

I am sure Ammijan is at perfect peace with herself.

Love to you all.

BAPU

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

464. LETTER TO POTHAN JOSEPH

September 8, 1938

MY DEAR POTHAN,

I am on my back just now for the abdominal bandage. Hence the pencil hand.

I shall read your article.

You may fail ten times out of ten, and you will come to me as often as a penitent. What my word may have done for a moment it may also do permanently. There is nothing in me. But God may speak to you through me.

Love.

BAPU

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

465. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

September 8, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

There is falsehood, that is madness, in every line of Sheralakar's letter. Why reply to him?

You may come whenever you wish. Three o'clock will be the best time. How did Amritlal get indigestion?

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10909

466. LETTER TO MUNNALAL G. SHAH

September 8, 1938

CHI. MUNNALAL,

The first decision you need to arrive at is whether you can dedicate your whole life to Segaoon. The co-workers are what they are. I gave you those letters so that you might examine your heart. You yourself have engaged Govind, Dasharath, etc. It is your duty to live and work with them. You should spin and weave with them. You have to make yourself an expert in the science of khadi. This was your pledge from the very beginning and I have cherished that hope. You should ponder over Kanu's hint in this regard.

Do you reflect over all you read? I doubt it.

What does sitting with me mean? By all means sit if you have free time. The days are over when I could give you personal attention. I would be satisfied if I could cope with the work I have. But I feel that the body is bound to become weaker day by day.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8591. Also C.W. 7031. Courtesy: Munnalal G. Shah

467. LETTER TO SAMPURNANAND

September 8, 1938

BHAI SAMPURNANAND,

I agree with everything that you have said. The Congress has merely given a new name to the language. It has not made any other difference. No honest person would reject a word because of its Hindu or Muslim origin. What can we say of others? And it has become fashionable these days to oppose anything done by the Congress or Congressmen. Do you want to know my views on the subject or something else? Because I have spoken and written at length on this subject.

Yours,
M. K. GANDHI

From Hindi: C.W. 10133. Courtesy: Kashi Vidyapeeth, Varanasi

468. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

[About September 8, 1938]¹

CHI. KAKA,

We cannot be sure about Sheralekar.

You did well in leaving the dentures there. There is so much humbug in the so-called Shastras that revised editions should be brought out. But who will do it?

Pyarelal can now move about.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10910

469. MESSAGE TO "THE NATIONAL HERALD"

[On or before September 9, 1938]²

I hope the paper will always represent truth and non-violence.

The Hindu, 9-9-1938

470. LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM

September 9, 1938

DEAR DAUGHTER³,

The account of the work is good. Engross yourself wholly in these activities. Think about nothing while thus occupied. If you do not have the courage to go to the Frontier Province, you need not go. Overcome your sorrow. What do you eat?

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 410

¹ There is a reference to Sheralekar's letter in "Letter to D. B. Kalelkar", p. 319.

² The first issue of The National Herald appeared on September 9.

³ The superscription is in Urdu.

471. LETTER TO MANILAL GANDHI

SEGAON, WARDEHA,
September 9, 1938

CHI. MANILAL,

You must have got the cable I sent as desired by you. I assume that you will do nothing in haste. I feel that you cannot close the I. O., and it will be best if it is not closed. But if there is no other way, let it be closed.

You will read about the other things from Sushila's letter.

My health can be considered excellent. The fluctuation in blood-pressure is no cause for alarm. My silence is continuing and that is good.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 4882

472. LETTER TO RATILAL

September 9, 1938

BHAI RATILAL,

I was glad to read the news in your letter.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7177

473. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

September 9, 1938

CHI. KRISHNACHANDRA,

The tongue does not readily utter 'tu'¹ addressing the boys and 'tum'² addressing the girls. It is something of a family tradition.

¹ Thou

² You

Make any change you think necessary in your diet but never for the sake of taste. Instead, enjoy whatever you have to eat.

It would be better not to accept anything even from your uncle. Do not discriminate between big and small books. It would be appropriate to give up collecting even books. Be content with the books available here.

As you are not coming with me you have to draw your contentment from within yourself. Wherever I may be my home is here, is it not? This ought to suffice.

Blessings from

BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4303; also S.G. 69

474. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

September 9, 1938

CHI. KRISHNACHANDRA,

Yes, you have to go to Bālkoba. You may also do enthusiastically any other work entrusted to you.

The card is enclosed.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4302

475. CONGRESSMEN BEWARE!

I have been inundated with letters and wires complaining of what the senders have regarded as the Madras Premier's terrible misdeeds. I pick out two which have been the subject of adverse comment in many quarters in India. They are his policy about Hindustani and his employment of the Criminal Law Amendment Act for abating the picketing nuisance.

My correspondents evidently think that I am the keeper of the Premier's conscience and that I have but to send instructions and they will be obeyed. They know my relations with Rajagopalachari. But I am not the keeper of anybody's conscience, much less of Rajaji's. Let the reader share the secret with me that nobody among those who regard the Congress acceptance of truth and non-violence as the rule of their lives fights me as strenuously as he does. But he has one essential virtue of a soldier. I became my own general of satyagraha and my first recruit in 1906. When I announced my generalship in 1918 in India, Rajaji was among those who enlisted themselves at the very commencement. It was under his roof that the inspiration of the hartal of 6th April came to me. From that day to this his loyalty to his general has been beyond reproach or compare. And if as general I asked him to give up his premiership he would do so without demur. He may not even agree with my judgment. But in battle he knows that a private has no judgment but his general's.

But in spite of the exemplary loyalty that Rajaji gives me in common with many others, I will not issue the instructions my correspondents demand. Let the complainants know that we rarely correspond with each other. I know he has no time and he knows I have equally little for such correspondence. The law of satyagraha forbids such action. If he has to resign, he will do so in the constitutional manner. And there will be no fuss, no complaint. What is more to the point, I have boundless faith in his wisdom, his uprightness, and his unsurpassed ability as a parliamentarian among Congressmen at least. He has to his credit no mean achievements. And those who think that he is wallowing in the constitution gutter are vastly mistaken. We have in our ranks no abler fighter in satyagraha. I see nothing wrong in a satyagrahi winning victories without bluster, without wrangling but by conversion, by carrying conviction. The world will perhaps never know what Congress Premiers have been doing by forcing conviction upon Governors. Rajaji has been in the forefront among these. The greater the peaceful penetration, the greater the virtue of satyagraha. There is little room for tamasha in a fight for truth with truth and nothing but truth.

It hurts me, therefore, when Congressmen decry him and think that he is so enamoured of office that he is afraid to do the right thing. All Congress Ministers naturally come in for trenchant criticism from those who dislike Congress politics. Whatever is sound in such criticism must be accepted with gratefulness. There is criticism that springs from party motives. Even that has to be borne. But when Congressmen take up the same cry, it becomes embarrassing. They have their remedy. They can complain to their Provincial Committees, and failing redress they can go to the Working Committee and finally to the A. I. C. C. Surely there is no room for criticism if all these remedies fail. But my greatest complaint against these critics is that they are too hasty or too lazy to acquaint themselves with facts. There is no sin greater than ignorance. I see daily verification of this great saying.

My first advice then is that my numerous correspondents and those who think like them should first study facts as Rajaji and his Cabinet see them. If then they are not satisfied, they should move for redress in the manner indicated by me.

I can give no direct help. There are limitations to the use of my influence with Congressmen. My retirement does mean non-interference with individual Congressmen in the discharge of their daily duty and even with the Working Committee except when it seeks my help or advice. Thus when Dr. Khare came to me for guidance, I twice refused, saying that he should approach the Parliamentary Sub-committee. Shri Shukla and Mishra were in urgent need. But to them also I had to say the same thing as I said to Dr. Khare. If I do not observe these broad limitations, my retirement becomes meaningless. Indeed I do not follow the day-to-day doings of Congressmen nowadays, whereas when I was in the Working Committee nothing escaped me and I used to scan everything and give guidance in detail in so far as my health permitted. But now I do not even study all the resolutions of the Working Committee.

Let me now say a word about the two main grievances against Rajaji.

There is nothing wrong in making a knowledge of Hindustani compulsory, if we are sincere in our declarations that Hindustani is or is to be the Rashtrabhasha or the common medium of expression. Latin was and probably still is compulsory in English schools. The study did not interfere with the study of English. On the contrary English was enriched by a knowledge of the noble language. The cry of "mother tongue in danger" is either ignorant or hypocritical. And where it is sincere it speaks little for the patriotism of those who will grudge our children an hour per day for Hindustani. We must break through the provincial crust if we are to reach the core of all-India nationalism. Is India one country and one nation or many countries and many nations? Those who believe that it is one country must lend Rajaji their unstinted support. If he has not the people behind him, he will lose his job. But it is strange, if the people are not behind him, that he has his great majority with him. But what if he had not the majority behind him? He must give up office but not his deepest conviction. His majority is worth nothing if it does not represent the Congress will. The Congress is wedded not to a majority; it is wedded to all that which will make this nation great and independent in the least possible time.

And the picketing? It is insufferable that youngsters or even grown-up people should assail homes and offices and howl unmentionable imprecations against those who are shouldering their burden amid the greatest difficulty. Until we have found the correct remedy in terms of satyagraha the Ministers must be permitted to deal with such offences in the manner they consider best. If they are not, the freedom that is possible under Congress Raj will soon degenerate into goondaism, pure and undefiled. That is the way not to salvation but it is the easiest road to perdition. And the Minister who is worth his salt will resolutely refuse to be a cause of the country's perdition.

Lastly, the Criminal Law Amendment Act. We may not make a fetish of Congress resolutions. The Congress has objection not to the name but to the contents of an Act going under that name, and then, too, not to every word or section of the Act. I have never studied it but I see from Rajaji's public declarations that it contains a few sections which suit the new situation that the Congress is facing. If such is the case, Rajaji will be foolish if he does not make use of them. But he will be equally foolish, if not something worse, if he does not summarily repeal the obnoxious clauses of the Act without delay. It is a monster created by the fertile brain of the repressor of the country's liberty. It was used as such against satyagrahis. The sooner, therefore, those clauses go the better for Rajaji and the country. But let Congressmen beware of hanging their trusted servants before they are tried and found wanting.

Harijan, 10-9-1938

476. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 10, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Poor Sushila was ready at 5 o'clock, but I did not let her go. I am sending her just now. If you are not feeling well, you may detain her. You ought not to have let the thought enter your mind at all that you were down with a serious illness. Now take complete rest. I for one would put you on fruit juice and try water and earth treatment. But Sushila and other doctors know best. I am after all a sinking ship. Who would choose to sail in such a ship?

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11644

477. LETTER TO BALWANTSINHA

September 10, 1938

CHI. BALWANTSINHA,

My opinion is clear. If we are unable to maintain cows we must admit defeat and close down the dairy. I kept the cows because of your presence here. Now you and Parnerkar must find a way. We should give up anything that you both do not endorse. We should not have two departments.

Yes, you have also to consider if the calves, etc., can be housed at a different place.

I do not enlarge the establishment. Quite a few are only temporary inhabitants and none of them will stay on after my death. So we need have no worry on that account.

I want a detailed budget of the medicines and other things required. In everything we have to bear in mind that all our activities are conducted with public funds.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 1909

478. LETTER TO S. AMBUJAMMAL

SEGAON,
September 10, 1938

CHI. AMBUJAM,

I have been regularly getting the fruit sent by you. I did not write to you because of lack of time. Is Ratna the final examination or will there still be something left?

What happened about the Ramayana?

I shall spend the whole of October out of Segacon. Do come and spend a few days with me some time.

¹ She had been working on a Tamil version of Tulidas's Ramayana.

Do you receive letters from Kamala?

Blessings from
BAPU

From the Hindi original: Ambujammal Papers. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

479. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 11, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

It is just now striking 9. Sushila has not returned and so I feel a little worried about your health. For the present let the post come unopened. You need not carry any load. I am thinking about future arrangements for Harijan. I am not at all worried. The Great Editor¹ will do whatever is necessary.

I am having hearty talks with Mother. She is a flawless jewel.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11645

480. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 12, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I have not been able to touch the mail at all today. After it has been passed on to me, is not your responsibility over? I will do what I can and be content. Go through today's articles. I have not revised the one about violence. I have omitted from your Notes the one about the Frontier Province. I will now see your today's editorial. I have already discussed that subject from another point of view. I am attending to the other things also. And the many responsibilities here, too, take a good deal of my time. If you are fully restored it will be great good news indeed for me. In any case you and I have had a warning.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11646

¹ God

481. NOTE TO AMRIT KAUR¹

[After September 12, 1938]

You do sometimes talk as if you were a child without knowledge of the world.

A common malady does not yield to heroic treatment. Concubinage is a common malady. Only when women learn self-respect will concubinage go. In this both are equally guilty.

Congress can take up Hindu legislation up to a point.

Unless you have some hard-working and learned women tackling the problem there will be no solid legislation. I can guide a woman or women who have industry, ability and also faith in my instinct. When it is optional, where is the harm? If a husband becomes a leper or contracts that vile disease due to his unfaithfulness, why should the poor wife be condemned to live with him? You must not raise fine objections. I think infectious disease also should allow a woman. Why do you put an undue strain on either?

From the original: C.W. 4222. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7858

482. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

[After September 12, 1938]²

CHI. MAHADEV,

I am dictating this letter. Enclosed are the letters for despatch. I am sending two articles for Harijan. You must have sent that advertisement about Gandhi Jayanti to Harijan Sevak.

Take complete rest. I will not have the courage to take you to Delhi in your present state of weakness. In all there are eighteen postcards and envelopes. Do you want the manuscript of Maithilisharan's poem?

Blessings from
BAPU

¹ Written on a used envelope with the postmark bearing the date "12-9-1938"

² According to Gandhi—1913-1948, Gandhiji in order to give rest to his hands began dictating letters by pointing to letters on a board about this date.

[PS.]

I have dictated this with the help of that board. I shall be ready to carry on with signs even if both my hands get disabled.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11647

483. LETTER TO KHWAJA NAZIMUDDIN

SEGAON, WARDHA,
September 13, 1938

DEAR KHWAJA SAHEB,

I am thankful for your letter¹ of the 8th instant regarding the political convicts. Much as I should like, if only for the trouble you have taken in the matter, to fall in with your proposal, it would be a breach of faith on my part to do so. For, as you know, I am bound by a solemn promise made to these friends when, at my instance, they suspended their hunger-strike. Consistently with that promise I have to make every reasonable attempt to secure their early release. This I cannot do if I identify myself with your proposal.

I cannot agree with you that if you fixed a time-limit it would be inconsistent with the reference of the very thing to a tribunal. Surely there is nothing inconsistent with such reference to say that you expect the tribunal to regulate the dates of discharge within a particular period. Under the terms of your reference the judges need never discharge a single prisoner if, in their opinion, the enormity of their crime did not merit any consideration. However theoretical my objection may appear, it is impossible for me to run risks.

Perhaps the Bengal Government and their advisers have missed one big factor in the consideration of the question of release. These prisoners have no sense of guilt. The crimes, however bad in themselves, were not committed for personal gain. The prisoners, having changed their views on violence, feel their detention an intolerable hardship. They are fretting for public service. The public estimate also in this matter is of a different character from that of the Government. But since yours is admittedly a Government responsible to the people, you are bound to give considerable weight to public opinion which, so far as one can judge, emphatically demands their release.

¹ In this the addressee had referred to interviews he had given to Subhas Chandra Bose and said that the latter refused to support the Government's plan about political prisoners unless a time-limit was set for the release of all the prisoners. He had asked Gandhiji whether he accepted the Government scheme, and, if he did not, sought his consent to making public the correspondence on the subject.

Though you have, and I admit properly, ruled out the idea of exploiting my influence with the prisoners and the public for the preservation of public peace, I urge that there is nothing inherently wrong in using it if there is a reasonable chance of its telling on the side of public peace. But I may not labour this point.

For the considerations mentioned by me in this letter and in my previous letters and during the talks between ourselves and between your good self now and Subhas Babu who, in this matter, was acting as my representative, I must regretfully withhold co-operation from the Government in the projected scheme. But that does not in any way mean that I should obstruct you in your endeavour to accelerate the process of discharge. My action will largely depend upon the pace with which the discharges take place. My measuring rod will always be my letter of the 13th April, 1938.

I trust that in the interest of the common cause the facilities for correspondence and interviews with prisoners which you have hitherto afforded me will be continued.

I can have no objection to the correspondence that has taken place between us being published. I entertain the hope that this very important question will be kept by all concerned above party politics. I venture also to hope that the Press and the public will write or do nothing that may give a violent turn to the agitation that may become necessary to procure the prompt discharge of the prisoners.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

KHWAJA SAHEB SIR NAZIMUDDIN
BENGAL SECRETARIAT
CALCUTTA

From a copy: C.W. 9933

484. LETTER TO SUBHAS CHANDRA BOSE

September 13, 1938

DEAR SUBHAS,

I hope the statement will be soon published.

I suppose it will be issued in pamphlet form. Of course the poison is there but as the agitation is wholly false it is bound to die out. Maharashtra can never be lost for the Congress province and I would feel unmoved if in doing right all the provinces were lost. The thing needful is that the present ministry acts on the square. You will give me your reaction to my letter¹ to Sir Khwaja Nazimuddin.

Yours,
BAPU

From the manuscript of Mahadev Desai's Diary. Courtesy: Narayan Desai

485. LETTER TO CARL HEATH

SEGAON, WARDHA,
September 13, 1938

DEAR FRIEND,

Your letter is quite like you.² It is not easy for the Congress to make a statement offhand. Whatever has to happen will happen as a result of negotiations between parties. Let this be made clear that there is no real difference between Jawaharlal and me. Our language often differs but we arrive at the same conclusion. The present British policy seems to be to do nothing through negotiation. There is something to be said for it.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

FRIEND CARL HEATH

From a photostat: G.N. 1031. Also Gandhi-Nehru Papers, 1938. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

¹ Vide the preceding item.

² The addressee in his letter had expressed his concern at the impasse on the Federal question and suggested a common statement being made by Jawaharlal Nehru, Subhas Bose and other known leaders on the question so as to make an impression on British public opinion.

486. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 13, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

This is the result of overworking. You must now stop working altogether and take complete rest. You will perhaps get more peace of mind if you come over here. If you do not come, keep Sushila there.

I am not at all worried.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11650

487. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 13, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I completely forgot. Let those C. I. D. men come. I believe they have been coming for the last three nights. Whatever is ordained as Natesan's fate will happen tomorrow.

I think you should send wires to the doctors that they should not take any trouble. I also believe that Calomel has done you good. I cannot cope with the mail, but, unlike you, I will not be overeager to finish the work by keeping awake the whole night. You may go on sending the mail without any qualms.

Gibbon may come for a few minutes if he wishes. I am signing the cheque and sending it to you.

Send a telegram to Sir Nazimudin:

"Thanks letter. Reply posted. Gandhi." Send a telegram to Subhas also:

"Reply Government posted. Sending you copy. Bapu." The rest tomorrow.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11648

488. LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI

SEGAON,
September 13, 1938

CHL. NARANDAS,

I got Chhaganlal's letters. A good many letters are lying unanswered. I get no time and Mahadev gets attacks of giddiness. He has the same illness that I had. Tell Chhaganlal that I shall have no objection to starting a khadi society provided Shankerlal approves of it. The financial arrangement may be as you have suggested.

My message is as follows:

"Congratulations to all those who participated in this charkha yajna. Let us hope that hand-spinning will spread so widely that everybody will be wearing khadi."

I understand about Purushottam. If even men like him cannot subsist on what they get, whom can we expect to cling to spinning, Harijan work, etc.? In saying this I am not blaming Purushottam. The prevailing wind may drive a man along, even against his will.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./II. Also C.W. 8548. Courtesy: Narandas Gandhi

489. LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI

SEGAON, WARDHA,
September 13, 1938

CHL. NARANDAS,

You seem to be progressing very well indeed. Read my letter to Manjula and give it to her. What is the difficulty about the music teacher?

Convey my humble pranams to Gokibehn and tell her that she is often in the thoughts of us all. How is she keeping? How is Kumi doing? Has Gijubhai's Mandir started? How many children are enrolled in it? Does it have any connection with your school?

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Pyarelal is down with typhoid. Cholera too is fairly widespread here.

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./II. Also C.W. 8549. Courtesy: Narandas Gandhi

490. LETTER TO MUNNALAL G. SHAH

September 13, 1938

CHI. MUNNALAL,

With regard to your previous letter, since you had said you would be coming over I kept silent. The views that you have expressed are correct. As long as you do not hear the inner voice, you should come to no decision. You should, however, try very hard to come to a definite decision.

I am not weak-minded in regard to my resolutions. My reputation is just the opposite of that. But when I myself have a doubt, a resolution made in the past cannot be regarded irrevocable. Whatever I did here was in the nature of an experiment and there are bound to be changes in an experiment. I had no misgiving about my behaviour because it was the result of fifty years of disciplined habit. I therefore felt that I should make no distinction between Mataji¹ and Parnerkar's mother. I have observed that my physical touch has some special effect on men and women. Mataji had been deeply pained on my account. I could remove her pain by putting my hand on her. I had not been able to go to see Parnerkar's mother, but that is not because I did not care for her. As the treatment was being carried out under my supervision, I expressed my love for her by putting my hand on her and made her feel at once that I had not been indifferent to her.

Is there danger of my being pierced with Cupid's arrows in my letting myself be massaged naked, or in a thousand naked women bathing by my side when I am blind? I do feel afraid of myself in letting the pure-minded Sushilabehn massage me. But if I am lying blind-folded and those two are bathing, I would feel no fear at all. By all means let those who are as minutely scrupulous as I am make themselves perfectly blind and permit some Rambha¹ to bathe near them. But anybody who lets himself be massaged is sure to be maligned. If he is sure of himself, however, let him by all means copy my example. I think I have replied to all your questions.

¹ Pyarelal's mother

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8565. Also C.W. 7040. Courtesy: Munnalal G. Shah

491. LETTER TO MUNNALAL G. SHAH

September 13, 1938

CHI. MUNNALAL,

Explain fully to Kashinath the contents of the enclosed. If he does not have a copy of the Gram Panchayat Act, ask him to get one from the Government. After he has got it, we shall advise whether a court should be constituted.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8567. Also C.W. 7039. Courtesy: Munnalal G. Shah

492. NOTE TO RAGHUNATH GANESH PANDIT SHELOLIKAR²

September 13, 1938

We can hope to see that scene only as a result of the pure tapashcharya of thousands of us.

I found the recitation from the Gita very pleasing.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 2794-1

¹ Celestial courtesan

² The addressee had asked: "When shall we see the first seven Congress Premiers doing their work in the glorious tradition of the Congress, i. e., the people commending their work?"

493. LETTER TO THE NAWAB OF BHOPAL

September 14, 1938

DEAR NAWAB SAHEB,

I have your kind message through Shuaib. I understand.

I am sure you will see to prompt arrangements being made for Harold Ansari. He is in dire need. And he won't gain admission to the Hospital if the fees are not guaranteed.

I am,
Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

From a facsimile: Madhya Pradesh aur Gandhiji, p. 125

494. LETTER TO M. C. RAJAH

SEGAON, WARDHA,
September 14, 1938

DEAR FRIEND,

I must apologize for the delay in replying to your letter.¹ I have been overwhelmed with work. Now I have your wire.

I wish you would trust C. R. to do his best. He should be allowed to do the thing in his own way. If you cannot trust, naturally you will take the course which commends itself to you. All I know is that Harijans have no better friend than him. Go to him, reason with him and if you cannot persuade him, bear with him. That is my advice.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

M. C. Rajah Papers. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

¹ In his letter dated August 25 the addressee had complained to Gandhiji that Rajagopalachari had opposed the Temple Entry Bill moved by him although he had himself drafted it and said that Harijans were exercised over this question "and contemplating repudiation of the Poona Pact".

495. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 14, 1938

DEAR MAHADEV,

Shall we say you have a mania for work? That is why I had to write severely. We should admire the British in this respect. Don't you know that if you were to be disabled, I would be a bird without wings? If you become bed-ridden, I would have to wind up three-fourths of my activities. Although I had not apprehended that you would fall ill, I had made up my mind as to what activities to curtail in case you were bed-ridden and had thus lightened my mind. But would not curtailing work in this manner be like a stab in my heart? So I wrote to you to take complete rest and recover fully soon. Follow me in the matter of hip-bath as much as you do in drinking milk. Surely taking hip-bath is not my sole prerogative.

Sushila did not give Jivaraj's letter to Shivdas. Now it is being sent with Shuaib.

I sent the letter for Rishikesh directly with Radhakisan. Thus I do save your labour. The note about the letter was sent by an oversight.

I wanted to send the telegram to Raja yesterday, but forgot about it. Here it is:

"Tortures inconsistent with your rich humour." You must not be grieved over anything. Love. Bapu."¹

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11651

¹ This is in English.

496. LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM

September 14, 1938

MY DAUGHTER,

I do not like your way of working. It is difficult even to suggest a cure for you. Where was the necessity of your waking up at 3 o'clock? You should have rest. You should give up the charkha and take such treatment as Sushila prescribes. It would be good if you went to Bombay. There can be no question of your going to Delhi if Khan Saheb sends a refusal. Even otherwise you cannot possibly go to the Frontier afflicted with piles.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 409

497. LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM

[After September 14, 1938]¹

If you have faith in me, it does not become you to be obstinate. Khan Saheb was only joking. However, you will not be able to stay in the Frontier Province alone. I therefore advise you to go to Bombay; improve your health there and come back here fully restored when I return. You cannot always accompany me on my tours. Can one obey orders and be obstinate at the same time?

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 679

¹ This was obviously written after "Letter to Amtussalaam", 14-9-1938. By that date, the addressee had not heard from Abdul Ghaffar Khan.

498. LETTER TO ATULANAND CHAKRABARTY

SEGAON, WARDHA,
September 15, 1938

DEAR ATULANAND,

I see no inconsistency between my letters¹ to you. Your note read like giving stone when bread was wanted. I have in mind the growing distrust and bitterness which no writing can possibly remove. I have told you you have to be your own missionary. I have written as I have felt. Please be patient with me and go your way.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

From a photostat: C.W. 1480. Courtesy: A. K. Sen

499. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 15, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

You must have duly received all the material sent yesterday. Prabhu Dayal's report for today is good.

Manu had high fever yesterday. Today she is better. The ups and downs thus continue. I am sending as many letters as are ready.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11653

¹ For earlier letters to the addressee, vide Vol. LXV, pp. 330-1, Vol. LXVI, pp. 86 and 125 and Vol. LXVII, p. 110.

500. LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI

September 15, 1938

CHI. KANTI,

If you write frankly instead of being vague, you would have your desire fulfilled earlier. If I have to go to the Frontier Province, I shall not be able to call over Saraswati. All the same, I am going to try from today. You should go on supplying me with the necessary material.

You must have received my previous letter. It is good that you are devoting yourself to study, but it is foolish to do so by reducing exercise and food. You may become a first-class doctor but will you consider yourself rewarded if the very next day of your being recognized as such you were to leave the world? Degrees, etc., are but a means; they are certainly not the end. And if you become a sort of permanent invalid, what service would you be able to render to me?

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.W. 7348. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

501. LETTER TO NARANDAS GANDHI

September 15, 1938

CHI. NARANDAS,

I have not received the programme from Chhaganlal. Will anyone take charge of Rajkumari at Viramgam? She will be travelling second class. She will be accompanied by her attendant. R. K. eats very simple food. Nobody should press delicacies on her. It will be enough if she is provided with a commodious and facility for bathing in private.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./II. Also C.W. 8550. Courtesy: Narandas Gandhi

502. LETTER TO PURUSHOTTAMDAS THAKURDAS

September 15, 1938

BHAI PURUSHOTTAMDAS,

Do come to Segaon towards the end of October. Most probably I shall have returned from the Frontier Province by that time.

Vandemataram from
MOHANDAS GANDHI

From the Gujarati original: Purushottamdas Thakurdas Papers. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

503. LETTER TO LAKSHMI GANDHI

September 15, 1938

CHI. LAKSHMI,

I cannot say who will be accompanying me but these names are certain: Mahadev, Kanu, Pyarelal, Sushila, Ba and Kanam. As regards my special requirements, goat's milk, for one thing, will be there. Are all these arrangements to be your responsibility? I shall remain there for a week at least. Ba and Kanam will be staying longer. Maybe Ramdas too will accompany us. He will be reaching Bombay on the 17th instant.

Manu had fever but she is all right now. If Sushila, Sita and others are ready to come I shall bring them.

I shall try to send a wire finally. Mahadev is slightly unwell. So Chandrashanker too may be with us.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 2010

504. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 15, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I have sent the mail in the morning so today I was not in a hurry to send this. Important letters must be despatched. I understand about work. There is no objection to your working in moderation. Are you following Sushila's instructions on walking about on the terrace twice a day?

I have learnt a new thing from Durga: that the remedy for scorpion-sting is a bhajan. What kind of scorpion would it be that permits one to sing a bhajan? And what a singer she must be who can sing a bhajan despite the pain of a scorpion-sting?

I did not ask Shuaib to post Jivaraj's letter. He was to give it to you so that you could send it after affixing the late fee stamp. When two persons do a job which should be done by one, it is bound to be spoiled. I am making this criticism in order that you may have the benefit of our experience here.

I remember to have sent you yesterday a telegram for Parameshwaran. But the memory of a man of 69 cannot be very trustworthy. On the back of one telegram a reply was written. The remaining were in a letter. Please do inquire.

I understood from Sushila that what I had written in my letter to Jivaraj was what you desired.

Behnji was not the cause of my circular. It was Mirabehn. That day she had lectured Pyarelal and Sushila. Though warned she had misunderstood Amtul Salaam. There was a violent quarrel. I, therefore, thought that if I did not clarify things the poison would spread and so I sent round the circular. I see that most of the people here, poor fellows, know nothing. So my conclusion is that Mira was the sole cause of the ill-feeling which has been generated. That is part of her nature. What can we do about it? I will show you the circular as also the replies received. You need not worry about this matter. Despite such shocks, the blood-pressure seems to be behaving normally.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

The following for Parameshwaran:

"Your coming unnecessary. BAPU."

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11652

505. TELEGRAM TO HUMAYUN KABIR

[On or after September 15, 1938]¹

PROFESSOR HUMAYUN KABIR
36 AHIRIKUPUR ROAD
CALCUTTA

GLADLY MEET YOU 24TH AFTERNOON. PLEASE REMEMBER
I AM OBSERVING SILENCE BUT THAT DOES NOT MATTER. I CAN WRITE ANSWERS.

GANDHI

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

506. LETTER TO MUNNALAL G. SHAH

[September 16, 1938]²

GHI. MUNNALAL,

I like your idea. It should be given some practical shape. The building meant for Nayakum will have to be vacated. Vacate it whenever he asks for it. If you can accommodate yourself in the spinning-shed which we are putting up, do so. The best course is as follows. You should find some plot for yourself from the surrounding land and the three of you together should build a cottage and try to live in it. I am very much afraid that you may fall ill. It is not without some thinking that I have given you the freedom in regard to food.

The third woman is Amtul Salaam. As you asked for the name I give it. I will have to assure myself further about her. If necessary, I will make a change.

¹ The addressee's telegram is dated 15-9-1938.

² In a note the addressee says that he received the letter on this date immediately after it was written.

Nobody can come up to her in devotion.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I have given these two as examples . . .¹ selected. . .² they are . . .³ Even to A. S. also.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8373. Also C.W. 7041. Courtesy: Munnalal G. Shah

507. CABLE TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU

WARDHAGANJ,
September 16, 1938

JAWAHARLAL NEHRU
INDIA LEAGUE
165 STRAND, LONDON

JUST RECEIVED NOTE. ALREADY WROTE⁴ HEATH THOUGH OUR LANGUAGE DIFFERENT WE MEAN SAME THING
NO DOUBT MY MIND. WRITING. LOVE.

BAPU

Gandhi-Nehru Papers, 1938. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

508. LETTER TO B. K. DUTTA

SEGAON, WARDHA,
September 16, 1938

DEAR DUTTA,

I was delighted to hear from you. I hope you will quickly build up your shattered body⁵.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

SHRI B. K. DUTTA
C/O SHRI RAJKUMAR SINHA
THE MALL, CAWNPORE

From a photostat: G.N. 9281

^{1,2,3} Illegible in the source

⁴ Vide "Letter to Carl Heath", p. 332.

⁵ The addressee, a political prisoner, was released from a Bihar jail on ground of ill-health; vide "Telegram to Private Secretary to the Viceroy", p. 300 and "Letter to Lord Brabourne", p. 313.

509. LETTER TO C. RAJAGOPALACHARI

September 16, 1938

MY DEAR C. R.,

You must have got my wire.¹ Why should anything torture you? So long as you can easily wear the thorny crown, you may wear it. But if those who have thrust it on you are jealous of your wearing it, it would be good riddance for you. Anyway your philosophy must not desert you. Was your letter a sign only of momentary weariness?

Love.

BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 2071

510. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 16, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Has the complaint on the reverse been investigated into and found to be without substance? If you have not written to the Maulana to that effect, please do so.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11654

511. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

September 16, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

Whenever necessary, you must not hesitate to write to me or speak to me. Hesitation may even be adharmā.

Ba is accompanying me. And even if I do not go to the Frontier Province, Ba will stay in Delhi for one month. You may, therefore, occupy Ba's room. Carry on the classes there. If you have any effects, you may put them in her bathroom.

¹ Vide "Letter to Mahadev Desai", p. 338.

I am thinking of taking over J.'s House. Let us see what happens. All my plans are indefinite. I can decide something if I know what my place in the Frontier Province is.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10772

512. LETTER TO PRABHAVATI

September 16, 1938

CHI. PRABHA,

I assume that you have reached Malabar and that Jayaprakash's treatment has started. Prithuraj, Shamjibhai, etc., are there. See them.

Ba, I and others will reach Delhi on the 20th. We shall be there for about eight days. Thereafter I will go to the Frontier Province. Ba will remain in Delhi. Ramdas will land in Bombay tomorrow.

I am all right. Manu had fever but she is well now. Pyarelal has fully recovered. I hope to return by the end of October.

Do not be remiss in writing to me.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8521

513. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

[On or after September 16, 1938]¹

I cannot take the credit of deciding without consultation. I had told Sushila to have a talk with you. She informed me that you were prepared to devote your whole time there after I left.

Amtul Salaam was so ill yesterday that she had to be served. I claim that I can massage better than any of you, including Sushila.

¹ Vide footnote 2 on the following page.

I gave a massage to Amtul Salaam for a few hours yesterday. If you too fall ill as a result of your foolhardiness I may have to give you a massage too, but it is hardly a very desirable thing. Amtul Salaam has many virtues but she is obstinate in an equal measure.

BAPU

[PS.]

There is very little to learn in this book. I am doing what little it recommends. Chhilt water.¹

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4304

514. NOTE TO KRISHNACHANDRA

[On or after September 16, 1938]²

All this can be said only after my death. Let us see where God takes me.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4567

515. THE STATES AND RESPONSIBILITY

The partial success of the people of Mysore, instead of liberalizing the other States, seems, so far as one can conclude from known facts, to have stiffened them against the movement for internal responsible government. I have called the Mysore success only partial for nothing has yet been gained in substance by the people. The Maharaja and his cultured Dewan have recognized the State Congress, they have instituted an impartial inquiry into the recent tragic happenings and appointed a Reforms Committee with ample powers. With patience and reasonableness on the part of the Mysore State Congress and with real goodwill and understanding on the part of the Mysore Government, we may see a large measure of, if not full, responsibility in the government of Mysore.

But the psychological effect of the Mysore events has been exceedingly great. The people of the States have begun to see a new vision of liberty. What seemed to them to be a distant goal now appears to be an event to be realized almost in no time. I believe that if the awakening among the people is genuine and widespread no repression can possibly stay their inevitable march to their cherished goal.

¹ The significance of this is not clear.

² Gandhiji had scribbled this on a letter dated September 16 from the addressee who had touchingly described Amtussalaam's joy when Gandhiji gave her a massage.

I have said enough of the Travancore frightfulness. I can call it by no other name. Here is an extract from a letter from a Travancorean whose testimony I have never had occasion to doubt. He says:

A careful study of the Dewan's statement shows that he is trying to cloud the issue and mislead outsiders who are not aware of the sequence of events that he narrates. Excepting the threats of 'civil war' alleged by the Dewan, all the other events or occurrences happened subsequent to the promulgation of the Proclamation and the declaration of the State Congress as an illegal body. How post-war occurrences justify the war itself, it is difficult to understand.

As regards the violence which we all deplore, the stone-throwing and the burning of buses are attributed to rowdies set up by the police according to one version; but without a thorough inquiry, which is impossible under the present circumstances, it is difficult to say what is the truth. Anyhow, do you not think that it is rather surprising that though all these occurrences took place in clear daylight and at meetings at which large numbers of police and military forces were present, it was not possible to prevent any of them or arrest a single one of the offenders? The explanation of the supporters of the State Congress is that the police dare not arrest any as they and their hirelings commit these atrocities. I cannot say how far the explanation can be accepted. A volunteer who was subjected to a severe lathi charge at the Quilon meeting says in an interview to the Hindu correspondent (published in The Hindu of 4th Sept.) that he saw with his own eyes some policemen throwing stones. Such allegations are generally made by the State Congress members. Meetings are being held and speeches made in all parts of the country but the arrests are very few. The present policy seems to be to disperse meetings by force. This leads to firing and death of innocent persons. After the Quilon meeting there was firing again at Puthupally, a village about five miles away from Kottayam. One or two died and some were wounded. The actual number is not yet known. All the provisions of the new Regulation are being openly disobeyed by the people. But the Government are not able to bring the offenders to book as there is only one jail in the State and that is already full. If the Government desire to arrest and punish all the offenders, then they will have to build more jails as the number willing to court arrest and imprisonment is very large already and is increasing day after day.

And I am inundated with telegrams describing the fearful repression going on in several parts of Travancore. I do not ask that this testimony should be believed as against the State communiques. But I do suggest that there are, as usual, two sides to the question and that there is a strong case for an impartial inquiry.

But whether there is an inquiry or not, the duty of the Travancore State Congress is clear—on the one hand to see that there is no violence of any sort done by them or their sympathizers, and on the other to go on with their programme of direct action till the Travancore Government relent or the last member is accounted for.

I should like here to state one limitation of ahimsa. If a wrongdoer banks upon the ahimsa of his victim and goes on heaping wrong upon wrong till every one of the victims is crushed, a cry from the surrounding atmosphere rises and the force of public opinion or the like overtakes the wrongdoer. But no satyagrahi should think that he has never to suffer unto death. His victory lies in the defiance by his unconquerable spirit of death and loss of property. The wrongdoer's certain defeat lies in his utter failure to bend or break the spirit of his victim.

If the States persist in their obstinacy and hug their ignorance of the awakening that has taken place throughout India, they are courting certain destruction. I claim to be a friend of the States. Their service has been an heirloom in my family for the past three generations, if not longer. I am no blind worshipper of antiquity. But I am not ashamed of the heirloom. All the States may not live. The biggest ones can live only if they will recognize their limitations, become servants of their people, trustees of their welfare and depend for their existence not on arms, whether their own or British, but solely on the goodwill of their people. Frightfulness will feed the fire of violence that one feels smouldering everywhere. If the States are badly advised and they rely upon organized violence for resisting the just demands of their people, ahimsa, so far generated in the country as a means of redressing social injustice, will not protect them. If it had grown into a Himalayan oak, it would have passed any test however severe. But, sad to confess, it has not gone deep enough into the Indian soil.

The Hyderabad communiques have therefore come upon me as a painful surprise. Sir Akbar is a great educationist. He is a philosopher. It was a pleasure to read his recent convocation address to the Dacca University. It is passing strange that he should have lent himself to the reactionary declarations which condemn an organization even before it has begun to function. What can be the meaning of communalism in a State which is overwhelmingly one population according to religion? What can communalism mean in, say, Kashmir or the Frontier where the population is predominantly of one faith? The doctrine of minority is a good hobby to ride up to a point. But it must be at least numerically a fair minority. Even a minority of one can expect perfect justice. But it has no status in the political field. When a person belonging to an insignificant minority mounts to power he does so not as a representative of his group but by sheer merit. The State Congress in Hyderabad can never be communal in the sense in which the word is understood in India. An institution in the Frontier Province need not be dubbed communal merely because it has no Hindu member. Of course an organization may be frankly communal in outlook. But the Hyderabad communiques make a subtle distinction and aver that there is presence in the State Congress of persons predominantly communal in outlook. What is more, the State Congress has come out with a statement totally repudiating the suggestion of communalism.

And then comes even the erstwhile progressive Rajkot. Only the other day it had a representative Assembly elected under universal suffrage, and it had complete liberty of speech under its late lamented ruler. One may hope that after the recent display (so far as I can see, wholly uncalled for) of force, the political organization of Rajkot will be not only permitted to function undisturbed but that its demands will be met in a spirit of justice.

Whatever happens in the three States named or in any other, let the people of the States recognize that their salvation depends wholly on their own strength whose generation in turn depends upon an exhibition in action of complete non-violence and truth. They must realize that it is utterly impossible openly to organize along violent lines large masses of mankind deprived of arms and almost from time immemorial brought up as a non-military nation.

Harijan, 17-9-1938

516. ACCUMULATING EVIDENCE

A man reaps as he sows. Having written on violence, I am getting evidence from all parts of India supporting my statement. The saddest case to come under my observation is that of a Congress Committee having incited the ryots of a zemindari simply to take possession of the lands of that zemindari. This act of spoliation was preceded by speeches of Congressmen reeking with violence. I sent the papers to Dr. Pattabhi Sitaramayya for investigation. He confirms generally the complaints made by my correspondent. I am hoping that the District Committee or the Provincial Committee will be able to right the wrong. Failing that, of course, Rajaji's Government has to give redress. In saying this I do not wish to suggest that the land does not belong to the worker on it. I endorse the socialist theory of possession. But no socialist that I know has defended the usurpation practised in Andhra. If all the land in India is ever to belong to or be possessed by the worker alone, it would be either by a bloody revolution or by equitable legislation. It must be clear to every sane man that the act of confiscation will never last. Had it not been for the Congress Government, the spoliation could never have taken place. The Congress Government will dig its grave if it fails to restore the land to the legal possessor. I may add in parenthesis that the dispossessed zemindar is reputed to be a docile man with pro-Congress tendencies.

The other piece of evidence is choice cuttings from the U. P., C. P. and Bombay Press. The singularity of the U. P. cuttings is that they contain incitement to violence in poems and prose. A lady writer waxes eloquent over the misdeeds of the zemindars and the wrongs of the kisans. She draws a terrible contrast between the opulence of the haves and the penury of the have-nots. Having prepared the ground she invites the kisans to a feast of blood and thunder. "Take any weapon you get hold of, strike and strike hard. Don't be cowards. It is all yours and you must seize it by your powerful arms." This is a mild rendering, all too-brief, of the red original. Had not the lady's name stared me in the face as writer, I would not have thought a daughter of India to be capable of incitement to such merciless violence. I must confess that even if I screwed myself up properly I could not fill the three columns that she has done with invective. If no one has had his head turned by the writing, it is certainly not her fault. Fortunately the millions to whom it is addressed cannot read.

The C. P. and Bombay cuttings contain unthinkable falsehoods. There is no restraint on the pen. No language is foul enough to blacken the character of persons. Some of the things said are patent inventions. The writings easily come under the law of libel. But what can libel proceedings do? They invite libel proceedings. These advertise the papers. Defence would be an additional opportunity for invention. There are veiled incitements too. And even without incitement, why should not youths reading the portraiture of persons in blackest colours take it into their heads to go and kill the 'lepers' described in the columns? To many, their newspapers are their Bible. They believe in them. And some of these papers are supposed to represent the Congress policy. The evil is on the increase during the Congress regime. It is well that what was inside is now coming out. But this is not civil liberty; it is criminal licence. Swaraj will not come by way of falsehoods and violence. And we shall do a double wrong if we do all these things in the name of truth and non-violence. I adhere to the advice I have tendered to the Congress and Congressmen.

Harijan, 17-9-1938

517. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

September 17, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

The enclosed is for Durga.¹ I have not the wish nor the courage to do anything that will make her unhappy. Has Brijkrishna's postcard been answered? If not, it should be done on Monday. Please tell Babla. You have to tell him how many people and "Yes" about the laying of the foundation. You should be able to sleep. Do not let your mind be oppressed by thoughts of work.

*Blessings from
BAPU*

From the Gujarati original : Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

¹ Vide the following item.

518. LETTER TO DURGA DESAI

September 17, 1938

CHI. DURGA,

Though there is not the slightest cause for worry, still Mahadev's health will require watching. He cannot of course resume work right away. Jivaraj says you would not like Mahadev to go to Delhi. Is that your wish? If your mother and son want to accompany me to Delhi I am willing to take you along. If my health permits me to go to the Frontier Province, you can stay on in Delhi for the time.

Blessings from
BAPU

From the Gujarati original: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

519. LETTER TO SUSHILA GANDHI

September 17, 1938

CHI. SUSHILA,

Where did you learn all this cunning? There are criticisms on three heads and still you say it was only for my information. What a way of putting things! But you have the right to write whatever you like. Chimanlal had asked me whether or not to give you the figure. The expenses here are certainly on a royal scale. I could not preserve my health without that. The experiments in ghee, etc., also mean some expense. So the expenses here are not a standard for anybody to follow. If anyone were to tell me that friends give me money and I squander it I would listen and laugh. No doubt there is scope for improvement but it can be effected only if I get a wise manager like you. But you are not going to stay here for ever. The figure was not given you so that you might pay the amount. You may pay only according to your capacity. I have already told you that I will not mind even if you do not pay. It would be better, however, to pay as long as you can afford.

It would be more accurate if you described me as lazy. Would you consider Chimanlal, Munnalal, Nanavati, Balwantsinha, Parmar, Kanu, Sharda and Shakaribehn lazy? The others are only staying there. Bhansalibhai certainly cannot be considered lazy. Krishnachandra is ill but otherwise he is a saintly person. Shankaran has to be trained up. I make do with whatever work Anand does. Even so, because of my incapacity I put up with some laxity. I have only mentioned the names that occurred to me. You may explain to me in greater detail giving particular names.

You did not reply to me. There is no question of your forcing anything on me. In spite of my being not free from passion, do you and Manudi desire that I should let myself be ministered to by and should touch women? This question is an important one. Manudi will not understand it but you can. All of you can say: 'So long as Bapu is not free from passion, let him be served only by Sushila and Ba.' Or you can say: 'When he puts the burden on us, we do wish that he would let us touch him. What effect can his passion have on us?' Either stand can be justified. The first is safer from all points of view. In fine, the experiment which I had commenced with a particular aim can be said to have ended, and I invite the views of you all regarding any new step I may take. I do not want to act in haste. I will do only what I can with objective detachment. I believe you to be wise. You are thoughtful. In such matters you can guide me as a woman. Please, therefore, give me your independent opinion.

Blessings from
BAPU

From Gujarati: G.N. 4883. Also C.W. 7042. Courtesy: Munnalal G. Shah

520. LETTER TO MANUBEHN S. MASHRUWALA

September 17, 1938

CHI. MANUDI,

Consider yourself fortunate that you have arrived when I am observing silence. That silence is for the whole country. You have the benefit of being a witness to it. The silence is not an expression of diminished love. Love does not care for words uttered by the tongue.

I will certainly write to you when you go to Bombay. You should write, too.

Blessings from
BAPU

From Gujarati: C.W. 1572. Courtesy: Surendra B. Mashruwala

521. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

September 17, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

Teach Sharda music to her fill. If others also ask for help in learning to recite the Gita or music, help them without any hesitation.

Do take care of your health.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10773

522. LETTER TO JETHALAL G. SAMPAT

September 17, 1938

CHI. JETHALAL,

I got your postcard, etc. I got Lakshmidas's letter today, which I am sending. I have been collecting literature which can be helpful to you and sending it. You may leave out of it whatever is not useful. It is not necessary to reply to me. Where is the need for replying to what I send to you for you to think over?

Blessings from
BAPU

From Gujarati: C.W. 9867. Courtesy: Narayan J. Sampat

523. NOTE TO RAGHUNATH GANESH PANDIT SHELOLIKAR

September 17, 1938

If you could prolong your stay here by a few more days you could correct Sharda's recitation of the Gita.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 2794-2

524. FRAGMENT OF LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

[Before September 18, 1938]¹

CHL. MAHADEV,

Sushila says that if you can go to Bombay today, you should. I think that will mean unnecessary rushing about. If they² are coming here, they may examine you here. The main thing is rest. If you go, you should stay on in Bombay and then join me at Delhi. If you decide to go, you must leave tomorrow. It will be better if you do not carry the burden of Harijan with you. Don't worry about what will happen for two weeks.

Now you will willy-nilly have to . . .

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11630

525. TO THE READERS

[September 18, 1938]³

The readers of Harijan will share my sorrow that Mahadev Desai has become very ill. Drs. Gilder and Jivaraj Mehta, who with their usual kindness came specially to examine him, have come to the conclusion that he must take prolonged rest. He has had the same warnings that I had. The doctors think that prolonged overwork has brought about the illness which, if neglected, may bring about paralysis of all activity. Let the numerous friends of Mahadev not be alarmed over the news of his illness. There is nothing to be alarmed about. Only nature has issued a stern warning which he and I may not disregard except at our cost. I include myself as an object of warning, for if I do not insist on Mahadev's taking rest, he is quite capable of cheerfully taking his last breath with the pen in his hand. If I am wise and true, he will take the needed rest. Therefore, for the time being, the readers must miss the familiar and copious writings over the initials M. D.

¹ Vide the following item, where Gandhiji mentions Drs. Jivaraj Mehta and Gilder having examined Mahadev Desai and advised him complete rest.

² Drs. Gilder and Jivaraj Mehta

³ The Sunday preceding September 24

I am writing this note during the small hours of Sunday morning, having got up at 1.30 a.m. for finishing Harijan work. But I dare not repeat such liberty without the danger of a sudden collapse. I have only limited physical energy left in me. It has therefore to be sparingly used.

The third person who can do Harijan work is Pyarelal. He has been hors de combat for some time and just now he is convalescing after the recent attack of enteric fever.

Harijan is not a newspaper, it is a 'views'-paper, representing those of one man. Even Mahadev and Pyarelal may not write anything independently whilst I am alive. I am myself daily growing in the knowledge of satyagraha. I have no text-book to consult in time of need, not even the Gita which I have called my dictionary. Satyagraha as conceived by me is a science in the making. It may be that what I claim to be a science may prove to be no science at all and may well prove to be the musings and doings of a fool, if not a madman. It may be that what is true in satyagraha is as ancient as the hills. But it has not yet been acknowledged to be of any value in the solution of world problems or rather the one supreme problem of war. It may be that what is claimed to be new in it will be proved to be really of no value in terms of that supreme problem. It may be that what are claimed to be victories of satyagraha, i. e., ahimsa, were in reality victories not of truth and non-violence but of fear of violence.

These possibilities have always been in front of me. I am helpless. All I present to the nation for adoption is an answer to prayer or, which is the same thing, constantly waiting on God. Such being the case, whilst I am alive Harijan can only be continued so long as I am able to write or Mahadev or Pyarelal can interpret me from week to week.

The readers need not think that there are not others who can take the place of these two workers. There are. But they are all engaged in the respective tasks allotted to them and it would be wrong to remove them from their spheres of work. Satyagraha will not stop for want of Harijan, but it will for want of workers to carry on the mighty constructive programme.

Therefore, whilst Mahadev's illness lasts, the readers will overlook the gaps they will notice in the editing of Harijan. This illness induces a reflection. I have often expressed the opinion among friends that in the matter of capacity for detachment Englishmen are far in advance of us. No matter how important national affairs may be, they will keep their meal hours and hours of recreation. They are not unnerved in the face of dangers or impending calamity. This may be called working in the spirit of the Gita. Among the political workers in India there are very few who come up to the Englishmen's standard.

This English detachment is worthy of emulation. That it is used for the exploitation of the so-called uncivilized or semi-civilized races of the earth is another matter. It would be a distinct gain to the national cause if the leaders and workers strictly keep their hours. No man is expected to do more than he really can. If at the end of the day there is surplus work left or he cannot get through it without missing a meal or encroaching upon the hours of sleep or recreation, there is mismanagement somewhere. I have no doubt that if we cultivate the habit of punctuality and acting according to programme, the index of national efficiency will go up, our advance towards our goal will be rapid and the workers will be healthier and longer-lived.

In conclusion, the readers and correspondents will extend their indulgence if they find, as they will more than heretofore, that they are not served in time or at all. The correspondence is increasing, the work to do is also on the increase. The capacity for coping with both is diminishing. God's will be done.

Harijan, 24-9-1938

526. NOTE TO RAGHUNATH GANESH PANDIT SHELOLIKAR

September 18, 1938

The fight was directed against the very party before which I had taken the vow.

This did not violate the vow and my fast was aimed at Hindu society, not the English. I believe that had the Award not been changed the Harijans would have become a separate community, which was the object of the Award.

If the work I am doing is in consonance with dharma and for the furtherance of dharma, it should be pursued even at the risk of public disapprobation.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 2795

527. NOTE TO AMTUSSALAAM

[Before September 19, 1938]¹

There is no limit to your obstinacy. If I do not take you after having agreed to it, would it not be because it cannot be helped? I know you will not be able to put up with life in the Frontier Province. Therefore it is no use taking you there. If your health continues to be as bad as it is now I shall have to look after you rather than you looking after Mahadev. I continue to take service from you only to avoid a quarrel. I know your body can no longer give service. If you had had yourself massaged for three nights running you would have become stronger and you would have been in good humour, but that was not to be.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 701

528. NOTE TO AMTUSSALAAM

[Before September 19, 1938]

What a letter you have written! I have included you in my entourage but you may stay back if you want to. I sent your name to Khan Saheb also against my wish. Do you wish to go as a favour to me or because you cannot bear to stay back?

There was no other thought in my mind about what happened at night.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 675

529. NOTE TO AMTUSSALAAM

[Before September 19, 1938]

You are only proving what was said to Maulana Saheb. Why do you pester me now? If you wish to come along you have my permission but if you do not I shall not compel you. Please stop harassing me. You are turning to nought all my cajolings. I have not said anything and still you are quarrelling with me. I cannot understand such behaviour. Now stop writing and do whatever you want to do.

¹ This and the following two notes to the addressee, all undated, have been placed according to the order in which they occur in Bapu's Papers—B: Bibi Amtussalaam's Name. They were evidently written before Gandhiji left Seagon to visit the N. W. F. P. on September 19.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 726

530. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

[Before Monday, September 19, 1938]¹

CHI. KRISHNACHANDRA,

Whatever physical service or some such thing is being rendered [to Balkrishna] should continue. Sleeping near [him] should also continue as I have said.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4327

531. LETTER TO AGATHA HARRISON

SEGAON, WARDHA,

[On or before September 19, 1938]²

MY DEAR AGATHA,

At last I have a copy of your personal letter. It is exhaustive. Of course you will come when you are ready. I am writing to G.³ about your passage. You must not be angry with your friends about their writing to me. But I am at ease now that I have your assurance that you will always let me know your wants no matter whether I can supply them or not.

You are having an anxious time there. Nothing but good can come out of these contacts. I look forward to your account of the happenings.

Here the federation discussion does not worry me. The question of the release of political prisoners⁴ does. I have not yet made an impression upon the powers that be that their release cannot but make for peace. Their declaration of non-violence needs to be taken at its face value. I can certainly work upon it

¹ The letter bears the addressee's note: "Monday morning, September 19", presumably, the date of receipt.

² The letter seems to have been written before Agatha Harrison left England in October 1938 and since Gandhiji had left Segaoon on September 19, 1938, this letter is likely to have been written on or before that date.

³ Presumably G. D. Birla

⁴ Of Bengal

and hold the declarants to their promise. But the authorities are timid. However, I am patiently working at it and have not lost hope that they will be released before it is too late. I am well, considering the strain I am going through.

Love.

BAPU

From a copy: C.W. 7829. Courtesy: G. D. Birla

532. A NOTE¹

ON THE TRAIN TO DELHI,
September 19, 1938

I stopped on the night of Saturday (17-9-38) the experiment involving physical contact with women that I had been carrying on. I had been thinking of it for some time but I was not able before that date to come to a decision. That night, however, I had an experience that made me decide to discontinue it. While the experiment went on I had a certain freedom. But it has never been my luck to enjoy this kind of freedom. Now my responsibility increases.

During the experiment I had the opportunity to do a great deal of thinking. I also had some new experiences. I will write about them if I get the time. Writing, however, is not so necessary. It may provide little guidance to others.

I cannot say that I have become more *nirvikara*² as a result of this experiment. Some friends had feared that it might result in adding to the *vikara*³ since my mind would be perpetually occupied with the thing. Nothing of the sort has happened. It is not my habit to continue to brood over a decision I have taken. The decision works of itself. It is not a burden on the mind—it should not be.

The stopping of the experiment does not mean that things will go on the way they did before. I cannot say that I shall remove myself somewhere.

This, however, I can say that I will not deliberately renounce the service of the few sisters in the Ashram, sisters who are so close to me. I shall take from them the service I require. I had never renounced such physical contact with them as I considered necessary for taking service from them. My practice of ¹ This was sent as an enclosure to "Letter to Amrit Kaur", 8-10-1938.

² Free from passion

³ Passion

resting my hands on their shoulders will continue as before. The restriction that I had been observing during the period of the experiment will be slackened. What I wrote about it in Harijan stands as it should. No time limit had been set as regards this practice.

I must add that in giving up this experiment I felt no joy. I gave it up out of a sense of dharma. I have however been able to discover that the harmless physical contact with women which was habitual with me over many years has not done any harm to my practice of brahmacharya. The imperfection of brahmacharya in me has some other cause. But, as is my nature, when a doubt arose in my mind regarding this it became necessary to make the experiment.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 7868

533. TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR

DELHI,

September 20, 1938

RAJKUMARI AMRIT KAUR
RASHTRIYASHALA
RAJKOT

ALL REACHED WELL. LOVE.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3879. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7036

534. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

DELHI,

September 20, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

Better a pencil letter than none.

I have sent you a wire. Mahadev took the journey well. Poor Shraddha was bad. The train reached Wardha 4 hours late.

I hope you are having a good and useful time there. You will insist on keeping well.

No more for the day.

Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3880. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7036

535. LETTER TO MIRABEHN

September 20, 1938

CHI. MIRA,

All reached well 4 hours late. Mahadev took the journey quite well. Poor Shraddha was bad.

This is a furnace. Not a breath of air.

I hope you are getting the post all right.

Can't say more today.

Love.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 6402. Courtesy: Mirabehn. Also G.N. 9997

536. LETTER TO PREMABEHN KANTAK

September 20, 1938

CHI. PREMA,

I got your letter as also the book sent by you. But before I could even begin it, Kaka carried it away. I do hope to glance through it when he returns it.

I expect to return from the Frontier Province by the end of October. Raosaheb and you may come then.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10396. Also C.W. 6835. Courtesy: Premabehn Kantak

537. LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH

September 20, 1938

CHI. BABUDI,

Write to me daily. Be careful about food. If there is any trouble let me know. You will have started getting the menses. If not, sitting in warm water will certainly bring them on.

Pyarelal's room is sufficiently bright. You should strip yourself there, plaster your body with mud and walk about for a while. Then when the mud is dry take a bath in the opposite room. This will regularize the menses.

I have detained Dadasaheb only for your sake. Recite the Gita properly. Learn music from Nanavati and English from Bhansalibhai.

Keep the kitchen, etc., very clean.

Blessings from
BAPU

From Gujarati: C.W. 9996. Courtesy: Shardabehn G. Chokhawala

538. LETTER TO BALWANTSINHA

September 20, 1938

CHI. BALWANTSINHA,

You must have heard the story about the true mother and the false claimant. The false claimant agreed to having the baby cut up in two with one portion each being given to the two claimants. But the true mother told the judge that if that was the only way out she would withdraw her claim and let the other woman have the baby. It would at least be alive then. Now, let us see who proves to be the true go-sevak. Both of you may be such or both may turn out to be worthless or one true and one false. The problem thus poses three questions for me. Never say die.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 1910

539. NOTE TO BRIJKRISHNA CHANDIWALA

[After September 20, 1938]¹

My mind does not work as regards the ashram. If its existence is needed it may be put on its feet by begging for donations locally. But you should give up the whole idea until you have acquired self-confidence for doing something here on your own. I have already agreed to your living with me and we shall further see in Segaon what you can do. As regards Hardhyan Singh's house I am writing to Shaukat.

¹ Gandhiji arrived in Delhi, where this and the following three notes were evidently written, on September 20. They have been assigned G.N. numbers in reverse order, a procedure followed with regard to all the photostats of the year.

Here is the draft of your will:

"I hereby bequeath to my surviving brothers all my share in the paternal estate."¹

BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 2464

540. NOTE TO BRIJKRISHNA CHANDIWALA

[After September 20, 1938]

I have to think about your going to the Frontier Province. I do not wish to do anything that may seem improper. Anyway you should be prepared.

You have given up the thought of restricting your field of service here, I hope.

You may adopt what attitude you please toward Satyavati. There can be no harm done when the heart is pure.

I would like your separating from your brothers though they may continue to give you Rs. 100 per month as long as they can.

There is no difficulty from my side to your living with me. We shall see how far you can preserve your health in Segaon.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 2463

541. NOTE TO BRIJKRISHNA CHANDIWALA

[After September 20, 1938]

But there are many such things. How can I check them? Even in cases where I do try to check things, do I succeed? You are to go only if you wish to, not otherwise.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 2462

¹ This is in English.

542. NOTE TO BRIJKRISHNA CHANDIWALA

[After September 20, 1938]

It is not a question of inconvenience. I do not know who are going with me. I have said be prepared. Ba said she wanted to go. I said yes to her. Amtul Salaam has taken herself for granted. If there is overcrowding I shall leave you behind. I do not wish to place too heavy a burden on Khan Saheb. Probably I shall know for certain by this evening.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 2461

543. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

[Before September 21, 1938]¹

CHI. MAHADEV,

The time for takli yajna is drawing near as I am writing this. I have read Shivasankalpa. I liked it, too. I will try to read it again. Dreams are unusual for me. But for the last six or seven days, I have had numerous dreams and all concerning you. Last night, there was a break. Let me describe the last one also. You said your legs ached at night and poor Durga and Babla could not go on massaging them all the time. You therefore asked me to send Kanu at least for the nights, so that he might massage them properly. I said our understanding was that if walking twice was too much for your strength, you should walk only once and that overexerting yourself for walking would not be desirable. At this point, "I wake up and see that the world does not exist."² When will these fancies about you stop? Where should I send you? How? If I am not free from passion, will your going away improve my condition?

There is no hysteria in all this constant thinking about you.

Sushila has not got the medicine. Herewith a copy from the Reformer for Khan Saheb. . . .³

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S. N. 11636

¹ This was written before Rentia Baras which fell on September 21, 1938.

² Gandhiji is quoting a line from Narasinha Mehta.

³ The letter is incomplete.

544. LETTER TO F. MARY BARR

September 22, 1938

DEAR MARY,

I am glad you were none the worse for the experience. Find out exactly what you are expected to do as Commissioner and then certainly accept if it appears worth while. Your letter to Amtul Salaam is excellent. I have handed it to her.

Love.

BAPU

[PS.]

Here up to 29th.

From a photostat: G.N. 6071. Also C.W. 3401. Courtesy: F. Mary Barr

545. DRAFT OF RESOLUTION FOR A. I. C. C.¹

[Before September 23, 1938]

Inasmuch as people including a few Congressmen have been found in the name of civil liberty to advocate murder, arson, looting, and class war by violent means, and several newspapers are carrying on a campaign of falsehood and violence calculated to incite the readers to violence and to lead to communal conflicts, the Congress warns the public that civil liberty does not cover acts of or incitement to violence or promulgation of palpable falsehoods. In spite, therefore, of the Congress policy on civil liberty remaining unchanged the Congress will, consistently with its tradition, support measures that may be undertaken by the Congress Governments for the defence of life and property.

Harijan, 1-10-1938

¹ This was drafted by Gandhiji; vide Vol. LXVIII, "Discussion with Communists", Before 11-11-1938. The resolution was passed by the Working Committee, which met in Delhi from September 23 to September 25 and later, on September 26, by the A. I. C. C. when a group of people walked out. Vide also "That Unfortunate Walk-out", 5-10-1938.

546. TELEGRAM TO TRIVANDRUM LAW COLLEGE UNION¹

[On or before September 23, 1938]²

THE PRICE OF LIBERTY IS HEAVY. ARE YOU NON-VIOLENT IN MIND, WORD AND DEED? IF YOU ARE,
SUFFER TO THE UTMOST AND LIBERTY IS YOURS.

The Hindu, 24-9-1938

547. LETTER TO VIJAYA N. PATEL

September 23, 1938

CHI. VIJAYA,

I got your letter. Do certainly take tub-baths. It is good indeed that you have left off medicines. That you are not able to sleep is too much. Give up everything except water for a day, and see what happens. The cause of insomnia can be nothing but indigestion.

CHI. VIJAYABEHN

C/O RAMBHAI HIRABHAI PATEL

SAURASHTRA SOCIETY No. 25

ELLIS BRIDGE

AHMEDABAD, B. B. & C. I. RLY.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7099. Also C.W. 4591. Courtesy: Vijayabehn M. Pancholi

548. SPEECH AT CONGRESS WORKING COMMITTEE

[September 23, 1938]³

Mahatma Gandhi began by thanking the members for expressing their views on the questionnaire that he had written out in the last two days. He was sure that the members would have read his articles during the last two months in the Harijan on the increase of violence in the Congress organizations. He had thought over the subject very carefully.

¹ This was in reply to the Trivandrum Law College Union's message regarding the situation in Travancore.

² The news item carrying the report is dated September 23.

³ From The Bombay Chronicle and Gandhiji's Dilli Diary, Part II

First, said Mahatmaji, he had noticed that several Congressmen, who had joined the Congress and signed the pledge without understanding or believing in the necessity for observing truth and non-violence as essential steps to achieve swaraj, had committed breaches of these two conditions. He had recently noted many Congressmen writing leaflets or making speeches in the name of civil liberty, inciting others to violence. Such speeches and writings, which were retarding the progress of the Congress towards its goal, should be stopped. The Working Committee could do it by defining civil liberty in a resolution. Any incitement to violence in the name of civil liberty should be treated as a breach of Congress discipline and as such severely dealt with by the disqualification of the guilty members from holding offices or posts of responsibility in the Congress. It was open to the Working Committee to accept his suggestion, but he would emphasize the strict enforcement of discipline in the ranks. He would go even to the length of expelling those who committed breaches of discipline from the Congress.

Gandhiji continued that there should be no compromise with violence or untruth. The Congress today was actually manned by those who had lost faith in the creed of non-violence and the constructive programme of khaddar, [removal of] untouchability, prohibition and Hindu-Muslim unity. The real strength of the Congress depended on these twins, non-violence and constructive programme. When certain power was captured by Congressmen, there was an unhealthy competition to divide the spoils, which indicated that Congressmen were not able to digest power. This unseemly rush to capture committees by violence and corrupt methods would make swaraj a distant dream. This was not the way to win swaraj; this was not the way to work the office-acceptance programme. The ministries had been accepted by the Congress in a spirit of service. It was, therefore, necessary to apply the purge, as otherwise the Congress would collapse under its own weakness. Incitement to violence should be checked. Otherwise it would soon degenerate into undignified goondaism.

So far as Congress organizations were concerned, Mahatma Gandhi suggested that only those who had been in the Congress registers for five years should be eligible to hold offices or posts of responsibility in the Congress. He is reported to have added that the yarn franchise which was abandoned in 1926 should be restored. All office-bearers in Congress organizations should annually contribute 5,000 yards of hand-spun yarn to the Congress. He would make yarn franchise a compulsory clause. He knew that it was found unworkable in 1926 by many Congressmen but he would not care for the volume of Congress membership. He would not mind a fall in membership of the Congress. Ten thousand true and non-violent Congressmen could bring swaraj and work wonders rather than ten million Congressmen on the rolls committing violence.

It had been argued, said Mahatma Gandhi, that Congress would cease to be a democratic organisation and would be reduced to a closed corporation. Democracy, he said, would not live in the atmosphere of untruth and violence. It would flourish only if truth and non-violence existed. Congressmen should develop a higher degree of non-violence. The Provincial Ministers should soon develop peaceful methods of dealing with violence. The Peace Brigade was one of such methods. Until a correct remedy was found, the Ministers would be permitted to deal with offences in the manner they considered best, but they could not depend on the military to quell riots for long. If they were unable to establish peace by non-violent methods in the near future, they should resign their offices. The idea of the military was opposed to the Congress creed of non-violence and should be supplanted by stages.

When asked how non-violence could check foreign aggression, Mahatma Gandhi is reported to have replied that if India had one crore of non-violent volunteers, he was confident that no nation could conquer India. If they failed in their attempt to prevent aggression, then the fault was theirs, not in the philosophy of non-violence but in their methods of practising it. Mahatma Gandhi was convinced that non-violence, if properly applied, could not only solve India's problems but also the world's.

Gandhiji concluded that these were his views. The members could ponder over them and tell him whether they could accept and work them. If they were not in agreement with his views, they were at liberty to reject them.

The Hindu, 24-9-1938

549. CORRUPTION IN THE CONGRESS

It is difficult to cope with the correspondence that I am having from several places about violence, untruth and corruption in the Congress. Whilst I must continue to publish typical correspondence about the weaknesses of Congressmen, I must issue a warning against hasty deduction being drawn that all is ill with the Congress. I know it is not. But it is true that violence, untruth and corruption have made inroads enough to warrant drastic measures in order to prevent decay overtaking the great organization.

Here are extracts from two typical letters:

(1) Perhaps you are aware how the enrolment of bogus Congress members is going on unimpeded everywhere, and how rich and unscrupulous persons are controlling the affairs of the Congress organization, keeping skilfully the genuine and devoted workers out of their way. Some are paying the membership subscription of annas 4 for others under their control out of their own pockets, and some are going a step forward and are not paying a single pie to the Congress committees and instead making the primary committees under their clutches prepare false accounts of their apparent collections and thereby evading the supervising eye of the sub-divisional as well as district committees.

Primary committees having less than 25 members are not required, under the rules framed by it, to pay anything to higher committees out of the membership fee. The result is that a good many paper committees are being set up with less than 25 members to deprive the sub-divisional and district committees of their quota of the membership subscription as also to secure a larger proportion of representation in these Committees.

(2) It is my duty to bring to your notice the open and scandalous corruption in enrolling Congress members. The Congress authorities here, especially the Executives, know this state of things well, but it is difficult to know why the necessary steps are not being taken. If steps are not taken, things will go from bad to worse and the whole Congress institution will be disgraced and the hold on people will be lost.

(i) Every party is trying to capture the Congress office—whether Primary, Sub-divisional, District or Provincial. And for this purpose bogus members are being enrolled by practically every group.

(ii) There are a good many names of persons on the Congress rolls, but on scrutiny it can be easily found out that there are no such persons in existence at all. During election time the same group of persons is mobilized at elections of primary Congress committees of different wards.

(iii) The members are enrolled sometimes without their own signatures on application forms and in most cases without taking payment of the annual subscription of four annas.

(iv) The question arises how the account of collection of subscription by the primary, sub-divisional and district Congress committees is maintained. In almost all cases where a group is in possession of the office and necessarily the office account, collection of the annual subscription for all the bogus members is shown to the credit side, and at the same time nearly the whole amount is shown to the debit side on the different heads of expenses, such as travelling expense, meeting expense, allowance expense, etc. Really they do not collect the subscription and maintain a false account.

I do not know how all these corruptions can be stopped. There will be, I hope, changes of rules at the next A. I. C. C. meeting at Delhi. Some steps should be immediately taken to stop the corruption. Identification of Congress members, signatures of the members on the application forms, actual realization of subscription from the members and true accounts should be enforced.

These statements have been made by responsible parties. The letters are meant for publication. But I have purposely sup-prepared the names of my correspondents as also of the province in which the corruption is said to exist.

It is to be hoped that the Working Committee and the A. I. C. C. will deal with this as well as the other serious questions that will come up for discussion and decision. It would be a tragedy if the session of the A. I. C. C. were to be frittered away in orations or mutual wranglings.

Harijan, 24-9-1938

550. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

DELHI,

September 24, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

Narandas is a worker, not a writer. Therefore the description of things has to come from you and no one else. Chh.¹ does write but he won't have the time to give me details. And they are all afraid to burden me with descriptions.

Well, if your suggestion had been received by me it would have helped me. However I accept your apology. Only don't do it again.

The weather for me is ideal. The blood-pressure is ideal, almost always 160-164/100-104.

Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3881. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7037

551. LETTER TO MIRABEHN

DELHI,

September 24, 1938

GHI. MIRA,

Here it is all dry, there all wet. This prolongation of wet weather is a ruinous thing. And yet we may not grumble. It is all God's doing. Only we don't know Him. To grumble is also a *विष*². It won't abate till we know Him face to face.

Both Mahadev and I are keeping ideal health. No strain is put upon me. My silence has done the trick.

¹ Chhaganlal Gandhi

² Gratification of sense

You need not worry about the wires. I hope to enclose with this a note to the P. M.

Love.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 6403. Courtesy: Mirabehn. Also G.N. 9998

552. LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH

September 24, 1938

CHI. BABUDI,

I have your letter. If you write 'Personal' no one will read your letter. Do write whatever you have in mind. Are you going on with the Gita and music? You have not said anything about your health. Give me full details.

Blessings from
BAPU

From Gujarati: C.W. 9997. Courtesy: Shardabehn G. Chokhawala

553. INTERVIEW TO F. S. YOUNG¹

September 24, 1938

I² first of all related the whole position to Gandhiji and then asked Young to say what he had to say. He then at great length stated the whole position and asked Gandhiji's help. The first two paragraphs are in reply to that.

(1) All I can say, is that somehow or other the authorities should be made to see that in Seth Jamnalalji and Pandit Hiralal they have men who are true as steel and who believe in non-violence as their creed.

(2) Surely it will be unwise to imprison them instead of holding them as willing hostages for peace. To ban the Praja Mandal is to invite trouble where there is none today.

In reply to the first two paragraphs, Young said that there was no question of imprisoning anyone. That position had not yet arrived and he hoped that it would never arrive. To this Gandhiji replied in the third paragraph.

¹D. B. Kalelkar explains: "By the efforts of Shri G. D. Birla a meeting was brought about between Gandhiji and Mr. Young, I. G. P., Jaipur State, to talk about the Jaipur Rajya Praja Mandal. Gandhiji gave his answers in writing. Later Shri G. D. Birla prepared a note explaining Gandhiji's answers. . . ."

²G. D. Birla

(3) You will reach that stage in a moment, if you have an organization which is working [un]constitutionally and with which they are identified. I do not think they can surrender the right to agitate for responsible government. The authorities may or may not grant it. But they should not ban an activity which is in its nature peaceful. You may take all precautions to ensure peace.

In reply to this, Young pointed out the activities of the Mandal in enlisting Congress members. He said the Council had a suspicion that the Praja Mandal was only another name for the Congress and after having seen the disturbances in Travancore and Mysore, they were rather afraid of Congress creating trouble in Jaipur. Could not the Praja Mandal keep itself separate from the Congress? The fourth paragraph is in reply to that.

(4) You can't prevent natural affinities. People are drawn towards the Congress. You seek its assistance in order to promote peace as Sir Mirza did wisely and as Sir Akbar is already doing and Sir C. P. will do presently.

In reply to this, Young said, "But what if they start trouble? If their constitution is something different, then there should be no difficulty in recognizing it but with this constitution, if they start trouble, peace might be disturbed." The penultimate and the last paragraph are in reply to this.

(5) You can ask them to meet you a long way as to how they should shape their activity. You stifle opinion if you say they may not even ask for responsible government. You should shed the fear of the Congress.

(6) What I have suggested is this. Don't interfere with their objective but regulate the speed with which they move. You may, for instance, regulate the demonstrative part of their programme. You will control their language. But to ask them to change their objective is like asking a man to change his religion.

In the end, Mr. Young profusely thanked Gandhiji and made a request for taking the notes with him as a sort of souvenir to which Gandhiji agreed subject to his being provided with a copy of the same. The last three lines are in reply to my question whether Sir Akbar had already written for help and whether C. P. also had applied for help.

I would like you to give me a copy of the notes.

I have Sir Akbar's letter asking for help.

More than a hope. He has wired to Pattabhi asking him to meet him. (This is about C. P.)

554. SPEECH AT THE FOUNDATION-LAYING OF PRAYER HALL

September 25, 1938

I am sorry I am not able to speak on this occasion. For many years now it has been my view that following a death the rich indulge in a lot of expenditure which serves neither utility nor dharma. I therefore welcome the present occasion. Janaki-devi¹ was a godly woman. She passed away a short while ago. The family she left behind is large and well known. Her sons together thought of doing some work of Harijan service in her memory. So they resolved with the concurrence of the directors of this institution² to build a prayer hall. I have been entrusted with the pleasant task of laying the foundation of this prayer hall. I lay the foundation-stone in the presence of you all and hope that the prayer hall will be of benefit to the pupils of the institution. I also hope that others also will similarly honour the memory of their dear departed by undertaking work of Harijan service.

BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 2508

555. DRAFT OF RESOLUTION FOR A. I. C. C.³

[On or before September 26, 1938]

The A. I. C. C. notes with sorrow and dismay the repression that has been going on in Travancore for some days. The evidence that has come to the Congress office, if it is to be believed, goes to show that the movement led by the State Congress in Travancore is strictly constitutional and for a constitutional purpose, viz., attainment of responsible government under the aegis of His Highness the Maharaja. The repudiation published on behalf of the State is categorically contradicted by the spokesmen of the State Congress.

¹ Mother of Brijkrishna Chandiwala

² Harijan Nivas. Brijkrishna Chandiwala in his book, Gandhiji ki Dilli Diary, Part II, writes that a suggestion to build a prayer hall in Harijan Nivas had come from Viyogi Hari.

³ Published in Harijan under the title "Indian States". This was drafted by Gandhiji; vide "Note to Jamnalal Bajaj", p. 378.

In the circumstances the A. I. C. C. recommends to the Travancore Government for adoption the following policy, viz., assurance on the one hand that the State Congress is free to carry on the movement for responsible government in a constitutional manner; appointment of a committee containing, among others, representatives of the State Congress to explore the possibility of granting responsible government, and an inquiry conducted by a jurist outside the State of unimpeachable impartiality into the recent happenings including the charges made by the State of provocations justifying the State measures including firing on unarmed people resulting in deaths and injuries, and an amnesty to the prisoners.

The A. I. C. C. regrets that the Hyderabad State has issued ordinances which appear to give to the State power altogether in excess of requirements.

The A. I. C. C. has also received complaints of severe repression in the States like Dhenkanal, Talchar and Kashmir. In all these cases the people of the States have appealed to the Congress for advice, guidance and help.

The A. I. C. C. can but reiterate its policy of non-interference, and, consistently with the resources, to help the people in every way open to the Congress. The policy of non-interference is an admission of the limitations of the Congress. The Congress policy has been one of friendliness to the States. In spite of the declarations of some Congressmen to the contrary, the corporate policy of the Congress, so long as it holds by truth and non-violence, must be one of continuous attempt to convert the Princes to the view that their true welfare consists in a voluntary surrender of power to the people so as to bring them in a line with the people of the so-called British India, consistently with the existence of the constitutional heads of the respective States.

Harijan, 1-10-1938

556. NOTE TO JAMNALAL BAJAJ

HARIJAN NIVAS,
[DELHI,]

September 26, 1938

The resolution I have drafted regarding the Princely States has assumed importance. Have a look at it and if you do not like it do not forward it. I have suggested a committee in it. Withhold it also if you do not like the names. Show it to Vallabhbhai.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 3074

557. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

September 27, 1938

CHI. AMRITLAL,

You do not seem to have started the music lessons for Sharda. Do not wait for her to request you. It is intolerable that Chakraiya should go on losing weight. Think over this. I have kept the question of his pay pending. Please have a talk with him and decide.

Vijaya's health does not seem to have improved. You must be keeping up your health.

Let me know the arrangements for work there. And about sanitary work.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10774

558. LETTER TO PRABHAVATI

DELHI,

September 27, 1938

CHI. PRABHA,

I got your letter. It is good that at last [Jayaprakash] has gone there. Please keep me informed about the treatment. Give me details about the diet there. I hope the handwriting will not get smudgy. Write to me about the estimated expense there, so that I may arrange for the amount to be sent. I should like you to bring Saraswati along with you when you return from there. I will write to her. I am leaving this place for the Frontier Province on the 30th. Address your letters: c/o Dr. Khan Saheb, Peshawar. I am all right. Amtul Salaam, Mahadev, Pyarelal, Sushila are with me. Mahadev is all right.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 3522

559. LETTER TO CHIMANLAL N. SHAH

September 27, 1938

CHI. CHIMANLAL,

If what Chi. Sharda writes is true, it is a serious matter. You must not tolerate such lawlessness. You can ask those who do no work to leave. The remedy is simple. Tell such persons: "Go to Wardha for the present and return when Bāpu returns. I must carry on with the work entrusted to me by Bapu. In this I realize that I cannot get on with you." You are at liberty to do this, and it is also your duty to do it. That will lighten your heart. Do not force yourself to do anything. Do not break your health and make suffering which is easy to endure more difficult to endure.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I will be ready to accommodate all those whom you send here.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10593

560. LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH

DELHI,

September 27, 1938

CHI. BABUDI,

What a letter you have written! Carry on for a month somehow. I have got to go to the Frontier Province. There seems to be an exaggeration in your statement that nobody is doing any work. Go into the matter and let me know. Krishna-chandra may not be doing the work. What about Shankaran and Amritlal? There should not have been any insistence about the spinning-wheel. How long can the spinning-wheel last if it is taken up because of insistence? Consider everything properly and then write to me. I have destroyed your letters after reading.

Blessings from

BAPU

[PS.]

I shall be leaving for the Frontier on the 30th. Shankaran must be provided with a torch if he needs one. If you feel the need you may cover yourself with a blanket during your menses. I do not think it is necessary.

From Gujarati: C.W. 9998. Courtesy: Shardabehn G. Chokhawala

561. LETTER TO SARASWATI

DELHI,

September 27, 1938

CHI. SARU,

If you are willing to come to me, you may show this letter to Papamma and your grandfather and take their permission. You can come with Prabhavati who is in Malabar. Meet your uncle and your father if you wish to and secure their approval. You are not able to study there. So it would be better if you came over. Of course there is the condition that you will remain calm here. If you cannot, your coming here will be futile.

Blessings from

BAPU

[PS.]

Ba is with me. I shall leave for the N. W. F. P. on the 30th. Ba will stay on here. You should continue to write to Wardha.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 6172. Also C.W. 3446. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

562. TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR

NEW DELHI,
September 29, 1938

RAJKUMARI AMRIT KAUR
STATE GUEST
AMRELI

YOUR WIRE. AM EXTRAORDINARILY WELL. NOT PROCEEDING FRONTIER TOMORROW. MAHADEV WELL.
SUSHILA DOWN WITH FEVER. LOVE.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3882. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7038

563. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

September 29, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

You have been as usual good in writing to me. I am glad you have been able to make all those acquaintances. I am waiting for detailed account.

Mahadev is steadily getting better. I am in first-class health. Am going through a lot of work. Sushila is down with fever. She is better today.

As the W. C. is sitting continuously, I am held up here. And may be here when you arrive.

Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3636. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 6445

564. LETTER TO MIRABEHN

September 29, 1938

CHI. MIRA,

I am wiring today to say the post should be directed here. The W. C. is sitting continuously and therefore I may not leave for the Frontier.

I am keeping wonderfully well. The b. p. has never been so steady and low as now.

The nights are superb here just now. I hope you are keeping perfect health. If you have any remarks to offer about management there, you will do so.

Love.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 6404. Courtesy: Mirabehn. Also G.N. 9999

565. LETTER TO KANTILAL GANDHI

September 29, 1938

CHI. KANTI,

I have torn your letter into pieces. I have written to Saraswati and Prabha. I have called Saraswati to Wardha. I do not feel inclined to put her with Saundaram. If she wishes to learn nursing, she can do so afterwards. It is for her good that she should stay with me, whatever the circumstances. I agree with you that anybody who lives with me may soon become lazy. But you will not find many such instances. However that may be, as you have left the problem to me, I have called her to Wardha.

Do not spoil your health. Mahadev is better.

Blessings from

BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7349. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

566. LETTER TO SUSHILA GANDHI

September 29, 1938

CHI. SUSHILA,

I got your letter. You did quite well in deciding to stay on. Ramdas has gone to Dehra Dun. Mahadev and I are well. I have been detained here longer than I had expected. I may perhaps start on the 2nd.

Sita and Arun must be fine.

Schlesin writes: "Entrust Phoenix to Pragji." Does it appeal to you?

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 4885

567. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

DELHI,
September 29, 1938

CHI. KRISHNACHANDRA,

You did well in giving up jaggery. Do not worry about the weakness. The chhilla water will bring back strength.

You shall certainly continue to serve me. Do not expect letters from me. I hope Balkrishna is well.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4305

568. FOREWORD TO "PRAYERS, PRAISES AND PSALMS"

[September 1938]¹

Shri Natesan has gone to the wrong man for a foreword to his collection of Prayers, Praises and Psalms. For I am no Sanskrit scholar. I have not read much of the translations or the originals. Nevertheless the collection presented in this volume does enable even one like me to know how our ancestors prayed to the One Supreme Lord of the Universe and in what words they derived solace in the hour of their trial or gave praise in the hour of their so-called triumph. May this collection help the reader to dispel his unbelief or strengthen his belief.

M. K. GANDHI

Prayers, Praises and Psalms

569. FEDERATION

A well-known correspondent tells me that in London the common talk is that Gandhi counts for everything and it does not matter what the Congress or Congressmen may say or do. The critics embellish the statement by saying that there is a wide difference of opinion between Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru and myself, and that while he will not touch Federation with a pair of tongs, I am prepared to submit to it if some trifles are conceded. I have paraphrased in my own words a longish letter² giving details which I may not share with the readers at least at the present juncture.

Evidently my critics know more of me than I seem to know myself. For instance I know how little I count among Congressmen; the critics know how much I count among them. Whatever influence I still possess among Congressmen is solely due to my constant appeal to reason and never to authority. But if I had the influence the critics attribute to me, I make bold to say that India would have gained her independence long ago and there would be no repression that is going on unchecked in some of the States. I know the art of winning independence and stopping the frightfulness of which one reads in the papers. If I had my way with the Congressmen, there would be no corruption, no untruth and no violence amongst them. If I had my way with them, they would all be enthusiastic khaddarites and there would be no surplus khadi in the A. I. S. A. bhandars.

¹ The first edition of the book came out in September 1938.

² The reference presumably is to a letter from Carl Heath; vide "Letter to Carl Heath", p. 332.

But I am going astray. I had intended to write about Federation. In the first place, in all my talks, which have been very few, I have made it clear that I represent nobody and that I have not even aired my views to any Congressman. I have also made it clear that what the Congress says and does is of consequence, whatever I may say is of no value unless it represents the Congress view. As a matter of fact, too, I have said that the Congress will never have Federation forced upon it, and that there was no hope of peace in India till there was independence in virtue of a constitution framed by a duly convened Constituent Assembly. I have also made it clear that so far as Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru and I are concerned, though we may talk in different language, we are one in most things that matter to India. On the question of Federation there never has been any difference of opinion between us. And I have made a rule for myself that so far as the Congress is concerned, if there is an unbridgeable gulf between him and me his view should prevail. And this for the very good reason that I am not in the Congress and he is in the centre of it, and very much in touch with everything relating to the Congress.

Harijan, 1-10-1938

570. NON-INTERVENTION

Congress non-intervention in the affairs of the States was conceived in 1920 and has been more or less its policy since that time in spite of many onslaughts made on it. But I see that it has become the fashion in the States to quote against the Congress and Congressmen the self-imposed restraint even when there is any attempt to criticize or offer advice or help. It is therefore necessary to examine the implications of non-intervention. It was never regarded as a principle. It was a limitation imposed on itself by the Congress for its own sake and that of the people of the States. The Congress had no sanction behind its resolutions regarding the States. Its advice might be ignored, its intervention resented and the people of the States might be harassed without gaining anything. There was certainly a friendly motive behind that policy. It was a wise recognition of the limited capacity of the Congress for doing good. The restraint exercised by the Congress in this and many other ways has given it a prestige and power which it would be unwise for it not to use. Any hesitation in this respect would be like that of the foolish steward who would not use the talents which were placed at his disposal. Up to a point the States are beginning to recognize the power of the Congress be it ever so reluctantly. It is becoming sufficiently clear that the people of the States are looking to the Congress for guidance and help. I think that it is the duty of the Congress to give them the guidance and help wherever it can. I wish I could convince every Congressman that the prestige and power of the Congress are in exact proportion to its inner purity, its sense of exact justice and its all-round goodwill. If the people of the States feel safe in entrusting their welfare to the Congress, the Princes should feel equally safe in trusting the Congress. All the prestige built up by patient effort of years will certainly be undermined if the warnings uttered by me to the Congressmen go unheeded.

Even at the risk of tiresome repetition let me say to the people of the States that they must not set much store by the Congress help. It is not enough that they are truthful and non-violent. It is necessary also for them to know their own capacity for suffering. Liberty is a dame exacting a heavy price from her wooers. And unless there are many who are prepared to pay the price, the few enthusiasts that are to be found everywhere would do well to conserve their energy. They will do well to undertake constructive service of the people without having an ambitious political programme. The ability to gain political ends will surely come from constructive service. Wisdom and patience will give them a power which in time will become irresistible.

Harijan, 1-10-1938

571. DRAFT OF STATEMENT FOR JAMNALAL BAJAJ¹

[October 1, 1938]²

I have seen many rumours regarding my resignation from the Working Committee. It is perfectly true that I have sent in my resignation. It has no connection whatever with any differences with the Working Committee. My reason is purely personal. Indeed I have sent in resignations from several positions of responsibility retaining only those which I dare not give up without injuring the institutions with which I am connected.

Panchoen Putrako Babuka Ashirovud, p. 393; also G.N. 3075

572. STATEMENT TO THE PRESS

October 3, 1938

Correspondents have been writing and wiring to me about the events in Travancore³. Shri Changanacheri K. Parameswaran Pillai has been specially to see me and acquaint me with the situation. He has erred in giving his version of my talk with him. Whilst the situation remains delicate, every word has to be weighed before it is uttered. Shri Pillai was clear that mob violence in the shape of stone-throwing had occurred. He, however, made it perfectly clear that the State Congress people had no part in it and that it was contrary to their wish. I have wires denying mob violence and definitely saying that violence was instigated by agents provocateurs. I am unable to decide between the two opposite versions. But I can say this that satyagraha demands extraordinary caution, even to the extent of suspension of civil disobedience, if the resisters have not full control over forces of violence.

¹ The draft is in Gandhiji's hand in the G.N. source.

² According to an entry in the diary kept by Jamnalal Bajaj and published under the title Bapu-Smaram. Gandhiji rewrote Jamnalal's resignation on October 1, 1938.

³ Where the demand of the State Congress for responsible government had been met with shootings and imprisonments on a large scale with the State Congress itself having been declared a subversive organization; vide pp. 311-2. and 348-51.

What exactly should be done I cannot advise from this distance. The responsibility for right decision must be shouldered by local leaders. In coming to their decision they will remember that any the slightest deviation from truth and non-violence, whether in themselves or by connivance in others, is bound to affect the movement adversely.

As to the charges against the Dewan, I telegraphed¹ the imprisoned leaders who were responsible for making them. This is their reply:

Your kind telegram advising withdrawal of the State Congress memorandum. We consulted T. M. Verghese and others. The Working Committee feels satisfied that the Dewan's continuance in office is detrimental to the people's interests. The withdrawal of the memorandum may unmeritedly discredit the State Congress and cause an irretrievable setback to the movement. Pray for support and guidance.

I appreciate the spirit behind the reply. The leaders would be lowered in my estimation if, for the sake of purchasing their liberty, they withdrew the charges. But if the conviction has gone home that in a demand for responsible government such charges could have only a subordinate place, if any at all, and if they saw with me that persistence in them, especially without the ability to prove them, can but seriously harm the movement, it is their clear duty to withdraw the charges and thus free the movement of the initial blunder and handicap. There is no discredit greater than the refusal to acknowledge errors.

I have wires alleging tortures by the authorities. It is hard to believe them. I hope they are baseless, and if isolated cases have happened, I should hope that the Travancore Government will prevent any future recurrence.

I observe that the movement promises to be protracted if only because of violence, whether spontaneous though unconnected with the Congress, or engineered as alleged. I can only entertain the hope that the authorities will relent and magnanimously allow the movement to run its course without the ban which I consider to be wholly unnecessary. A movement in itself wholly noble, which claims cultured men and women as willing and enthusiastic sufferers, should be fostered. It can never be crushed.

Harijan, 8-10-1938

¹ This telegram is not traceable.

573. TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR

DELHI,
October 3, 1938

RAJKUMARI AMRIT KAUR
PALITANA

BOTH MAHADEV SELF QUITE WELL. LEAVING TOMORROW.
MAHADEV REMAINING DELHI. LOVE. LILAVATI ALSO.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3883. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7039

574. TELEGRAM TO MIRABEHN

NEW DELHI,
October 3, 1938

MIRA
MAGANWADI
WARDHA

LEAVING TOMORROW. POST UTMANZAI.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 6405. Courtesy: Mirabehn. Also G.N. 10000

575. LETTER TO SHUAIB QURESHI

October 3, 1938

MY DEAR SHUAIB,

Shaukat is writing to you about Harold¹. The best method is what I have pointed out. Authorize Agatha Harrison to draw according to needs. All I am anxious about is that Harold should not suffer for want of funds.

You will have seen what I was able to do about the League. In view of the Sind meeting they thought postponement was impossible.

Love.

BAPU

¹ Harold Ansari; side letters to Nawab of Bhopal, pp. 182 and 337.

[PS.]

I leave for the Frontier Province tomorrow.

From a facsimile: Madhya Pradesh aur Gandhiji, p. 126

576. NOTE TO P. SREEDHARAN NAIR¹

DELHI,

October 3, 1938

In Segaoon there is nothing to learn. It is labour for those who will labour. Otherwise it is idleness. You can take the Village Industries course in Wardha. For God you have to search within and find Him in His numberless works. There is no faculty there.

From a copy: C.W. 9941. Courtesy: P. Sreedharan Nair

577. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

DELHI,

October 4, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

I write this while I am eating. I got your Amreli letter today. I am not satisfied with the way you seem to have treated your body.

Mahadev is staying behind. You will do what you like with him.

I have not kept so well as I am now for years. Sushila is weak but without fever. A. S.² is coming. Ba is not well. She stays behind. I am taking Brijkrishna with me. Address me Peshawar.

Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3884. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7040

¹ The addressee had asked Gandhiji where he could find God and whether his staying at Segaoon would be any help. It being Gandhiji's silence day, he wrote out this answer.

² Amtulalaam

578. LETTER TO MIRABEHN

DELHI,
October 4, 1938

CHI. MIRA,

It is good you are interesting yourself in Balkoba's health. It is well you are taking quinine. The letters to be posted to Utmanzai till further instructions. Though Mahadev is staying here, his letters too must be sent to my address.

I am keeping extra well. It is a wonder to me. Nothing seems to worry me, though there are enough things to worry about. The weather has become extra hot. Quite unusual for Delhi at this time of the year.

Love.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 6406. Courtesy: Mirabehn. Also G.N. 10001

579. LETTER TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU

DELHI,
October 4, 1938

MY DEAR JAWAHARLAL,

Just now I can only send you the letter you want me to write. If you approve, please forward. You will see my article in Harijan in which there is reference to Spain¹ also.

I hope Indu is rapidly progressing and Sarup² is having the full benefit of the change.

What a peace at the cost of honour!³

I wish I had time to write at length.

¹ Vide "Logical Consequences", pp. 413-5.

² Vijayalakshmi Pandit

³ The reference is to the Munich Pact signed on September 30, 1938. Chamberlain, describing the Munich Pact, had called it "peace with honour". Under the terms of this pact, Czechoslovakia was forced to cede to Germany all those districts of Bohemia and Moravia which had a 50 per cent German-speaking population; vide also "If I were a Czech", pp. 404-6.

Mahadev is staying behind for rest. I leave for the Frontier Province.

Love to you three.

BAPU

From Gandhi-Nehru Papers, 1938. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

580. LETTER TO GLADYS OWEN

SEGAON, WARDHA,¹

October 4, 1938

MY DEAR GLADYS,

It is with difficulty I can cope with the correspondence. I hope you have profited by the treatment there.

Peace has been preserved but at the cost of honour.

Muriel should soon be in India. Mahadev is decidedly on the mend.

Love.

BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 6194

581. LETTER TO VALJI G. DESAI

DELHI,

October 4, 1938

CHI. VALJI,

My work is increasing so much that unless I do it myself it will remain undone. Mahadev's share has been taken over by Pyarelal for the present. You can never be a burden to me. But what can I entrust you with after taking you away from what you are doing just now? If you can get some inspiration from what I am writing in Harijan and take up something, you are welcome to try. You will be really tested after my death. Dudhibehn and the children must be fine. I am leaving for Peshawar today. Mahadev will stay here.

Blessings from

BAPU

SHRI VALJI GOVINDJI DESAI
GONDAL, KATHIAWAD

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7482. Courtesy: Valji G. Desai

¹ Permanent address

582. LETTER TO SUSHILA GANDHI

DELHI,
October 4, 1938

GHI. SUSHILA,

You must have got one letter I wrote you. This is the second. We are today leaving for the Frontier Province. Mahadev stays behind, as also Ba. Pyarelal, Sushila, Amtul Salaam, Kanaiyo and Brijkrishna will accompany me.

Manilal's statement is correct. I do remember having sent the Diwali message. I may be mistaken though. But now there is hardly any time for a message to be sent. If there is, here is the message.

"When a Holi is raging on all sides, how can we celebrate Diwali? Wherever we look, we see hatred and bitterness. If, therefore, anybody wants to celebrate Diwali, he should try to lessen the hatred and bitterness and, having purified himself, plunge into the swaraj yajna."

How is Sita¹? And Arun²? Sita was going to write to me. What happened?

Ba has been slightly ill. She is feeling better today.

How is Manudi³? Is she still there?

Ramdas came yesterday from Dehra Dun.

Nanabhai⁴ must be well. Did Shanti benefit by the fast?

Write to me and address the letters to Peshawar.

Blessings from
BAPU also BA

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 4886

¹ Addressee's daughter

² Addressee's son

³ Manubehn Mashruwala, Gandhiji's granddaughter

⁴ Addressee's father

583. LETTER TO MATHURIBEHN KHARE

DELHI,
October 4, 1938

CHI. MATHURI¹,

I got your letter.

Do finish your course there and become well-versed in what you study.

You must be keeping fine health. We are leaving for the Frontier Province today. Mahadevbhai and Ba will stay on here. Mahadev is now all right.

Address Peshawar.

Blessings from
BAPU

CHI. MATHURI KHARE
SEVA SADAN
790 SADASHIV, POONA CITY

From Gujarati: C.W. 272. Courtesy: Lakshmibehn N. Khare

584. LETTER TO MUNNALAL G. SHAH

DELHI,
October 4, 1938

CHI. MUNNALAL,

I got your letter. If your heart is no longer there, by all means leave. Following that way, you will some day find peace of mind. "No well-doer, O loved one, meets with a sad end."²

You may go either to Ramana Swami at Tiruvannamalai or again to Aurobindo Ashram. Jankiprasad did find peace.

Have a talk with Kanchan. In short, do whatever will bring you peace of mind.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 8566. Also C.W. 7044. Courtesy: Munnalal G. Shah

¹ Daughter of Narayan Moreashwar Khare

² Bhagavad Gita, vi. 40

585. LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH

October 4, 1938

CHI. BABUDI,

I have been receiving your letters regularly. Sushilabehn says that you need not worry about the irregular monthly periods. It can happen sometimes. Take more milk and cream if possible. How much do you take? What else do you take? Remain calm. We are leaving today.

What is going on about your music? Now you will recite the Gita properly, won't you?

Blessings from
BAPU

From Gujarati: C.W. 9999. Courtesy: Shardabehn G. Chokhawala

586. STATEMENT TO THE PRESS

October 4, 1938

I should have given my opinion on the Bengal Government's communique¹ on the question of the release of the political convicts earlier. But pressure of work made it physically impossible for me to do so. Though the Bengal Government have not seen their way to accede to my proposal contained in my letter² of 13th April last, I gratefully recognize that from their own standpoint they have endeavoured to make an approach to the letter of 13th April.

But having paid this tribute to the Bengal Government I must say that their rejection of my proposal is a severe disappointment to me. For I claim that my proposal was made after considering and weighing the Bengal Government's difficulties. The decision seems to me to be due to their failure to recognize three factors.

However reprehensible the crimes committed by the prisoners were, there can be no doubt that the crimes were not a result of personal or selfish motive, the motive behind them was purely political.

¹ Vide Appendix II.

² Vide pp. 19-21.

Whatever the limitations of the Government of India Act, it has transferred power to a parliament responsible to the people and elected under a fairly wide franchise. Apart, therefore, from the declarations of non-violence made by the prisoners, the transfer of power to a popularly elected legislature takes the ground from under the feet of the advocates of terrorism.

Inasmuch as the Congress has chosen to enter the legislatures and even to accept ministerial responsibility, Congressmen are bound to examine the possibilities of the machinery to respond to the popular will. In this particular instance, as we have seen in what may be described as Congress provinces, the Provincial Governments have been able to release political prisoners. What has been possible in these provinces is possible in Bengal, if the popular will is sufficiently expressed.

The third factor is the Bengal Government's reference to the existence of the two well-known parties connected with terrorist methods. The reference seems to suggest that these parties function for their original purpose. I know, and I had given the Khwaja Saheb the required assurance, that the organizations no longer functioned in the old way. Comrades belonging to groups do not change names of their groups or loyalties because the methods which the labels originally stood for have become obsolete. I would, however, advise amalgamation and the use of another name for the combination, if they must preserve their separate status.

Not only have the Bengal Government failed to take any or adequate notice of these three factors, they have failed to give due weight to the positive assurances of non-violence given by the prisoners, which those who have been discharged seem to have carried out faithfully.

I therefore renew my appeal to the Bengal Government to respond to my proposal of 13th April, and release all the prisoners by 13th April, 1939. I do not mind what procedure they wish to adopt. They can have the committee announced by them and through it regulate the dates of discharge of the prisoners. One thing, so far as I am concerned, is undoubtedly common cause if there is to be a complete clearance, viz., that the atmosphere of non-violence is retained and that those who are discharged carry out the self-imposed obligation about non-violence.

I would appeal to the Press and the public to restrain themselves in their criticism of the action of the Bengal Government in the matter and not embarrass them by bitter criticism.

It must be said to the credit of the Bengal Government that they have certainly not treated it as a party question. Though the release is an integral part of the Congress programme only, it has more or less become an all parties' question. And I have no doubt that the quickest method of securing early release is never to allow the question to become a party question.

I would appeal to the prisoners not to be disturbed by the Bengal Government's communique. Having been myself a prisoner over half a dozen times under varying circumstances, I know how apart from the hardships of jail life, the uncertainty of his fate gnaws into a prisoner's whole being especially when he is fretting to go out and serve. But I would ask them to treat 13th April or thereabouts as still the last date of their discharge. It is contrary to my nature to import 'thereabouts' in fixing time-tables, but the prisoner friends should extend to me the concession due to old age and its physical limitations. I can give this assurance that 'thereabouts' does not mean years. It can only refer to months. They will please remember that they will hamper the effort of those who are trying to secure their release by resort to hunger-strike. I have given them myself as a hostage. So long as there is life in me, I hope by God's grace to stand by my promise not to relax the effort to secure their discharge. There is no rest for me till every one of the prisoners is discharged. They nobly responded to my call for an assurance of non-violence. I will keep my faith.

Some of my correspondents seem to think that I can work wonders. Let me say as a devotee of truth that I have no such gift. All the power I may have comes from God. But He does not work directly. He works through his numberless agencies. In this case it is the Congress. All the prestige that I have is derived from that of the Congress. The latter derives it from its creed. If Congressmen deny the creed of truth and non-violence, the Congress loses prestige. I assure them that my virtues, real or so called, will not count for anything, if I did not represent the Congress mind.

Friends of prisoners outside Bengal and sometimes the prisoners themselves write to me complaining that I confine my attention only to the Bengal prisoners. In a way this is true. I am bound to them by a written contract. But in another way it is not true. I do interest myself in their discharge also. But the full success depends largely upon what happens in Bengal. Let them, however, know that my efforts for their release continue, even apart from the Bengal prisoners.

Harizan, 8-10-1938

587. LETTER TO M. C. RAJAH

ON THE WAY TO PESHAWAR,
October 5, 1938

DEAR FRIEND,

I am working under great difficulty. Even this I am writing on the train taking me [to] Peshawar.

Of course you will publish the correspondence between us whenever you think it necessary.

Your latest letter shows that you are on the wrong track. I am not partial to Rajaji. But I know that he is as firm on untouchability as I am myself. I must therefore trust his judgment as to how to do the thing. From this distance I can't judge his action.

Do you not see that the whole of the movement is one of conversion of the sanatani heart? You cannot force the pace except to the extent that reformers immolate themselves. This process is going on vigorously.

This temple-entry question is a mighty religious reform. I would like you to apply your religious mind to it if you will give your whole-hearted support to Rajaji and make his move a thorough success.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

M. C. Rajah Papers. Courtesy: Nehru Memorial Museum and Library

588. LETTER TO PRITHVISINGH

AS AT UTMANZAI,
October 5, 1938

DEAR PRITHVISINGH,

I am on the train taking me to the Frontier Province. I am likely to be there for a month. During that time I must try to send one of my party to meet you. I would like you therefore to keep the nearest visiting day free of other visitors. You will let me know at Peshawar the day on which the visit may take place.

I am not worrying about changing your class from A to B. I am therefore glad that you are not worrying yourself.

I must get hold of the new type of wool-spinning charkha.

Mahadev having become ill, has stayed away in Delhi. Pyarelal is with me and is well.

Love.

BAPU

From a photostat: G.N. 563. Also C.W. 2942. Courtesy: Prithvisingh

589. LETTER TO RUKMINI BAZAJ

October 5, 1938

CHI. RUKHI,

I was happy to see your handwriting after a long time. Shanta has been to see me. She told Ba that you get fainting fits and do not keep good health. Is this true?

I am writing this on a train bound for Peshawar. Perhaps I may spend one month in that part. Mahadev needs rest, so Durga and he have stayed back at Delhi. Ba also is there. With me are Pyarelal, Kanu, Doctor Sushila, Amtul Salaam and Brijkrishna. You can write to me at Peshawar.

Blessings from
BAPU

SMT. RUKMINI DEVI BAZAJ
TATHERI BAZAAR
BENARES CITY

From Gujarati: C.W. 9793. Courtesy: Benarsilal Bazaj

590. LETTER TO D. B. KALELKAR

October 5, 1938

CHI. KAKA,

I am writing this in the train. You did well in writing a personal letter to Maulana. Even if all the seeds that we sow do not sprout, they help those that do.

Dakshina Bharat Hindi Prachar Sabha has no right to change its object. If it exercises that right, its spiritual connection with the central institution must also end. In my opinion, such a change is not necessary either. I have paid no attention to what has been happening.

It is also not correct that I have been gradually leaving off the use of the word 'Hindi'. The Congress cannot use any other word. But I do not believe that a Congressman working in another institution cannot do so.

I will think about writing when I get the resolutions of the conference. Amritlal is attending to weaving, teaching, music and sanitation. It remains to be seen whether he can fit into Naya-kum's mould. Will this suffice for now? Write at Utmanzai.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 7975.

591. LETTER TO ANAND T. HINGORANI

October 5, 1938

CHI. ANAND,

Got your letter only today. I am writing this on a moving train. Now [I think] there is no need of a preface. And why so much burden on me? How can I bear it?

I am glad to know that both are well.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a microfilm of the Hindi. Courtesy: National Archives of India and Anand T. Hingorani

592. LETTER TO S. D. SATAVLEKAR

ON WAY TO PESHAWAR,
October 5, 1938

BHAI SATAVLEKAR,

What a nice letter you have written to me! I am writing this in a moving train. The Prince may certainly come in November.¹ For some days now I shall be in the Frontier Province.

Yours,
M. K. GANDHI

From a photostat of the Hindi: C.W. 4779. Courtesy: S. D. Satavlekar

¹ The Prince of Aundh visited Gandhiji at Segson on 29-11-1938 and 1-12-1938.

593. THAT UNFORTUNATE WALK-OUT

The walk-out at the last A. I. C. C. meeting of the opponents of the Civil Liberties Resolution¹ was an unfortunate and hasty act. What was their protest against? I understand the President went out of his way to let them make as many and as long speeches as they liked. Therefore the protest was against the majority refusing to accept amendments which cut at the root of the resolution which was regarded as vital to the existence of the Congress in its present form.

The walk-out has served one good purpose. It has brought out in clear light the fact that the Congress is not today the homogeneous body it used to be. It has members and parties who have no faith in its creed or its constructive programme, specially khadi and prohibition.

• In these circumstances the Congress must cease to be a compact fighting organization engaged in a life-and-death struggle against the most experienced and organized corporation in the world. It has been since 1920 like an army in action having one will, one policy, one aim and exact discipline. All this must go if the protesters can have their own way. In the first place there can be no amendment of or protest against accepted policies. But even if such is permissible, there should be perfect and willing obedience after the rejection of amendments and protests. Opposition in the Congress is not to be compared to the opposition, say, in the Central Assembly. There the opposition has little in common with the Government. In the Congress there can only be those who willingly and whole-heartedly subscribe to its creed. Those who do not want independence cannot become its members nor can those who do not believe in truth and non-violence, khadi or communal unity or total abolition of untouchability among Hindus or total prohibition of drink and intoxicating drugs.

It is up to those who do not believe in the fundamental policy of the Congress seriously to consider whether they would not serve the Congress and the country better by remaining outside the Congress and converting the people to their view of conducting the campaign rather than by remaining within and obstructing those who do not see eye to eye with them and yet are in the unfortunate position of having the majority on their side. It is equally the duty of the majority to consider how best to deal with those who will resort to obstructive tactics. My opinion based on experience is that if, after a friendly discussion with the obstructionists (if the use of that word is permissible to describe them), it is found that they believe it to be their duty to continue obstruction, it would conduce to the good of the country to hand over the reins to the minority and themselves follow the existing Congress programme without using the Congress name. All this can succeed beyond expectations if it is done without huff, without malice, without bitterness, and merely to meet a situation that is becoming impossible.

¹ Vide "Draft of Resolution for A. I. C. C.", p. 368.

If chaos is to be prevented, proper measures must be taken in time.

PESHAWAR, October 5, 1938

Harijan, 15-10-1938

594. LETTER TO C. F. ANDREWS

October 5, 1938

If absence of letters means neglect, then I have neglected you. The fact is these days you are ever before me. You see I have come out of my shell and begun to speak to Europe. It is a peace without honour.

SJT. C. F. ANDREWS
BANGALORE

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

595. LETTER TO LALA GIRDHARILAL

October 5, 1938

DEAR LALA GIRDHARILAL,

You are needlessly suspicious. There is no change in me or my form.

I still advise you to resign. It is surely wrong to refuse when your colleagues want you to. They can't take the work from you that they want.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

SJT. LALA GIRDHARILAL
C/o SJT. A. HOON, BAR-AT-LAW
55 CANTONMENT
CAWNPORE

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

596. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

PESHAWAR,
October 5, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Everybody here asks 'Where is Mahadev'? Chhajjoram wants me to send a wire and call you here and promises to keep you at his place in perfect peace. The climate is fine. I do feel like asking you to come over. But I will not act in haste. I am certainly attracted by the idea of Simla. The matter will be decided one way or the other tomorrow. I will daily look forward to your letters. We are at Peshawar for three days at least. After that, the programme is uncertain. We had no trouble at all during the journey. At Lahore there was a crowd but I was behind a line of army men. I did not like that at all. My blood-pressure now seems to have become quite steady. In the train and here it had been 160/98. I wrote a heap of letters.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Preparations for our bath are still going on.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11655

597. IF I WERE A CZECH

If I have called the arrangement with Herr Hitler "peace without honour", it was not to cast any reflection on British or French statesmen. I have no doubt that Mr. Chamberlain could not think of anything better. He knew his nation's limitations. He wanted to avoid war, if it could be avoided at all. Short of going to war, he pulled his full weight in favour of the Czechs. That it could not save honour was no fault of his. It would be so every time there is a struggle with Herr Hitler or Signor Mussolini.

It cannot be otherwise. Democracy dreads to spill blood. The philosophy for which the two dictators stand calls it cowardice to shrink from carnage. They exhaust the resources of poetic art in order to glorify organized murder. There is no humbug about their word or deed. They are ever ready for war. There is nobody in Germany or Italy to cross their path. Their word is law.

It is different with Mr. Chamberlain or M. Daladier¹. They have their Parliaments and Chambers to please. They have parties to confer with. They cannot maintain themselves on a perpetual war footing if their language is to have a democratic accent about it.

Science of war leads one to dictatorship pure and simple. Science of non-violence can alone lead one to pure democracy. England, France and America have to make their choice. That is the challenge of the two dictators.

Russia is out of the picture just now. Russia has a dictator who dreams of peace and thinks he will wade to it through a sea of blood. No one can say what Russian dictatorship will mean to the world.

It was necessary to give this introduction to what I want to say to the Czechs and through them to all those nationalities which are called 'small' or 'weak'. I want to speak to the Czechs because their plight moved me to the point of physical and mental distress and I felt that it would be cowardice on my part not to share with them the thoughts that were welling up within me. It is clear that the small nations must either come or be ready to come under the protection of the dictators or be a constant menace to the peace of Europe. In spite of all the goodwill in the world England and France cannot save them. Their intervention can only mean bloodshed and destruction such as has never been seen before. If I were a Czech, therefore, I would free these two nations from the obligation to defend my country. And yet I must live. I would not be a vassal to any nation or body. I must have absolute independence or perish. To seek to win in a clash of arms would be pure bravado. Not so, if in defying the might of one who would deprive me of my independence I refuse to obey his will and perish unarmed in the attempt. In so doing, though I lose the body, I save my soul, i. e., my honour.

¹ Edouard Daladier, then Prime Minister of France

This inglorious peace should be my opportunity. I must live down the humiliation and gain real independence.

But, says a comforter, 'Hitler knows no pity. Your spiritual effort will avail nothing before him.'

My answer is, 'You may be right. History has no record of a nation having adopted non-violent resistance. If Hitler is unaffected by my suffering, it does not matter. For I shall have lost nothing worth [preserving]. My honour is the only thing worth preserving. That is independent of Hitler's pity. But as a believer in non-violence, I may not limit its possibilities. Hitherto he and his likes have built upon their invariable experience that men yield to force.' Unarmed men, women and children offering non-violent resistance without any bitterness in them will be a novel experience for them. Who can dare say that it is not in their nature to respond to the higher and finer forces? They have the same soul that I have.'

But says another comforter, 'What you say is all right for you. But how do you expect your people to respond to the novel call? They are trained to fight. In personal bravery they are second to none in the world. For you now to ask them to throw away their arms and be trained for non-violent resistance, seems to me to be a vain attempt.'

'You may be right. But I have a call I must answer. I must deliver my message to my people. This humiliation has sunk too deep in me to remain without an outlet. I, at least, must act up to the light that has dawned on me.'

This is how I should, I believe, act if I was a Czech. When I first launched out on satyagraha, I had no companion. We were thirteen thousand men, women and children against a whole nation capable of crushing the existence out of us. I did not know who would listen to me. It all came as in a flash. All the 13,000 did not fight. Many fell back. But the honour of the nation was saved. New history was written by the South African Satyagraha.

A more apposite instance, perhaps, is that of Khan Sahib Abdul Ghaffar Khan, the servant of God as he calls himself, the pride of Afghan as the Pathans delight to call him. He is sitting in front of me as I pen these lines. He has made several thousands of his people throw down their arms. He thinks he has imbibed the lesson of non-violence. He is not sure of his people. Elsewhere I reproduce the pledge that his soldiers of peace make. I have come to the Frontier Province, or rather he has brought me, to see with my own eyes what his men here are doing. I can say in advance and at once that these men know very little of non-violence. All the treasure they have on earth is their faith in their leader. I do not cite these soldiers of peace as at all a finished illustration. I cite them as an honest attempt being made by a soldier to convert fellow soldiers to the ways of peace. I can testify that it is an honest attempt, and whether in the end it succeeds or fails, it will have its lessons for satyagrahis of the future. My purpose will be fulfilled if I succeed in reaching these men's hearts and making them see that if their non-violence does not make them feel much braver than the possession of arms and the ability to use them they must give up their non-violence, which is another name for cowardice, and resume their arms which there is nothing but their own will to prevent them from taking back.

I present Dr. Benes¹ with a weapon not of the weak but of the brave. There is no bravery greater than a resolute refusal to bend the knee to an earthly power, no matter how great, and that without bitterness of spirit and in the fulness of faith that the spirit alone lives, nothing else does.

PESHAWAR, October 6, 1938

Harijan, 15-10-1938

¹ Eduard Benes, President of Czechoslovakia

598. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

PESHAWAR,
October 6, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

We reached quite well. The pressure behaved well in the train also.

Better address letters Peshawar.

There is no cold here as yet. The nights are very good.

My silence continues giving me great peace and saving so much time and energy.

Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3637. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 6446

599. FILTH IN LITERATURE

A Travancore headmaster of a high school writes:

You know the political atmosphere of Travancore is very unhappy just at present. Even high school pupils are going on strike and picketing others. There is a feeling among pupils that you are in favour of 'students' strikes' and even 'pupils' strikes'. I would like to get a communication addressed to pupils in general about your opinion on the matter. It will clarify the situation.

I think I have written often enough against strikes by students and pupils except on the rarest of occasions. I hold it to be quite wrong on the part of students and pupils to take part in political demonstrations and party politics. Such ferment interferes with serious study and unfits students for solid work as future citizens. There is one thing, however, for which it is the duty of students and pupils to strike. I have received a letter from the Hon. Secretary, Youths' Welfare Association, Lahore, giving copious specimens of obscene and erotic passages from the text-books prescribed by various universities. They make sickening reading. Though they are from prescribed text-books, I would not soil these columns with a reproduction of the extracts. I have never come across such filth in all the literature that I have read. The extracts are impartially given both [sic] from Sanskrit, Persian and Hindi poets. My attention was first drawn to such writings by the girls of Mahila Ashram, Wardha, and recently by my daughter-in-law¹ who is studying in the Kanya Gurukul at Dehra Dun. Though she is not illiterate, she had never come across such obscenity as she found in some of her text-books. She appealed to me for assistance. I have been moving the Hindi Sahitya Sammelan authorities. But big institutions move slowly. Monopolies grow up. Self-interest of authors and publishers prevents reform. The altar of literature claims incense. My daughter-in-law suggested, and I at once fell in with her suggestion, that she would risk failure at her examination and omit to learn the obscene or erotic passages. This is a mild strike on her part, but a quite good and wholly effective one for herself. But this is an occasion which not only justifies a strike on the part of students and pupils, it is in my opinion their duty to rise in revolt against such literature being forced on them.

It is one thing to defend the liberty to read what one likes. But it is a wholly different thing to force on young minds acquaintance with literature that cannot but excite their animal passions and an unhealthy curiosity about things which, in due course and to the extent necessary, they are bound to learn. The evil becomes accentuated when it comes in the guise of innocent literature bearing the imprimatur of great universities.

An orderly strike on the part of students is the quickest way of bringing about the much-needed reform. Such a strike would not be boisterous. It would simply consist in the students notifying boycott of examinations which require a study of objectionable literature. It is the duty of every pure-minded student to rebel against obscenity.

The Association asks me to appeal to the Congress Ministers to take such steps as may be possible to remove text-books or passages which are objectionable. I gladly make the appeal hereby not only to them but [to] the Education Ministers in all the provinces. Surely all are equally interested in the healthy growth of the student mind.

PESHAWAR, October 7, 1938

Harijan, 15-10-1938

¹ Nirmala Gandhi

600. UNCERTIFIED KHADI

Reports have come to me showing that even responsible Congressmen use khadi that is sold in uncertified bhandars. No khadi is guaranteed pure that is sold in uncertified stores of which unfortunately there is quite a number, and which has increased since the phenomenal rise given by the A. I. S. A. in the wages of spinners.

It is not often that workers get better wages without asking. And when that happens enough unscrupulous persons will be found who will exploit the poverty or ignorance of the workers, pay them the old low wages, and sell their manufactures at prices lower than those charged under the raised rate of wages. Then again, cloth is sold under the name of khadi which has its warp made of mill-spun yarn. Pure khadi is that khadi which is hand-woven out of hand-spun yarn and for which wages have been paid according to the A. I. S. A. scale. Such khadi can be had only at certified stores.

Unfortunately Congressmen, out of ignorance or because they do not believe in khadi, buy cheap cloth for make-believe at the uncertified stores and thus thwart the Congress policy about khadi and, to the extent of their purchase, defraud the spinners of the rise in the wages. Let the public realize that every rise in the price of khadi means at least that much more paid to the spinner. I use 'at least' advisedly. For the whole of the rise in wages is not charged to the buyers.

Those Congress leaders who open khadi stores without reference to the A. I. S. A. or without being asked by it, certainly harm their own institution, encourage fraud and violate the Congress policy; whereas it should be the duty and pride of every Congressman to help in every way the effort of the A. I. S. A. to better the lot of the most helpless of humanity.

PESHAWAR, October 7, 1938

Harijan, 15-10-1938

601. SEVEN COMPLAINTS

A Muslim friend writes:

You will be pained to hear that in my province the matters have gone from bad to worse. The Muslims are extremely agitated and invite your immediate attention. A Council of Action is formed and we desire to take a leaf from your own book of truth and non-violence.

1. The Government is persisting in the Vidya Mandir Scheme.
2. Mother tongue is defined as mother tongue of the area—which is divided into Hindi and Marathi—thus excluding Urdu.

3. Urdu schools used to be inspected by Urdu Inspectorate alone; the system is discontinued.

4. My amendment to include Urdu or Hindustani in the recognized languages of the Assembly is turned down.

5. My University Bill demanding representation for Muslims and Depressed Classes in the university is turned down.

6. Hon'ble Biyani held a conference in Chandur in Berar where his procession was taken with music past a mosque during Juma prayers and the flag was worshipped.

7. Your title as Mahatma is officially recognized by a Government circular, your birthday declared as a holiday, and consequently the Local Board in Amraoti has issued orders to take your image in a procession and to worship your image. Gandhiji, you may permit me to say, we are not idolatrous and we do not recognize you as Mahatma or our religious and political leader.

Whatever the nature of the complaints, if the correspondent and his followers pursue the path of truth and non-violence, all will be well, and it will be found at the end of the contemplated action that both the parties have come closer together and that the cobwebs of misunderstanding have all been removed.

As to the complaints, I must warn the correspondent and others who expect the impossible from me that while I am ever ready to use whatever influence I may possess for the promotion of good and goodwill, I have grave limitations. I could not live for two days if I shouldered the burden of investigating every complaint against every Congress Minister. For that purpose there is the Parliamentary Sub-Committee created by the Working Committee.

But I can say generally about the complaints as follows:

1. I see nothing wrong in the scheme as far as I know. I know that the name 'mandir' has been objected to by some Muslims. Shuklaji has made it plain that if Muslim boys or their parents object to attend the schools merely because they are called Vidya Mandirs, it would be open to them to attend schools which will bear an Arabic name. But surely this is a matter for adjustment. The word 'mandir' has no exclusive religious significance. When it has any qualifying adjective it simply means a house. Nor is such use rare.

2. I do not know what actually has been done. But the mother tongue of an area is surely the tongue which the inhabitants generally speak.

3. If Urdu inspectors have been discontinued because they know only Urdu, on the face of it, it seems to be wrong.

4. As to the amendment about the recognition of Urdu or Hindustani, I do not know the merits.

5. The same is true of the Bill.

6. If music was played before the mosque whilst the Juma prayers were being said, it was certainly wrong. But I will want very strong proof to support the allegation.

7. This is a complaint and an assertion. With both I am in hearty concurrence. It was wrong to give 'Mahatma' official recognition. I registered my protest as soon as it was brought to my notice. I would support any movement to drop altogether the use of the word 'Mahatma' before my name. My simple name sounds sweet without the adjective. The latter often stinks as when it is applied to promote violence or untruth, smoking or drinking or the sale of spurious khadi. To declare my birthday a holiday should be classified as a cognizable offence. The only use of my birthday that I have approved of is intensive spinning or some such national service. That day must be all work and no play. I cannot imagine any Local Board being so foolish as to issue orders to take my image in procession and worship it. I am hoping that my correspondent was wholly misinformed. I should imagine that the issue of such orders would be illegal. As to the assertion and repudiation, I tender my congratulations to my correspondent for them, for I have never aspired after leadership whether religious or political.

PESHAWAR, October 7, 1938

Harijan, 15-10-1938

602. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

PESHAWAR,
October 7, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I got your letter. Yes, that is true. We must master adverse circumstances.

I have been enjoying great peace of mind here, Khan Saheb does not let anyone near me. The post is wandering behind me, and so I have been writing articles to my heart's content. I have started a dialogue with Europe. I will not mind if they decide that I am a fool and leave me alone. The title is "If I Were a Czech". Pyarelal also has written one article. In a way I am keeping all right. But passion and attachment have increased in strength and that pains me. I am hoping that they will lose their strength.

I hope you are taking Durga for a walk every day. You must regain enough strength for walking. At least meet Saraswati¹. Let her try her remedies.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

How is . . .²

I do not understand at all why Rajkumari's letter has gone astray.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11656

603. LETTER TO KASTURBA GANDHI

PESHAWAR,
October 7, 1938

BA,

If you have not written and given news of Lakshmi's³ health and yours, do it now. We arrived here in great comfort. The cold has not yet started. I am keeping up my silence. We are

¹ Saraswati Gadodia

² The rest of the sentence is illegible.

³ Wife of Devdas Gandhi

in Peshawar just now. So dictate the letter at the Peshawar address. The heat there must have gone down. Nobody sees me. Khan Sahab does not permit anybody to come to me. Sushila is perfectly well. Ask Kanam to write. And send him for a walk every day.

Blessings from
BAPU

[From Gujarati]

Bapuna Bane Patro, pp. 28-9

604. LOGICAL CONSEQUENCE

One must feel happy that the danger of war has been averted for the time being. Is the price paid likely to be too great? Is it likely that honour has been sold? Is it a triumph of organized violence? Has Herr Hitler discovered a new technique of organizing violence which enables him to gain his end without shedding blood? I do not profess to know European politics. But it does appear to me that small nationalities cannot exist in Europe with their heads erect. They must be absorbed by their larger neighbours. They must become vassals.

Europe has sold her soul for the sake of a seven days' earthly existence. The peace Europe gained at Munich is a triumph of violence; it is also its defeat. If England and France were sure of victory, they would certainly have fulfilled their duty of saving Czechoslovakia or of dying with it. But they quailed before the combined violence of Germany and Italy. But what have Germany and Italy gained? Have they added anything to the moral wealth of mankind?

In penning these lines my concern is not with the great powers. Their height dazes me. Czechoslovakia has a lesson for me and us in India. The Czechs could not have done anything else when they found themselves deserted by their two powerful allies. And yet I have the hardihood to say that if they had known the use of non-violence as a weapon for the defence of national honour, they would have faced the whole might of Germany with that of Italy thrown in. They would have spared England and France the humiliation of suing for a peace which was no peace; and to save their honour they would have died to a man without shedding the blood of the robber. I must refuse to think that such heroism, or call it restraint, is beyond human nature. Human nature will only find itself when it fully realizes that to be human it has to cease to be beastly or brutal. Though we have the human form, without the attainment of the virtue of non-violence we still share the qualities of our remote reputed ancestor, the orang-outang.

These are not idle words I am writing. Let the Czechs know that the Working Committee wrung itself with pain while their doom was being decided.¹ The pain was quite selfish in a way. But on that account it was the more real. For though numerically we are a big nation, in terms of Europe, i. e., in terms of organized scientific violence, we are smaller than Czechoslovakia. Our liberty is not merely threatened, we are fighting to regain it. The Czechs are fully armed; we are wholly unarmed. And so the Committee sat to deliberate what its duty was by the Czechs, what part the Congress was to play if the war cloud burst on us. Were we to bargain with England for our liberty and appear to befriend Czechoslovakia, or were we to live up to the creed of non-violence and say in the hour of trial for afflicted humanity that, consistently with our creed, we could not associate ourselves with war even though it might ostensibly be for the defence of Czechoslovakia whose very existence was threatened for no fault of hers, or for the only fault that she was too small to defend herself single-handed? The Working Committee had almost come to the conclusion that it would deny itself the opportunity of striking a bargain with England but would make its contribution to the world peace, to the defence of Czechoslovakia and to India's freedom by declaring to the world by its action that the way to peace with honour did not lie through the mutual slaughter of the innocents, but that it lay only and truly through the practice of organized non-violence even unto death.

And this was but the logical and natural step the Working Committee could have taken, if it was to prove true to its creed. If ¹ The Congress Working Committee's resolution on Czechoslovakia read: "The Working Committee has been following with great interest the events as they have been developing in Europe. It views with great concern the unabashed attempt that is being made by Germany to deprive Czechoslovakia of its independence or reduce it to impotence.

"The Working Committee sends its profound sympathy to the brave people of Czechoslovakia in their struggle to preserve their freedom. Being themselves engaged in a war—non-violent but none the less grim and exacting—against the greatest Imperialist Power on earth, India cannot but be deeply interested in the protection of Czechoslovak freedom. The Committee hopes that the better part of humanity will still assert itself and save humanity from the impending catastrophe."

India could gain her freedom through non-violence, as Congressmen are to believe they can, she could also defend her freedom by the same means, and hence a fortiori could a smaller nation like Czechoslovakia.

I do not know what actually the Working Committee would have done if the war had come. But the war is only postponed. During the breathing time, I present the way of non-violence for acceptance by the Czechs. They do not yet know what is in store for them. They can lose nothing by trying the way of non-violence. The fate of Republican Spain is hanging in the balance. So is that of China. If in the end they all lose, they will do so not because their cause is not just, but because they are less skilled in the science of destruction or because they are undermanned. What would Republican Spain gain if it had Franco's resources, or China if she had Japan's skill in war, or the Czechs if they had the skill of Herr Hitler? I suggest that if it is brave, as it is, to die to a man fighting against odds, it is braver still to refuse to fight and yet to refuse to yield to the usurper. If death is a certainty in either case, is it not nobler to die with the breast bared to the enemy without malice against him within?

Harijan, 8-10-1938

605. TELEGRAM TO AMRIT KAUR

PESHAWAR,
October 8, 1938

RAJKUMARI AMRIT KAUR
MANORVILLE
SIMLA

DELIGHTED MAHADEV WITH YOU. GOING UTMANZAI TOMORROW.
WELL. HOPE YOU FIT. LOVE.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 3885. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7041

606. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

PESHAWAR,
October 8, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

I am glad my wire went to you before your letter and wire came into my hands.

I offer no apology for not telling you anything about the closing of the experiment¹. I had prepared you for it. And then I wrote a note² announcing the termination. There was no desire to keep it from you. A copy of the note herewith. Mahadev may not have it handy. He must read it to you, if you can't. It is Kanu's hand.

No apology either for suppressing Mahadev's letter. Mahadev had guessed (wrongly) that something which I forget had happened on the basis of your talk with him. As it had not, and as Mahadev had told me not to deliver it to you if his guess was wrong, I did the right thing. It would have been wrong on my part even to have mentioned the thing to you and taken your time [and] my time for nothing. Supposing somebody swears at you thinking that you had been painting your face every day, I would correct the person but would certainly not feel the call [sic] that that person had done you an unintentional wrong. Now you understand, I hope. I won't ask for your apology.

I have never enjoyed so much rest as Khan Saheb gives me. No visitors, no talks practically even on slips of paper. The result is I have been able without effort to write five articles for Harijan.

You will give me your reaction to the articles on the European situation.

Your estimate of N. N. Joshi is correct. He prevaricates without knowing that he is doing so. But he is a good worker.

This tour has taught me one lesson. I must not put such heavy burdens on you. What I had hoped would be a light thing evidently was a serious drain on your energy. I hope that you will soon regain your lost health such as it is.

I know that Mahadev & Co. will flourish under your grandmotherly care. I was anxious for M. to accept your invitation. And Shummy is there—first class for such occasions. I shall look forward to your daily bulletin.

We are flourishing. There is no cold yet. I have never been so fit as I have felt latterly. There is an interruption because the old devil in the shape of animal passion is at me. When he assails me, I do feel worried. But the thing will wear away. So you see the most relevant thing I do share with you. But you are not to disturb yourself over this. It worries without disturbing me or making me morose. I seek the presence of God.

Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3638. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 6447

¹ Involving physical contact with women

² Vide pp. 362-3.

607. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

October 8, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

You are an old face in Simla now. Let Durga and Babla have long walks. Durga's pain also must disappear there. I wish all of you could take sun-bath there without any clothes on. Instead of reading too much, spin, roam about and play. Take as much milk and eat as much fruit there as you can. If Stokes can come, call him. You cannot afford to go to him. It will be child's play for him to come. I am all right. I make Sushila eat all her meals with me. She, therefore, eats well. She could hardly have eaten in such peace recently. She is keeping good health. Amtul Salaam also is well. But she can't bear even being described as well. I have written five articles without any exertion. Khan Saheb lets me have undisturbed peace.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11657

608. LETTER TO MIRABEHN

UTMANZAI,
October 9, 1938

CHI. MIRA,

I have anticipated you all. For I have plunged into the European waters. You will give your reaction to the articles. For I have written another.

Sushila is with me and quite well. Amtul Salaam seems to be quite well. Mahadev was quite well but his brain is drained dry. He is in Simla now.

We have just arrived in Utmanzai.

Love.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 6406. Courtesy: Mirabehn. Also G.N. 10002

609. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

UTMANZAI,
October 9, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I read just now your letter written from Delhi. You must take the vow of silence. I have already written to you about that. Read less and talk less, too. Walk, play, sleep and spin. Have no qualms about sleeping. If you continue mud-packs there, too, they will certainly help you. Apply them only on the stomach. There you are not likely to need them on the head. I am sure that you are bound to benefit greatly by the climate there. I am sending with this Tara's letter addressed to you.

If you have not already informed the Post Office about redirecting here the letters addressed to you, write about it. Pyarelal's sword will keep hanging, but for the present he is absorbed in work.

We have just reached Utmanzai.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Both the brothers—Ghani and Lali—are here.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 10658

610. LETTER TO AMRITLAL T. NANAVATI

[October 9, 1938]¹

CHI. AMRITLAL,

I got your letter. If you can teach Vatsala, do so. I welcomed the request which Sharda made on her own. My occasional remarks about prejudices and my decision in the Vijaya affair may have had some effect. Teach her music diligently. I believe that whatever she is taught will shine out. It is good indeed that you are required to give some time to Balkoba.

I am addressing today's post to you. Give over everybody his or her letter.

¹ Gandhiji reached Utmanzai on October 9, 1938.

We arrived at Utmanzai today.

I have had no letter from Vijaya recently.

Sushila says that there is nothing to worry about in the report.

Blessings from
BAPU

SHRI AMRITLAL NANAVATI
ASHRAM
SEGAON, NEAR WARDHA

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 10775

611. LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH

October 9, 1938

CHI. BABUDI,

You have learnt well how to write business-like letters. Not even a word more than necessary. What a dull letter!

We have reached Utmanzai today. I am continuing my silence.

We are all fine here. Ba is suffering a lot in Delhi.

Blessings from
BAPU

From Gujarati: C.W. 10002. Courtesy: Shardabehn G. Chokhawala

612. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

UTMANZAI,
October 9, 1938

CHI. KRISHNACHANDRA,

I have your three letters. We have Lindlower's book; but if you still want to order a copy you may certainly do so. It does not matter whether or not you get the amount from home. I do not want to force you to do anything.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4906

613. LETTER TO STUART MORRIS¹

PESHAWAR,
October 10, 1938

DEAR FRIEND,

Many thanks for your letter of 26th September.

I cannot understand why Pandit Nehru appeared to avoid you. It is unusual for him. I quite agree that you should establish as many contacts as you can with Indians who may visit England. At the same time it is well to realize that not every Indian believes in peace methods. As with you, so with us there are many schools of thought. But I am quite sure that the future is with those who believe in peace and peace methods. We have not half explored these methods and their immense possibilities.

Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

STUART MORRIS, Esq.
LONDON W. 1

From a copy: Pyarelal Papers. Courtesy: Pyarelal

614. TALK WITH ABDUL GHAFFAR KHAN²

[October 10, 1938]³

The conviction is growing upon me that unless we develop the capacity to put a stop to these Frontier raids without the help of the police and the military, it is no use the Congress remaining in office in this Province, as in that case we are bound to be defeated in the end. A wise general does not wait till he is actually routed; he withdraws in time in an orderly manner from a position which he knows he would not be able to hold. For years it has been a pet dream of mine to be able to go among and mix with the trans-border tribes. I am certain that the only way of bringing about a permanent settlement of the Frontier problem is through the way of peace and reason. If our Khudai Khidmatgar organization is what its name signifies and what it ought to be, I am sure we can achieve that feat today.

¹ Of the Peace Pledge Union, a pacifist organization

² Extracted from Pyarelal's report "In the Frontier Province-I"

³ Vide the following item.

I am therefore anxious to find out exactly how far the Khudai Khidmatgars have understood and assimilated the spirit of non-violence, where they stand and what your and my future line of action should be.

In South Africa a small band of 13,000 satyagrahi countrymen of ours were able to hold their own against the might of the Union Government. General Smuts could not turn them out as he was able to the 50,000 Chinese who were driven out bag and baggage in less than six months and that without compensation. He would not have hesitated to crush us if we had strayed from the path of non-violence. What could not an army of one lakh Khudai Khidmatgars trained in the use of the non-violence method achieve?

Harijan, 22-10-1938

615. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

UTMANZAI,
October 10, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

Simla must have suited you very well. You must have received my letters addressed at Delhi and Simla. I broke my long silence today for a quarter of an hour to talk with Khan Saheb. The problem has become very complicated.

My health has been all right till now. I have been making-up for arrears of sleep. Sushila may be said to have regained her strength. She takes her meals with me and, therefore, follows some rule. Otherwise we are living in a royal style. There are no fixed hours for meals or anything.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I am sending some letters with this.

From a photostat of the Gujarati; S.N. 11659

616. LETTER TO MATHURADAS TRIKUMJI

UTMANZAI,
October 10, 1938

Europe has a few things worthy of being adopted by us. Their calendar is one of these. Our almanacs are unpracticable. I am therefore inclined towards the adoption of the European calendar for purposes of house rent and other matters whenever possible.

[From Gujarati]

Bapuni Prasadi, p. 168

617. ADDRESS TO THE OFFICERS OF RED SHIRTS

[After October 10, 1938]¹

We are lucky in having a true, honest, godfearing man like Badshah Khan in our midst here. To his credit stands the miracle of making thousands of Pathans renounce their arms. No one can say what the future will reveal. Maybe that all Khudai Khidmatgars may not prove to be true servants of God as their name implies. But making due allowance for all that, still what has been achieved is nothing short of marvellous. What I shall expect of you is that even if someone subjects you to the most inhuman tortures, you will joyfully face the ordeal and make the supreme sacrifice with God's name on your lips and without a trace of fear or anger or thoughts of revenge in your hearts. That will be heroism of the highest type. To fight with the sword does call for bravery of a sort. But to die is braver far than to kill. He alone is truly brave, he alone is martyr in the true sense who dies without fear in his heart and without wishing hurt to his enemy, not the one who kills and dies. If our country, even in its present fallen state, can exhibit this type of bravery, what a beacon light will it be for Europe with all its discipline, science and organization! If Europe but realized that, heroic as it undoubtedly is for a handful of people to offer armed resistance in the face of superior numbers, it is far more heroic to stand up against overwhelming numbers without any arms at all, it would save itself and blaze a trail for the world.

¹ Though the date is not certain, according to the source Gandhiji met these officers after "Talk with Abdul Ghaffar Khan", pp. 420-1.

A Pilgrimage for Peace, pp. 56-7

618. REPLY TO BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

[Before October 11, 1938]¹

Birthday greetings and blessings have been received from numerous friends in many parts of the world. I beg to thank all the senders for their good wishes.

Harijan, 15-10-1938

619. LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR

UTMANZAI,
October 11, 1938

CHI. LILA,

I got your letter. I do think about you, but I have cut down letters in order to be able to write for Harijan. But I see that I must write to you. Don't think that I do not understand your feelings. But you would not wish that I should do anything improper. I liked your accompanying Rajkumari. She wrote to me about it. Now that you have reached . . .² you may as well remain there till my return to Segaon. But if you are not needed there, return to Segaon. Your place is only there, only there. You will have understood the meaning of the two "onlys". Mahadev is quite well. But I have left him behind so as not to take any risk. He has gone to Simla. That was very good. I keep excellent health.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

How is Kamala?

Write about the happenings there. The child and Damyanti must be fine.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 9375. Also C.W. 6650. Courtesy: Lilavati Asar

¹ The Bombay Chronicle reported the message on October 11.

² The letter is damaged here.

620. LETTER TO SARASWATI

October 11, 1938

CHI. SARU,

I got your letter. The enclosed letter is for Grandfather. Give it to him. I hope he will let you go. Have you received any letters from Prabha? Write to me regularly. It is already cold in the Frontier. You should also request Grandfather to permit you.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 6173. Also C.W. 3447. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

621. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

UTMANZAI,
October 11, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

I would like you to accept the accompanying invitation. The event is far off yet.

Your Hindi is quite good.

Congratulations on speaking to Rameshwari in simple Hindi. It will be good if you can learn Gujarati from Mahadev and Babla can learn English from you.¹

I am sorry about Shummy. I wonder if Mahadev can be of any help. My prayers are always with you and Shummy. Am I not a member of the family?

It is now bed-time—8.45. So good night.

Love.

TYRANT

[PS.]

My B. P. went down to 140/84 today.

From the original: C.W. 4236. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 7869

¹ This paragraph is in Hindi.

622. NOTES

MAHADEV DESAI

Readers will be glad to know that Mahadev Desai is steadily getting better. After continuous strain of years, he was entitled to rest. But he would not take it. I did not insist on it. Kind nature came to the rescue and enforced the rest he would not take voluntarily. Shri Rajkumari Amrit Kaur has taken him away to her home in Simla. Surrounded by fresh air and, what is more, the loving care of the Rajkumari, he is bound to flourish.

UTMANZAI, October 12, 1938

Harijan, 22-10-1938

623. LETTER TO KANU GANDHI

October 12, 1938

CHI. KANAIVO,

You did not mention the date of your birthday. But have a cart-load of blessings. May your spirit of service and ability for service increase day by day.

Forget about Mahadevbhai. If I ask him, he will say something different altogether. But why go into all that? You have not wasted your years. You have gained much. Why feel unhappy that you did not gain more than you have done?

You can have from me whatever you desire. I had told you that you should always sit in my room. You couldn't do that and I didn't remind you. If you are beside me, you can take up the letters and see them. If they are not taken away from me immediately, it would be difficult to keep them safe.

But it is never too late. Do sit in my room. We shall see where. I do not want to hurt Mirabehn.

Aren't you gaining a lot from Pyarelal just now? Are these experiences worthless?

I understand about Rajkot. I shall see. If it is likely to serve any purpose to throw you in, I shall do so. All that is white is not milk.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a microfilm of the Gujarati: M.M.U./II

624. LETTER TO KASTURBA GANDHI

October 12, 1938

BA,

You have made me feel seriously worried about you. I have never worried about your health as much as I did this time. I was relieved when I received Devdas's wire today. The cause of my worry was that I had left you unhappy. I meant well but you felt hurt. Afterwards you forgot the thing, but how can I forget it? And moreover you were ill. God seems to have been kind. Now try and get completely well. Lakshmi, Ramu¹ and Tara² must have recovered fully. Here the climate can be said to be excellent. The cold is so far bearable. I like it.

Blessings from
BAPU

[From Gujarati]

Bapuna Bane Patro, p. 29

625. LETTER TO PRABHAVATI

UTMANZAI,
October 12, 1938

CHI. PRABHA,

I got your letter. Regarding your health, you should tell Jayaprakash that the only treatment for you is to stay with me. Your staying with me depends on Jayaprakash's willingness and on his keeping good health. I should be very happy, however, if you shake off all worries and get well. Bring along Saraswati, if possible.

The problem about the expenses is a rather difficult one. Make use of the enclosed note.³ Shyamjibhai may talk to the vaidya if he can, otherwise pay his bill of Rs. 200. This is always the way with vaidyas. But if Jayaprakash gets well, we shall think the treatment cheap enough. The note I am sending will enable you to draw up to Rs. 300.

¹ Son of Devdas Gandhi

² Daughter of Devdas Gandhi

³ Vide the following item.

Ba has been quite ill. There was a wire today saying that she was better. Write to her at Delhi. Mahadev is with Rajkumari. Durga and Bablo are also there. Write to him.

I think I shall return to Segaon in November. I am keeping good health. The others also are fine.

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

Address your letters to Peshawar. No other address is necessary.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 3526

626. LETTER TO SHYAMJI SUNDERDAS

PESHAWAR,
October 12, 1938

BHAI SHYAMJI,

Prabhavati's husband, Jayaprakash, is taking treatment¹ from a vaidya. He says that his fee is Rs. 200. Find out if you know him, otherwise give Prabhavati a sum of up to Rs. 200. Let me know what you withdraw. I will try to have it sent from Wardha.

I hope Prithviraj and Vali are well.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a copy of the Gujarati: C.W. 10867. Courtesy: Shyamji Sunderdas

¹ Jayaprakash Narayan was taking treatment at Arya Vaidya Shala, Kottakkal.

627. LETTER TO JUAN NEGRIN¹

[Before October 13, 1938]

I have been told of the woes of your country and the bravery with which you are meeting the situation. It is needless to say that my whole heart goes out to you in sympathy. May true freedom be the outcome of your agony.²

The Hindu, 13-10-1938

628. HISSAR FAMINE AND KHADI

Dr. Gopichand writes:

Though many parts of India are in the grip of famine, Hissar District is probably the worst. It is more a famine of fodder and water than of grain.

Ten per cent of cattle have already died of hunger, another 10 per cent have been disposed of at nominal prices or even free. Seventy-five per cent of the rest are dying of hunger.

During the famines of 1928-29 and 1932-33, which were much less severe, relief was arranged through spinning. The residents of the district realize that it was the best way. Even today the residents of the area where the A. I. S. A. is running a centre are somewhat better off than the others. Spinning is a method which gives permanent relief. The minimum wage basis has proved a great boon to spinners.

Capital is necessary for running such centres, and more than capital what is necessary is that people should patronize the cloth and yarn produced in this area.

I can heartily support this appeal for greater support of khadi. Dr. Gopichand calls it patronage; I do not. Patronage would not do the good that is intended. Only if the people recognize the duty of using khadi and nothing but khadi, will khadi perform the functions that solely belong to it. One of them is permanent insurance against famine. In these days of

¹ Prime Minister of the Spanish Republic, where a civil war was raging at the time

² The news report from Barcelona quoted by The National Herald, 17-11-1938, runs as follows: "I do not have to tell you that my whole heart is full of sympathy for you and I sincerely wish that complete liberty will mark the end of the trial through which you have been passing."

easy transport—not by any means an unmixed blessing—neither people nor cattle need die of want of grain or fodder. Famine nowadays is really of metal. When people live on the margin of starvation the slightest rise in prices upsets the balance, and for want of cash to buy dear grain or dear fodder they or their cattle or both have to die. They need not, if they have work found for them on the spot. Such work on anything like a universal scale is hand-spinning. But it cannot be given on a large scale unless there is a guaranteed demand for khadi. The Punjab has great resources. It has men with commercial ability and financial resources. It is to be hoped that they will give the help Dr. Gopichand pleads for.

The temptation to make an appeal for funds is great but I restrain myself. Famine is a chronic thing with us. It is the same thing, no matter which part of India has the visitation. When, therefore, the appeal from Assam came I turned to the Servants of India Society. The late Shri G. K. Devadhar had specialized in famine work as in several other things. He was resourceful enough to establish a permanent fund. Then there is the Marwari Relief Society which helps wherever there is distress caused by famine, flood, plagues or the like. So far as cattle are concerned there is the Humanitarian League of Bombay ready with its agency. I think that, in cases like the Hissar famine, institutions like the ones I have named should be appealed to. A time must come when there will be one national institution specially dealing with such calamities. But meanwhile it will be better to strengthen existing institutions and expect them with their special agencies to deal with appeals such as Assam, Gorakhpur or Hissar.

But even this is hardly enough to cope with the distress such as is described by Dr. Gopichand. The State's resources in men and money have to be used with swiftness, ability and earnestness. No voluntary agency can save thousands of cattle or men and women and children. Voluntary agencies can and should supplement State effort, but without the latter mere voluntary agency must fail to give adequate relief. At the same time, if the State effort is a mere eyewash, it may easily do harm by interfering with and thwarting voluntary effort. What is required is honest and wise co-operation between the two agencies.

UTMANZAI, October 13, 1938

Harijan, 22-10-1938

629. CONGRESS CORRUPTION

A U. P. correspondent writes:

I have carefully gone through your statement¹ in Harizon and read your recent speech² before the members of the Congress Working Committee regarding the corrupt practices among Congressmen and the committees.

I have myself on many occasions noticed such corrupt practices as mentioned in the letter published by you, namely, the enrolment of bogus members, paying from one's own pocket the enrolment fees of members, and even forging signatures. The pity is that such things are even done by responsible office-bearers of the Congress committees. In certain places such cases have come to the notice of the Provincial Committee officially, but these things were taken very lightly by the authorities. With the little experience I have of the Congress work in these provinces, I can say that this is true of many of the district and city committees.

My humble reading of the situation is that such things are generally practised by that section which wants to capture the committees and retain power in their hands. Further, these things have enormously increased with the coming of the parliamentary programme in the Congress. The decision of the Congress to capture the local boards and the provincial legislatures has attracted towards it a big group of men who are anxious to get into these bodies at any cost. It is this group which, failing to get the spontaneous support of the genuine Congressmen, brings mercenaries and bogus members, who but for personal attachment to the gentleman who enrolls them have nothing in common with the Congress. Even among the old members of the Congress some have been taken in by the temptation of offices and power and they readily join hands with the new mercenaries. It is therefore that such corrupt practices and a grouping of parties without any fundamental difference in principles is seen just on the advent of elections.

I therefore humbly suggest that the parliamentary section of the Congress be kept away from the committees, and those who wish to enter the local boards or the legislatures should not be allowed to hold any offices in the committees, or the office-bearers of the committees should not be permitted to seek elections to any of these bodies. Such a provision in the Congress constitution may do away with the necessity of corrupt practices. It would further give more time to the members of the committees to do the constructive work of the Congress, which is at present being neglected on account of legislative work, and may enhance their prestige among the public as selfless workers.

¹ Vide "Corruption in the Congress", pp. 371-3.

² Vide pp. 369-71.

The suggestion made by the correspondent has been made by several other Congressmen. It has much to commend itself. If members of legislatures and local boards are chosen from outside Congress office-bearers, there is less danger of manipulation. It would be necessary in such a case to reduce the membership of committees. The members should then be only those who would practically be full-time workers having no time or thought for any work or office outside their own committees. This is a change every Provincial Congress Committee can make without any change being required to be made in the Congress constitution.

Another suggestion, which ought to have occurred to me and the members of the Working Committee, was made to me by a business organizer. He said:

Why are you thinking of heroic measures? Why would you not advise the Working Committee to copy what business houses do who have numerous branches? There should be strict inspection and auditing of all Congress committee books, not merely books dealing with finance but books containing names of members, etc. All registers which do not contain complete identification and other particulars about members should be mercilessly rejected. And if the books are according to patterns, inspection and examination become easy. All the Working Committee has to see to is that there are enough auditors and inspectors who know their job and can be trusted to do it thoroughly and honestly. And if you pay the price, it should not be difficult to get capable men with common honesty.

I have expanded the argument that was advanced in the course of a conversation. The suggestion is absolutely sound and can be, like the previous one, enforced without any change in the constitution. All that is wanted is the will to clean the Congress Augean stables. But if the heads of Congress committees are indifferent or supine, the corruption cannot be dealt with. "If the salt loses its savour, wherewith shall it be salted?"

UTMANZAI, October 13, 1938

Harijan, 22-10-1938

630. NOTES

MEDICAL MISSION TO CHINA

Dr. Hengchiñ Tao, who saw me in Segaoñ a few months ago and the substance of whose interview¹ with me was given by Mahadev Desai in these columns, writes in the course of a letter from Hongkong as follows on Dr. Attal's Medical Mission to China:

The Indian Medical Unit under the leadership of Dr. Attal arrived on the 14th September, and was greeted by hundreds of friends including the Red Cross officers, doctors, teachers, students, reporters. Madam Sun Yat-sen had also sent a delegate to tender her welcome. I myself had also the opportunity to be among the cheering crowd. I am confident that they will receive more massive welcome as they go into the interior. The arrival of the Medical Unit from India has given us a profound feeling that we are not left alone. These Angels of Mercy have in their hands not only cure for the wounded but also love to bind together the hearts of the two great nations.

UTMANZAI, October 13, 1938

Harijan, 22-10-1938

631. LETTER TO MIRABEHN

UTMANZAI,
October 13, 1938

CHI. MIRA,

Your draft letter to Dr. B.² is perfect. I can't alter a word. I have filled in the blank.

Ba is still ailing in Delhi though D.³ says she is on the mend.

Mahadev is bound to benefit by his stay in Simla. More so he will be for want of work and being cut off from me.

¹ Vide pp. 250-2.

² Benes, President of Czechoslovakia. Mirabehn had written to him inviting him to Segaoñ; vide "Letter to Mahadev Desai", 14-10-1938.

³ Devdas

We may be on the move in a day or two.

I hope Balwantsinha is happy among his cows. What about the ailing calf?

Love.

BAPU

From the original: C.W. 6408. Courtesy: Mirabehn. Also G.N. 10003

632. LETTER TO KASTURBA GANDHI

October 13, 1938

BA,

I get news about you. Devdas is even complaining against you that, though you have become very weak, you frequently get up. Please don't do so. You should obey the doctor's instructions. Get well quickly so that all of us may be free from worry.

I keep excellent health. Khan Saheb lets me have plenty of rest. This also enables me to attend to my work properly. Sushila, too, has got well. You know about Amtul Salaam. She is drudging the whole day.

Keshu is betrothed to the daughter of Mathuradas's sister-in-law.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 2214

633. LETTER TO VALLABHBHAI PATEL

PESHAWAR,
October 13, 1938

BHAI VALLABHBHAI,

I am having a happy time. Even you could not give me so much rest. The air is good. There is an abundance of fruit. At present Khan Saheb seems to be living only for looking after me.

Mahadev is perfectly all right. He has gone to Simla. It is good indeed that he has done so. But you are free to tempt him away.

...¹ The door is closed now so far as Jinnah is concerned. His letter also is in the same strain. Now we may state our own point of view independently and leave the matter there. Think over what I have drafted. And let me have your comments on it. We should issue some such statement without delay.

¹ Omission as in the source

Coltman's¹ opinion is excellent. The best course now is for the Executor to issue a summons and settle the matter. However, I am also sending Coltman's opinion to Subhas.

I hope you are keeping well.

C. P.² is a very difficult man to deal with. Ramachandran alone will not succeed. Those people are stubborn. If they let you visit the place, you should do so and settle the affair. C. P. will lose his reputation completely in this affair. I have been getting no end of letters on the subject. More Pyarelal will write.

Blessings from
BAPU

[From Gujarati]

Bopuna Patro-2: Sardar Vallabhbhai, pp. 224-5

634. LETTER TO SHARDA C. SHAH

UTMANZAI,
October 13, 1938

CHI. BABUDI,

Lately I have not had any letters from you. I would surely expect them even though I am extremely busy. How is your health? Is your mind at peace? It has started getting quite cold here at night. It has not had any adverse effect on me.

Blessings from
BAPU

From Gujarati: C.W. 10000. Courtesy: Shardabehn G. Chokhawala

¹ An English barrister of Bombay. He was consulted in connection with the late Vithalbhai Patel's will.

² C. P. Ramaswamy Iyer, Dewan of Travancore

635. A CORRECTION

With reference to my statement¹ published in Harijan of 8th October on Travancore Shri Changanacherry K. Parameswaran Pillai writes saying that he never made any statement to the Press nor permitted anybody to make any on the interview he had with me. When he saw the line in my statement that he had erred in giving his version of the interview, he at once issued a full contradiction. Of course I accept his repudiation without the slightest hesitation. Indeed when correspondents protested I was pained that such a cautious and correct man like Shri K. P. Pillai could ever allow himself to be so imprudent as to publish anything about the interview without reference to me. I was inclined to refer to him before writing the line I did, but time was of the essence. I am therefore glad to make this correction and express my regret that I did an injustice, though quite unconsciously, to a faithful co-worker like Shri K. P. Pillai by attributing to him what he never said.

UTMANZAI, October 14, 1938

Harijan, 22-10-1938

636. WHAT ARE BASIC ASSUMPTIONS?

An esteemed correspondent, who has for years been following, as a student, the non-violent action of the Congress and who ultimately joined the Congress, expresses certain doubts with lucid argument. Whilst the argument is helpful to me it is unnecessary to reproduce it here. He lays down three basic assumptions and argues that India is hardly able to satisfy these assumptions under all circumstances. We may, he says, scrape through with the English because they are lovers of liberty, are few in number, and their democratic instinct, more or less developed, restrains them from lengths to which autocrats will go.

If non-violence has all these limitations, it is not of much value or it has as much value as any other remedy, including violence, may have. But I have presented it as a never-failing remedy against tyranny. Limitations it has, but they are all applicable to the user and therefore under his control.

¹ Vide pp. 387-8.

The suggested basic assumptions are:

1. Complete unity of the people in their desire and demand for freedom;
2. Complete appreciation and assimilation of the doctrine in all its implications by the people as a whole, with consequent control over one's natural instincts for resort to violence either in revenge or as a measure of self-defence; and (this is the most important of all)
3. Implicit belief that the sight of suffering on the part of multitudes of people will melt the heart of the aggressor and induce him to desist from his course of violence.

For the application of the remedy of non-violence complete unity is not an indispensable condition. If it was, the remedy would possess no special virtue. For complete unity will bring freedom for the asking. Have I not said repeatedly in the columns of Young India and these columns that even a few true satyagrahis would suffice to bring us freedom? I have maintained that we would require a smaller army of satyagrahis than that of soldiers trained in modern warfare, and the cost will be insignificant compared to the fabulous sums devoted by nations to armaments.

Nor is the second assumption necessary. Satyagraha by the vast mass of mankind will be impossible if they had all to assimilate the doctrine in all its implications. I cannot claim to have assimilated all its implications nor do I claim even to know them all. A soldier of an army does not know the whole of the military science; so also does a satyagrahi not know the whole science of satyagraha. It is enough if he trusts his commander and honestly follows his instructions and is ready to suffer unto death without bearing malice against the so-called enemy.

The third assumption has to be satisfied. I should word it differently, but the result would be about the same.

My friend says there is no historical warrant for the third assumption. He cites Ashoka as a possible exception. For my purpose, however, Ashoka's instance is unnecessary. I admit that there is no historical instance to my knowledge. Hence it is that I have been obliged to claim uniqueness for the experiment. I have argued from the analogy of what we do in families or even clans. Humankind is one big family. And if the love expressed is intense enough, it must apply to all mankind. If individuals have succeeded even with savages, why should not a group of individuals succeed with a group, say, of savages? If we can succeed with the English, surely it is merely an extension of faith to believe that we are likely to succeed with less cultured or less liberally-minded nations. I hold that if we succeed with the English with unadulterated non-violent effort, we must succeed with the others; which is the same thing as saying that if we achieve freedom with non-violence, we shall defend it also with the same weapon. If we have not achieved that faith, our non-violence is a mere expedient, it is alloy, not pure gold. In the first place we shall never achieve freedom with doubtful non-violence, and in the second, even if we do, we shall find ourselves wholly unprepared to defend the country against an aggressor. If we have doubt about the final efficacy of non-violence, it would be far better for the Congress to revise its policy and invite the nation to a training in arms. A mass organization like the Congress will be untrue to its charge if, not knowing its own mind, it misled the people into a false belief. It would be an act of cowardice. As I have said before, because we cease to pin our faith to non-violence, we do not necessarily become violent. We merely throw off the mask and be natural. It would be a perfectly dignified course to adopt. The lesson learnt during the past seventeen years will still not be thrown away.

Now I am in a position to state what, in my opinion, are basic assumptions underlying the doctrine of satyagraha:

1. There must be common honesty among satyagrahis.
2. They must render heart discipline to their commander. There should be no mental reservation.
3. They must be prepared to lose all, not merely their personal liberty, not merely their possessions, land, cash, etc., but also the liberty and possessions of their families, and they must be ready cheerfully to face bullets, bayonets, or even slow death by torture.
4. They must not be violent in thought, word or deed towards the 'enemy' or among themselves.

UTMANZAI, October 14, 1938

Harijan, 22-10-1938

637. "NAYEE TALEEM"

It is necessary to understand the newness of *Nayee Taleem*¹. The new scheme of basic education will retain whatever was good in the old system. However, it will have newness in abundance. If there is something genuinely new in it, it should result in hope taking the place of despondency, food of poverty, work of unemployment, unity of dissensions and in our boys and girls learning along with reading and writing some craft, for only through the latter will they gain the knowledge of the alphabet.

M. K. GANDHI

UTMANZAI, October 14, 1938

[From Gujarati]

Harijanbandhu, 29-1-1939

638. LETTER TO AMRIT KAUR

UTMANZAI,

October 14, 1938

MY DEAR IDIOT,

Three letters in one day! That is a treat.

How do you know that I do not know that you put your whole soul into the thing you take up? But that is not enough. There must be wisdom behind the process. Supposing you put your whole soul into climbing the Himalayas. Will there be wisdom behind the effort? But idiocy and wisdom have never been known to go together. If you had wisdom, you would (have) told J.² thus far and no further. He would have benefited by your restraint and you would not have put your body in jeopardy. Here endeth today's lesson.

I did not know that you wanted me to return your notes on Kathiawar. The one about the different States I sent only yesterday to Joshi. It was so good and practical that I thought he should have it. "He is to share it with N.¹ and then pass it on to Bapa². But now I shall ask him to return the original to you.

¹ Monthly journal of the Hindustani Talimi Sangh. The Wardha scheme of basic education is also known by this name.

² N. N. Joshi; vide "Letter to Amrit Kaur", pp. 415-6.

The one that was strictly personal I destroyed yesterday. I got a mental picture. It was brief and good. You told me nothing new but the confirmation was necessary. If it is to be their fate to die, nothing can save them.

The third note is with me. I am debating whether it is of all-India use to be published in Harijan. You don't want that returned, do you? In your tour did you find any outstanding personality? What is your estimate of Narandas?

Of course I am not worrying about Mahadev. That would [be] showing want of faith [in] your love and skill as a nurse. Invite him to play tennis. No joke. He will leave his skill there. But in those surroundings, that game may do him good.

Love.

TYRANT

From the original: C.W. 3639. Courtesy: Amrit Kaur. Also G.N. 6448

639. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

UTMANZAI,
October 14, 1938

CHI. MAHADEV,

I got your two letters. Let Durga take warm hip-baths. She can take sun-bath there at any time. Parsi Rustomjee's thighs used to rub against each other. He could not move even a foot. If he wanted to go to the well from my cottage in Segaoon, he would go in a rickshaw. In six weeks, he began to run with me. Walking ten miles became child's play to him. His coats became quite loose. Such was the reduction in his weight, and correspondingly his life expectation increased. I used to give him steam-bath and hip-bath daily. There is no reason at all why Durga's health should not improve as much as Rustomjee's did. Let her eat as many apples as she can. Vegetables are available there in plenty. Let her walk only four or five yards but she must keep up the practice. It is necessary that she should perspire. The heat in the basin should be increased gradually as her tolerance increases. She is bound to perspire then. If there is any arrangement for steam-bath, you may give her that. Hiccups, etc., will stop. The steam-bath must of course be followed by hip-bath.

¹ Narandas Gandhi

² Thakkar Bapa

I assume that you are progressing satisfactorily. Mirabehn writes to tell me you remain depressed. How is that? She has written a nice letter to Benes. She has invited him to Segaon. I have allowed that letter to go.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 111660

640. LETTER TO VALJI G. DESAI

PESHAWAR,
October 14, 1938

CHI. VALJI,

I understand your reason for staying there. You are committing violence by writing articles in pencil. It is difficult to read them. How is the children's education progressing? We are fixed up here up to November 8 at any rate. So far the climate has been pleasant.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: C.W. 7483. Courtesy: Valji G. Desai

ADDENDA

1. LETTER TO LORD LINLITHGOW

I WOODBURN PARK,
CALCUTTA,
April 4, 1938

DEAR LORD LINLITHGOW,

I have to thank you for your letter¹. I have delayed writing for a day. I did not know what to say, nor do I know now. My movement is so uncertain. I am in the hands of the Bengal Government. I should come as early as I can before the 18th instant. May I simply send by wire to P.S.V. the day of my arrival in Delhi without giving therein the sender's name? I may be able to leave even in a day or two.

Now about secrecy, I am bound to tell some of my friends what I am doing. I am anticipating such permission. I shall of course see to it that nothing goes to the Press. The fewest possible persons will be told.

I assume too that you refer to secrecy before we meet. Isn't secrecy impossible after we have met?

I am,
Yours sincerely,
M. K. GANDHI

From a microfilm: Linlithgow Papers. Courtesy: National Archives of India

2. LETTER TO LORD LINLITHGOW

SEGAON, WARDHA,
May 21, 1938

DEAR FRIEND,

Sardar Prithvi Singh is an old revolutionary who, belonging to a party that believed in armed revolution, was one of the odd hundred Indians, who being enraged over the treatment meted out to the passengers of the Kamagata Maru who vainly sought legal landing on the Canadian shore, took their passage to India with the avowed purpose, I believe, of causing trouble. Sardar Prithvi Singh was tried and sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment. He was then tried in what is known as the first Lahore Conspiracy case of 1915 and was sentenced to transportation for life, and was sent to the Andamans. When the penal settlement was broken up, he, with many other prisoners was transferred to Madras and thence to Rajahmundry. On the way he absconded — this was in 1922—and successfully evaded capture. All these years of hiding he passed in studying the science of physical culture, and was responsible for training hundreds of youths. But this life gave him no satisfaction. He fell in the company of those who believe in the non-violent method. He seems to have developed faith in non-violence. On the 18th instant, he surrendered himself to me, and put himself under my guidance. I told him that I would love to keep him with me, watch him, and engage him in constructive national activity if the Government left him free. But I told him also that I could not keep him without informing the Government of what I was doing. On the 19th instant, therefore, I wrote to the Collector of the Suburban District in Bombay (for I was living in Juhu) telling him that if he had no authority to let Sardar Prithvi Singh remain with me, the Sardar was ready to be arrested. Yesterday the District Magistrate came to Juhu and arrested Sardar Prithvi Singh and lodged him in Thana Jail as an "A" class prisoner.¹

¹ Dated March 31, in which the addressee had expressed a desire to meet Gandhiji once again and have a general talk with him, preferably before April 18, when the addressee was to leave Delhi on tour

I have given only the bare outline of Sardar Prithvi Singh's activities. I feel that persons like Sardar Prithvi Singh should be given an opportunity of leading a useful life, instead of being kept in custody, especially when some person like me, known to the Government, is willing to keep them, and hold himself responsible for their peaceful conduct. I wonder if my presentation makes any appeal to you. If it does I would urge you to make my way smooth, and restore Sardar Prithvi Singh to me. I may tell you that my having interested myself in the discharge of political prisoners has brought me in touch with many revolutionaries. I entertained high hopes of their conversion, especially if I received hearty co-operation from the authorities concerned.

I do not know exactly whom or which department, or which provincial government I should properly approach. But I felt that as we have come to know each other, and there is a friendly contact between us, I would approach you, the fountainhead.¹

¹ Vide pp. 88-90.

May I expect an early reply? I know how busy you are, but perhaps you realize the importance of the matter and will therefore forgive me for the trouble I am giving you.

I am,

Yours sincerely,

M. K. GANDHI

From a microfilm: Linlithgow Papers. Courtesy: National Archives of India

3. LETTER TO LORD LINLITHGOW

SEGAON, WARDHA,

June 22, 1938

DEAR FRIEND,

I am deeply grateful to you for your letter.² It has caused me no disappointment. On the contrary, where mutual confidence is established, one is enabled to correct one's impressions based upon one-sided evidence.

I know you are on the eve of your departure for England. But if it is no undue tax on your time, and if my request is legitimate, I would like to have the evidence against Sardar Prithvi Singh, so that I may correct myself and know the step I should take.

I am,

Yours sincerely,

M. K. GANDHI

From a microfilm: Linlithgow Papers. Courtesy: National Archives of India

4. LETTER TO PRABHU DAYAL VIDYARTHI

August 26, 1938

CHI. PRABHU DAYAL,

You should be patient. You alone can rectify the failing you have pointed out. Be an ideal [teacher] and impress the boys with your love.

¹&² In his letter of June 18, the Viceroy had said he was touched by the terms in which Gandhiji had pleaded Prithvi Singh's case, but that records revealed that Prithvi Singh had been guilty of crimes of exceptional violence, aggravated by deceit, and he could not properly ask the Governor to press his Ministers to release him.

Khadi can prove cheaper only if you spin the yarn yourself. They will be acquiring learning of another kind through spinning, etc., and you should explain the economics of khadi through that activity.

I had even tried to prevent the police from going. But how could I compel them? The only thing I could do was not to put up with the thing and I did not. However, the newspapers have a way of saying all kinds of things.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 11687

5. LETTER TO PRABHU DAYAL VIDYARTHI

September 14, 1938

CHI. PRABHU DAYAL,

Write whatever you want to after obtaining Nayakumji's opinion.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 11686

6. LETTER TO PRABHU DAYAL VIDYARTHI

UTMANZAI,
October 9, 1938

CHI. PRABHU DAYAL,

I have your letter. It is good that you are collecting all the facts. It is also good that you are not tempted to stay on there.

We have today arrived in Khan Saheb's village.

Blessings from
BAPU

SHRI PRABHU DAYAL
C/o PANDIT RAJARAM
PUCCA BAZAAR, BASTI (U. P.)

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 11671

become members of our Gandhi Seva Sangh, it will be futile to make efforts in this direction. What he says is true but we shall find the correct remedy after we have served them and our action has borne fruit in the form of a closer contact with the Muslims. Of what good will it be if one or two persons become members reluctantly? We shall achieve something only when our relationship with the Muslims becomes that of the servant and those whom he serves. So far the Congress has been doing what Jamnalalji suggests. What it did was good, no doubt. They got many Muslims enrolled as members. But they had to be coaxed into becoming members. This is a kind of flattery, or you may call it a politically motivated policy. What I have said today is not for political reasons, although it may well have a welcome political outcome. Today I place it before you solely from the standpoint of non-violence. If we are really experimenting with the non-violence of the strong, we ought to make an effort to bring about friendship between Hindus and Muslims. So far there has been no friendship. It was only an attempt to win them over through flattery. There was a policy behind all that. We maintained friendly relations merely from a practical point of view; it was like a business-man's practical policy. So far we have not put our non-violence to the test in regard to this issue. If today we can take this test in non-violence and pass it, we shall move a thousand steps forward on the path of winning freedom through non-violent means. If you really believe that swaraj cannot be won without non-violence, you will also have to admit that our non-violent means will not be effective without Hindu-Muslim unity. As I delve deeper into this question many things come up before me. After all I am being guided by my intellect, am I not? Nowadays, I am relying solely on my intellect. But mere intellect makes one insane or unmanly. That is its function. In such a situation Rama is the strength of the weak. My innermost urge is for pure non-violence. My weakness is that I do not know how to make it work. I use my intellect to overcome that weakness. If this intellectual cleverness loses the support of truth, it will blur my vision of non-violence, for is not non-violence the same as truth? Mere practical sense is but a covering for truth. "The face of truth is hidden by a golden lid."¹ The reasoning faculty will raise a thousand issues. Only one thing will save us from these and that is faith. Hence Gangadharrao said that he did not feel weak. For him, the argument of weakness is hollow. But others have doubts whether non-violence can accomplish this. Kripalani had raised the doubt about what policy we could adopt where there are secret attacks on individuals. This is a kind of guerilla warfare as Prabhudas called it. There was in Banaras nothing but peace. In Sarnath however four Hindus were done to death. Now how can our non-violence help in such a situation? I say, think a little deeper. This is but a part of our war strategy. You despair that no friendship will help there. I tell you it certainly will. It is not that a handful of persons have lost their sanity. Its root lies in the fact that the atmosphere is vitiated. But then I cannot say right now how far it can be purified through our service. You must not reduce your service to a bargain. Non-violence cannot work in this way. In the case of non-violence we on our part start acting without any doubts. Take the instance of April 6, 1919.¹ Where were the Congress Committees then? We announced a proposal. Millions responded to our call. Tell me how this could have happened. Everyone felt as if a miracle had occurred. People thought that at the bottom of all this there must have been a mighty scheme, but there had been no such thing. However, it was certainly supported by a lot of prayer. The same thing happened in the case of the Dandi March. Who had organized and planned it? I myself was not aware of anything. There was faith and nothing else. I too did not know what God would do. I had only the faith that it would all turn out as it did. You have evidence that I had no clear idea of it. I do not know how it all really happened. This is how non-violence works. Today, we think of our weakness. Actually, it is not our weakness. The fact is that we have no faith in non-violence. This lack of faith makes us doubt whether non-violence can solve the problem. Millions have this faith in the matter of swaraj. But with regard to Hindu-Muslim unity we find not even a thousand such persons. What we need is that we should have faith in non-violence not merely as a means to swaraj, but independently as well. Whether we win swaraj through non-violence or not, we must achieve Hindu-Muslim unity. For us, it is not a means to swaraj. I have not been able even to create the climate for it. Not even a thousand persons share my views on this question. Just as I say that I do not want swaraj if it is to be won through untruth and violence, today I would also say that I do not want swaraj without Hindu-Muslim unity. I say this because I want that in independent India Hindus should not suppress Muslims, nor Muslims Hindus. I want to see that all are equal. You may perhaps find this aspect of the problem rather new. If this is something new for you, so is it for me. I can see no straight way in front of me. There is total darkness ahead. Despite this, I have the confidence that if I go forward with faith, I shall certainly reach my destination. If you realize this, you should start working on this even without a resolution. In a way this problem is even more difficult than that of swaraj. Millions of people today aspire for swaraj. Not even a handful of people care for Hindu-Muslim unity. We will have to solve this problem independently. There are many difficulties because we seek the welfare of the Muslims while serving them. We do not want to encourage their selfishness by pampering them. Take for instance the incident cited by Prabhudas. I totally disapprove of what he did. If a Muslim zamindar insists that the Hindus should not celebrate Holi, should I ask the Hindus to agree to it simply because these poor people listen to me? I will certainly not do it. You may say that to celebrate Holi would be suicidal. I would tell the Hindus that they should not give up their religious practice on this account. I would myself ask the zamindar to come forward and kill me, for I would light the Holi fire right in front of him. I would ask the Hindus not to break the heads of Muslims, but rather to sacrifice their own. We shall give up nothing through fear. I shall certainly do what I have a right to do and what I may. If I have to fight for this, I shall do so in a non-violent manner. I went to make friends with Jinnah Saheb. But if for this reason I allow myself to be suppressed and do not fulfil my duty, it is no friendship. This is not a new approach. The important thing is that service should be the basis of friendship, and no other motive or self-interest as was the case with my childhood friendship. The friendship which I had then formed with the Muslim boy¹ was for the sake of meat-eating and ended with it. But today, I am asking you—you who make friends with the idea of service and who with your mature intellect believe in atman and Paramatman—to serve them. Such friendship will result in unity.

¹ Ishopanishad, 15

¹ Vidh. Vol. XV, pp. 177-88.

Now the question of girls. What should they do? Should they be scared at the sight of Muslims? That ought not to be. But it does not follow that they should enter the fray at the time of riots or become the victims of secret attacks as a matter of dharma. Of course, if there is a girl like Mridula it is another matter. She is not afraid of anyone. She does not care even if the Muslims kill her. Girls who are self-confident should go in. But those who are afraid, who lack this self-confidence, who do not have a strong heart should not go there. "But the man of doubt is lost." If I am overcome by doubt I will hardly touch a serpent. Women who have doubts must never come out before Muslims. I know of many such instances. I tried to tell you about this in a way you would understand. You should not feel that the whole discussion has been futile. My mind too has become clear. You have drawn my attention to several difficulties. In spite of them, after this discussion, I am even more strongly convinced that this is what we should do and shall have to do. Let us not form any committee and so on. Each one is a committee by himself. Each is his own leader and his own soldier. The servant is himself the master. Where the climate does not exist, what is the use of forming committees? When the time comes we will lose our heads. The real thing is to keep our heads—our reasoning—clear. There is no question of any confrontation. Dastane asks me to appoint someone for the task. This is not a matter to be dealt with in this way. In the same matter what may be dharma for one person may be its opposite for another. Let us not betray our souls. Let us not corrupt our intellect. If we wish to strive for non-violence we should follow the yamas and *niyamas*¹. This advice of our forefathers is absolutely correct. I am not placing anything new before you. I shall show what strength underlies our forefathers' advice. I have derived this from their own books. We cannot observe ahimsa without fulfilling the vows. This does not mean that whoever is morally depraved and given to drinking commits violence. But then it is certain that he does not sincerely observe non-violence. We must examine everything from this standpoint, viz., whether it helps or hinders non-violence. I too can drink alcohol but as medicine, provided a vaidya prescribes it for me. If this movement of ours is conducive to non-violence, let us at least demonstrate unity amongst all Hindus.

¹ Sheikh Mehtab; id. Vol. I, p. 4, and Vol. XXXIX, pp. 20-5.

Why did I stretch this point? Because the other point that I wish to make follows from this. You must never forget one

¹ Bhagavad Gita, iv. 40

² The rules and regulations prescribed for the attainment of spiritual progress more fact regarding Hindu-Muslim unity. It is a test for every religion. Even if there be nothing special about Hinduism it must have something distinct about it. Otherwise how could it come to have the name Hindu? [Now] does this distinctiveness consist in playing Holi? Does the distinctiveness of Islam consist in hit-and-run tactics? Does Hinduism teach animality? And did the Prophet's religion teach lawlessness? My point is that you should first become a true Hindu and then go to the Muslims. Till then no unity is possible. I know there are many Muslims who believe that so long as Hindus do not recite the kalmah they will not be saved. But if we prove through purity in our life and perfection of conduct that one can be saved even without reciting the kalmah, the Muslims too will be impelled to have respect for the Hindus. Such true unity will not be achieved through any political agreement. Such business pacts are futile. What is needed is an understanding based on dharma, where there is no question of a bargain. For this, friendship between brave people and the non-violence of the strong are required. Even if a frightening *smashan*¹ interposes—such non-violence will fearlessly make its way through it. I do not claim that I have attained such non-violence. I am afraid of every [little] thing. Perhaps I am the weakest and the most cowardly of all. But I am all the same a devotee of true non-violence. I tell you that so long as we do not attain the non-violence of the strong and our conduct is not truly religious, the Muslims will have no respect for our religion and love for us.

GANGADHARRAO: If the resolution is withdrawn the consequence will not be good.

BAPU: I don't agree.

JAMNALAL: I had a special reason when I said that we should have Muslim members. Only a Muslim can persuade another Muslim if the latter misbehaves, and the same applies to Hindus. But I find that even the most respectable Muslim seldom raises his voice against the misdeeds of his community. On the other hand one can keep them in good humour only by justifying their every action, good or bad. I cannot tolerate this state of affairs. I cannot uphold what Prabhudas did. Must we stop our music for fear of losing the 'Muslims' friendship? Friendship does not imply that we give up resistance to injustice. But this, more or less, has till now been the policy of the Congress as well as the Gandhi Seva Sangh. In my opinion appeasement cannot bring about unity or love.

¹ Literally, cremation ground; here death and desolation

BAPU: If we have formed the notion that we should suffer the atrocities of the Muslims in mute submissiveness it is absolutely wrong. If until today I have not said that we must also resist injustice inflicted by them, here I say it now. We should now tell the Muslims also that they have been unjust and, if they beat us up for saying it, we should get beaten up. As for the resolution, we should have it after making some efforts and gaining experience in the matter. It is likely that experimenting on these lines someone may get some new inspiration. In that case we can call a special session of the Sangh before the end of the year.

DASTANE: If not this resolution, let us have another commensurate with our faith and strength.

BAPU: Yes, we can do it if you like. But in my opinion, it would be proper to do so only after making an experiment and gaining experience.

[From Hindi]

Gandhi Seva Sanghke Chaturth Varshek Adhiveshan(Dalang-Orissa)ka Vivaran, pp. 50-5

529. LETTER TO MIRABEHN

[After March 28, 1938]¹

I can say you are now doing my work. It was a great relief to me that you were looking after Amtul Salaam and that you saw her off.

You won't worry about me. I shall try to be there as early as I can.

Be patient with Lilavati.

Love.

From the original: C.W. 6423. Courtesy: Mirabehn. Also G.N. 10018

530. SPEECH AT A. I. S. A. WORKERS MEETING

BIRBOI,

March 29, 1938

Gandhiji proposed that efforts should be made to give eight annas as minimum wages to spinners working for eight hours a day, thus allowing at least fifteen rupees per month. Mahatmaji also said that the price of khadi should be so fixed as to bring more money from the rich and less from the poor. Gandhiji asked members seriously to ponder over his proposals.

¹ Vide letter to the addressee, p. 441.

The Bombay Chronicle, 30-3-1938

531. SPEECH AT GANDHI SEVA SANGH MEETING

DELANG,
March 30, 1938

This is the last day of the present session. I myself was not aware that I was going to speak today. Kishorelal told me that I was expected to speak. Later I also felt like it. Before I say what I wish to, I shall answer a question.

It has been asked whether every member of the Working Committee is not expected to put in 1500 hours of work in the Gandhi Seva Sangh every year. The question has been posed by Jethalal. Although the idea is very good it cannot be put into practice. Today, we must give up our insistence on this. Everyone should put in as much physical labour—not mental or intellectual—as possible. However, we cannot go so far as to expect daily four or five hours' work from the members. This is not an association of labourers. If it can become one, well and good. But today it is an association of educated people. If we wish to take five hours work daily from the Working Committee, we should ourselves do it first. How can those people find the time for all this at present? In this country the trouble is that those who are supposed to be big men get very little time. Where can Vallabhbhai find so much time? In that case we should ask him to quit. But then we cannot do without him. We ought to realize our limitations.

Yesterday I had decided to remain silent on what I am now going to say. But I changed my mind this morning. I am glad that Mahadev has told you something about what has happened, and now that he has said something I feel like speaking out all that is in me. The various items of constructive activity that you are doing are only outward expressions of truth and ahimsa. They only reveal how far they can carry you on the road of ahimsa and truth, and ultimately to freedom. The removal of untouchability is one of the highest expressions of ahimsa. It is my daily prayer, as it should be the prayer of you all, that if untouchability does not perish it were far better that Hinduism perished. This prayer found its most poignant expression during my Harijan tour of which the principal objective was the opening of the temples to Harijans. They tell me that the untouchables do not wish to enter the temples. Even if this is true, the reason behind this is that we have made such monsters of them that they no longer have any need for temples. Even if they do not care to go into the temples it should be our concern to permit their entry. And I have declared day in and day out that whoever believed in the removal of untouchability should shun temples which were not open to Harijans. Now, how could I bear the thought of my wife or my daughters having gone to such temples? I would plead with them, would go on bended knees to dissuade them from going to these temples, and might have to deny myself personal ties with them if my entreaties failed. I have tried to live up to this principle all these years, and I felt humbled and humiliated when I knew that my wife and two ashram inmates¹ whom I regard as my daughters had gone into the Puri temple. The agony was enough to precipitate a collapse. The machine recorded an alarmingly high blood-pressure, but I knew better than the machine. I was in a worse condition than the machine could show. The Gita teaches us the lesson of detachment, but that detachment does not mean indifference to shocks of this kind—failure in duty on the part of one's dearest ones. The three who went were the least to blame. They went in ignorance. But I was to blame, and Mahadev was more to blame in that he did not tell them what their dharma was and how any breach would shake me. He ought to have thought also of its social repercussions. We should understand our individual as well as our social dharma. How did it affect me? I turned pale. My grandson says that the Amrita Bazar Patrika reports that Kasutrbai did not go in but waited outside. If that was so I would have leapt high. But how could she at all go there after having lived with me for fifty years? And why did the two other women go? Are they not my daughters? That too is my fault. This act of theirs has depleted our soul force. We ought to be more vigilant. By looking upon women as [mere] women we overlook such matters. That is not the way of non-violence. This is a matter of awakening. It was Mahadev's task to have reasoned with them. And, if they were not convinced, he should have brought them to me. I would have told them that I was their spiritual father and not opposed to their religion. I could be their spirithat father only if they and I belonged to one faith. If their faith could be identified with mine I could reason also with the people: "What is the use of [going to] such temples?" They were ignorant, I know, but we are responsible for their ignorance, and it is the reverse of ahimsa not to dispel their ignorance. I sent them to Puri not to go into the temple, but to stand just where the Harijans were allowed to go and refuse in protest to go beyond that limit. That would have been the right kind of propaganda, and they would that way have done Harijan service. To do scavenging work or to eat with Harijans or to feed them is not enough, if we do not deny ourselves the going to temples and the like so long as our kith and kin, the Harijans, are denied their use.

¹ Durga and Velanbehn; vide "Letter to Mahadev Desai", pp. 455-7.

If we do not go even to the temples which have been regarded as sacred for hundreds and thousands of years, where such great men as Chaitanya¹ have gone in to offer worship, where we long to go, simply because our Harijan brothers are not allowed, it would be a great act of dharma and, if God really is in the temples, as we believe, it will certainly have its effect. The *pandas*² had come there and said that the Harijans could go along with us. Quite correct. For a panda the silver coin is God. I therefore prevented Rajendra Babu's sister from going in. Some may say that I exercised undue pressure. I would say I saved her from adharma. If I intruded it was in the name of religion. Like these three women many others must have gone and must be intending to go. I have expressed my feelings for the sake of these people. What can I say to those who cannot restrain themselves even after this?

There is another aspect of the case. The sanatanists believe that untouchability is part of Hinduism, and so do the Mussalmans and the Christians who think that Hinduism is nothing if not don't-touchism. But the virus of untouchability has infected them too. They shun the Bhangis. You cannot finally solve the Hindu-Muslim problem until you have removed the stain of untouchability by non-violent means. The Muslims will then cease to regard us as unbelievers.

They will then say that we might be idolators but God is in the idols too. Hence, I have asked the idol-worshippers to befriend the Muslims. That is the path of courageous non-violence. Perhaps Maulana Sahab also believes that Gandhi is what he says he is, but the other Hindus are steeped in untouchability. It is our responsibility to change his opinion of us.

¹ Krishna Chaitanya Goswami, also known as Gauranga Mahaprabhu, founder of the Vaishnava sect in Bengal

² Priests

Then there are the Harijans themselves. How are we to carry to them the conviction that we are with them through thick and thin, that we are completely identifying ourselves with them, unless we can carry our families—our wives, our children, brothers, sisters, relatives—with us in our programme of the removal of untouchability?

Is it possible that a member of the Gandhi Seva Sangh might claim that his dharma is different from his wife's and sister's? This is neither religious tolerance nor is it non-violence. People will think we are hypocrites. Intense faith is what is called dharma. The essence of dharma is non-violence; it is another name for it. Its power is such that the sword would drop from the Englishman's hand. The Muslim's lawlessness would be held back. Patanjali has said that violence becomes ineffective when confronted by non-violence. If this has not happened till this day it is because our non-violence has been that of the weak and timid.

[From Hindi]

Gandhi Seva Sanghke Chaturth Varshik Adhiveshan(Delang-Orissa)ka Vivaran,
pp. 65-7

532. NOTE TO BRIJKRISHNA CHANDIWALA

[Before March 31, 1938]¹

I did not mean to say that you should not stay with me or accompany me. I cannot take every member of my family to other people's houses.

My health will not permit me to do much work in Calcutta. Even if Birlaji consults me I shall not give him much time;² it all depends on my health. Do only what Shankerlal asks you to do. I shall regain my health, if at all, only on my return to Segaon.

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 2470

¹ From the addressee's letter to Gandhiji, as also from the contents of this letter, it appears that this was written from Delang which Gandhiji left on March 31, 1938.

² The addressee wanted to discuss with Gandhiji the Birla Mills labour problem.

533. INTERVIEW TO THE PRESS

DELANG,

[On or before March 31, 1938]¹

Gandhiji was asked in Delang what the Ministers' attitude should be over the appointment of Acting Governors in the Provinces. . . . He said that acting appointments should not be made from among the services in the Provinces.

Ministers will not relish the idea of a subordinate official suddenly becoming Governor to whom they have often to refer for guidance and who may even preside over their deliberations. Such a Governor cannot act with detachment nor can he command the respect and confidence of the Ministers. I should think that the Viceroy or the Secretary of State would think twice before making such appointments. Ministers would be right, indeed it might be their duty, to protest against such an appointment. I do not know that such an appointment might not be casus belli. In the Colonies generally I have known the practice of Chief Justices of Supreme Courts acting as Governors in the absence of permanent ones.

Harijan, 2-4-1938

534. LETTER TO MAHADEV DESAI

March 31, 1938

CHL. MAHADEV,

What a gift so early in the morning! But if even one mistake is not corrected immediately, it will lead to a succession of others. All the same I will tolerate thousands of mistakes, but I can never part with you. Even death at the hands of a bhakta is preferable to salvation at the hands of those who have no love for one. There is, therefore, no question of your leaving.

Now I will list your mistakes.

I don't blame Durga or Velanbehn at all. Ba has already made atonement; not by fasting but by confessing her lapse to me with utter simplicity. She thus made holier yesterday our holy relationship of over fifty-five years.

¹ Gandhiji was in Delang till March 31.

But what did you do? Either your negligence or your blind love for Durga let her do a wrong thing. And afterwards when you came to know of my pain, you started a fast without thinking. Fasting is no remedy for thoughtlessness or wrong-thinking. The remedy lies in right-thinking. When I came to know about your fast, I tried to dissuade you, but to no avail. I advised you to think carefully instead of fasting. You did not do that. You did not even try to understand my point of view. Yesterday I asked you very tenderly whether you had understood what I said. The reply you gave then was not proper. Your behaviour was still worse. Instead of attending Maulana's speech, which it was your duty to do, you went away to cry. And as a result you threw a silly poem at me. Last night also you should have given some time to Maulana, which you did not do. You did not, thus, fully avail yourself of the opportunity of serving a Mussalman. Had my words yesterday had their intended effect, you would have gone today to Puri with a band of workers and would have shaken up Puri. But perhaps I myself was not sufficiently serious, otherwise I should have thought of this right in the beginning. If your duty is as clear to you as daylight, I would even grant a day's leave and also let you take along with you anybody who might be ready to go. This may be done even today if it is possible.

You say that you 'interpret' me, but may I ask to whom? Is it not to Velanbehn?

Your poetic imagination sometimes blinds you to reality. There is nothing but cowardice in your letter. If you decide to leave me, will Pyarelal stay on? And if Pyarelal leaves, will Sushila stay? Of what use to me is her extraordinary intelligence? She has such intelligence that it sometimes pains me to think that it will rust if she stays with me. Why does it not occur to you that I could let all of them go if I let you go? They will all run away. Lilavati will simply go mad. I will suffer even that, if such be my lot. But I will never send away you or anybody else. And yet how can I prevent anybody from running away? Let this incident inspire poetry in your heart. Correct your error if you see that you have made one. If you cannot see it, ask me to explain it to you. If you think that I have committed any error, correct me. This is no time for crying or fasting. You should read less, but think more. Study carefully all that has been done here. You yourself should utilize Sushila's and Pyarelal's talents.

and thus lighten the burden on you. Take work from Lilavati too. This incident shows me that being crushed under the weight of external activities, you think less. Thereby you will be able to do much less by way of 'interpreting' me.

How much more shall I go on writing?

Blessings from
BAPU

[PS.]

I am not revising. I have finished the letter just now.

From a photostat of the Gujarati: S.N. 11594

535. LETTER TO LILAVATI ASAR

March 31, 1938

CHL. LJLA,

I am sorry that I will not be able to speak today. But it is as well that it is so. I have already written to Ba and made my suggestion regarding Kanam. If she permits you to take charge of him, do so. If you do, you should give up the kitchen work. You may give some help if necessary. Mix well with Nanavati. Talk less. Don't speak thoughtlessly. Never shout at anybody. Our servants are not mere servants. Treat them as your own little brothers and sisters. Cultivate cordial relations with Mirabehn. She is doing very good work at present.

Continue to write to me.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Gujarati: G.N. 9370. Also G.W. 6645. Courtesy: Lilavati Asar

536. LETTER TO AMTUSSALAAM

March 31, 1938

CHL. AMTUL SALAAM,

How are you? Would you not regard Sushila's letter as coming from me? You yourself wrote that I should not write [myself], that a letter from Sushila or anyone else would suffice. If you steadied your mind you must soon get well. I am all right. The rest from Sushila's letter. You did well to have your tonsils removed.

Keep on writing to me.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 398

537. LETTER TO KRISHNACHANDRA

March 31, 1938

CHI. KRISHNACHANDRA,

I got your letter. You will not receive any salary but I shall let you have time to read books on spirituality and so on. You will be posted nowhere but in Segaoon. I see no inconvenience in your visiting your home once a year. I might send you to Wardha if any work comes up there. If you find these conditions acceptable, you may come over on the 15th April or even earlier depending on my reaching there. Remember, moreover, that my stay in Segaoon is rather uncertain, although I shall certainly spend there the four months of the rainy season. Anyway, in Segaoon you shall have ample *satsang*¹.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 4290

538. LETTER TO SARASWATI.

March 31, 1938

CHI. SARASWATI,

Ba and I were very sorry that you could not come, but what could be done? We have to live as God disposes, shouldn't we? I hope to send for you soon enough. Can you stand the heat? Will you keep up your studies? Reply promptly.

Blessings from
BAPU

From a photostat of the Hindi: G.N. 6166. Also C.W. 3439. Courtesy: Kantilal Gandhi

¹ Literally, company of good men

539. INTERVIEW TO RAJA OF PARLAKIMEDI

BIRBOI,
March 31, 1938

The Raja Saheb¹ requested Gandhiji to enlighten him on the policy of the Congress with regard to the zamindari system.

Gandhiji who is observing silence owing to ill-health wrote the following on a slip of paper:

I am glad you have come. I wish I were speaking and well enough for a fairly long discussion. You are quite right in saying that I do not wish the extinction of old zamindaris. All Congressmen do not think so. The remedy lies in the hands of zamindar friends. How it is so, I have shown through the articles I have written. Nevertheless, if you so desire, I will gladly set apart some time to meet your friends. That cannot be in Calcutta. I am hardly in a fit state to cope with the work I have there. I can, therefore, only see you at Segaon when I reach there unless there is a breakdown in my health.

The Bombay Chronicle, 1-4-1938

¹ Ex-Premier of Orissa

APPENDICES

APPENDIX I

THE QUESTION OF LANGUAGES¹

1. Our public work should be carried on and State education should be given in the language of each linguistic area. This language should be the dominant language in that area. These Indian languages to be recognized officially for this purpose are: Hindustani (both Hindi and Urdu), Bengali, Gujarati, Marathi, Tamil, Telugu, Kannada, Malayalam, Oriya, Assamese, Sindhi, and to some extent, Pushtu and Punjabi.

2. In the Hindustani-speaking area both Hindi and Urdu, with their scripts, should be officially recognized. Public notifications should be issued in both scripts. Either script might be used by a person in addressing a court or a public office, and he should not be called upon to supply a copy in the other script.

3. The medium of State instruction in the Hindustani area being Hindustani, both scripts will be recognized and used. Each pupil or his parents will make a choice of scripts. A pupil will not be compelled to learn both scripts but may be encouraged to do so in the secondary stage.

4. Hindustani (both scripts) will be recognized as the all-India language. As such it will be open to any person throughout India to address a court or public office in Hindustani (either script) without any obligation to give a copy in another script or language.

5. An attempt should be made to unify the Devanagari, Bengali, Gujarati and Marathi scripts and to produce a composite script suited to printing, typing and the use of modern mechanical devices.

6. The Sindhi script should be absorbed in the Urdu script which should be simplified, to the extent that is possible, and suited to printing, typing, etc.

7. The possibility of approximating the southern scripts to Devanagari should be explored. If that is not considered feasible, then an attempt should be made to have a common script for the southern languages—Tamil, Telugu, Kannada and Malayalam.

8. It is not possible for us to think in terms of the Latin script for our languages, for the present at least, in spite of the various advantages which that script possesses. We must thus have two scripts: the composite Devanagari-Bengali-Gujarati-Marathi; and the Urdu-Sindhi; and if necessary, a script for the southern languages, unless this can be approximated to the first.

¹ Vide p. 7.

9. The tendency for Hindi and Urdu in the Hindustani-speaking area to diverge and develop separately need not be viewed with alarm, nor should any obstruction be placed in the development of either. This is to some extent natural as new and more abstruse ideas come into the language. The development of either will enrich the language. There is bound to be an adjustment later on as world forces and nationalism press in this direction, and mass education will bring a measure of standardization and uniformity.

10. We should lay stress on the language (Hindi, Urdu, as well as the other Indian languages) looking to the masses and speaking in terms of them. Writers should write for the masses in simple language understood by them, and they should deal with problems affecting the masses. Courtly and affected style and flowery phrases should be discouraged and a simple, vigorous style developed. Apart from its other advantages, this will also lead to uniformity between Hindi and Urdu.

11. A Basic Hindustani should be evolved out of Hindustani on the lines of Basic English. This should be a simple language with very little grammar and a vocabulary of about a thousand words. It must be a complete language, good enough for all ordinary speech and writing, and yet within the framework of Hindustani and a stepping-stone for the further study of that language.

12. Apart from Basic Hindustani, we should fix upon scientific, technical, political and commercial words to be used in Hindustani (both Hindi and Urdu) as well as, if possible, in other Indian languages. Where necessary these words should be taken from foreign languages and bodily adopted. Lists of other words from our own languages should be made, so that in all technical and suchlike matters we might have a precise and uniform vocabulary.

13. The policy governing State education should be that education is to be given in the language of the student. In each linguistic area education from the primary to the university stage will be given in the language of the province. Even within a linguistic area, if there are a sufficient number of students whose mother tongue is some other Indian language, they will be entitled to receive primary education in their mother tongue, provided they are easily accessible from a convenient centre. It may also be possible, if the number is large enough, to give them secondary education also in the mother tongue, but all such students will have to take, as a compulsory subject, the language of the linguistic area they live in.

14. In the non-Hindustani-speaking areas, Basic Hindustani should be taught in the secondary stage, the script being left to the choice of the person concerned.

15. The medium of instruction for university education will be the language of the linguistic area. Hindustani (either script) and a foreign language should be compulsory subjects. This compulsion of learning additional languages need not apply to higher technical courses, though a knowledge of languages is desirable even there.

16. Provision for teaching foreign languages, as well as our classical languages, should be made in our secondary schools, but the subjects should not be compulsory, except for certain special courses, or for preparation for the university stage.

17. Translations should be made of a considerable number of classical and modern works in foreign literatures into the Indian languages, so that our languages might develop contact with the cultural, literary and social movements in other countries, and gain strength thereby.

Harijan, 21-8-1937

APPENDIX II

THE KOTTAPATAM SUMMER SCHOOL¹

While I was in Malaya I read a brief report in the papers of the Madras Government's ban on the Summer School at Kottapatam and the subsequent lathi charge on the students. Such a step would have been surprising and reprehensible even during the course of the civil disobedience movement. At the present moment it came as a shock to me. Since my return I have looked further into the matter and the sense of astonishment and shock has not lessened. This incident has illuminated, as by a flash of lightning, the real nature of the new Constitution and the way the Madras Ministry is functioning, for it is this Ministry that is obviously responsible for the steps taken. We see that this Ministry is as much a police ministry suppressing elementary rights of free speech and association as the previous Government was. We see what the new Act means to the people. The same intolerable state of affairs continues and all the soft words thrown out at us cannot stop the aggressive suppression of civil liberty or the use of the lathi on the bodies of our youth. The lathi remains still under the new Ministers as it was before the true symbol of Government.

Some other important considerations arise. The police reporters tried to force entry into the Summer School. Very rightly this was objected to. We have been giving facilities to police reporters at our public meetings but this does not mean that we admit their right to attend our committee meetings and summer schools and the like. This cannot be agreed to. Summer schools for the study of political and economic problems have been held in many places in India. This is a healthy development which I trust will continue, for only by study and discussions can we understand our problems and find the way to their solution.

¹ Ide pp. 24-5.

Another question that arises is the right of an individual or group to refuse to obey an order which it considers objectionable. It is patent that civil disobedience having been suspended disobedience of orders is not desirable. Where such objectionable orders are made reference should immediately be made to superior committees for advice. But sometimes cases arise when immediate decisions have to be made and the burden of such decision must lie on the individual or group concerned and cannot commit the organization. I can conceive of instances of orders which are so derogatory to the dignity of the individual or of the Congress that the individual prefers to disobey them on his own responsibility. This has nothing to do with civil disobedience. It is the inherent right of an individual. This right however must be exercised with every care and so as not to injure the large purposes we have in view, and the individual must take the risk of being judged by the organization.

The Indian Annual Register, 1937, Vol. I, p. 229

APPENDIX III

LETTER FROM G. CUNNINGHAM¹

GOVERNOR'S CAMP,
NORTH-WEST FRONTIER PROVINCE,
ABBOTTABAD,
August 17, 1937

DEAR MR. GANDHI,

I have received a letter from His Excellency the Viceroy in which he has given me the gist of his talk with you on the 4th of August. His Excellency, I understood, told you that he believed there would be no objection to your paying a visit to the North-West Frontier Province, should you desire to do so. I have discussed this with my Ministers, and with their authority I write to inform you that there will be no objection to your visiting the Province. His Excellency, I know, told you that he felt it necessary to ask you to leave all affairs connected with the tribes severely alone during your visit; I understand that you accepted His Excellency's decision in this matter, and I know that you will scrupulously abide by this assurance.

Should there be an opportunity of our meeting, it will be a pleasure to me to renew the acquaintance we made when I was with Lord Halifax.

¹ Ibid p. 68.

The question of Khan Abdul Ghaffar Khan, about which you also spoke to His Excellency, is still under consideration by the Ministry; I anticipate that a decision will be reached within the next day or two.

Yours sincerely,
G. CUNNINGHAM

M. K. GANDHI, ESQUIRE
SEGAON, WARDHA

From a copy: C.W. 7991a. Courtesy: G. D. Birla

APPENDIX IV

CONGRESS WORKING COMMITTEE RESOLUTION ON ANDAMANS PRISONERS¹

The Working Committee has learnt with the deepest concern of the hunger-strike of hundreds of political prisoners in the Andaman Islands. The Committee has long been of opinion that the use of the Islands as a penal settlement, more especially for political prisoners, is barbarous. Official enquiries and reports have already condemned such use and non-official opinion has unanimously demanded that no prisoners be sent there. Repeated hunger-strikes by the political prisoners have demonstrated their desperation at the continuance of conditions which they cannot bear, and the present hunger-strike has brought matters to a head and grave consequences are feared. Public opinion all over India is agitated and strongly in favour of the release of the political prisoners there as they have already undergone many years of imprisonment under conditions which are far worse than those prevailing in Indian prisons. The Committee's attention has been drawn to the public statement issued by some ex-prisoners, who were till recently imprisoned in the Andaman Islands and have been now released, in which they have stated on their own behalf and on behalf of the other political prisoners there, their dissociation from and disapproval of the policy of terrorism. They have frankly stated that they have come to realize that such a policy is wrong and injurious to the national cause and they propose to have nothing to do with it. This statement has been confirmed from other sources also.

In view of all these circumstances the Committee is emphatically of opinion that the political prisoners in the Andamans should be discharged. The Committee is further of opinion that the non-political prisoners in the Andamans should be repatriated and the penal settlement in the islands closed. Any delay in taking adequate action is likely to lead to alarming consequences.

¹ Ibid. pp. 74-5.

The Committee appeals to the prisoners in the Andamans to give up their hunger-strike.

Congress Bulletin, No. 6, September 1937. File No. 4/15/37, Home, Political. Courtesy: National Archives of India

APPENDIX V

NOTES

"SUFFICIENTLY ACQUAINTED"¹

The very first question on which our Assembly Speakers may have to give their ruling will be what, in their opinion, is the meaning of "sufficient acquaintance" with English. For one of the most objectionable Sections of the Government of India Act, 1935, is Section 85, which reads:

"All proceedings in the Legislature of a Province shall be conducted in the English language.

Provided that the rules of procedure of the chamber or chambers, and the rules, if any, with respect to joint sittings, shall provide for enabling persons unacquainted, or not sufficiently acquainted, with the English language, to use another language."

The first part of the Section is eloquently emphatic of the fact that the Act was meant not for the millions unacquainted with the English language but for the very few acquainted with it. The insult to the millions is so obvious. The permissive proviso offers a kind of healing balm to the injury of the insult. In an Act framed by our own people the operative part of the Section would make the use of the language of the province or Hindi-Hindustani obligatory and the permissive proviso would be for the benefit of the unfortunate ones who might not know either the language of the province or the nation, and therefore must use "another language". That, of course, is by way of comment on the Section.

Those, however, who occupy the Speaker's chair cannot comment on the Section, they will have to interpret it for the members. A commentator of the Act has already anticipated a difficulty and says: "This is a facility (viz., the one offered by the proviso) not open to those who, knowing English, would, as a matter of national self-respect, insist upon using the vernacular language." We shall not quarrel with the commentator's own ignorance, here, of the correct use of the English language, or of the implications of "national self-respect". (Otherwise he would not have used the objectionable word "vernacular" and would have used the words "national language" or "the language of the province").

¹ Ibid pp. 84-5.

But apart from the question of "national self-respect" which is bound to be foreign to an Act, on the face of it so disrespectful, any commentator ought to address himself to the meaning of the words "sufficiently acquainted". Does "sufficient knowledge" mean a mere nodding acquaintance or even a working knowledge? Whilst the Speaker may not be guided by "national self-respect" and reverse the disrespectful spirit of the Act, he may certainly put a liberal interpretation on the proviso. "Sufficient" according to the Oxford Dictionary means "adequate, enough"; also "Competent, of adequate ability or resources"; and "adequate" means "proportionate to the requirements" of the case. Now what are the requirements here? Two, viz., that the member of the legislature may give adequate expression to all that he is filled with; and that the rest of the members understand all that he has to say. As regards the first of these requirements, does an ordinary knowledge of English enable one to express one's thoughts adequately? As I write this, I have before my mind's eye a vivid picture of a newly elected M. L. A. who had occasion to travel with Gandhiji some time ago. The M. L. A., as we found afterwards, had a double University degree, but lacked, if I may say without offence, the ability to express her thought either fully or correctly. She was exceptionally refined and cultured but she lacked this gift. She not only could not express herself fully or correctly, she failed to follow Gandhiji fully or correctly. Not knowing Section 85 of the Act, I said to myself, "Thank God she need not speak in the Assembly in English." But knowing the Section, I now ask, must she speak in English, because she is a double graduate and presumed to know English? I should think not. It should be open to our M. L. A.s to declare that it is not possible for them to express themselves adequately in English, or at any rate as well in English as they could in their own mother tongue. And this lady, in spite of her double degree, seemed to me to possess a right truthfully to make such a declaration. I am sure that there are many members who are in the same case as this sister.

Take now the second and equally important requirement of the case, viz., that the rest of the members should understand all that a member says. In Bombay, I am told, no less than twenty-two of the members of the Assembly do not know English at all. Are they to sit with their ears closed when a brother member addresses them in choice or indifferent English? The least they are entitled to, I think, is that whenever a member regarding himself as "sufficiently acquainted" with English speaks in English, he must also for the benefit of the non-English-knowing members explain the speech in the language of the province.

These two requirements of the case seem to me so obvious that any Speaker seeking to put a correct, not to say liberal, interpretation on the proviso is bound to have due regard to them.

APPENDIX VI

K. F. NARIMAN'S STATEMENT¹

I am grateful to Mahatma Gandhi and D. N. Bahadurji for having taken me into their confidence and shown me a copy of their findings and judgment in an inquiry made by them. I have studied them carefully and must accept them as findings arrived at by judges who were judges of my choice and whom I have the privilege of regarding as my friends. It is open to them to publish their judgment but they have generously offered not to publish it if I publicly declare that I am satisfied with their verdict. I accordingly do so and feel that in doing so I owe a statement to the public.

I am convinced that in the matter of the election of 1934 I neglected my duty as a responsible office-bearer of the Congress and gave some of my friends cause to feel that my neglect amounted to a grave breach of trust. In the matter of election of the leader of the Bombay Parliamentary Party in 1937, I am sorry to confess that I misjudged the general position and on the strength of the statement made by some of the legislators I felt a grievance which I allowed my friends and part of the Press to share with me. As a result, considerable bitterness was aroused and Sardar Vallabhbhai was even charged by a section of the Press with having acted through communal prejudice. I have publicly stated before and do so now that this charge was entirely unfounded and whatever the Sardar did or did not do, was from a sense of public duty. I am sorry that the agitation against Sardar should have taken a personal aspect and even a communal aspect and that I should have been the cause of taking up so much of the time of Mahatma Gandhi and Bahadurji over a grievance which the public have a right to say was more fancied than real.

Having said this I feel that I owe some kind of reparation to the public whom I have all these years claimed to serve. And in order that the confidence in me may be fully restored, I deliberately declare my intention not to seek on the expiry of my term of those offices re-election to all positions and places of trust that I now enjoy and my determination to serve the Congress and the public by being out of those offices in order that passions and bitterness may cease and peace and harmony may be restored.

The Hindustan Times, 17-10-1937

¹ Vide pp. 247-8. It is likely that this was originally drafted by Gandhiji; vide pp. 274-5.

APPENDIX VII

(a) M. A. JINNAH'S SPEECH AT LUCKNOW¹

October 15, 1937

The Muslim League stands for full national democratic self-government for India. A great deal of capital is made as to phrases, more for the consumption of the ignorant and illiterate masses. Various phrases are used such as purna swaraj, self-government, complete independence, responsible government, substance of independence and dominion status. There are some who talk of complete independence. But it is no use having complete independence on your lips and the Government of India Act, 1935, in your hands. Those who talk of complete independence the most mean the least what it means. Was the Gandhi-Irwin Pact in consonance with complete independence? Were the assurances that were required before the offices would be accepted and the provincial constitutions could be worked consistent with purna swaraj, and was the resolution, after the assurances were refused, accepting offices and working the Constitution enacted by the British Parliament and forced upon the people of India by the imperialistic power, in keeping with the policy and programme and the declarations of the Congress Party? Does wrecking mean working?

The present leadership of the Congress, especially during the last ten years, has been responsible for alienating the Mussalmans of India more and more by pursuing a policy which is exclusively Hindu, and since they have formed the governments in six provinces where they are in majority they have by their words, deeds and programmes shown more that the Mussalmans cannot expect any justice or fair play at their hands. Wherever they are in a majority and wherever it suited them, they refused to co-operate with the Muslim League Parties and demanded unconditional surrender and signing of their pledges. . . .

. . . Hindi is to be the national language of India and Bandemataram is to be the national song and is to be forced upon all. The Congress flag is to be obeyed and revered by all and sundry. On the very threshold of what little power and responsibility is given, the majority community have clearly shown their hand that Hindustan is for the Hindus; only, the Congress masquerades under the name of nationalism whereas the Hindu Mahasabha does not mince words.

¹ Vide p. 257. Only extracts are reproduced here.

Here it will not be out of place to state that the responsibility of the British Government is no less in the disastrous consequences which may issue. It has been clearly demonstrated that the Governor and Governor-General who have been given the special powers and special responsibility to safeguard and protect the minorities under the Constitution which was made so much of by . . . the Secretary of State for India . . . have failed to use them and have thereby been a party to the flagrant breach of the spirit of the Constitution and the instrument of instructions in the matter of appointment of Muslim Ministers. On the contrary they have been a party to passing off men as Muslim Ministers by appointing them as such, though they know fully well that they do not command the confidence of the Muslim representatives or the public outside. . . .

The Congress High Command speaks in different voices. One opinion is that there is no such thing as Hindu-Muslim question and there is no such thing as minorities' question in the country. The other High Command opinion is that if a few crumbs are thrown to the Mussalmans in their present disorganized and helpless state you can manage them. . . .

The All-India Muslim League certainly and definitely stands to safeguard the rights and interests of the Mussalmans and other minorities effectively. That is its basic and conditional principle. The Congress attempt under the guise of establishing mass contact with the Mussalmans is calculated to divide and weaken and break the Mussalmans and is an effort to detach them from their accredited leaders. It is a dangerous move and it cannot mislead anyone. All such manoeuvres will not succeed notwithstanding the various blandishments, catchwords and slogans. . . .

Then he warned the Congress against the inadvisability of asking for a Constituent Assembly and admonished them to see that the All-India Federation Scheme embodied in the 1935 Act was not brought into being. He also warned the British empire against their attitude regarding Palestine and concluded by exhorting Mussalmans to fear nothing and to be true and loyal to stand by their decisions as one man.

The Indian Annual Register, 1937, Vol. II, pp. 403-5

(b) LETTER FROM M. A. JINNAH¹

November 5, 1937

DEAR MAHATMA GANDHI,

I have received your letter dated October 19, 1937, on my arrival here. As regards publishing your letter from Teethal last May, I am of opinion that I was fully justified in doing so; but your letter means something different from what I understand it to mean. Surely, it was open to you to offer your explanation to the public. The letter was not marked as it is usual to do so when its publication is not desired by the writer, and my message to you was not private. Even now you do not indicate how I have misunderstood your attitude or the contents of that letter. You merely say "I felt deeply hurt over your misunderstanding my attitude".

I am sorry you think my speech at Lucknow is a declaration of war. It is purely in self-defence. Kindly read it again and try and understand it. Evidently, you have not been following the course of events of the last twelve months.

As to reserving you as a "bridge" and "peace-maker", don't you think your complete silence for all these months has identified you with the Congress leadership although I know that you are not even a four-anna member of that body?

In conclusion, I regret to say that I find nothing definite or any constructive proposal in your letter under reply, except that it is written in all good faith and out of an anguished heart, which I reciprocate.

Yours sincerely,
M. A. JINNAH

The Hindustan Times, 16-6-1938

¹ Ibid p. 257.

APPENDIX VIII
LETTER FROM JAWAHARLAL NEHRU¹

November 14, 1937

MY DEAR BAPU,

I have just read your article on the A. I. C. C. meeting. Regarding the Mysore resolution you have said that it was ultra vires of the A. I. C. C. If this was so then I had no business to permit discussion on it and should have banned it. I am not aware of any constitutional provision which leads to this result and only something in the nature of such a provision can bar a resolution moved in the ordinary way and supported by a majority of the A. I. C. C. Apart from the constitution itself, I am not aware of any previous decision of the Congress or the A. I. C. C. which lays down that such matters should not be considered. Even if there was some such resolution, I do not see how it could prevent the A. I. C. C. from considering a matter if it so chose, unless the resolution was embodied in a rule of practice. The A. I. C. C. is at complete liberty to consider a resolution which may go contrary to a previous resolution passed by itself. If however there is a rule of practice or procedure, this has to be acted upon till the A. I. C. C. does not alter it [sic]. There is no question of such a rule, but I do not even know of a resolution which lays down a policy which the Mysore resolution infringes. In statements issued by us in the past mention has been made that the Congress desires to follow a policy of non-intervention in the States. Those statements cannot bar the A. I. C. C. itself from intervening if it chooses. I cannot understand how the legal phrase, ultra vires, can be made to apply.

Another question arises, what is intervention? Is a mention of a State in a resolution intervention? Is a demand for civil liberties or a condemnation of repression, intervention? If so, the Congress itself has been guilty of it in specific and unequivocal terms during the last two years.

The Mysore resolution of the A. I. C. C. is very badly worded and, in any event, I did not want it to be passed by the A. I. C. C. just then. But my feelings have little to do with the matter. I have to act as the president of a democratic assembly. The resolution was one of condemnation of repression in Mysore. Are we to refrain from condemning repression in a State in future whatever the nature of this repression? If this repression consists in attacking the Congress itself, insulting our Flag, or banning our organization, are we to remain silent? These matters must be cleared up so that our office and our organization might know definitely what line we are to take up.

¹ Ibid pp. 292-3.

You have said that the A. I. C. C. should not have passed the resolution without at least hearing the other side. Do you think that it is feasible for us to appoint inquiry committees to go to States? Will the States agree? On several occasions I have suggested this to States—not a committee but just an individual to go there and inquire from both sides. They have invariably turned this down.

This Mysore matter has been going on for a long time. The Karnatak P. C. C. has taken some steps in the matter. Their secretary has had a long interview with the Dewan of Mysore. I have repeatedly written to the Dewan and put a large number of specific cases before him. He has replied at length without, in my opinion, justifying the State policy. For months past I have been restraining Congressmen in Mysore from indulging in any disobedience of orders and, in fact, no orders have been disobeyed, except by Nariman recently. The Karnatak P. C. C. ultimately considered the situation and condemned the policy of repression in Mysore and asked us for further directions as to what they should do. It is hardly correct therefore to say that the A. I. C. C. condemned anybody unheard or ex parte. We pursued all the ordinary avenues open to us.

I am writing all this to you as I want to be clear in my own mind what our policy is. You have censured the A. I. C. C. and me for the course we pursued. I have not yet understood how and where I am wrong and so long as I do not understand it, I can hardly act otherwise.

Yours affectionately,
JAWAHARLAL

MAHATMA GANDHI
WARDHA (C. P.)

A Bunch of Old Letters, pp. 254-6

APPENDIX IX

BENGAL GOVERNMENT'S COMMUNIQUE¹

November 18, 1937²

During the last session of the Provincial Legislature the Government of Bengal declared its policy of progressive release of detenus as the situation improved, and also gave an assurance that where adequate guarantees of good behaviour were forthcoming, any special cases would be separately considered. In the then prevailing circumstances, Government considered that a wholesale release of over 2,000 detenus might lead to difficulties and possibly a recrudescence of violence. Their policy of progressive release was enunciated in the Assembly on August 9 and was approved by the Chamber. In pursuance of this policy a large number of persons have already been released and many others have been placed under modified forms of restriction.

¹ Ide pp. 303-5.

² From The Statesman, 19-11-1937

There have since been observed definite indications of a change for the better in the general atmosphere. Recent pronouncements by certain leaders also show that they are exerting themselves to discredit methods of violence. Mr. Gandhi has also assured Government that he would do his best to improve the political situation in Bengal by preaching his cult of non-violence and creating public opinion in favour of it. He has also offered to meet detenus with the object of persuading them not to resort to or assist terrorism or other subversive activities in future. In consideration of these circumstances and on a review of the present situation, Government have decided to accelerate the release of the detenus or the removal of restrictions on them, and have therefore issued orders for the immediate release of about 1,100 detenus subject only to the requirement that changes of address be communicated.

As regards the remaining detenus, no more than 450 in number, a large portion of whom are in camps and jails, Government propose to take up their cases in the near future. Mr. Gandhi has offered to interview individual detenus, a task which he intends to undertake in about four months' time and for which Government will gladly afford him every facility. Government hopes then to be in a position to grant immediate release to those detenus in respect of whom Mr. Gandhi may be able to give Government satisfactory assurances after seeing the individual detenus. In the mean while Government will continue to consider relaxation in individual cases and, if such action appears to be justified, complete release.

It is hoped that the steady development of the policy now set forth will result in the ultimate solution of this perplexing and difficult problem. Its success must, however, depend on the co-operation of the public and the leaders of public opinion in maintaining an atmosphere in which subversive movements will find no encouragement. Government, who have throughout been most anxious to carry out the policy of release of detenus as rapidly as possible consistently with the public safety, cordially welcome Mr. Gandhi's offer of assistance in creating the favourable atmosphere that is essential for the success of this policy.

Harijan, 27-11-1937

APPENDIX X

(a) LETTER FROM MAHADEV DESAI TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU¹

MAGANWADI, WARDHA,

November 19, 1937

MY DEAR JAWAHARLAL,

Your letter of the 8th. I understand all that you say about Samuel's visit, and I am writing to Polak to say that you will gladly meet him if he desires to see you.

About Anupchand Shah's offer it was so good of you to have written to him about the existence of the Gandhi Seva Sangh. I am now writing to him.

Bapu would himself have replied to your letter of the 14th regarding his article² on the Mysore Resolution. But he was unable even to dictate his reply. He is so thoroughly washed out that the doctors think that it would be dangerous to allow him to exert himself. But I gave him the gist of your letter. He told me that he was clear that there was an infringement of the policy of non-intervention. He knows that the Congress has been guilty of intervention in the past, but he also knows that it was not proper, and he should not have written the article if he did not feel it imperative to cry a halt. He was glad you recognize that the resolution was badly worded and he is sure that if the other members of the Working Committee had taken care to invite your attention to the fact that the Resolution was ultra vires, you would have effectively prevented the speeches to the resolution which were much worse than the resolution itself. Bapu wants me to assure you that he never intended to censure you. You were immersed to the ears in work, and it was the duty of your colleagues on the W. C. to have drawn your attention. You are too good a disciplinarian to have disregarded their advice, but he feels that they failed in their duty.

This cold blunt language of mine fails to convey the feeling at the back of Bapu's mind. He was very deeply exercised over the resolution on the day of that breakdown³ and he seemed to me to be in the same state as he was talking about the matter today. I stopped him and said I should convey to you what he thought about it as best as I could.

The blood-pressure has been behaving so erratically that the doctors think he ought not to be allowed to take liberties with himself. He wanted to go to Calcutta within a fortnight, but he himself recognises that this is physically impossible. He has promised to stay in bed, at any rate until the pressure keeps steady for a fortnight or more.

¹ Vide p. 306.

² Vide pp. 292-3.

³ On November 1

Yours,
MAHADEV

A Bunch of Old Letters, pp. 248-9

(b) *LETTER FROM MAHADEV DESAI TO JAWAHARLAL NEHRU*¹

MAGANWADI, WARDHA,
December 2, 1937

MY DEAR JAWAHARBHAI,

I have your letter of the 27th. It was a surprise to me that you had written at all, and all the greater surprise that you could write at such length. I appreciate all that you say. I simply did not inflict an argument on you as I assumed that you did not want an argument, but simply Bapu's opinion in the light of what you had urged in your letter.

There is no improvement in Bapu's condition and we are withholding all correspondence from him. But I decided that even in contravention of the doctors' orders I must read out your letter to Bapu. He was happy that I read it to him and if it had been at all possible for him to dictate a reply he would have done so. But it was out of the question and I must try to tell you in my own language what was at the back of his mind when he wrote that the Mysore Resolution was ultra vires. I wonder if you remember that Bapu said this very thing in the W. C. meeting too. (He had that impression and on asking Jamnalalji he corroborated him.) And he had trusted that the resolution would not be allowed. He was shocked when he found that it had been passed.

In your own letter you admit that the language of the resolution was bad. But I suppose you will say that does not make it illegal. Bapu thinks that it does, inasmuch as it appeals to the people of British India to give all possible help to the people of Mysore. If this does not go against the spirit and the letter of the Lucknow Resolution², what else does it do? The Lucknow Resolution was arrived at after a good deal of discussion and deliberation, and reflected the declaration of policy made by Rajendra Babu on 1-8-1935, and adopted by the A. I. C. C. on 17-10-1935. The relevant paragraph in this declaration was this: "It should be understood however that the responsibility and the burden of carrying on that struggle with the States must necessarily fall on the States people themselves. The Congress can exercise moral and friendly influence upon the States and this it is bound to do wherever possible. The Congress has no other power under existing circumstances, although the people of India whether under the British, the Princes or any other power are geographically and historically one and indivisible. In the heat of controversy the limitation of the Congress is often forgotten. Indeed any other policy will defeat the common purpose."

¹ Ide p. 306.

² Passed at the Congress Session held in April 1936

Now this declaration was but a reiteration of the policy that was being followed until then, and the Lucknow Resolution in laying down in the clearest possible terms that "the struggle for liberty within the States has, in the very nature of things, to be carried on by the people of the States themselves", gave that declaration the status of a Congress enactment. The sponsors of the Mysore Resolution forgot the self-imposed limitation of the Congress and went against the spirit of the long-accepted policy of the Congress.

I come now to your other question. You say: "Bapu also refers to a violation of truth and non-violence by the A. I. C. C. resolutions. These are grave charges and should be substantiated," and so on. Naturally, when you were writing this, Bapu's article was not before you. The resolution (Masani's) and the speeches were, he has said, "wide of the mark". He explains how they were wide of the mark, and then asks them "to study and take to heart what Jawaharlal Nehru has said in his elaborate statement on the matter." Then follows the sentence: "I am convinced that in their action the critics departed from truth and non-violence." This is said more with reference to the speeches than the resolution itself. You yourself had to pull up several speakers and ask them to confine themselves to principle and policy. "Many political prisoners had been released and bans lifted," said Mr. Masani, "but there are still some prisoners in the Congress provinces." Is that enough to prove that the Ministers were identifying themselves with Imperialism or they were as bad as Haqs and Sikandar Hayat Khans? Is it true to say that the whole armoury of repression remained, when the Moplah Outrages Act was repealed within two months of the Congress Ministers' accepting office? I will not refer to the other speeches.

As regards the Mysore resolution, Bapu was of opinion that it was untruthful to characterize the policy of the Mysore State as repressive, when we deliberately went there and defied the law. "Abominable repressive measures" and "keeping printed orders ready to be served on those who passed through the State" is not truthful language.

As to the rest of your letter, Bapu deeply appreciated all that you have to say. There can be no question of your accepting anything from Bapu because it came from Bapu, and discipline can never mean "a meek acceptance of one's own view of the matter [sic]."

I do not know whether you will have issued your statement to the Press ere this. But if you have not, perhaps you would alter in parts in the light of this letter, of which or parts of which you may make whatever use you like—though of course it is my letter and not Bapu's and I am posting this without showing it to him. If you feel that the statement should go as it is, you are at liberty to release it—i.e. to say, you may say that you have had an unconvincing answer and that you must act in accordance with the dictates of your own mind.

Regarding violation of truth and non-violence as evidenced in the activities of some of our ministers, Bapu would like you to write frankly and fully, regardless of his recent state of health. For that violation, no matter where it comes from, has to be denounced and if our Ministers are really guilty of it they would deserve to be turned out.

He understands all you say about the Bengal affairs. Far from expecting you to get "wildly excited" over the releases, all he wanted you to say was whether the way he had interviewed the Governor and the Ministers on the question of the release of prisoners and detenus met with your approval or not.

Yours affectionately,
MAHADEV

A Bunch of Old Letters, pp. 260-2

APPENDIX XI

LETTER FROM K. NAZIMUDDIN¹

Copy

WRITERS' BUILDINGS,
CALCUTTA,
November 24, 1937

DEAR MR. GANDHI,

Thanks very much for your letter. I am sorry to learn about your indisposition. I hope you will soon completely recover your health.

In our opinion your statement is very fair and we thank you for it. The wording of the Government communique is not perhaps very happy as far as the four months' period is concerned. It certainly brings out the Government's point of view, namely, that only after the end of four months the question of a large-scale release of the remaining detenus will be considered whereas it misleads the public in giving the impression that you will take up the question at the end of four months. But there is nothing in the communique to prevent your coming and interviewing these people before the expiry of four months.

In your letter you have asked that Mr. Sarat Bose should be allowed to carry on the conversation with the detenus in your absence. I would like to make it quite clear that my objection to this suggestion is not based on personal grounds but on the question of principle. Govt. treat you differently from all other political leaders in India and therefore neither your purpose nor Govt.'s object will be served by anyone else but your interviewing the detenus. After your visit to Hijli, Govt. allowed Dr. B. C. Roy and Mrs. Sarojini Naidu to interview the State prisoners. Dr. Roy went there more in the capacity of a physician than a political leader and we made an exception for Mrs. Sarojini Naidu but as far as I am concerned I do not propose to allow any other political leader in future to interview the State prisoners.

¹ Ibid p. 309.

I had presumed that personal touch between you and the individual detenu or State prisoner was necessary in order that you might be assured that the individual concerned had become a convinced adherent to the principles of non-violence, following upon a change of heart and as a matter of principle quite independently of personal or political advantage. It was a matter then not of bargaining between you. It was necessary for you of course to explain the principles of non-violence and persuade the subject to their acceptance. But so far as the prisoner was concerned, it was a matter of simple statement whether he had reached that position or not. This point of view has bearing on the question of the correspondence as well as that of interviews with the prisoners by persons other than yourself. We should not object to correspondence under sealed cover between you and any State prisoner or detenu provided that it is understood that such letters as you receive are shown to nobody else.

As long as I am Home Minister, you can rest assured that whatever may be the language of the communicate everything that we agreed upon will —insha-Allah—be given effect to provided nothing untoward happens in the mean time.

I agree with your explanation or amplification of the phrase "subversive movement". The only portion in the letter on which we differ is the reference to the convicted political prisoners. As you are aware we agreed to take certain steps in connection with the convicted political prisoners. I have issued instructions for action being taken on these lines but beyond this Government are not prepared to go.

I agree with what you have stated in your PS.

Repatriation will take place according to plan mentioned to you.

Yours sincerely,

K. NAZIMUDDIN

M. K. GANDHI, Esq.

SEBAGN, WARDHA

From a copy: Birla Papers. Courtesy: G. D. Birla

APPENDIX XII

LETTER FROM M. A. JINNAH¹

NEW DELHI,
February 15, 1938

DEAR MR. GANDHI,

I have received your letter of the 3rd February 1938 which was re-directed here. I did not complain to the Maulana Sahib about the absence of any reply from you. I only mentioned the facts as he was anxious that we two should meet. Anyhow, I am glad to hear from you. My message to you through Mr. Kher, as I informed you in my last letter, was not private. It was only when Mr. Kher went to see you at Wardha that I did say that he should not mention the matter to anyone except you and that if you yourself were inclined in the first instance to take up the matter, then it will be more than half the battle won. On his return to Bombay Mr. Kher told me that it was difficult for you to give a reply as you were restricted not to disclose it to anyone or consult anybody else.

Thereupon I said that it was not intended to be a secret and that he was free and you were free to put your heads together and let me know whether at that juncture you were inclined to take up this matter with your powerful and overwhelming influence which you exercise over the Congress. Then he saw you again at Teethal and from that moment it ceased to be a private matter between two individuals: and he brought me your reply in writing which I had to publish because you know of the controversy between me and Babu Rajendra Prasad and Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru in the Press where it was sought to make out that I was putting every obstacle in the way of Hindu-Muslim settlement. As your letter was not marked confidential I used it. Besides, what is wrong in my saying that I had approached you on my own accord and that was a reply I received from you? I cannot understand why you feel so much about it. You say that I complained of your silence. Well, I do. But you further proceed to say, "Believe me the moment I can do something that can bring the two communities together, nothing in the world can prevent me from so doing." Now, what am I to gather from this? Am I right in interpreting that the moment is not come?

With regard to your opinion that my speech at the Lucknow session and my later pronouncements, which you are pleased to call a declaration of war, I can only repeat that it is in self-defence. Evidently, you are not acquainted with what is going on in the Congress Press—the amount of vilification, misrepresentation and falsehood that is daily spread about me—otherwise, I am sure, you would not blame me.

¹ Ide pp. 349-50.

With regard to your saying that when in 1915 you returned from South Africa everybody spoke of me as one of the staunchest of nationalists and the hope of both the Hindus and Mussalmans, and you ask me a question, "Are you still the same Mr. Jinnah?" and proceed further to say, "If you say you are, in spite of your speeches I shall accept your word." And you say that in my speeches you miss the old nationalist. Do you think that you are justified in saying that? I would not like to say what people spoke of you in 1915 and what they speak and think of you today. Nationalism is not the monopoly of any single individual; and in these days it is very difficult to define it: but I don't wish to pursue this line of controversy any further.

You conclude by saying: "Lastly you want me to come forward with some proposal. What proposal can I make except to ask you on bended knees to be what I had thought you were. But the proposals to form the basis of unity between the two communities have surely got to come from you." I think you might have spared your appeal and need not have preached to me on your bended knees to be what you had thought I was. As regards the formation of proposals which would form the basis of unity, do you think that this can be done by correspondence? Surely, you know as much as I do what are the fundamental points in dispute. In my opinion it is as much up to you to suggest ways and means of tackling the problem. If you genuinely and sincerely desire and you feel that the moment has come for you to step in and with your position and influence you are prepared to take the matter up earnestly, I will not fail to render all the assistance I can.

Yours sincerely,
M. A. JINNAH

The Bombay Chronicle, 16-6-1938

APPENDIX XIII

LETTER FROM M. A. JINNAH¹

NEW DELHI,
March 3, 1938

DEAR MR. GANDHI,

I have received your letter of the 24th February, 1938. I am sorry for the delay in replying as I was not well. In your letter I missed the note of response, first whether you are of opinion that you see light now and the moment has come, and secondly, if so, whether you are prepared to take the matter up in right earnest, and thirdly, I find that there is no change in your attitude and mentality when you say you would be guided by Maulana Abul Kalam Azad as Dr. Ansari is no more. If you pursue this line you will be repeating the same tragedy as you did when you expressed your helplessness because Dr. Ansari, holding pronounced and die-hard views, did not agree and you had to say that although you were willing, but what could you do? This happened, as you know, before you went to the Round Table Conference. At the Round Table Conference the tragedy was repeated by you when you seemed to be willing to accept provisionally certain terms: but you there also expressed that you were helpless as the Hindus were unwilling and you, as a representative of the Congress, would have no objection, if the Hindus and Mussalmans came to an agreement.

¹ Ide p. 387.

We have reached a stage when no doubt should be left that you recognize the All-India Muslim League as the one authoritative and representative organization of the Mussalmans of India and on the other hand you represent the Congress and other Hindus throughout the country. It is only on that basis that we can proceed further and devise machinery of approach.

Of course, I shall be glad to see you, although I shall be equally glad to see Pandit Jawaharlal or Mr. Bose, [as] you may desire. The matter as you know will not be clinched without reference again to you by either of them. Therefore, I will prefer to see you first. In any case, I am sorry to say that I cannot come to Segaoon to see you before the 10th March. I have to go to Bombay and also I have fixed various other engagements of my tour. But we can fix up the time and place that may suit us both.

Yours sincerely,
M. A. JINNAH

The Bombay Chronicle, 16-6-1938

SOURCES

- Acharya Kripalajinani Lekho* (Gujarati): Ed. Maganbhai P. Desai, Gujarat Vidyapith, Ahmedabad, 1937.
- (The) Amrita Bazar Patrika: English daily published from Calcutta.
- Bapuki Chhayamen Mere Jivanke Solah Varsh* (Hindi): H. L. Sharma, Ishwarsharan Ashram Mudranalaya, Prayag, 1957.
- Bapuna Patro-6*: G. S. Gangabehnne (Gujarati): Ed. D. B. Kalelkar, Navajivan Publishing House, Ahmedabad, 1960.
- Bapuna Patro-4: Manibehn Patelne* (Gujarati): Ed. Manibehn Patel, Navajivan Publishing House, Ahmedabad, 1957.
- Bapuna Patro-2: Sardar Vallabhbhaine* (Gujarati): Ed. Manibehn Patel, Navajivan Publishing House, Ahmedabad, 1957.
- (The) Bombay Chronicle: English daily published from Bombay.
- (A) Bunch of Old Letters: Jawaharlal Nehru, Asia Publishing House, 1958.
- Gandhi Seva Sanghke Chaturtha Varshik Adhiveshan (Delang, Orissa)ka Vivaran* (Hindi): Published by R. S. Dhotre, Wardha.
- GANDHI SMARAK SANGRAHALAYA, NEW DELHI: Central Museum and Library of Gandhian Literature and Documents.
- Harijan* (1933-56): English weekly published under the auspices of Harijan Sevak Sangh. First published from Poona on February 11, 1933; shifted to Madras on October 27, 1933; brought back to Poona on April 13, 1935; subsequently published from Ahmedabad.
- Harijanbandhu* (1933-56): Gujarati weekly published under the auspices of Harijan Sevak Sangh. First published on March 12, 1933, from Poona.
- Harijan Sepak* (1933-56): Hindi weekly published under the auspices of Harijan Sevak Sangh. First published on February 23, 1933 from Delhi.
- (The) Hindu: English daily published from Madras.
- (The) Hindustan Times: English daily published from New Delhi.

(The) Hitavada: English daily published from Nagpur.

(The) Life of Mahatma Gandhi: Louis Fischer, Jonathan Cape, 30 Bedford Square, London, 1951.

Mahatma: Life of Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, Vol. IV: D. G. Tendulkar, Vithalbhai K. Jhaveri & D. G. Tendulkar, 64 Walkeshwar Road, Bombay.

(THE) MANUSCRIPT OF MAHADEV DESAI'S DIARY: Kept in Swarajya Ashram, Bardoli.

Motanan Man (Gujarati): Eds. Kalyanji V. Mehta, Ishwarlal I. Desai and Hakumat Desai, Dakshin Gujarat University, Surat, 1972.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES OF INDIA, NEW DELHI.

NEHRU MEMORIAL MUSEUM AND LIBRARY, NEW DELHI.

Panchven Putrako Bapuke Ashirvad (Hindi): Ed. D. B. Kalelkar, Jamnalal Bajaj Trust, Wardha, 1953.

PYARELAL PAPERS: Documents in possession of Pyarelal.

SABARMATI SANGRAHALAYA: Library and records containing documents relating to Gandhiji.

Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, Vol. II: Narhari D. Parikh, Navajivan Publishing House, Ahmedabad, 1956.

(The) Sayings of Muhammad: Ed. Allama Sir Abdullah Al-Mamun Al-Suhrawardy, John Murray, Ltd., London, 1941.

(The) Statesman: English daily published from Calcutta.

CHRONOLOGY

(August 1, 1937 — March 31, 1938)

August 1: Gandhiji was at Segaon.

August 3: Left for Delhi.

August 4: Reached Delhi.

Had interview with Viceroy regarding question of lifting ban on Abdul Ghaffar Khan's entry into Frontier Province.

August 5: Reached Segaon.

August 11: Had discussion with D. K. Mehta and P. B. Gole.

August 12: Discussion with D. K. Mehta and P. B. Gole continued. In statement to Press repudiated Bombay Sentinel report on his interview with Viceroy.

On or after August 16: In telegram to Rabindranath Tagore stated that he would do his utmost to end crisis arising from Andamans prisoners' hunger-strike.

August 20: In statement to Press on Nariman-Sardar controversy invited evidence from witnesses.

Before August 24: Sent message to Travancore Women's conference, Quilon.

August 27: Through telegram appealed to Andamans prisoners to abandon hunger-strike.

August 29: All but seven Andamans prisoners suspended hunger-strike.

August 31: Releasing to Press his correspondence with Andamans prisoners, Gandhiji expressed hope that they would be discharged unconditionally.

September 1: Received news of Chhotelal Jain's suicide; paid tribute to him through Harijan.

September 3: Sent telegram urging Andamans political prisoners to give up hunger-strike.

September 8: Telegraphed another appeal to Andamans prisoners. Wrote to Viceroy regarding Andamans prisoners.

Sent message to Tiruchengodu Taluk Political Conference.

- Before September 11: Had discussion with Ravishankar Shukla, Owen, De Silva and other educationists.
- September 11: In telegram urged Andamans prisoners to "end national anxiety by suspending strike".
- Before September 13: Gave interview to William B. Benton.
- September 14: Telegraphed Nilratan Sarkar to keep him informed about Rabindranath Tagore's health.
- September 15: In statement to Press appealed to Government for release of Andamans prisoners.
Met Justice Madgaonkar.
- Before September 24: Sent message to Karnataka Unification League, Belgaum.
Andamans prisoners suspended hunger-strike.
- September 25: Gandhiji issued appeal in Harijan for flood-relief in Orissa.
- October 1: Gandhiji's birthday according to Vikram calendar celebrated.
- October 2: On his 69th birthday Gandhiji sent message to Friends of India Society, London.
- October 6: Acknowledged birthday greetings through Press.
- October 14: D. N. Bahadurji visited Segaon with his judgement on Nariman-Sardar case. Gandhiji wrote concurring note on it.
- October 16: Issued statement to Press on Nariman-Sardar case.
- October 17: In statement to Press appealed to Andamans prisoners not to resort to hunger-strike.
Paid tribute in Harijan to Manilal Kothari.
- October 22: At Wardha presided over Educational Conference.
Met Acharya P. C. Ray.
- Before October 23: Sent message to Shop Assistants' Conference.
- October 23: Spoke at Educational Conference.
- October 25: Left Segaon.
- October 26: Arrived in Calcutta in morning.
Attended Congress Working Committee meeting in afternoon.
Met Rabindranath Tagore and discussed communal tension in Bengal.

October 27: C. W. C. meeting continued.

Gandhiji had discussion with Bengal Premier and three of his ministers about release of detenus and Andamans prisoners.

October 28: Met N. R. Sarkar.

C. W. C. issued statement on "Vandemataram".

October 29: Gandhiji gave interview to deputation of political sufferers from Bengal and Punjab.

October 30: Met Andamans prisoners in Alipore Central Jail.

November 1: Issued statement to Press on negotiations for release of Andamans prisoners.

On medical advice cancelled departure for Wardha.

November 2: C. W. C. passed resolution on Nariman-Sardar case and released it to Press.

November 4: Gandhiji postponed Frontier tour and informed Abdul Ghaffar Khan through telegram.

November 7: Had discussion with ex-detenus in evening.

November 9: Had interview with Governor at Barrackpore in afternoon.

Gave statement to Press.

November 11: Met N. R. Sarkar in morning.

November 12: Met internees from Deoli in Presidency Jail.

November 16: Had discussion with Fazlul Huq, Khwaja Nazimuddin, B. P. Singh Roy, Nawab Habibullah of Dacca, H. S. Suhrawardy and N. R. Sarkar in afternoon.

November 17: Met Sir George Campbell and Arthur Moore in morning.

Continued discussion with Khwaja Nazimuddin, N. R. Sarkar and B. P. Singh Roy.

Left Calcutta at 12.50 p. m.

Reached Kharagpur at 4 p. m.

At 5 p. m. visited Hijli Detention Camp.

In Interview to 'United Press' declined to comment on his negotiations with Bengal Government.

November 18: Arrived in Wardha in evening.

November 21: Issued statement to Press on Bengal Government's communique.

November 27: Wrote Foreword to Acharya Kripalamina Lekho.

December 6: Left Segaon for Bombay on medical advice.

December 7: Reached Bombay; stayed at Juhu.

December 14: Met Aga Khan and his son.

December 21: Met Maharaja of Rewa.

1938.

January 2 and 3: Had discussions with Congress Working Committee.

January 5: Had discussion with Rajendra Prasad.

January 7: Met C. Rajagopalachari.

Gave interview to Press at Victoria Terminus Station before departure from Bombay in evening.

January 8: Reached Segaon.

January 10: Saruprani Nehru died.

Gandhiji telegraphed condolence to Jawaharlal Nehru.

January 11: Sent telegram to political prisoners in Punjab jail to give up hunger-strike.

January 14: Through Press issued appeal to Punjab prisoners to abandon hunger-strike.

Before January 15: Had discussion with Dr. Zilliacus and other members of New Education Fellowship Delegation.

January 18 to 20: Had discussion with Lord Lothian.

Gave message for "Lord Lothian and Responsible Statesmen".

January 23: Sent telegram welcoming Subhas Chandra Bose on his arrival at Karachi from London.

January 24: Had discussion with B. C. Roy and N. R. Sarkar.

February 2: Had discussion with Subhas Chandra Bose.

February 3 to 5: Attended Congress Working Committee which met at Wardha.

On or before February 8: Had discussion with John De Boer.

February 8: Left Segaon for Congress session at Haripura.

February 9: Arrived in Haripura.

Offered condolences to Lakshmibai, widow of N. M. Khare.

February 10: Opened Khadi and Village Industries Exhibition.

February 11: Addressed sanitation volunteers.

February 12: Visited exhibition.

February 13: Visited exhibition pertaining to cattle-breeding and dairy-keeping.

February 15: Gave interview to Amin, General Secretary of East African Indian Delegation.

Addressed volunteers.

Bihar and U. P. Ministries resigned.

February 16: Gandhiji spoke at Khadi and Village Industries Exhibition.

Issued statement to Press on Ministerial crisis.

February 17: Had interview with Tushar Kanti Ghosh.

Before February 18: Drafted resolution on resignation of Ministries.

February 18: Congress Working Committee discussed resolution on resignations.

Gandhiji gave interviews to The Daily Herald and The Times.

February 19: Attended Congress session.

February 20: Through letter to Shamlal urged Punjab prisoners to abandon hunger-strike.

February 21: Congress session concluded.

February 22: Gandhiji addressed volunteers.

Governor-General issued statement on resignations of Ministries.

February 23: Gandhiji reached Segaoon.

Issued statement to Press in reply to Governor-General's statement.

February 24: Invited M. A. Jinnah for personal discussion.

On or before March 4: Through telegram to Shamlal congratulated Punjab prisoners on their decision to give up hunger-strike.

March 4: Met Shantikumar Morarjee and Gaganvihari Mehta.

March 8: Wrote to M. A. Jinnah agreeing to meet him in Bombay.

March 11 and 12: Had discussion with Vallabhbhai Patel.

March 15: Left Segaoon.

March 16: Arrived in Calcutta in morning.

March 18: Met Vernon Bartlett of News Chronicle.

Talked with Harijan members of Bengal legislature.

Had discussion with Khwaja Nazimuddin from 2 p.m. to 5.25 p.m.

March 19: Had discussion with Subhas Chandra Bose and Abul Kalam Azad.

Met Krishak Proja Party members in afternoon.

March 20: Met leader of Independent Praja Party.

Had discussion with Bengal Congress leaders.

Met Khwaja Nazimuddin at 3 p.m.

March 22: Met Governor regarding release of political prisoners.

Met Rabindranath Tagore in evening.

Wrote article on Allahabad riots asking Congressmen to analyse their non-violence and urging them to "put forth a non-violent army of volunteers".

March 23: Met Lord Bishop of Calcutta in evening.

March 24: Wrote Foreword to The Sayings of Muhammad.

Issued appeal to public and political prisoners for restraint while negotiations for release were going on.

Left Calcutta at 8 p.m.

March 25: Arrived in Delang.

Addressed fourth annual session of Gandhi Seva Sangh.

Opened Gandhi Seva Sangh Exhibition.

March 26: Spoke at Gandhi Seva Sangh meeting.

March 27: At Gandhi Seva Sangh spoke on resolution regarding methods to be adopted to counteract communal riots.

March 28: Addressed Gandhi Seva Sangh.

Kasturba, Durga Desai and others visited temple at Puri.

March 29: High Priest of Puri called on Gandhiji.

Gandhiji presided at Council of All-India Spinners' Association in evening.

March 30: At Gandhi Seva Sangh spoke on Kasturba's visit to Puri Temple.

On or before March 31: Gave interview to Press on appointment of Acting Governors in provinces.

March 31: Gave interview to Raja of Parlakimedi.

INDEX OF TITLES

- (The) A. I. C. C., 292-3
 A. I. V. J. A. Bulletin, 17-8
 Against Ahimsa and Truth?, 46-8
 Answers to Questions, 336-40
 (An) Appeal, 412
 Are Christians against Prohibition?, 118-20
 Cable to: Andrews, C. F., 327; Aristarchi, Efy, 327
 Civil Liberty, 268-9
 Conditions of Success, 214-5
 (A) Discussion, 402-3
 Discussion: (with) Boer, John De., 353-6; (with) Bose, Subhas Chandra, 393-4; (with an) Educationist, 137-9; (with) Educationists, 117-8, 340-1; (at) Gandhi Seva Sangh, 424-33; (with an) Italian Professor, 328; (with) Krishak Proja Party Members, 405; (with) Lothian, Lord, 343; (with) Mehta, D. K., and Gole, P. B., 36; (on) Prohibition, 59-6, 78-9
 Doing, Not Idle Thinking, 191-3
 For Ministers of Education, 140-1
 For Monkeys, 139-40
 (A) Foreword, 308
 Foreword: 411; (to) The Question of Languages, 7
 Four Questions, 163-4
 Give Ministers a Chance, 213-4
 (The) Greatest Act, 81-3
 Havoc in Orissa, 160-1
 Hindi-Urdu, 60
 Illiterates v. Literates, 197-8
 (The) Implications, 61-3
 In Support, 243-5
 Indian Industry, 270-1
 Inhumanity in Delhi, 144
 Interview to: Amin, 368-9; Benton, William B., 127-9; (The) Daily Herald, 380-1; (The) London Times, 381; Political Sufferers, 276; (the) Press, 330, 455; Raja of Parlakimedi, 459; Representatives of Scindia Steam Navigation Company, 389-90; United Press, 296
 Its Deeper Meaning, 14-5
 Let We Forget, 188-9
 (A) Letter, 177-8, 187-8, 246
 Letter to: Agrawal, Shriman Narayan, 219-20; Ahmed, Syed Bashir, 181-2, 182; Ambujammal, S., 94, 157, 208-9, 262, 311; Amrit Kaur, 98, 109, 114-5, 129, 131-2, 135, 136, 152, 153-4, 158, 174-5, 183, 199, 200, 203, 209, 220, 222-3, 228, 229, 230, 232, 246, 252-3, 253, 256, 260-1, 282, 283, 294-5, 308, 310, 315-6, 323, 325, 331, 345, 346, 409, 440-1; Amtussalaam, 6, 14, 35, 52, 199, 221, 362, 367, 368, 370, 380, 457-8; Andrews, C. F., 220; Asar, Lilavati, 113, 313-4, 319, 366, 368, 457; Aitkar, V. V., 171; Bajaj, Jammalal, 136, 226-7; Bajaj, Janakidevi, 230; Barve, D. B., 113; Bhagwan Devi, 272; Bhagwandas, 180; Bhansali, J. P., 114, 314, 317, 321, 443; Birla, G. D., 54, 71; Bose, Nandalal, 282-3; Bose, Sarat Chandra, 237; Bose, Subhas Chandra, 261; Chakrabarty, Atulananda, 9, 86, 125;

Chandrasekhankar, 133; Cunningham, G., 68-9, 111-2; Dafda, Dudabhai, 367; Dani, Jamubhai, 20; Desai, Mahadev, 3-4, 5, 5-6, 27, 28, 34, 35, 52, 58, 64, 66, 74, 92-3, 98-9, 100, 116, 117, 146, 154-5, 156, 175-6, 199, 207, 225, 246-7, 254, 258, 260, 261, 306, 312, 312-3, 334, 335-6, 347, 348, 356, 385-6, 395, 401, 455-7; Diwanji, Dilkhush B., 291; Elwin, Verrier, 63-4; Gadodia, Lakshmi Narayan, 397; Gandhi, Kantilal, 26-7, 126, 181, 333-4, 399; Gandhi, Manilal and Family, 351; Gandhi, Manilal and Sushila, 224-5, 273-4, 320; Gandhi, Narandas, 10-1, 30-1, 32-3, 37, 56, 89, 130-1, 145, 175, 186, 236, 255-6; Gandhi, Nirmala, 152-3, 298; Gandhi, Ramdas, 322, 334-5; Gandhi, Sita, 224; Gangadharan, R., 75; Gokhale, Avantikabai, and Khadilkar, Gauribai, 197; Gokuldas, 44; Gopi Nath, 180; Gulati, Ramdas, 77; Gurjale, G. V., 176, 216; Hardikar, N. S., 352, 386-7; Hingorani, Anand T., 204; Hingorani, Vidya A., 203; Hunter, Edith, 72-3; Jagannath Das, 235-6; Jerajani, Vithaldas V., 40; Jinnah, M. A., 257, 349-50, 387, 395-6, 411; Joshi, Chhaganlal, 29-30; Kalelkar, D. B., 87, 211, 236, 255, 271, 288, 346, 351; Kantak, Premabehn, 69-71; Kapadia, Madhavdas and Krishna, 205; Khambhatta, Behramji, 101; Khare, Dr. N. B., 235; Khare, Narayan M., 319-20; Krishnachandra, 458; Kumarappa, Bharatan, 55; Kumarappa, J. C., 19, 26, 43-4, 85, 92, 348; Lakshmi-das, 178; Maher, Tulsi, 272; Majmudar, Parikshitlal L., 257-8; Malkani, N. R., 400; Mathew, P. G., 93; Mavalankar, G. V., 35-6; Meherally, Yusuf, 178; Mehta, Bhagwanji, 38; Mehta, Manharram, 132-3; Michaelis, Dr. Fritz, 41; Mirabehn, 12, 27-8, 408-9, 441, 450; Mookerji, Narcah Nath, 295; Mulk Raj, 342-3; Naidu, Dr. M. Jaisooriya, 231-2; Namboodiripad, E. M. S., 155-6; Nanavati, Amritlal T., 202-3, 211-2, 315, 316, 443; Nanavati, Thakoredas, 258-9; Naoroji, Khurshedbehn, 209-10; Narasimhbhai, 133-4; Nariman, K. F., 1-2, 25, 274-5; Natesan, G. A., 67; Nautamlal, Mulshankar, 65-6; Nazimuddin, K., 309; Nehru, Jawaharlal, 7-8, 12-3, 24-5, 183, 227, 284-5, 296-8; Nimbkar, R. S., 38; Owen, Gladys, 108-9; Page, Kirby, 250-1; Pakvasa, Mangaldas, 69; Palia, E. K., 42; Parekh, Chandan, 73-4, 205-6; Parekh, Jayanti N., 29, 64-5; Parikh, Narahari D., 6, 48, 158-9, 185, 206, 311; Patel, Manibehn., 45, 50; Patel, Shiva-bhai, G., 399-400; Patel, Vallabh-bhai, 3, 33-4, 65, 172-4, 212-3, 216; Patel, Vijaya N., 221, 254, 314, 320-1, 326, 442; Pattani, Prabhashankar, 91, 159-60, 230-1; Prabhavati, 127, 184-5, 210, 226, 251; 262, 324-5, 442; Pranjiwan, 271; Pyarelal, 201, 307; Raghavdas, 77; Rajagopalachari, C., 4, 13-4, 55, 72, 400; Raju, M. Subrahmanya, 76; Rolland, Madeleine, 325-6; Sampat, Jethalal G., 89, 95; Saraswati, 53, 107,

- 186, 458; Sarla, 44; Sevenich, Maria, 43; Shah, Chimanlal N., 369; Shah, Kanchan M., 20; Shah, Munnalal G., 201-2; Shah, Sharda C., 315, 317, 318, 326-7, 347, 349, 352, 353, 356, 361, 365, 369, 388, 396-7, 403-4, 407-8, 440; Sham Lal, 382; Shankarlal, 179; Sharma, H. L., 107-8, 212; Sharma, Harihar, 58; Shaw, Dr. Dhanji, 134; Soman, Yoga R., 324; Spiegel, Margarete, 245; Srinivasan, M. V., 112; Subedar, Manu, 177; Sundaram, V. A., 350-1; Tagore, Rabin-dranath, 156-7, 289, — Fragment of, 289; Tandon, 275-6; Tandy, Dr. William H., 259; Thakkar, Amritlal V., 318-9; Tyabji, Amina, 287-8; Vaidya, Gangabehn, 9-10; Vakil, Jehangir, 306; Viceroy, 51, 111, 344-5; Visvesvarayya, M., 51, 234-5; Wiy, M. Marguerite, 42; Zakir Husain, 76, 294, 388
- (A) Message, 344
- Message to: Karnataka Unification League, Belgaum, 157; Travancore Women's Conference, Quilon, 67
- My Meaning of Office-acceptance, 103-5
- My Notes, 50, 108, 170, 218-9
- (The) National Tricolour, 106-7
- Not Impracticable, 161-3
- Not (a) Prize, 16-7
- Not Toddy but Niro, 276
- (A) Note on Prohibition, 291-2
- Note: (to) Amrit Kaur, 114; (to) Amtussalaam, 364; (to) Bajaj, Jammalal, 395; (to) Chandiwala, Brijkrishna, 434; (to) Hingorani, Anand T., 383; (to) Mundhra, Damodardas, 312; (on) Nari-man-Sardar Case, 233-4; (to) Parikh, Narahari D., 217; (to) Patel, Vallabhbhai, 285-6, 382
- Notes, 45-6, 61, 79-81, 101-3, 120-2, 164-5, 196-7, 237, 302-3
- Our Failure, 405-7
- Passing Away of a Wonderful Hari-jan Worker, 250
- Primary Education in Bombay, 166-70
- Prohibition and Education, 241-2
- Questions before Educational Confer-ence, 193-5
- Rentia Baras*, 48-9
- Resolution on Ministerial Resigna-tions, 376-9
- Self-supporting Education, 123-5, 248-9, — Schools, 142-4
- (A) Silent Co-worker Gone, 95-7
- Social Service Conscription, 277-9
- (The) Social Side of Prohibition, 140
- Some Criticism Answered, 238-41
- Speech: (at) A. I. S. A. Workers Meet-ing, 450-1; (at) Educational Con-ference-I, 263-6, -II, 267, 273; (at) Exhibition, 365-6; (at) Gan-dhi Seva Sangh Meeting, 415-24, 433-40, 444-50, 451-4; (at) Khadi and Village Industries Ex-hibition, 357-9, 370-4; (to) Sani-tation Volunteers, 362-4; (at) Vil-lage Industries Exhibition, 413-5
- Statement: (on) Bengal Govern-ment's Communique, 303-5; (on) Interview with the Viceroy, 36-7; (to the) Press, 39, 56-7, 90, 131, 204, 247-8, 252, 286-7, 289-90, 340, 375, 383-5
- (A) Step Forward, 279-80
- Storm Signals, 300-2
- Students and Strikes, 189-90
- "Sufficiently Acquainted", 84-5

(A) Superstition, 88

Talk with: Andamans Prisoners, 281;

Bajaj, Jamnalal, 332; Co-workers, 410; Desai, Mahadev, 313; Doctors, 329; (a) Friend, 341-2, 391-3; Harijans, 404; (a) Pacifist, 397-8; Patel, Vallabhbhai, 361; Rajagopalachari, C., 329-30; Workers, 360

(A) Telegram, 110, 125

Telegram to: Amrit Kaur, 1, 110, 290, 313; Amtussalaam, 19, 222, 412; Andamans Prisoners, 90; Bose, Subhas Chandra, 346; Gupta, Deshbandhu, 110; Home Secretary, Government of India, 99; Joseph, Mrs. George, 393; Khan, Abdul Ghaffar, 287; Moitra, Surendranath, 130; Nehru, Jawaharlal, 332; Owen, Gladys, 394; Pattani, Prabhaskar, 91, 303; Pillai, J. S., 290; Rajendra Prasad, 201; Sarkar, Nilratan, 130, 135; Secretary, Prisoners' Relief Society, Lahore, 335; Sham Lal, 389; Tagore, Rabin-dranath, 53; Viceroy, 74-5

Temple-entry, 18, 299-300

Testimonial to N. R. Malkani, 401

To Applicants for Primary Education Teacherships, 215

To National Teachers, 150-1

Two Endorsements of Education through Work, 217-8

Under Shadow of Lynch Law, 87

(The) Use and Abuse of Toddy, 147-50

Workers of Kathiawar, 21-4

INDEX

- ABBOT, Claude Collier, 118
ABDUL HAQ, 76, 120, 266*fn*
Acharya Kripalananda Lekha, 308*fn*
ADLER, Dr., 341
AGRAWAL, Shrimannarayan, 193, 219,
 223, 225 to 227, 230
AHMED, see NON-VIOLENCE
AHMED, Syed Bashir, 181, 182
AJMALKHAN, Hakim, 422
ALCOHOL, see DRINKING
ALEXANDER, Horace G., 220
ALEXANDER, Olive, 220
ALI, Shaukat, 429
ALI BROTHERS, 428
ALIPUR JAIL, 281
ALL-INDIA CONGRESS COMMITTEE, 107,
 182*fn*, 376, 379; Congress Ministers' responsibility to, 292
 — — SOCIALIST PARTY, 155*fn*
 — EDUCATION BOARD, 393
 — SPINNERS' ASSOCIATION, 49, 106,
 136, 154, 249, 270, 358, 450
 — VILLAGE INDUSTRIES' ASSOCIATION,
 17, 18, 43*fn*, 92, 96, 136, 154, 240,
 270, 358, 415
 — WOMEN'S CONFERENCE, 246*fn*,
 253 fn, 283 fn, 315 fn
AMBUJAMMAL, S., 94, 157, 208, 262,
 311
AMERICA; prohibition in, 60, 242; should follow Indian example of simple life, 354-5; wealth of, through exploitation, 266
AMIN, 368
AMRIT KAUR, 1, 3, 5, 28, 40, 50, 66,
 98, 109, 110, 114, 116, 129, 131,
 135, 136, 152, 153, 158, 174, 183,
 199, 200, 203, 209, 220, 222, 225,
 228 to 230, 232, 246, 252, 253,
 256, 260, 282, 283, 290, 294, 308,
 310, 313, 315, 323, 325, 331, 345
 to 348, 409, 440
(The) Amrita Bazar Patrika, 452
AMTUBALAAM, 6, 14, 19, 26, 35, 52,
 107, 115, 126, 146, 153, 166, 185,
 199, 210, 221 to 223, 324, 325,
 361, 362, 364, 367, 368, 370, 380,
 399, 412, 441, 444, 450, 457
ANAND, Swami, 6, 429
ANANDA BABU, 271
Anandamath, 155
ANDAMANS PRISONERS, see POLITICAL PRISONERS
ANDERSON, Sir John, 282, 283, 286,
 289, 290, 295, 303
ANDREWS, C. F., 115, 116, 132, 153,
 154 fn, 174, 220, 250, 251, 256,
 274, 327
ANGARI, Dr. M. A., 387
APPA, 156
ARINTARCHI, Efy, 327
ARMSTRONG, General, 255, 266
ART; is means to bring out beauty,
 359; purity of life is, 357
ARUNDALL, Dr. G. S., 191, 192
ARYANAYAKAM, E. W., 19, 118*fn*,
 217, 226, 227, 255, 280, 294, 337
ASAR, Lilavati, 11, 31, 37, 113 to 117,
 146, 154, 185, 199, 200, 207, 221,
 223, 312, 313, 319, 361, 362, 366
 to 368, 370, 441, 444, 450, 457
ASHADEVI, 280*fn*
ASSOCIATED PRESS, 58, 196, 385
Atash Dava, 148

- ATHAVALE, Nana, 267fn
 ATTIKAR, V. V., 171, 337
Atman, 447
 ATUL, 209
 AWARI, General, 235
 AZAD, Abul Kalam, 182, 285, 287,
 349, 387, 419, 422, 453, 456
 AZHVANCHERI THAMPURAKKAL, 196
- BABASAHEB, 207
 BACHUBHAI BHIMJI RAMDAS, 10
 BAHADURJI, D. N., 1, 2fn, 25, 39,
 172, 212, 226, 233, 247, 248, 275
 BAJAJ, Jammalal, 63, 72, 110, 114fn,
 136, 178, 199, 226, 235, 236, 285,
 312, 313, 316, 323, 332, 394fn,
 395, 430, 431, 433, 438, 444, 445,
 449
 BAJAJ, Janakidevi, 230
 BALLILA, 277
 BALUBHAI THAKORE, 266fn, 337
 BALWANTINHA, 12, 254, 317, 327, 361
 BANKER, Shankarlal, 77, 261, 357,
 358, 374, 409, 454
*Bapu's Patra-8: Bibi Amtussalaamka
 Naam*, 364fn
Bapu's Letters to Mira, 28 fn, 408fn
 BAQUI, 14
 BARDOLI SATYAGRAHA, 359
 BARI, 14
 BARNABAS, John, 140fn
 BARVE, D. B., 113
 BASIC EDUCATION, see WARDHA SCHEME
 OF EDUCATION
 BATRA, Dr., 12, 154
 BEHCHARLAL, 130
 BEING; and embodied life, 209-10
 BENGAL DETENUS, see POLITICAL PRI-SONERS
 BENTON, William B., 127
Bhagavad Gita, 70, 134, 219, 268fn,
 321, 322, 329, 343, 448fn, 452
- BHAGWAN DEVI, 272
 BHAGWANDAS, 180
 BHAGWAT, 266fn
 BHANGH; the noble service of, 362-4
 BHANALI, J. P., 35, 114, 184, 185,
 314, 317, 321, 395, 443
 BHARUCHA, 1, 34
 BHATT, Nrisinhaprasad Kalidas, 21,
 74, 91, 267fn, 336
 BHAVE, Balkrishna, 12, 132, 154
 BHAVE, Vinoba, 132fn, 207, 246, 266,
 267fn, 280fn, 314, 320, 321fn,
 326; supports Gandhiji's scheme
 of education, 217-8
 BIRLA, G. D., 54, 71, 272fn, 319,
 331, 348, 454
 BIRLA BROTHERS, 289
 BIRLA MILLS, 454fn
 BOER, Dr. John De, 353
(The) Bombay Chronicle, 216, 281fn,
 376fn
(The) Bombay Sentinel, 36
 BOSE, Nandalal, 282, 289, 359
 BOSE, Sarat Chandra, 237, 296, 309
 BOSE, Subhas Chandra, 174, 212,
 261, 285, 296, 297, 304, 309, 346,
 362, 366, 374, 382, 387, 393 to
 395, 404, 409, 419
 BOVET, Prof., 340fn
Brahmacharya; of the married, 70-1
 BRIJNTHORE PRASAD, 325
 BRUNTON, Paul, 350
 BRUTE FORCE, 420
- CAPITALISM; and economy of abundance, 355
 CAPTAIN, Gosiabehn, 40, 98, 145, 385
 CAPTAIN, Perinabehn, 145, 247
 CARPENTRY; as a means of intellectual development, 32
 CASTE HINDUS; their pledge of September 1932, 188-9

- Castration; Kathiawaris' superstition against, 88
CATLIN, G. E. G., 79
CHAITANYA, 250, 453
CHAKRABARTY, Atulananda, 9, 86, 125
CHANDIWALA, Brijkrishna, 347, 408, 409, 454
CHANDRAHANKAR, 133
CHANDY, 155
CHARKHA SANGH, see ALL-INDIA SPINNERS' ASSOCIATION
Charkha Shashtra, 187*fn*
CHATTOPADHYAYA, Bankim Chandra, 155*fn*
CHHOTANI, Mohammad, 429
CHOWDHARY, Gopabandhu, 413*fn*
CHRIST, Jesus, 210, 250, 306, 425, 429, 432
CHRISTIAN HIGH AND TECHNICAL SCHOOL, Balasore, 241
CHRISTIANITY, 163
CHRISTIANS, 306, 371, 425, 453; and prohibition, 118-20
CHRISTOPHER, 273
CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE, 305, 410
 — LIBERTY; is not licence to preach lawlessness, 268-9
COCHIN; Maharaja of, 299
 — TEMPLE-ENTRY COMMITTEE, 18
COMMUNAL RIOTS, see HINDU-MUSLIM QUESTION
COMMUNISTS, 300, 427
CONGRESS MINISTERS/MINISTRIES, 383; advised not to legalize gambling and vice, 102-3; and civil liberty, 268-9; and discharge of political prisoners, 101; and political liberty of students and teachers, 189-91; and prohibition, 36, 46-8, 81-3, 162; fourfold responsibility of, 292; Gandhiji's writings on, are not official or non-official Congress views, 61; Governors' interference with, 380-1; "my meaning of" office-acceptance by, 103-5; resolution on resignation of, in U. P. and Bihar, 376-9, 383-5; tasks before, 61-3
 — SEVA DAL, 352
 — WORKING COMMITTEE, 2, 14 fn, 38, 44, 61, 63, 80, 200 fn, 268, 269, 274, 275, 282, 293, 376 fn, 379, 381, 385, 402, 407, 409, 431, 434, 451; its decision on Vandemataram, 297; its resolution on prohibition, 81
CONGRESSMEN, 46, 61, 71, 80, 102, 155, 248, 249, 269, 295, 300 to 303, 354, 376 to 379, 383, 424, 425, 429, 432, 459; and communal riots in Allahabad, 405-7; and implications of office-acceptance, 213-4; and ministerships, 16-7; can ill afford to be intolerant and indisciplined, 45-6
CONSCRIPTION; Prof. K. T. Shah on, 265, 277-9
CONSTRUCTIVE PROGRAMME/WORK, 248, 249; as the positive side of non-co-operation, 104-5; reasons for workers losing interest in, 23-4
CONVERSION; is mostly out of compulsion, 163
COW; is more economical than buffalo, 365-6
COW-PROTECTION, 97, 365
COWARDICE; using physical force is superior to, 420
CRAFTS, see HANDICRAFTS
CRIMINAL PROCEDURE CODE, 268
CROMPTON, George, 138
CROMPTON, Samuel, 138
CROMPTON, William, 138
CURMINGHAM, G., 68, 111
CURRICULA; four essentials in, 121-2

- DAFDA, Dani, 367
DAFDA, Dudabhai, 158, 367
DAFDA, Lakshmi, 367
DANYABHAI, 154, 211, 212
DANYALAL, 159, 202, 221, 369
(The) Daily Herald, 380
(The) Daily Press, 45
DAKSHIN BHARAT HINDI PRACHAR SABHA, 72, 208, 235fn
DAMODAR, 98
DANDI MARCH, 410, 446
DANI, Jamubhai, 20, 21
DARRAR GOPALDAS; ex-ruler of Dhasa 108, 173, 174
Daśidranarayana, 49, 339, 356, 371
DARWIN, 420
DAS, Vishwanath, 51, 267fn
DASTANE, V. V., 5, 402, 448, 450
DAVE, Jugatram, 362fn
DAVIES, Prof., 340
DE SILVA, 117, 118
DELHI; contractors' inhumanities in, 144
— CONSPIRACY CASE, of 1915, 97
— INDUSTRIAL HOME, 401
DEO, Shankarrao, 103, 285, 373, 402
DESAL, Bhulabhai, 222, 285
DESAL, Durga, 312, 319, 417, 452, 455, 456
DESAL, Kanu, 359
DESAL, Maganbhai P., 48, 336 to 340
DESAL, Mahadev, 3, 5, 10, 12, 25, 27, 28, 34, 35, 45, 52, 58, 63, 64, 66, 72fn, 74, 82, 85, 90fn, 92, 98, 100, 113, 116 to 118, 125fn, 146, 154, 156, 173, 175, 177fn, 187fn, 197fn, 199, 207, 209, 225, 226, 231, 246, 247, 254, 258, 260, 261, 263fn, 274, 275, 281fn, 282, 286fn, 289fn, 306, 309, 312, 313, 329fn, 334, 335, 343fn, 347, 348, 352, 353fn, 356, 360fn, 361fn, 365fn, 383fn, 389fn, 391fn, 393fn, 395, 397fn, 399, 401, 402fn, 404, 406fn, 410fn, 413fn, 417, 430, 451, 452, 455
DESAI, Morarji, 216
DESAI, Narayan, 100, 417
DETENUS, see POLITICAL PRISONERS
DEVA SHARMA, 267fn
Devadasis; Congress Ministries urged to legislate against, 164-5
DEVANAGARI; is more scientific script, 8; nothing wrong in Hindus putting emphasis on, 228
DEVRAJ, 3
DHARMA, 448, 449, 452; intense faith is, 454; marriage as part of, 70-1; of the wealthy, 272
DHARMAVIR, 12
DHEBAR, U. N., 21
DHRUV, Anandshankar Bapubhai, 257-8, 258
DINKAR, 29, 65, 158
DISCIPLINE; in schools, 141
DIWANJI, Dilkhush B., 249, 291
DRAWING; a must in school curricula, 121-2
DRILL; physical, in school curricula, 121-2
DRINKING; and Europeans in India, 46-7; dangerous even in frigid zone, 79
EAST AFRICA; Indians in, 368-9
— INDIA COMPANY, 239
EATING; the art about, 408
Economics of Khaddar, 187fn
EDDINGTON, Sir Arthur, 191
EDUCATION; and liquor revenue, 59-60, 241-2; crafts training should occupy primary place in, 32-3; should stir desire to do, 191-3; through half-day school scheme, 123-4; through productive manual

- labour, 117-8, 124-5, 133, 137-9, 150-1, 166-70, 194-5, 217-8, 243-5, 248-9, 263-7, 273/fn, 340-2, — appeal for services of teachers for, 164, — in urban areas, 394, — some criticism on, answered, 238-41; value of, in ending superstitions, 88. See also WARDHA SCHEME OF EDUCATION
- Education for Life*, 266
- EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE, 183, 206, 219, 223, 226, 227, 231, 245, 262; proceedings of, 263-7, 273; propositions for consideration of, 193-5; Rajendra Prasad invited to attend, 201; (a) review of, 279-80
- ELWIN, Verrier, 63, 64, 101, 158
- ENGLAND; wealth of, through exploitation, 266
- ENGLISH; in legislatures, 84-5; in school curriculum, 117-8
- ERROR; one can grow through, 27-8
- EUROPE; believes in non-violence, 266
- EUROPEANS; drink exemption to, 46-7, 120
- FAITH; nothing accomplished without, 169; reasoning out every act of God is want of, 63
- FAIZPUR CONGRESS, see INDIAN NATIONAL CONGRESS
- FEARLESSNESS; and non-violence, 437
- FOLK-THEATRE; ancient, should be promoted, 132-3
- FORGIVENESS; adorns the strong, 382
- FRANCHISE; should not confine to literates, 198
- COMMITTEE, of 1932, 345/fn
- (St.) FRANCIS OF ASSISI; a prayer of, 139
- Free Press Journal*, 213/fn
- FRYDMAN, Mrs. Maurice, see URA
- GADODIA, Lakshmi Narayan, 397
- GAJANAN, 47
- GAMBLING; not to be legalised, 102-3
- GANDHARVA MAHAVIDYALAYA, 121
- GANDHI, Arun, 351
- GANDHI, Devdas, 4/fn, 14, 100, 246, 274, 334, 347, 382, 388, 408
- GANDHI, Harilal, 14/fn, 130/fn, 163, 236/fn
- GANDHI, Indira, 8, 13
- GANDHI, Jamna, 31
- GANDHI, Kanam, 117, 143, 203, 224, 264, 322, 335, 457
- GANDHI, Kanti, 6/fn, 14, 26, 52, 33, 126, 166, 181, 333, 399, 441, 442, 444
- GANDHI, Kanu, 3, 11, 30, 37, 52, 99/fn, 207/fn, 314/fn, 326, 404, 408, 409
- GANDHI, Kasturba, 100, 127, 153, 154, 166, 185, 205/fn, 307, 322, 331, 351/fn, 440, 441, 444, 452, 455, 457, 458
- GANDHI, Lakshmi, 4, 56, 75, 166, 274
- GANDHI, Maganlal, 95, 96, 187, 246, 357
- GANDHI, Manilal, 224, 278, 320, 334, 351, 395, 429, 444
- GANDHI, Manu, 130
- GANDHI, Mohandas Karamchand; acknowledges birthday greetings, 204; his association with National School, Rajkot, 271; his meeting with Viceroy in Delhi, 13
- GANDHI, Narandas, 10, 30, 32, 37, 49, 89, 130, 175, 186, 236, 255
- GANDHI, Nirmala, 48, 87, 100, 145, 152, 166, 298, 322, 335

- GANDHI, Prabhudas, 446, 447, 449
 GANDHI, Ramdas, 87, 100*fn*, 107, 117*fn*, 152, 153, 173, 203*fn*, 224, 274, 307, 322, 334
 GANDHI, Sarita, 152, 153, 298
 GANDHI, Sita, 224, 225, 351
 GANDHI, Sumitra, 145, 154
 GANDHI, Sushila, 224, 273, 320, 334, 351, 444
 GANDHI, Usha, 152, 153
Gandhi—1915-48: A Detailed Chronology, 389*fn*
 GANDHI DARSHAN EXHIBITION, Delhi (of 1969-70), 234 fn
 — SEVA SANGH, 404, 405, 410*fn*, 413*fn*, 415, 417, 424, 433, 438, 439*fn*, 444, 445, 449 to 451, 454
 GANDHISM; no such thing as, 308
 GANGA, 100
 GANGADHARAN, R., 75
 GANGADHARRAO, 445, 449
Gastai, 321
 GEORGE V, King Emperor, 345
 GIDWANI MEMORIAL, 257
 GIFTS; regular and sporadic, 272
 GILDER, Dr., 72*fn*
 GILSON, J. G., 241, 242
 GIRDHARILAL, 313, 342
 God, 43, 108, 134, 135, 174, 192, 212, 246, 272, 276, 306, 328, 332, 335, 374, 397, 398, 413, 415, 416, 421, 437, 438, 453; dwells in each and every fibre of our being, 205; (the) greatest physician, 232; is Truth, Health, Love, Physician, 343; (the) Protector of all, 298; reasoning out every act of, is want of faith, 63; voice of, 163
 GOKHALE, Avantikabai, 197
 GOKIBEN, see RALIATBEHN
 GOKULDAS, 44
 GOLE, P. B., 19, 36, 395
 GOPALRAO, 255
 GOPI NATH, 180
Govas, 365-6
 GOVERNMENT OF INDIA ACT, of 1935, 38, 104, 105, 188, 214, 269, 344, 375, 377, 378, 380, 383, 385, 389*fn*
 GOVERNOR-GENERAL, see LINLITHGOW, Lord
 GOVINDDAS, 209*fn*, 229
Gramsevaaritta, 255
 GREGG, Richard B., 187, 398
 GUJARAT HARIJAN SEVAK SANGH, 50
 — NATIONAL UNIVERSITY, 401
 GULATI, Ramdas, 77
 GUPTA, Deshbandhu, 110
 GUPTA, Pashupatinath, 406, 422
 GURJALE, G. V., 176, 216
 HABIB, Syed, 183, 288
 HAMIDA, 288
 HAMPTON INSTITUTE, 255*fn*
 HANDICRAFTS; education through, 133, 138, 150-1, 239-41, 243-5; (a) must in school curricula, 121-2, 124-5; literary training through, 360; suggestions to boost, in foreign markets, 113
 HARDIKAR, N. S., 352, 386
 HARGREAVES, James, 138
 HARIJANS, 23, 87, 101, 188, 230, 250, 299, 300, 318*fn*, 362, 404, 452 to 454; and prohibition, 47; entry to Jagannath temple refused to, 413-5
 HARIJAN SERVICE/WORK, 49; in Simla, 196-7
 — SEVAK SANGH, 299, 302, 303, 319
Harijan, 4, 11, 28*fn*, 32, 34, 66, 67, 84, 103, 142, 167*fn*, 177*fn*, 181, 189, 190, 218, 220*fn*, 225, 231, 268, 283*fn*, 294, 328*fn*, 334, 336*fn*, 406*fn*, 416, 433
Harijan Sevak, 106 fn, 175, 204

- Harjambandhu*, 21, 31, 49*fn*, 95*fn*, 122, 149*fn*, 167*fn*, 170*fn*, 175, 217, 218, 231
- HARIPURA CONGRESS, see INDIAN NATIONAL CONGRESS
- HARSU DAVAL, 184*fn*
- HINDI; and Devanagari script, 228; and Urdu, 120-1
- PRACHARINI SABHA, 228
- SAMMELAN, 8
- (The) Hindu, 362*fn*, 363*fn*, 364*fn*, 370*fn*, 380*fn*, 381*fn*
- HINDUISM, 440, 449, 453; and untouchability, 451
- HINDUS, 371, 396, 421, 424, 426, 427; 430, 431, 439, 445 to 447, 449, 454; and the question of common script, 8
- HINDU-MUSLIM QUESTION, 387, 422, 427, 428, 430, 431, 453; Gandhi. Seva Sangh's responsibilities to solve, 433-40, 444-50
- UNITY, 97, 350, 388; and non-violence, 424-33; Gandhi Seva Sangh's duties to achieve, 433-40, 444-50
- HINGORANI, Anand T., 204, 383
- HINGORANI, Vidya A., 203, 204, 383
- HITLER, 422, 423, 436
- HIVALE, Shamrao, 64
- HOLI; playing of, 447, 449
- HOOVER, President, 355
- HORSE-RACING; and breeding of good horses, 103
- HUNTER, Edith, 72
- HUMAIN, M. S., 267*fn*
- ILLNESS; is see, 343
- IMPERIAL CHEMICALS LTD., 390
- Indian Fight for Freedom*, 154
- INDIAN NATIONAL CONGRESS, 16, 23, 54, 62, 71, 78, 101, 104, 105, 128, 162, 188, 189, 248, 249, 268 to 270, 297, 300, 301, 304, 305, 308, 337, 376 to 381, 383, 386, 396, 404, 410, 419, 420, 422 to 426, 445, 449, 459; and adult franchise, 198; and communal riots in Allahabad, 405-7; and Indian States, 391-3; and Mussalmans, 181-2; and political rights of labourers, 23; and prohibition, 81-3, 120; can ill afford to be intolerant and indisciplined, 45-6; educational programme of, 80; expenses for annual session of, 77-8; Faizpur session of, 373, 376; Gandhiji's retirement from, 43; Haripura session (1937) of, 77*fn*, 357-9, —Gandhiji's reactions to, 402-3, —Reception Committee of, 108; Karachi Resolution of, on salaries, 17; (the) only party representing minorities, 344
- PENAL CODE, 268
- STATES; and Indian National Congress, 391-3
- INDU, see GANDHI, Indira
- INDUSTRIAL ARTS AND VOCATIONAL EDUCATION FOR A. B. O. MISSION, 241
- INDUSTRIALIZATION; and unemployment, 355; poverty not inevitable consequence of, 270-1
- INDUSTRY; Indian, an ideal definition of, 270-1
- IRWIN, Lord, 68, 338
- Isha'at-e-Taleem*, 181*fn*
- Ishopanishad*, 210, 349*fn*, 445*fn*
- ISHWARDAS, 117, 207
- ISLAM, 163, 422, 449
- IVYENGAR, S. Srinivasa, 94
- JAGANNATH, Lord, 413, 414; Temple at Puri, untouchability at, 413-5

- JAGANNATH DAS, 235
JAGJIVANDAS, 21
JAIN, Chhotelal, 3, 45, 55, 74, 92, 100, 114 fn, 146, 175, 179, 246, 307; an obituary on, 95-7
JAIRAMDAS DOULATRAM, 383
JAJU, Shrikrishnadas, 19, 92, 280 fn
JALBHAI, 385
JAMIA MILLIA ISLAMIA, 76 fn
JAMNADAS, 348
JANBA, 28, 35, 175, 225
JAYANTILAL, 32, 89
JAYAPRAKASH NARAYAN, 251, 382, 442
JERAJANI, Vithaldas V., 40, 338
JETHALAL, 451
JEWS, 425
JINNAH, M. A., 212, 257, 349, 350, 387, 395, 411, 428, 432, 441, 447
JIVANLAL, 37
JIVANTIKA, 158
JOGINDER SINGH, Sir, 161, 200, 223, 225, 228, 256
JOSEPH, George, 393
JOSEPH, Mrs. George, 393
JOSHI, 92
JOSHI, Chhaganlal, 29, 31, 49
JOSHI, Vimala, 29, 30

KABIT, 271
KAKORI PRISONERS, see POLITICAL PRISONERS
KALE, 74
KALE, Anasuya, 283
KALELKAR, Bal, 211
KALELKAR, D. B., 19, 73, 87, 118 fn, 211, 217, 235, 246, 236, 255, 266, 267 fn, 271, 280 fn, 288, 334, 346, 351, 431
KALELKAR, Satish D., 73, 205, 211
KALLENBACH, 108, 224, 263
Kama and Kamini, 70 fn
KAMALA, 11, 33, 37, 94, 157, 262
KAMALA NEHRU MEMORIAL FUND, 133, 134, 172 fn
KAMATH, 351
KANTAR, Premabehn, 64, 69, 247, 251, 254
KANUNGO, 197
KANYA GURUKUL, Dehradun, 87
KAPADIA, Krishna, 205
KAPADIA, Madhavdas, 205
KARMA, 321
KARNATAKA; resolution for formation of, 157
KARANJI FAMILY, 38
KATHIAWAR POLITICAL CONFERENCE, 22
KEVALRAM, 50
KHADI, 10, 14, 17, 23, 24, 40, 49, 135, 138, 174, 270, 291, 354, 360, 361, 372, 373; not a lifeless idol, 374
 — AND VILLAGE INDUSTRIES EXHIBITION, Haripura, 357, 370, —Lucknow, 358
 — WORKERS, 134
KHADILKAR, Gauribai, 197
Khadishastra Praveshika, 32
KHAMBHATTA, Behramji, 101
KHAMGOAN NATIONAL SCHOOL, 266 fn
KHAN, Abdul Ghaffar, 7, 27, 37, 68, 112, 115, 132, 223, 283, 387
KHAN, Dinbai, 101
KHAN, Sikander Hayat, 441
KHANCHAND, 100
KHARE, Lakshmibehn, 320, 357
KHARE, Mathuri, 357
KHARE, (Dr.) N. B., 235
KHARE, Narayan Morechwar, 121, 246, 319, 324, 356, 359; tributes to, 357
KHARE, Ramchandra, 324, 357
KHER, B. G., 173, 234, 267 fn, 339, 349
KHILAFAT COMMITTEE, 422
KHUDAI KHIDMATGARS, 68

- KORAN, 181*fn*, 287
KOTHARI, Manilal; tributes to, 250
KOTTAPATAM SUMMER SCHOOL, 24
KOYAJI, J. C., 177
KRIPALANI, J. B., 13, 308, 422, 424, 425, 428, 429, 431, 432, 446
KRISHNAK PROJA PARTY, 405
KRISHNA, Lord, 321
KRISHNACHANDRA, 356, 458
KUMARAPPA, Bhairan, 19, 55, 118*fn*
KUMARAPPA, J. C., 19, 26, 43, 69, 85, 92, 280*fn*, 347, 348
KUMI, 33
KUSUM, 9, 74

LABOURERS; and prohibition, 47;
 Congress to safeguard political rights of, 23
LAKSHMI ANMAL, 94
LAKSHMIDAS, 178
LAKSHMIPATHI, Dr. A., 123, 124
LANCASTER, 348
LANGUAGES; provincial, Devanagari as common script for, 8
LAVATE, Bhausaheb, 214
LESTER, Muriel, 109
LEVER BROTHERS LTD., 390
Life of Jesus, 154
LINLITHGOW, Lord, 4, 9, 11, 13, 14, 26, 36, 51, 74, 75*fn*, 111, 276, 310, 344, 375 to 377, 380, 381, 383, 385, 419, 455
Liquor Control, 79
LITERACY; in Gandhiji's scheme of education, 80-1
LOTHIAN, Lady, 354
LOTHIAN, Lord, 331, 343, 345
LOVE; is means to find Truth, 343

MADGAONEKAR, Sir Govindrao, 1
MADHUSUDAN DAS, 266, 415

MADRAS EDUCATION RULES; some of the disabilities of students in, 140-1
Mahabharata, 67*fn*
MAHAMUDABAD; ruler of, 256
Maharashtra Khadi Patrika, 15
MAHAVIR PRASAD, 400
MAHER, Tulsi, 272, 441
Mahwa; use and abuse of, 163
MAJMUDAR, Parikshitlal, 50, 257
MAJOOR MAHAJAN, Ahmedabad, 219
MALABAR HARIJAN SEVAK SANOH, 18
MALAVIYA, Madan Mohan, 188, 273, 351
MALEKANI, N. R., 267 fn, 400, 401
MANGALDAS, 44
MANIAR, Kumibehn T., 236
MANILAL BULAKHIDAS, 197
MANJU, 9, 10
MARRIAGE; and parents' consent, 65-6; as part of dharma, 70-1; barriers in, should be disregarded, 9
MARWARI SHIKSHA MANDAL; Silver Jubilee of, 263*fn*
MASANI, 12
MASHRUWALA, Gomati, 207
MASHRUWALA, Kishorlal, 28, 100, 178, 207, 226, 280*fn*, 307, 339, 351, 417, 418, 421, 423, 428, 444, 451
MASHRUWALA, Nanabhai I., 351
MASOOD, Begum Ross, 6, 14, 52
MASOOD, Ross, C, 14 fn
MATHEW, P. G., 93
MATHURA BABU, 429
MAVALANKAR, G. V., 35
MAX MUELLER, 333
MAYO, Catherine, 132
MEHERALLY, Yusuf, 12, 24, 178
MENTA, Balwantrai, 21
MENTA, Bhagwanji A., 38
MENTA, D. K., 36
MENTA, Dinshaw, 316, 318, 326
MENTA, Gaganvihari, 389*fn*

- MENTA, Jivraj, 313
MENTA, Manhariram, 192
MENTA, Narasinh, 371, 372
MENTA, Pranjivan J., 130
MENTA, Saudamini, 266fn
MENTA, Vaikunth, 216
MENTAB, Sheikh, 447
MENON, Padmanabha, 196
MICHAELIS, Dr. Fritz, 41
MILITARY; is ruled out of count in any scheme of non-violence, 269
MINISTERSHIPS; are avenues of service, not a prize, 16-7
MIRABEHN, 10, 12, 27, 28fn, 37, 50, 52, 98fn, 109fn, 114fn, 115, 129fn, 135, 136fn, 152fn, 153, 175, 199fn, 202, 203fn, 209fn, 211, 220fn, 223, 225, 230fn, 232, 246fn, 308fn, 310fn, 311fn, 323, 325, 328fn, 346fn, 408, 441, 450, 457
MIRZA, 440
MOHAMMED, Prophet, 411, 449
MOHANI, Hasrat, 422
MOHANLAL, 35, 365
MOITRA, Surendranath, 130
MONEY-LENDERS; impositions by, 50, 122
MONKEYS; export of, for vivisection, 139
MOOKERJEE, Naresh Nath, 295
MORALITY; road to, is prayer, penance and service, 93
MORARJEE, Shantikumar, 389fn
Mother India, 132fn
MUJEEB, Prof. Mohammed, 76
MULA LAKSHMI NARAYANASWAMI-GARU, 237
MULK RAJ, 342
MUNDHRA, Damodardas, 312
MUNNALAL, see SHAH, Munnalal G.
MUNSHI, K. M., 216
MUSIC; a must in school curricula, 121-2
MUSLIM LEAGUE, 181fn, 182, 257fn
MUSLIMS, 110, 371, 411, 420 to 431, 434, 435, 438 to 440, 444, 445, 447 to 450, 453; and Devanagari script, 8; and Indian National Congress, 181-2
MUSSOLINI, 265
NABI BUX, 135, 154, 209fn, 223, 295
NAIDU, (Dr.) M. Jaisooraya, 231
NAIDU, Sarojini, 231, 232, 309
NAMBOODIRIPAD, E. M. S., 155
NANABHAI, see BHATT, Nrisinha-prasad Kalidas
NANALAL, 256
NANAVATI, Amritlal T., 31, 116, 202, 211, 258, 315, 316, 327, 395, 443, 457
NANAVATI, Thakoredas, 258
NANDA, Gulzarilal, 154, 187
NANJAPPA, 181
NANSEN, Fridtjof, 79
NAOROJI, Dadabhai, 145fn, 209fn
NAOROJI, Khurshedbehn, 209, 229, 245, 260
NARASINHBHAI, 133
NARMAN, K. F., 1, 2fn, 3fn, 5, 25, 27, 39, 56 to 58, 65, 69, 74, 209fn, 212, 233, 234, 246 to 248, 253, 274, 275, 284
NAROTTAM, 31, 175
NATESAN, G. A., 67, 79
NATIONAL CHRISTIAN COUNCIL OF INDIA, 119
 — FLAG; strict conformity to standard specifications of, 106-7
 — SCHOOL, Rajkot, 31fn, 49, 186fn; on Gandhiji's association with, 271
NAUTAMLAL, Mulshanker, 65
NAVANIT, 153
NAYKE TALIM, 44

NAVYAR, Sushila, 223, 225, 251, 307,
386, 404, 409, 456, 457, 458

NAZRUDDIN, K., 309

News, see TODDY

NEHRU, Jawaharlal, 2/fn, 5, 7, 12,
24, 27, 53/fn, 60, 106, 133, 134,
172/fn, 174, 183, 200, 212, 227,
284, 292, 293/fn, 296, 306, 332,
336, 346, 348, 349, 355, 356, 362,
378, 386, 387, 419, 432

NEHRU, Kamala, 133

NEHRU, Rameshwari, 10, 12, 30, 89,
186, 253, 255

NEHRU, Swarup Rani; death of, 332
(The New York Times, 129/fn)

NIMBEKAR, R. S., 38, 213, 216

NIMU, see GANDHI, Nirmala

Niro, see TODDY

NOBEL PRIZE, 79 fn

NON-CO-OPERATION; of 1920, 104; withdrawal of, in Congress States not favoured, 337-8

NON-VIOLENCE, 23, 62, 75, 90, 97,
104, 109, 166, 249, 266, 281, 292,
293, 301, 304, 305, 308, 328,
336, 342, 347, 373, 377, 379, 410,
416 to 418, 452, 453; and curriculum for basic education, 353-4;
and Hindu-Muslim unity, 424-33, 433-40, 444-50; and removal of untouchability, 451; drink exemption to Europeans is not against spirit of, 46-7; essence of dharma is, 454; indispensable lesson in, 397-8; is beyond temptation and provocation, 115; "my task is to teach the mantra" of, 246; of the Congress should be of the strong, 406; of the strong and of the weak, 419-24; plan of action for willing exercise of, 105; punishment for crimes and, 101-2; (the) science and technique of, 268-9

OFFICE-ACCEPTANCE; "my meaning of", 103-5

OM, 77

ORGANIZATIONS; motive in forming, 23
Orient Illustrated Weekly, 191

ORIMA; opium, indolence, bigotry responsible for poverty in, 414
— FLOOD RELIEF, 197; appeal for funds, 160-1

OWEN, 117, 118

OWEN, Gladys, 108, 394

PAGE, Kirby, 250

PAKVARA, Mangaldas, 69

PALIA, E. K., 42

PALUSKAR, Vishnu Digambar, 357

PANDIT, A. B., 197

PANDIT, Vasumati, 361

PANDIT, Vijayalakshmi, 297, 422, 423

PANT, Govind Ballabh, 419, 422, 438, 439

PAPARAMMA, 6, 26, 126

Paramatman, 447

PAREKH, Chandan, 73, 205

PAREKH, Indu, 29, 65

PAREKH, Jayanti 29, 64, 65

PAREKH, Kanti, 29

PAREKH, Narahari D., 6, 39/fn, 48,
56/fn, 87, 142, 143, 158, 185, 206,
217, 311, 336/fn, 338, 340

PAREKH, Vanamala, 217

PARLAKMEDJI, Raja of, 459

PARNERKAR, Y. M., 89, 95, 184, 200,
317, 369

PARNI, 371, 431

PATANJALI, 434

PATEL, Hira, 399

PATEL, Manibehn, 45, 50

PATEL, Raojibhai, 158, 173

PATEL, Shivabhai, 399

PATEL, Vallabhbhai, 1, 3, 4, 83, 39 fn,
56, 57, 64, 65, 172, 178, 206, 212,

- 216, 233, 234, 247, 285, 337, 338,
361, 365^{fn}, 373, 382, 402, 409,
413^{fn}, 429, 451
- PATEL, Vijaya N., 211, 212, 223, 254, 314, 316, 320, 326, 441, 442
- PATEL, Vithalbhai, 359
- PATHANS; non-violence of, 436
- PATTANI, Prabhashankar, 91, 159, 230, 260, 303
- PATWARDHAN, 285
- PEACE; means for, 72-3
- PHADKE, V. L., 362^{fn}
- PHILLIP, P. O., 119, 237
- PHYSICAL TRAINING; compulsory in Wardha Scheme of Education, 264-5
- PILLAI, J. S., 290
- PLAIR, F. A., 237
- PODDAR, Rameshwardas, 100
- POLITICAL PRISONERS, 276^{fn}, 287, 303-
5; in Andamans, 53, 74, 90, 99,
100, 111, 125, 130, 131, 200, 212,
252, 261, 281, 282, 286, 297, 304,
305, 329; in Bengal, 286, 296, 329
to 331, 405, 412; in Hijli, 297,
309; in Punjab, 335; interference
by Governors in release of, 376-9,
383-5; of Kakori, 102, 378
- (The) Power of Non-violence, 398
- PRABHAVATI, 127, 184, 210, 226,
251, 262, 324, 361, 399, 442, 444
- PRABHU DAYAL, 347
- PRANJIVAN, 271
- PRAYAG CONGRESS HOSPITAL, 134
- PRAYER; carries soul's anguish, 398
- PREMCHAND RAICHAND TRAINING
COLLEGE, 337, 340
- Prose*, 396
- PRINCE OF WALES, 431
- PRISONERS, see POLITICAL PRISONERS
- PROHIBITION, 23, 67, 137, 140, 220; and Christians, 118-20, 237; and Congress Ministries, 36; and loss of revenue for education, 59-60, 161-3, 241-2; and unemployment among toddy-tappers, 47-8; (a) comprehensive, twelve-point programme for, 82-3; conditions for success of, 214-5; Congress Working Committee's resolution on, 81; does not affect sale of medicinal toddy, 147-9, —but affects every narcotic, 149-50, 276; in Ahmeda-bad, 218-9; in America, 60, 242;
“(a) medical friend” on, 291-2; role of voluntary agencies in implementing, 78-9
- PROVINCIAL AUTONOMY; interference with, 380, 383. See also CONGRESS MINISTRIES
- Provincial Autonomy*, 105
- PROVINCIALISM; must be put an end to,
418
- PUNISHMENTS; and civil liberty, 268-9
- PUNJAB; Premier of, 85
- PUNJABI; and Sikhs, 7
- PUNTAMBEKAR, S. V., 245
- Purna* SWARAJ, 419
- PUSHTU; and Pathans, 7
- PYARELAL, 12, 31, 95^{fn}, 201, 223,
232, 251, 302, 317, 347, 401, 404,
456
- (The) Question of Languages, 7
- RAGHAVAN, 72, 208, 235
- RAGHAVDAS, 77
- RAJAGOPALACHARI, C., 4, 13, 24, 47,
55, 56, 72, 75, 165, 177, 208, 235,
292, 329, 400
- RAJAH, M. C., 155, 300
- RAJENDRA PRASAD, 76, 120, 201, 285,
286, 439, 453
- Raju, M. Subrahmanya, 76

- RAJLATABEHN, 130, 131
RAJLA RAM, Rev. A., 119
RAMA; strength of the weak, 438, 445
RAMACHANDRAN, G., 6 fn, 14, 19, 26, 52, 53, 126, 166, 380, 399
RAMAKRISHNA PARAMAHAMSA, 250
RAMANAMA, 357, 367
RAMANATHAN, 4
Ramarej, 97
Ramayana, 67*fn*, 204, 253
RAMDEV, Acharya, 230
RAO, 53, 85, 92
RAO, Raghavendra, 45
RATNE, 312
RAVAL, Ravishanker, 359
RAY, Dr. P. C., 267*fn*
READING, Lord, 338
REDDI, Dr. Muthulakshmi, 164, 165
Rentia Baras, 31*fn*; on celebration of, 48-9
RJOTS; commual, in Allahabad, 405-7.
See also HINDU-MUSLIM QUESTION
RITCH, L. W., 274
ROHIT, 317
ROLLAND, Madeleine, 325
ROLLAND, Romain, 325 fn, 326
ROMAN CATHOLICS; and prohibition, 237
ROUND TABLE CONFERENCE, 54
ROY, 13
ROY, Dr. B. C., 309
RUMIA; great achievements of, based on force, 266

SABHOTRA, Lala B. Lachman Singh, 196
SADANANDA, S., 213
SATYIDAIN, Khwaja Ghulam, 280*fn*, 294
SALT SATYAGRAHA, 149, 428
SAMPAT, Jethalal G., 89, 95
SANATANITS, 413, 453

SARABHAI, Anasuyabehn, 23, 260, 436, 440
SARABHAI, Mridulabehn, 254, 448
SARASWATI, 6, 14, 19, 26, 53, 107, 126, 145, 166, 347, 349, 353, 361, 369, 388, 396, 399, 458
Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, 39 fn, 56 fn
SARKAR, Nilratan, 130, 135, 156
SARLA, 44
SAROJINI, 282
SASTRI, V. S. Srinivasa, 80
SATYAGRAHA, 436; is educating public opinion, 339
SATYAGRAHI, 372, 413, 424, 428, 435
SATYAMURTI, 348
SATYAPAL, Dr., 33
SAVITRI, 227
(The) Sayings of Muhammad; Gandhiji's foreword to, 411
SCINDIA STEAM NAVIGATION COMPANY, 389
SCOUTS, 277
Search in Secret India, 330*fn*
SELF-CONTROL; practice of, by the married, 70-1
SEVENICH, Maria, 42, 43
SHAH, Chimanlal, 98, 115*fn*, 184, 185, 199, 200, 210, 251, 369
SHAH, Dr. Dhanji, 134
SHAH, Fulchand Kasturchand, 21
SHAH, K. T., 61, 105, 155, 238, 240, 265, 266*fn*, 267, 277 fn, 280, 312
SHAH, Kanchan M., 20
SHAH, Munnalal G., 201, 441
SHAH, Shakaribehn, 185, 361, 369, 388, 408
SHAH, Sharda C., 115, 154, 184, 185, 254, 314, 315, 317, 318, 321, 326, 347, 349, 352, 353, 356, 361, 365, 369, 388, 396, 397, 403, 407, 444
SHANJLI, 99, 100

- SHAKESPEARE, 253
 SHAM LAL, 382, 389
 SHAMBHU DAYAL, 5
 SHAMSHERE SINGH, 115, 158, 253, 295, 331
 SHANKAR, see KALELKAR, Satish D.
 SHANKARAN, 33
 SHANKARLAL, 92, 179
 SHANTA, 3, 5, 12, 225
 SHARIFF, 440
 SHARMA, 369
 SHARMA, H. L., 107, 212
 SHARMA, Harilal, 58
 SHARMA, Hrishikesh, 85
 SHETH, Indumati Chimanlal, 260
 SHIVPRASAD, 74
 SHOP ASSISTANTS' CONFERENCE, 178
Shuddhi, 163
 SHUKLA, Chandrashanker, 175
 SHUKLA, Ravishanker, 19, 117*fn*
 SHUKLA, Vajubhai, 21
Shreya, 396
 SIKHS, 420; and Punjabi, 7
 SIN; overwork and hurry is, 343
 SINHA, Shrikrishna, 375
 SITA, 19
 SITARAMAYYA, Pattabhi, 183, 237
 SLOSSBURG, 274
 SMITH, Gipsy, 162
 SOCIALISM; and scheme of basic education, 354-5
 SOCIALISTS; and non-violence, 430
 SOHAELA, 288
 SOMAN, Ramachandra J., 319, 324
 SOMAN, Yoga R., 319, 324
 SOUL FORCE, 421
 SPIEGEL, Margarete, 245, 333
 SPINNING, 360; as a means of intellectual development, 32; on takli, 133
 SPINNING-WHEEL, 106, 218, 249, 320, 341, 365; (the) sun of the solar system of handicrafts, 359; (a) symbol of freedom and unity, 239
 SRIDHAR, 74
 SRINIVASAN, M.V., 112
 STRIKES; by students and teachers, 189-91
 STUDENT CHRISTIAN MOVEMENT; of India, Burma and Ceylon, 119
 STUDENTS; minds of, must not be caged, 141; political liberty of, 189-91
 SUBBARAYAN, 267*fn*
 SUBEDAR, Manu, 177, 218
 SUBHAS, 12
 SUFFERING; only remedy for undoing wrong and injustice, 398
 SUHRAWARDY, Sir Abdullah, 411
 SUNDARAM, V. A., 350
 SURENDRA, 251
 SWADESHI; companies under the category of, 389-90
 SWAMI, see ANAND, Swami
 SWARAJ, 97, 364, 374, 386, 420, 423, 424, 427, 428, 431, 445 to 447; khadi can bring, 372, 374
 — BHAWAN, Allahabad, 60
 SYED MAHMUD, Dr., 266*fn*
 SYED SAHEB OF SIYASAT, 33
 TAGORE, Rabindranath, 53, 74, 130, 135, 156, 176, 268, 289
Takli, 133, 320; could be universalized, 267
 TANDON, 275
 TANDY, Dr. William H., 259
 TEACHERS; minds of, must not be caged, 141; political liberty of, 190
 TEACHERS' TRAINING COLLEGE, Aligarh, 294*fn*
 TEMPLE-ENTRY, 18, 299
 — PROCLAMATION, 67*fn*, 163, 196
 THAKKAR, Amritlal V., 63, 144, 302, 318, 413, 414
 TJARE, 266*fn*

(The Times, (London), 381

(The Times of India, 161

TOBACCO; harmful to man's physical and moral fibre, 342

TODDY; unfermented, 276; use and abuse of, 147-50. See also DRINKING, PROHIBITION

TOLERANCE; practice of, notwithstanding faults, 179

TOLSTOY, 266

— FARM, 144, 263

TRAVANCORE; Maharaja of, 67 fn,— Maharani of, 67 fn

— DURBAR DECLARATION, see TEMPLE-ENTRY PROCLAMATION

— WOMEN'S CONFERENCE, Quilon, 67

TRIHANKU, 421

(The True India, 132 fn)

TRUTH, 23, 84, 176, 196, 292, 293, 301, 314, 329, 377, 411, 416 to 419, 422 to 424, 445, 451; "and love are faces of the same coin", 343; drink exemption to Europeans is not against spirit of, 46-7; "insistence on, is an eternal principle", 308; "my task is to teach the mantra of", 246; seeker of, is an irrepressible optimist, 43; "that is the thing I am mad about", 187

TULSIDAS, 253

TYABJI, Abbas, 287 fn, 288

TYABJI, Amina, 287

TYABJI, Raihana, 288

U. P. GOVERNMENT ARTS AND CRAFTS EMPORIUM, 113 fn

UMA DEVI, 441

UNITED PRESS, 296

UNTOUCHABILITY, 23, 67, 97, 196, 250, 300, 413, 452 to 454; and abimaa, 451; in Board Government dispensary, 230

UNTOUCHABLES, see HARIJANS

UPANISHADS, 210, 417

URDU; and Hindi, 120-1

VAIDYA, Gangabehn, 9

VAIDYAS; profession of, 180

VAKIL, Jehangir, 306

VAKILBEHN, 359

VALLABH, 326

VALMIKI (HARIJAN) YOUNG MEN'S ASSOCIATION, 196

Vanaprastha, 69

Vanasthastra, 96

Vendemataram, 155 fn; Congress Working Committee decision on, 297

VARNA; distortion of, 138-9

VARNASHRAMA DHARMA, 196

VELANBEHN, 452, 455, 456

VENILAL, 6

VICE; not to be legalized, 102-3

VICEROY, see LINLITHGOW, Lord

VIDYAVATI, 87, 145

VIJAYA, 395

VIJAYASINGH, 441

VILLAGE INDUSTRIES; foreign markets for, 113

VIVEKVARAYYA, M., 51, 234

VISWANATHAN, C. V., 196

VITHAL, 186

VIVRECTION; inhumanities in, 140

VOCATIONAL TRAINING, see EDUCATION, HANDICRAFTS

VOLUNTEERS; three months' training for, 386

VORA, 255

WARDHA SCHEME OF EDUCATION, 340-2; appeal for teachers in,

- 215; integral parts of, 143-4, soul, 317
 194-5; non-violence in the scheme Young India, 1 of, 353-4. See also EDUCATION
- WARE OF THE ROSES, 266
- WRY, M. Marguerite, 42, 43
- WOOD, 118
- WORKING CLASSES; status of, 341
- YERAVDA FACT, 300, 302
- YOGA; strengthens body, mind and
- ZAKIR HUSAIN, Dr., 76, 266*fn*, 267,
 279, 294, 337, 351 fn, 367, 388
- ZAMINDARI, 459
- ZEND AVESTA, 134
- ZILLIAOUS, Dr., 340
- ZOROASTER, 134
- ZOROASTRIANS, 148*fn*

ERRATA

PAGE	FOR	READ
1 Item 2, line 6	find [anything] against	find ¹ against
57 Line 7	Even	Even so,
94 Post Script	Lakshmi Ramman	Lakshmi Ammal
198 Paragraph 2, line 1	minutes	merits
348 Item 440, paragraph 3, line 2	Jamnadas	Jamnadal

